MONASTERIES
OF THE
CARTHUSIAN ORDER.

Walter de Burgh

OF THE
CARTHUSIAN ORDER.

THE Carthusian monks were also a branch of the Benedictines, whose Rule, with the addition of a great many austerities, they followed. We shall place Tanner's Account of them as prefatory to Dugdale's.

"Their author was one Bruno, born at Cologne in Germany, who first instituted the Order at Chartreux in the diocese of Grenoble in France, about A.D. 1080.^a Their Rule, which was confirmed by Pope Alexander the Third, about A.D. 1174, was the most strict of any of the Religious Orders, never eating flesh, and being obliged to fast on bread, water, and salt, one day in every week. None of the Monks were ever permitted to go out of the bounds of their Monasteries (which instead of Chartreux Houses are corruptly called Charter Houses) except their Priors and Procurators or Proctors, and they only upon the necessary affairs of their Houses.

"They were brought into England, A.D. 1180^b or 1181,^c by King Henry the Second, and had their first House, as will be shewn presently, at Witham in Somersetshire.

"Their habit was all white except their outward plaited cloak, which was black.

"There was no Nunnery,^d and but nine Houses of this Order in England."^e Dugdale has given the Statutes of the Order, from a Manuscript in the Cottonian Library marked Nero A. III.

Beside the Statutes given by Dugdale, the Cottonian Manuscript Nero A. III. foll. 167, 167 b. contains the Oath of those who entered the Carthusian Order, with the Graces which were used in the Convent both before and after dinner and supper.

Some Observations upon the Origin of the Order occur in the Manuscript Tiber. A. IX. fol. 101. and a Gloss, or Exposition upon the Statutes, in Latin, in Julius IX. fol. 23.

The Cottonian MS. Calig. A. II. fol. 139. contains the "Constitutiones generalium Capitulorum Ordinis Cartusiani, ab anno 1411, in quo facta est Unitas Ecclesiæ et Ordinis, h. e. quando Alexander Papa V. in verum et summum Pontificem erat susceptus, ad annum 1504."

The Carthusian Houses noticed by Dugdale, are WITHAM and HENTON in Somersetshire, the CHARTER HOUSE at London, BEAUVALE in Nottinghamshire, ST. ANNES near Coventry, KINGSTON UPON HULL, and MOUNTGRACE, in Yorkshire, EPPWORTH in the Isle of Axholm, and SHENE in Surrey. A license for the foundation of a Charter House in the diocese of Exeter, in the 5th of Edward the Third, has been already mentioned in a former Volume of the present Work. SHAPWICK in Dorsetshire is also mentioned as a Carthusian Cell to Shene, by Hutchins in his History of that County. Lastly, Tanner says, that "About A.D. 1345, Mary de St. Paul countess of Pembroke, had the King's licence to build and endow an House for Carthusian Monks" at Hourne in Surrey; "but it does not appear to have ever been finished."^f These are all the Carthusian Houses.

Stevens in his supplemental Volumes to Dugdale has translated much relating to the Carthusian Order from the "Histoire des Ordres Monastiques;" vol. vii. p. 366: followed by a Catalogue of the most learned men of English birth who were Writers of the Order. These were Theobald English, who flourished in 1320; Adam, 1340; John Olvey, about 1350; Walter Hilton, 1433: Oswald, who was prior of Perth, 1450; Rock, 1470; John Parceval, 1500; Thomas Spencer, who died in 1529; John Batmanson, who died in 1531; John Houghton of the Charter House at London; and Maurice Chamney, of the same Monastery, who died in 1581.

^a So Dugdale, and Weever, Fun. Mon. p. 144. But A.D. 1084 or 1086, as Stevens, vol. ii. p. 237, from Hist. des Ordres Mon. vol. viii. p. 366, and Newcourt's Repertorium, vol. i. p. 578, from Hospinian de Orig. Monach. lib. v. cap. 7.

^b Reyner, vol. i. p. 161.

^d Stevens, vol. ii. p. 239, says, there were but five Nunneries of this austere Order in the World, and but one hundred and sixty-seven Houses of these Monks.

DE ORIGINE CARTHUSIANORUM.

CARTHUSIANORUM exordium incidit in annum salutis m.lxxx. Quidam enim singulari doctrina, nomine Bruno, homo Coloniensis, cùm Lutesia Parisiorum philosophiam profiteretur, contigit, ut amicum quendam bonis moribus præditum, et vita jam privatum, priusquam ad sepulturam daretur, audire visus sit clamantem, Justo Dei judicio damnatus sum; et ea re motus è vestigio cum sex sociis pari miraculi eventu territis, eremi deserta quæritans, pervenerit in diœcesim Grationopolitanam (est Celtica urbs) ibique locum optaverit, cui hodie Cartusia nomen est, quem ei assignandum curavit Hugo Grationopolitanus episcopus, qui statim post, se ad eam familiam adjunxit. Eo igitur loci Bruno ad res divinas intentus primum cœnobium fundavit, cum his rigidæ vitæ institutis: intima enim veste utuntur cilicina, summa pallio nigro, subter candida toga, operculoque capitis cucullo; carnibus nunquam vescuntur, sexto hebdomadæ die pane et aqua jejunium ad edomandam vitiosam corporis naturam institutum observant, in cubiculis quæ veluti sacella habent, soli edunt, certis tamen festis diebus unà duntaxat prandent. Silentium eis penè perpetuum, nulli fas est cœnobio exire præter præfectum, et procuratorem, et illis tantùm ad negotia loci curanda, quippe opes habent per quas semper sacerdotibus minùs omnino licet, se totos, prout deberent, rebus sacris curandis dare. Mulieribus ad eorum etiam templa aditus interdictus, quò ne aliquid videant, per quod ad libidinem rapiantur.^a Miraculum, quod instituto huic initium præbuisse dicitur, his monachi cujuspiam versibus fusiùs aliquantò describitur.

Siste viator et hos oculis percurrito versus,
Mira leges, cuivis exhorrescenda salutis
Cui sit cura suæ, historia testata fideli,
Fors vitæ hic ratio melior sumetur agendæ.

Anno octogeno supra mille atque secundo,
Parisiis doctor pietatis nomine clarus,
Doctrinæque simul, moritur. Mox funus honore
Justo quo fieret, quisquis celebratior urbe
Tota erat, huc adiit: intentis omnibus unà
Funebri officio, defunctus vertice paulum
Sublato è pheretro, clara tristisque profatur
Voce, "Dei justo sum judicio accusatus."
Obstupuère animis, oculisque, atque auribus omnes:
Quippe ad inauditum, tamque admirabile monstrum.

Proin statuunt corpus tumulandum luce sequenti,
Qua multo affluxit populus numerosior orta,
Solicita attoniti nimirum corda tremore.
Rursum effertur humo condendus mortuus, ecce
Erecto est rursus capite hæc in verba locutus,
"Justa Dei de me dudum sententia lata est."

Jam magis atque magis cunctis horrescere mentes,
Corda pavere magis novitatis nescia miræ.
Alterum usque diem conservandum esse cadaver
Consulto placuit, populus quo confluit omnis,
Indocti, docti, juvenesque, senesque, puellæ,
Matronæque graves merito rumore stupendo
Exciti, officium jam funebre tertio adornant.
Stant cuncti arrectique comas, artusque trementes,
Cùm prope putre caput jam attollitur altius, atque
Flebiliter tremula prorupit voce supremum,
"Justo judicio Christi sum condemnatus."

Demum inopina viri tam docti, tamque probati
Damnati cunctos valde sententia terret,

^a Polid. Virg. de Invent. rerum, lib. 7. cap. 3.

Incertos quid agant, desperantesque remittit
Nonnullos, multa aiunt iudicium Dei abyssus.

Bruno vir eximius doctrina et religione
Consternatus eo, qui omni admirabilis urbi
Extiterat vivus, qui si quisque alter Olympo
Esse videbatur dignandus iudice Christo,
Damnato rationem aliam disquirere vitæ
Festinat. Comites alii sex se associarunt:
Deserit extemplo populumque urbemque frequentem.
Post ad eremitæ casulam devenit, ab illo
Iudicii horrorem æterni quæ evadere possit
Scitatur; mox is respondet verba prophetæ:
“ Ecce elongavi fugiens loca sola habitavi.”
Omnes unus amor statim succendit eremi.
Iter ad Hugonem qui erat inter episcopus omnes
Unus amore Dei flagrans, populique salutis
Commissi cura, noctesque diesque fatigans.
Quid veniant paucis exponunt ordine verbis,
Secessum votis orant ardentibus aptum.
Multa diœcesi illius loca inhospita norant,
Desertosque vacare foris habitacula montes.
Audit vota lubens facilisque præcantibus ultro
Unâ abit in montem cui adhuc Carthusia nomen,
Viderat is siquidem pridem per somnia Christum
Ædificare sibi pergratam his montibus ædem,
Seque huc stellarum septem splendente ducatu
Accersi. Proin hic communi protinus ære

[Ex codice MS. in bibl. Cotton. sub effigie Neronis A. III. fol. 139.]

INTRANTES ecclesiam novicii capucia remove sicut cæteri debent, usque ad sedes suas nudatis capitibus incedentes. Similiter cum exire ecclesiam contigerit, capucia remove debent signantes se. Ingressi verò ecclesiam et in chorum, in medio inclinent reverenter ad sacramentum desuper altaris, deinde priori si transeant coram illo. Item tunc stent in sedibus suis versa facie ad altare, donec ad misericordias vel super formulas prout tempus postulat inclinent. A laudibus enim vigiliæ natalis Domini usque in crastinum octabarum apparitionis, et à Pascha in crastinum octabarum Pentecostes et infra octabas corporis Christi, assumptionis et natalis beatæ Mariæ, et in festis xij. lectionum ad misericordias inclinamus, omni verò alio tempore procumbimus super formulas. Quamdiu autem super formulas vel misericordias inclinamus, ab omni strepitu, sicut in canone missæ, quantum possumus abstinemus, et in ecclesiam intrare vel per chorum transire cavemus. Si autem contigerit quando intramus vel eximus dici Gloria Patri, vel Gloriam hymni, vel Dominus vobiscum ad missam ubicumque sumus, statim inclinamus, caventes ne alicui dorsum in faciem vertamus.

Cum soli aliquid in ecclesia dicimus et cum dicitur psalmus Te Deum, et quotiens pronunciatur Evangelium, et cum dicitur psalmus Benedictus, psalmus Magnificat, ac etiam psalmus Quicumque vult, Confiteor, Kyrieleison ad missam, Gloria in excelsis, Credo in unum, et quotiens incipitur ymnus Veni Creator Spiritus, omnes cupucia removemus.

Cum autem dicitur Alleluya, Veni sancte Spiritus, genua flectimus: surgentes à venia stamus erecti, id est, non innitimur hinc vel inde.

Item quotiens sine capuciis esse debemus non innitimur sive faciem habeamus ad altare sive non, excepto sacerdote cum dicit benedictiones et cum dicit preces et orationes in sede sua vel super formas, et cantore ebdomadario ad suffragia sancti Johannis et omnium sanctorum, et eciam toto conventu cum dicitur Confiteor.

Cum sacerdos dicit orationem in sede sua vel super formas, eo surgente surgimus omnes post Benedicamus Domino, vel Requiescant in pace; cum verò est ad lectorium, surgimus cum dicitur In unitate Spiritus sancti. Ad missam autem, ad orationem ante epistolam donec responderemus, Amen, non deponimus sedes nostras.

Ad orationes in fine missæ surgimus cum dicitur In unitate Spiritus sancti.

In canone missæ, nisi necessitas aliud cogat, faciem nostram capucio totaliter cooperimus: alio verò tempore in omnibus locis ita ut facies nostræ appareant capucia nostra tenere debemus.

Oculos autem nostros semper et ubique, maximè verò in ecclesia et in refectorio tenere nos convenit, ne nobis murmurandi aut detrahendi materiam afferant aut ridendi.

Manus nostras in ecclesia et ubique cum sumus sine capa, extra cucullam et insimul habere debemus, nisi cum aliquid tenendum est nobis vel agendum. Nec debemus tenere digitos complexos et connexos.

Cum capas habemus, in choro vel alibi quando inclinamus vel quando sedemus, oras capæ hinc inde ante genua nostra complicare debemus, nisi teneamus aliquid vel agamus.

Tibias pedum non nimis debemus extendere, divaricare, vel cancellare.

Nec debemus dum psalmodia dicitur libros alios revolvere, nec ad hospites vagè respondere.

Item quando soli fallimus id est quando deficimus, veniam accipimus super formam: eum liber nobis cadit vel eum cadere facimus, veniam accipimus super formam. Quando inclinandum est, si non inclinamus nisi cum pulsati à socio, non debemus molestè ferre, sed veniam accipimus. Cum ad missam non sumus ad Confiteor, venientes ad sedes nostras veniam accipimus super formam. Similiter facimus cum orationi non intersumus quæ fit ante horam.

Cantatis horis prior de ecclesia primus exit, nisi aliqua necessitas cum remanere compellat. Post priorem primus in ordine, deinde cæteri per ordinem.

Semel in die non tamen in conventu ascendentes ad gradum altaris, genua flectimus.

Qui fragilitatem incurrunt, quamvis inde confessi fuerint, non debent tamen ea die gradum majoris altaris ascendere, nec eciam ibidem veniam sumere.

Quando incipimus ad vespas hymnum Ave maris stella, veniam accipimus in ecclesia super formas, alibi, prout oportunitas fuerit.

Similiter facimus ad singula eorum quæ subsequuntur, scilicet, Ave Maria, sive sit invitatorium sive responsiunculum, seu versiculus vel etiam offertorium, necnon et ad Salve sancta parens, atque Salve regina.

Item quando incipitur Veni sancte Spiritus, et in lectione quando dicimus Ave gratia plena, similiter veniam accipimus.

Item in letania Paschæ et Pentecostes cum pronunciatur Sancta Trinitas veniam accipimus, nec surgimus donec dictum sit Sancta Maria ora.

Item veniam accipimus cum incipimus versum, O crux ave spes unica. Similiterque facimus in pascere cum incipitur à diacono antiphona Nos autem, et cum incipimus ymnum Veni Creator Spiritus, et etiam in natali Domini quando incipitur invitatorium, Christus natus est.

Item quodcumque corpus Domini nobis præsentibus portatur ad communicandum, ubicumque sumus veniam accipimus.

Inclinamus nudatis capitibus versa facie ad altare cum ante evangelium signantes nos dixerimus

Gloria tibi Domine, et quando inceptum est Gloria in excelsis Deo, Credo in unum, et quando gradum altaris ascendimus, et cum transimus ante altare.

Sed et quando capitulum vel etiam refectorium intramus, inclinamus ad crucem.

Inclinamus super misericordias quando dicitur Gloria Patri, nec surgimus donec dictum sit Spiritui sancto. Eodem modo inclinamus quando post evangelium dicitur antiphona Te decet laus, et quando in Gloria in excelsis Deo dicitur Adoramus te, et in Credo in unum quando dicitur Simul adoratur, et cum post offertorium sacerdos vertit se ad populum dicens, Orate fratres, et quando post præfationem dicitur Sanctus, et quando preces et orationes ad matutinas et horas dicuntur diebus festivis, et omni tempore cum ad missam dicuntur orationes. Tamen quando sacratur aqua benedicta, et ad primas orationes quæ post passionem dicuntur, in paresceve stamus versa facie ad altare. Procumbimus verò diebus ferialibus super formas ad Pater noster ante horæ initium et ad Gloria Patri, nec surgimus donec dictum sit Spiritui sancto. Similiter facimus ad preces et orationes quæ ad matutinas et horas dicuntur, et in spacio missæ quod est int̄ Sanctus et Agnus Dei, in quo spacio festivis diebus stamus versa facie ad altare. Quociens nomen Jesu vel nomen Mariæ pronunciamus vel audimus, modicè et reverenter inclinamus. Consimiliter quoque facimus priori ad lectionem eunti vel redeunti vel cum ante eum transimus, et cum prior ad aliquos venit assurgitur ei. Item quando in Credo dicitur Et homo factus est, prosternimus nos in terram osculantes, et consimiliter facimus post elevationem corporis Christi, nec surgimus donec calix deponatur. Item post Agnus Dei data pace prostrati in terram oramus. Tribus autem primi nocturni versibus explicatis, ille qui requisitus est chorum intrare non potest nisi prior aut vicarius innuat. Expleto primo psalmo non ingreditur nec vocatur. Ad missam quilibet intrare potest semper usque ad evangelium. Item quod nullus quamvis sit sacerdos quando est solus dicit Jube dompne benedicere, benedictio tamen non omittitur. Cantatis nocturnis breve facimus intervallum, in quo spacio qui voluerit remanere potest in choro stans vel sedens, non autem ad venias accipiendas. Item debemus cavere cum simus ad lectorium et ubique ne molestum strepitum faciamus folia revolvendo vel aliquod aliud agendo. Item tempore matutinarum in quibus ante Laudes fit intervallum, nulli extra ecclesiam ire licet nisi necessitas cogit. Item spaciū quod est inter matutinas et terciam diei omnibus diebus, spiritualibus exercitiis mancipatur. A terciā autem usque ad sextam et à ix. dicta usque ad vesp̄as tempus quod in eis est manualibus deputatur operibus. Quæ tamen opera semper volumus saltim brevibus orationibus interrumpere. A vesperis autem usque ad completorium spiritualibus operibus intendere debemus. Item in quadragesima tamen usque ad completorium licet manualia operari. Porro spaciis operi deputatis, utilitatem lectionis non intendimus excludere. Post completorium dictum, statim debemus ire dormitum. Monemur autem horis ad quietem deputatis dormitioni magnum impendere studium, quatinus temporibus cæteris alacriter vigilare possimus. Disciplinas vel vigiliās seu quælibet alia religionis exercitiā quæ nostræ institutionis non sunt, nulli nostrum facere licet, nec etiam abstinētiās nisi quæ ab ordine constitutæ sunt. Novicii sicut et cæteri ad missas privatas servientes, cum cuculla ecclesiastica servire teneantur. Novicii in conventu non celebrent. Et si in missarum celebratione et observanciis regularibus formæ ordinis se noluerint conformare, vel si in sustinenda opinione sua fuerint obstinati, vel in modo vivendi fuerint singulares, ad professionem nullatenus admittantur. Novicii si habent unde, provideant in noviciatu de vestibus sibi ipsis et de cæteris necessariis. Item non debent in ecclesia post conventum nimiam moram facere nisi necessitate cogente, vel in claustro post alios deridere et dissolutionem signis vel factis ostendere, nec susurrare in conventu vel clamosi esse in loquendo, nec præoccupare aliorum verba antequam finita fuerint et plena atque perfecta. Item cum imus ad ecclesiam vel ad alium locum non debemus leviter retro respicere.

De Cella et Silenciū Observatione.

HORAS in cella alterius nobis dicere non licet nisi operemur cum illo. Item in cella temporibus orationi deputatis ab omni strepitu molesto caveamus et in tempore dormitionis. Item non debemus clamose dicere Pater noster in ecclesia ne impediāmus alios, nec eciam horas vel alias orationes dicere in cellis unde possit molestia alicui oriri. Item reprehensibiles sunt qui nolunt opera manualia aliquando exercere, quia sic legitur in vitis patrum, Nunc lege, nunc ora, nunc cum fervore labora.

Sic erit hora brevis, et labor ille levis.

Item ab exaltatione sanctæ crucis usque ad pascha in spacio quo lector refectorii refectionem accipit, nonam beatæ Mariæ dicimus in cellis, atque aliis spiritualibus exercitiis occupamur, quousque ab eodem lectore nona beatæ Mariæ priùs in ecclesia dicta pulsetur ad horam. Nullus ostium cellæ tenet apertum nisi cum aliquis est cum eo. Cum duo aut plures in una cella fuerint, primo ostio penitus aperto, secundum ex toto non claudatur nec ullatenus obseretur. Cellæ incolam id est habitatorem diligenter ac sollicitè debet vigilare, nec aliquas occasiones egrediendi foras machinetur vel recipiat, exceptis hiis qui generaliter instituti sunt; sed potiùs sicut aquas piscibus et caulas ovibus, ita suæ saluti et vitæ cellam deputet necessariam, in qua quanto diucius moratus fuerit, tanto libentiùs habitabit, nam si cellam frequenter et levibus de causis exire consueverit citò habebit eam exosam. Et ideo post nonam die colloquii petenda debet petere, et accepta, tota diligentia custodire. Si verò pane, aqua, potu, vel igne caruerit, vel insolitum strepitum aut clamorem audierit, vel periculum ignis institerit, tunc licebit ei silentium solvere. Si aliquis importunus ad cellam venerit volens loqui vel intrare nobiscum, interrogatur priùs si prior jusserit, sic dicendo, Habetisne licentiam à priore? Si dixerit, Non, mittimus eum ad pincernam vel ad portarium, ut aliquis eorum impetret licentiam à priore si possit inveniri, vel à vicario, nec ampliùs cum illo loquimur etiamsi sit germanus, quousve habeat licentiam à priore vel vicario. Si verò ex nostris ad cellam venerit aliquis volens loqui vel intrare nobiscum, ibi interrogatur priùs, si prior jusserit, aliter ad colloquium non recipitur nec intrare permittitur, nisi talis fuerit de quo sit credendum quod sine licencia non venerit.

Cum aliquis est in alterius cella vel alibi per licentiam, audito completorio statim recedere debet nisi majorem moram faciendi speciale mandatum habuerit. Nullus autem ad fenestram et ad ostium prati vel cimiterii debet venire ad colloquium, eciam si dixerit se habere licentiam colloquendi.

Cum aliqui habent licentiam colloquendi vel cum simul operantur, ipsi quidem loquuntur adinvicem, sed non cum supervenientibus nisi priore præsentem aut jubente. Nec in alterius cella nullus nisi licentiam habeat ingreditur.

Quicumque ea quæ dicit affirmaverit jurando simpliciter per Deum, per fidem, per Christum, sic Deus me adjuvet, aut alio modo simili, audiente uno vel pluribus, statim ubicumque sit veniam accipiat, et si hoc pro consuetudine faciat, gravius puniatur. Juxta voluntatem nostram nocturnis utimur sotularibus, custodientes tamen eos à cæno et à pluvia et nive quantum possumus.

Petere, accipere, donare vel literas recipere vel mittere sine licencia non debemus. Exire de cella nequaquam conceditur nisi cum ad recordationem vel jussu prioris ad aliquod colloquium evocamur. Et ad ecclesiam statutis horis convenimus exceptis paulo ante in hoc extractu recitatis.

Coquinam id est potagium et pitanciam non debemus in cellis usque in crastinum nec eciam usque ad cœnam, sine speciali licencia, reservare: herbas verò crudas et fructus quamdiu volumus retinemus.

De Utensilibus Cellæ.

NOVICII si habent provideant se in noviciatu de vestibus et aliis necessariis. Item accipit incola cellæ ad lectum pallam filtrum si possit habere, sin autem, grossum pro eo pannum simplicem non duplicatum. Pulvinar cotum vel coopertorium de grossissimis ovium pellibus et panno grosso cooperatum. Ad vestitum autem duo cilicia, duas tunicas, duas pelliceas, unam deteriorem alteram meliorem; duas similiter cucullas, ij. paria caligarum, tria paria pedulium, iiij. pelles, capam, sotulares nocturnos et diurnos, saginam ad ungendum, lumbaria duo, cingulum; omnia canebina et grossa. Et quicquid prorsus ad lectum vestitumve pertinet cujus grossitudinis colorisve sit non curabit subditus vel prælatus. Liceat tamen prioribus et aliis extra terminos euntibus vestes habere aliquantulum meliores et pro necessitate leviores quam habent hii qui domi resident, in quibus sicut in aliis omnis curiositas et accuratio devitetur; cum enim ad omnes monachos, tamen maximè ad nos humilitatem attricionemque pannorum et universorum quibus utimur vilitatem, paupertatem, et abjectionem certum est pertinere. Habet eciam cellæ habitator acus duas, filum, forfices, pectinem, novaculam ad caput, cotem, vel calculum et corrigiam ad acuendum. Ad scribendum verò scriptorium, pennas, cretam, pumices duos, cornea duo, scapellum unum ad radenda parcamena, novaculas sive rasoria duo, punctorium unum, subulam unam, plumbum, regulam, postem ad regulandum tabulas, graphium. Quod si frater alterius artis fuerit, quod apud nos rarò valde contigit, omnes enim pene quos suscipimus si fieri potest scribere docemus, habet arti suæ instrumenta convenientia. Adhuc eciam libros ad legendum de armario accipit duos, quibus omnem diligentiam curamque præbere monetur, ne fumo ne pulvere, vel aliqua qualibet sorde maculentur. Item habeant incolæ cellæ ollæ duæ, scutellæ duæ, tertia ad panem vel pro ea mantile, quarta grandiuncula ad faciendas mundicias, coclearia duo, cultellus ad panem, justa, cibus, vas aquarium, salariam, patella, manutergium. Ad ignem focale, esca, lapis ignitus, ligna, securis. Ad opera verò dolabrum. Iccirco autem uni tanta concedimus, ne, quod illicitum ducimus, exire de cella compellatur.

De Domo Capituli.

QUANDO capitulum intramus vel exeamus nudatis capitibus inclinamus ad crucem. Item quando in capitulo confitemur, prolixitatem caveamus, in cella verò possumus diffusius confiteri. In capitulo non loquimur nisi quando confitemur vel quando tenetur capitulum. Nullus etiam in capitulo de facili loquatur nisi ea tantum quæ ad necessitatem vel ad religionis observantiam pertinere noscuntur. Nullus in capitulo vel ubicumque fuerit in conventu cum aliquo secretò loquatur.

De Refectorio.

INTRANTES refectorium nudamus capita, et venientes ad sedes nostras ad crucem inclinamus. Item in refectorio non debemus dissoluti esse, sed nos debemus habere disciplinatè ne faciamus unde alterum offendamus. Et oculos nostros maximè in refectorio tenere nos convenit, ne nobis murmurandi aut judicandi vel detrahendi materiam afferant aut ridendi. Sic dicens beatus Hugo Lincolniensis, Oculos in disco, manus in mensa, aures ad lectionem, cor ad Deum habere debemus. Item nullus pitanciam in refectorio ante se positam ad se trahit donec ille qui apposuit ad sedem suam redierit.

Cum duæ scutellæ apponuntur, quando eas exponimus unam infra alteram ponimus, nisi tantum de cibus illatis remanserit quod id facere sine immersione nequeamus.

Aliquis nolens comedere quæ sibi refectorio apponuntur, alteri porrigere fas non habet, excepto pane, fructibus, et herbis crudis.

Panem nostrum debemus ita æqualiter scindere tam in refectorio quam in cellis, ut quod residuum fuerit honestè cuilibet possit apponi. Potum quoque in cibus in tali quantitate fundere debemus, ne illum cogamur in ollas refundere.

Apponenti nobis aliquid et removenti inclinamus.

Contra consuetudinem est ut in refectorio manus vel os ad mantile tergamus. Scutellas non exponimus donec præsidens suam exponat. Mantilia non convolvimus donec prior suum mantile convolvat. Numquam exceptis cellis propriis in aliqua domo alia vel officina manducamus et bibimus nisi in refectorio in festis et tempore prandii vel cænæ, exceptis priore et procuratore.

In refectorio nulli nostrum licet loqui, sic nec in claustro vel in ecclesia.

De Colloquio Claustri.

UBICUNQUE colloquium habeamus curandum est nobis, et maximè coram extraneis seu hospitibus, ut caveamus à multiloquio et ut sermones nostri sint honesti et non seculares vel contentiosi. Nullus in communi colloquio ita submissè loqui debet vel susurrare vel dicere aliquid quod nolit ab omnibus intelligi vel audiri. Item ad colloquium vel alibi non debemus esse dissoluti ad referendos rumores seculi, nec in gestu nec in sermone et habitu exemplum et materiam ostendere dissolutionis. Item non debemus sermonibus prolixis conventum fatigare. Et etiam si contingat ut aliquis est accusatus coram priore non debemus importunè accusare nec aggravare. Tradenti nobis tortas ad ostium refectorii inclinamus, et ipse nobis.

Lector refectorii post capitulum libros portat in refectorium. Lector stat ad librum versa facie ad orientem. Inclinante conventu ad Gloria Patri et ad Pater noster, inclinatur et ipse, versa facie ad conventum. Nec debet autem sedere donec sedeat ille qui præest conventui. Historiam legit rotundiùs, sermones et omelias attractiùs; apertè tamen et distinctè legat omnia ut possit intelligi, et tali voce quod possit audiri. Ad gratias inclinante conventu inclinatur lector versa facie ad conventum. Si aliquis de libris quos attulit consummatùs est, novicius eum in ecclesiam defert, alios ad minus post cænā lector in ecclesiam portat. Si tamen in historia die crastina sit legendum in ecclesia, egresso post cænā conventu de refectorio portat eum ad ostium ecclesiæ. Lector refectorii in refectorio benedictionem ad prandium vel ad cœnam iterare non debet. In cella sine licentia nunquam comedit. Poterit autem prior interdum dispensare cum eo ut mixtim possit recipere.

In vigilia quoque corporis Christi et in vigiliis quinque solemnitatum beatissimæ Virginis fiat abstinentia, propter hoc tamen non fit in septimana ultra semel. Cum festum xij. lectionum occurrerit in vigiliis ascensionis et corporis Domini, fiat abstinentia feria vj. sequenti, et in prædictis vigiliis abstinence à lacticiniis. Cum verò vigilia corporis Christi et beati Johannis Baptistæ in una ebdomada occurrerit, non in vigilia corporis Christi sed beati Johannis abstinentia ipsa fiat. Ovis quoque et lacticiniis uti non possumus feria ij. vel iiij. in qua debet fieri abstinentia propter occurrens festum xij. lectionum in feria vj. Die qua fieri debet abstinentia monachi extra cellas proprias non laborent, nec eis spaciamenta tunc concedantur. Quod panis et vini superest sabbato redditur, tamen album panem quamdiu volumus retinemus. In Adventu nec ovis nec caseo vescimur.

Cantor ebdomadarius capucium removet antequam invitatorium incipiat nudatum habens caput, donec post Venite reinceperit invitatorium. Cum autem primò inceperit invitatorium inclinatur, Venite cantat, et post ultimum versum iterum inclinatur, et tertio post Gloriam, et quarto post reinceptionem invitatorii.

Ad officium cantoris ebdomadarii pertinet ut omnes versiculos et responsiuncula ad vespas et ad matutinas Laudes et Benedicamus dicat, et antiphonas ad horas et in suffragiis et in commemoratione et in officio defunctorum incipiat. Ad omnia quæ ratione sui officii dicit vel incipit capucium removet. Ad Laudes et Vespas removet capucium antequam dicat primum Benedicamus nec reinduit donec ultimum dixerit. Hoc officium alternatim unusquisque in suo choro per ordinem facit, excepto priore et procuratore. Et hoc observatur ut non sint in eodem choro cantor ebdomadarius et sacerdos ebdomadarius, qui similiter de choro in chorum alternatim mutantur. Qui verò responsum cantat tam in brevibus quam in magnis responsoriis semper habet nudatum caput et versam faciem ad altare, et tercio inclinatur, primò post inceptum responsorium, secundo post Versum, tercio post Gloriam.

In omnibus nocturnis et matutinis laudibus antiphonæ primæ, antiphonæ quoque ad Benedictus et Magnificat, et ad Cantica, à choro cantoris ebdomadarii semper incipiuntur. Novem Kyrieleison ad vespas et matutinas et ad omnes horas sicut ad missam dicimus, et à dextro choro prioris semper incipiuntur. Ad missam verò à choro cantoris ebdomadarii.

In ecclesia, in refectorio, et in claustro, excepta recordatione, ille emendat cui injungitur à priore. Emendator emendat in omnibus quæ soli dicimus excepto quod ad recordationem emendat ille qui est juxta librum. Emendator modestius quam potest emendare debet, et si in ecclesia mendosè emendat, quamcitus percipit, veniam accipiat super formam. Cum autem emendator grunnit aut dicit iterum, ille qui legit debet, versum repetere. Cum verò emendatur illi, non debet murmurare vel dicere Ita est, vel Ita dixi, vel aliud hujusmodi. Absente priore et emendatore emendat primus in ordine si scit vel potest, aliàs emendat secundus in ordine, vel aliquis monachorum qui scit et potest emendare. Quando is qui legit aliquando non correxerit nisi quando sibi emendatur, ad pedem lectorii veniam accipere debet.

Sciendum quod quot collectas dicit audiente conventu, tot tantummodo dicit secretas, et eodem ordine. Dicta prima secreta dicit Per Dominum et cætera usque ad Amen, quod non dicit. Deinde non præmisso Domine exaudi sed Oremus, incipit secundam, finiens extremam, levat manus scilicet cum dicit, Per omnia secula seculorum.

Minuimur autem in anno quinquies. Post octabas paschæ. Post sollempnitatem Petri et Pauli. Secunda ebdomada Septembris. Septimana ante adventum; et ebdomada ante quinquagesimam. In quo tempore minutionis scilicet per tres dies continuos bis reficimus, aliquid cibi melioris accipientes. Item secunda die et tertia minutionis divinum officium festinantius et submissius dicitur, cessantque vigiliæ et intervallum, et omnes in ecclesiæ remanent.

Ad opus manuum de consuetudine non nisi ter trinis diebus in anno conventus exit.

Prima opera communia secunda ebdomada post octabas paschæ, et alia, secunda ebdomada post festum apostolorum Petri et Pauli, tertia verò, prima ebdomada post festum Michaelis fieri consueverunt. Et si dictis temporibus aliquod impedimentum occurrerit, ante vel post, prout comodiùs fieri poterit, supplebuntur. Nullum tamen aliud colloquium in illis septimanis nisi venerit capituli festum est habendum.

Non est nostræ consuetudinis pro victualibus murmurare, maximè in conventu.

Cum prior foris est observantias ordinis nos convenit fortiùs observare.

Qui scribere scit et potest et voluerit, à vino abstineat arbitrio prioris.

Commendat prior novicium uni ex senioribus quem idoneum ad hoc cognoverit, qui eum horis competentibus visitans instruit eundem ad horas dicendas et ad cæteras ordinis observantias, quas ignorare novicium non oportet. Ad quod agendum per unam ebdomadam vel amplius si neccsarium fortè hoc prior cognoverit, sollicitus esse debet qui ei fuerit assignatus. Interim verò donec per se solum in cella horas dicat, fratres præter priorem et procuratorem consueverunt ab ejus visitatione abstinere.

Novicii infra diem professionis non missam in conventu non evangelium non epistolam dicunt, nec ad missas etiam privatas serviunt, nisi fortè quandoque priori aliter videatur considerata qualitate personæ; sed ebdomadarii cantus facere, et tam in ecclesia quam in refectorio legere possunt quam cito sibi injunctum fuerit à priore.

Novicii autem res suas priori ex integro reddant, ut non ipsi sed prior vel cui prior præceperit, eas custodiat, de quibus quandocunque ante professionem ordinare voluerint, fiat juxta dispositionem eorum. Nullus verò nostrum de rebus novicii aliquid postulet, nec ad procuracionem faciendam instruat ab aliquo nostrum. Novicius nec reprehendit nec reprehenditur, sed cum offensam facit instruitur à priore vel magistro suo. A capitulo et claustro cum necesse est removetur. Utrum autem in colloquiis brevem vel longam moram faciat sit in dispositione prioris. Recitata lectione in capitulo et propositis à præsidente proponendis, novicii confestim à capitulo recedant, et à generali finito sermone omnino excludantur; quibus consulimus quatinus sine licentia præsidens in colloquiis non remaneant, nec tunc ibidem faciant magnam moram. De negotiis domus non se debent intromittere nisi interrogati, et tunc debent potiùs respondere juxta aliorum voluntatem quam juxta suam. Non quærent licentiam ut possint aliquem visitare nisi infirmum. Post annualem probationem novicium clericum vel laicum nisi professionem facere cum nobis placuerit sit paratus, apud nos non retinemus. Quando autem novicii duo ad aliquam domum venerint, qui posterior venit, si priùs professionem fecerit primus deinceps remanebit. Si quis autem etiam in duabus domibus nostri ordinis professionem fecerit, secundæ tantùm monachus aut conversus aut redditus erit, in prima tamen nichilominus ei salvum remanet beneficium spirituale, dummodo occasione criminis non transferatur. Si quis professionem fecerit in aliqua domo ordinis et iterum in alia habeat profiteri: sufficit ad professionem faciendam ut obedientiam promittat manibus prioris in conventu. Quando aliquis nostrum de domo in qua professionem fecerat transfertur ad aliam domum, post annum ibidem professionem faciat, vel infra quandocunque priori placuerit. Sacerdotes et cæteri qui de seculo vel altera religione venient ad ordinem, si in inissarum celebratione et observantiis regularibus formæ ordinis se noluerint conformare, vel si in sustinenda opinione sua fuerint obstinati, vel in modo vivendi fuerint singulares, ad professionem nullatenus admittantur; quoniam per tales personas olim multa in ordine scandala provenerunt. Novicii non faciant provisionem nisi proprio priore præsentem et celebrante vel alio de ordine nostro per voluntatem ejus si legitimè fuerit præpeditus; Spiritus enim sanctus illa hora gratum non recipit quicquid aliud quam debes neglecto eo quod debes obtuleris.

Qui pronuntiat antiphonam, dicat de illa ad pausam congruentem. Qui verò de ecclesia dum ultimus psalmus dicitur exit moramque extra ecclesiam facit donec præces et postmodum Exultabunt ex integro persolvantur Laudibus sequentibus interesse non poterit. Sacerdos solus nisi dicturus sit evangelium, non Dominus vobiscum sed Domine exaudi, dicat. Sacerdos celebraturus primò accedat ad gradum altaris, flexis genibus dicat Pater noster. Quamdiu sacerdos orationem facit ad gradum, nec diaconus nec aliquis alius transeat ante eum.

Exeuntes autem de refectorio, à pascha usque in crastinum exaltationis sanctæ crucis spacium quod inter prandium et nonam facimus pro dierum quantitate nunc brevius nunc longius quieti datur. Exinde usque ad pascha post prandium nonam deferimus donec lector refectorii refectionem accepit et nonam beatæ Mariæ in ecclesia cantaverit, et ab eo signum pulsetur ad nonam, in quo spacio nonam beatæ Mariæ in cellis dicimus, et aliis spiritualibus exerciciis occupamur, exceptis tribus diebus post festum Innocentium quando occurrunt sine festo capituli: Tunc enim quia colloquium in claustro non habemus, statim post prandium nonam dicimus, ad quam pulsat novicius, qua dicta, cellas repetimus. Post nonam in claustro convenimus de utilitatibus locuturi, prima tamen locutione de consuetudinibus à kalendis Novembris usque ad pascha, exinde de Evangeliiis. Loqui autem in claustro alibi quam in parte ubi colloquium fit non licet, nisi fortè aliquando pauca verba.

Ab exaltatione sanctæ crucis non nisi semel manducamus in die, exceptis usque ad quinquagesimam festis capituli et in die susceptionis novi prioris et in die sepulturæ fratrum nostrorum ac etiam clericorum redditorum necnon et prælatorum qui apud nos pernoctabunt, et hoc inviolabiliter observetur exceptis infirmis et valetudinariis, debilibus, senibus et minutis. Alias verò si prior fregerit vel fecerit frangi, sit extra sedem suam in ecclesia per xl. dies.

Quando monachus ægrotans exit ab ecclesia, signum facit firmarius ut sequatur eum, et nichilominus cum monachus ad ecclesiam non venit, vel ab ea ægrotans exit, properet ad eum firmarius, et exhibeat ei quicquid potest humaniter.

Cum prior et sacerdos ebdomadarius et cantor ebdomadarius signum non audiunt vel forsitan infirmantur, finita Gloria Patri post Deus in adjutorium, exit firmarius ad quærendum eos, et ad alios et ad istos si diutius infirmantur exit firmarius finita Gloria Patri post Deus quid infirmum verò tantum semel in die quæsiturus vadit.

Tribus autem primi nocturni versibus explicatis, nisi prior annuat, qui requisitus est intrare chorum non præsumat. Expleto psalmo non ingrediatur nec vocetur. Hoc ipsum servatur in aliis horis. Ad missam quilibet intrare potest semper usque ad evangelium, sed de tarditate corrigatur.

Confessio in sabbato post recordationem. Omni sabbato nisi festum capituli occurrat peccata nostra priori vel quibus ab eo injunctum fuerit facta recordatione confitemur, occurrente autem capituli festo, in sabbato, die præcedenti quæ sine tali festo occurrit confitemur. Semper autem confitemur in vigilia natalis Domini nisi eadem vigilia occurrat in dominica, vel festum secunda, in quo casu confitemur in sabbato sequenti. Providendum est enim ut semper in qualibet ebdomada faciamus confessiones communes. Per totum spacium confessionis nullus debet in ecclesia residere vel libros revolvere. Quandocumque in capitulo confitemur prolixitatem caveamus, in cella autem diucius possumus confiteri. Pro privata confessione quæ in cella fit vel alibi non dimittitur generalis quæ fit in sabbato. Prostratus debet esse ac detecto capite quilibet quando confitetur. Ea quæ nobis in generali confessione confitentibus injunguntur dicit qualibet in choro prostrata.

Lector capituli egreditur diebus dominicis cum dicitur versus Unus omnino. In festis super ebdomadam Confiteor dicto egrediatur. Ipsius est antequam ingrediatur capitulum, ostium claustrum, rectorii, ostium hospicii et ostium per quod ad cellas tenditur claudere et cum vectibus obserare. In capitulo quamdiu est ad lectorium non inclinatur. Post lectionem omni tempore regresso lectore ad sedem suam, statim prior dicit Benedicite et nos Dominus aliquantulum inclinamus. Deinde in festo Reliquiarum pronunciantur Reliquiæ, et in festo sancti Stephani sic pronunciat lector in capitulo, Commemoratio benefactorum nostrorum. Libros quoque veteris ac novi testamenti eosve cum quibus celebrantur divina officia sine ejusdem capituli consilio generalis nullus emendare præsumat nisi cum exemplari in ordine emendato nisi iudicio prioris et monachorum discretorum corigalis manifestus appareat.

Prima pulsatio ad matutinas tanti spacii esse debet ut primi iiij. psalmi pœnitentiales dici possint, quo signo pulsato, omni tempore nocturnum ecclesiæ officium congruis vigiliis contra matutinas beatæ Mariæ sufficiant, et quod monachi congruè præparari possint in cella prævenimus contra vigiliæ ab idibus Septembris exceptis xij. lectionum festis, sensim paulatimque crescendo in kalendis Novembris perfectim quinquaginta psalmi non festinè cantandum minus sufficiunt. A quo tempore usque ad kalendas Februarii exceptis xij. lectionum festis et ebdomada natalis Domini decrescendo paulatim ad tantum spacium ad matutinas beatæ Mariæ sufficiat rediguntur, ex quo ad prædictas Septembris idus in eadem perdurant. Prædictum autem vigiliarum spacium sacrista cum sibi videbitur cum horologio terminabit, in quo spacio psalmis vel spiritualibus exercitiis occupamur.

MONASTICON ANGLICANUM.

Witham Priory, in Somersetshire.

WITHAM, or the Charterhouse in Selwode, is said, in Leland's Collectanea, to have been at first a Nunnery;^a but it is more certain that upon the Carthusian Monks coming over into England, A.D. 1181, this was the first House of that Order, built and endowed by King Henry II. to the honour of the blessed Virgin, St. John Baptist, and All Saints. The Alien Priories of Spectesbury in Dorsetshire, Monk's Tofte in Norfolk, and Warmington in Warwickshire, were granted, the two first by King Henry V. the last by King Henry the Sixth, to the Monks of this House, to which the CHARTER HOUSE on Mendip in Somersetshire was also a Cell.

The Foundation Charter of King Henry II. is given in the Appendix;^b together with an Inquisition relating to the same taken in the 44th Hen. III.;^c the Pension List to the Monks at the Dissolution;^d and an Abstract of the possessions of the House as they appear in the Ministers' Accounts of the 31st Hen. VIII.^e

PRIORS of WITHAM

occur in Cole's Manuscript Collections:^f

ST. HUGH, afterwards bishop of Lincoln.^g

WALTER, June 13th, 1318.

JOHN PESLIR, 39th Hen. VI. A.D. 1460.

RICHARD, A.D. 1510.

JOHN MICHELL, the last prior, el. 1536.

On May 20th, 1459, the bishop of Bath and Wells granted a licence to this Priory for a baptismal font to be erected "in capella de le Frery," with directions to William the suffragan bishop of Sidon, to dedicate their churchyard.^h

In Pope Nicholas's Taxation this House occurs by the name of the Carthusian Priory of Selwode, its revenues in Witham being valued at 30*l*.ⁱ

In the 26th Hen. VIII. the gross revenue of this House amounted to 227*l*. 1*s*. 8*d*.; the net income to 215*l*. 15*s*.^k

The Site was granted in the 36th Hen. VIII. to Ralph Hopton; it now belongs to the duke of Somerset, by purchase from Dr. Trenchard and Mr. Webb, who had shortly before bought the estate of William Beckford, esq.

No REGISTER of this Monastery is at present known to exist.^l

The COMMON SEAL of this Priory is appendant to the Surrender in the Augmentation Office, and represents our Saviour on the Cross, between two female figures, under a rich canopy, in base under a niche flanked by masonry, an abbot with his crosier. Legend, s . cōe . DOMVS . BE . MARIE . D' WITHAM . ORDINIS . CARTHVS.

Collinson says the ruins of the Monastery were taken down about the year 1764, excepting a small part connected with the east end of the church. A farm-house and another building have been erected on the site, by which it appears to have been an extensive edifice; the dormitory was erected in the time of Bishop Beckington.^m Since Collinson's time the remains have become very trifling.

Inquisitio Prioratus de Witham.

SOMERSETE. Anno regni regis Henrici xliiij. capta fuit hæc inquisitio.

Mandatum fuit H. de Bractone per sacramentum tam militum quam aliorum liberorum et legalium hominum de comit. Sumersetiæ et Wiltes per quos rei veritas melius sciri posset diligenter inquirere utrum dominus H. rex, avus domini regis H. qui nunc est, quando fundavit prioratum de Witham ordinis Chartusiens. de dominico bosco suo de Witham, satisfecit priori et sororibus leprosis de Bradel. pro communa pasturæ quam habere consueverunt ut dio . . . in prædicto bosco tanquam pertinente ad manerium suum de Gernefeld necne. Et si non satisfecit eis pro communa illa, quantum eadem communa pasturæ eis valere posset per annum, et ubi dictis priori et mulieribus escambium pro dicta communa pasturæ ad minus dampnum domini regis et ad majus commodum suum facere posset.

Et die Veneris proxima post translationem Sancti Andreae apostoli anno regni regis H. xliiij^{to}. venerunt coram eodem H. de Bractone, et Alano de Walton coronatore quem secum assumpsit apud Frome, in comit. Sumerset, octodecim tam milites quam liberi et legales homines de com. Sumersete, scilicet Willielmus de Badene, Hugo le Bigod, et alii, et totidem de com. Wiltes. scilicet Yvo de Sturton, Roger de Cromale, et alii, qui dicunt per sacramentum suum quod aliquando et ante tempus H. regis avi domini H. regis, antecessores prioris et sororum leprosarum de Bradel. et prædicti prior et sorores in tempore prædicti H. regis ante foundationem prioratus de Witham ordinis Charthus. per multos annos tenuerunt medietatem manerii de Gernefeld, et quidam Walkelinus aliam medietatem; et quilibet eorum communam habuit in bosco de la Holt extra vetus clausum prioris et fratrum de Witham ordinis Carthus. et qui de novo includitur de licentia domini regis, et de quo visum fecerunt, per certum redditum annum, et per certas operationes annuas. Et postea dedit idem Walkelinus suam medietatem prædictis priori et sororibus de Bradel. ita quod prædicti prior et sorores integre habuerunt communam ad omnia averia sua in eodem bosco sibi et hominibus suis de eodem manerio integro per certum redditum annum, videlicet per quatuordecim solidos per annum et per sex operationes, scilicet de qualibet domo tenantium prædictorum, tres in yeme et tres in æstate; et sic usi fuerunt saysina illa per prædictum redditum et prædicta servicia usque ad tempus quo dictus H. rex avus domini regis incepit fundare domum de Witham.

Requisiti utrum communam illam habuerunt de gratia vel de jure, vel per ballivos, cum dominus rex possit includere boscos suos dominicos pro voluntate sua vel parcos facere si vellet, ut videtur, dicunt quod de jure potius quam de gratia vel per ballivos propter certum redditum annum, quia si dominus rex eos vellet excludere a communa prædicta hoc facere non posset sine injuria eis facienda.

Requisiti etiam quare dominus H. rex avus domini regis non satisfecit eis in principio foundationis prædictæ domus de Witham sicut aliis satisfecit qui terras et tenementa et pasturam habuerunt infra metas prædictorum prioris et fratrum de Witham, vel quia infra duos annos et dimidium tacuerunt, ulterius non audirentur secundum quod per inquisitionem aliis inde factam perpenditur manifeste, dicunt quod hac ratione quia in ipsa fundatione et postea usque ad tempus quo prædicti prior et fratres de Witham nuper habuerunt licentiam a domino rege includendi terras suas, fuerunt idem prior de Bradel. et homines sui de Gernefeld in pacifica saysina de dicta communa per prædictum redditum et per prædicta servicia sicut fuerant tempore prædicti H. regis avi domini regis et ante; et nunquam fuit eorum status mutatus usque nunc. Et quia nunc primo sunt exclusi per prædictam concessionem domini regis non habuerunt necesse prius excambium petere. Dicunt etiam quod simul cum prædicta pastura solent prior et sorores de Bradel. et homines sui de Gernefeld habere veterem boscum mortuum quem quidem vocant Oldwode underfot, et unde æstimant valorem tam communæ quam talis bosci veteris ad valentiam septem librarum et octo solidorum per annum. De quibus poterit eis satisfieri si domino regi placuerit ad minus dampnum domini regis et ad majus commodum prioris et sororum de Bradel. de octo libratibus redditus in Muleburne in comitatu Sumersete vel in ecclesiastico beneficio, scilicet in ecclesia de Tydolveshide, in comitat. Wiltes. quæ non valet per annum ut dicunt nisi quindecim marcas excepta vicaria.

Hæc est perambulatio facta per præceptum domini regis de terminis, metis, et bundis ordinis Cartusiensis in Salewod die Veneris proxima post assumptionem beatæ Mariæ anno regni regis H. fil. regis Johannis xxvijº. coram domino Gilberto de Segrave justic. domini regis de foresta per sacramentum dominorum Henr. de Erleye, Johannis de Alre, Joh. de Reynni, Mathei de Clifton, Galfr. de Laurton, Rob. de Bosco, Williemi de Tylli, Lammuel Pauncerot, Roberti Malerbe, et aliorum, qui dicunt per sacramentum suum quod a parco a parte orientali, in fossato ejusdem parci usque ad Hackestock, et de Hackestock usque Postelesbur per fossatum de la Berue usque ad parcum regis per medium prati usque Bacheswey ultra Hundburnam usque Rugleyam, de Rugeleya usque Walecumbam, de Walecumba usque Havenesefd, de Haveneshefd usque Ludebrokam, de Ludebroke per cursum aquæ usque ad Penmere, de Penmere usque ad maram Williemi fil. Petri, et de mara usque ad Kyneputte juxta pontem Wdecrofti Petri, de Vadcroft Petri usque ad Frogmera, et de Frogmere usque ad Cludeweie, infra quos terminos omnes possessiones eorum clauduntur. De Clotweie incipiunt bundæ et termini sine clauso: scilicet de Clotweie usque Flexstock, de Flestock usque Schepesnedeswey, de Schepesnedeswey usque ad Ruggesclivesefd, de Ruggesclivesefd usque Chelnesnedesweie, de Chelnesnedesweie per cilium montis usque ad Fixburnesefd, de Fixburnesefd per cursum aquæ usque ad parcum ipsorum monachorum, quæ terræ et bosci in tempore H. regis avi istius regis qui nunc est semper fuerunt sine clauso. Dicunt etiam quod dominus H. rex qui nunc est fundavit domum Charthus. de dictis terminis et bundis quando sic dictas terras tenuit.

Priory of Henton, called also Atrium Dei, and Locus Dei, in Somersetshire.

WILLIAM LONGESPE earl of Salisbury gave the manor of Hethrop, in Gloucestershire, A. D. 1222, to certain monks and brethren of the Carthusian Order, assigned part of his revenues toward the building of a monastery for them there; and by his Will, made A. D. 1225, he bequeathed to them church-plate, vestments, certain reliques, and a stock of cattle.^a But these Religious, after some few years' stay, not liking their habitation, prevailed with the countess Ela, the relict of their founder, to remove them to Henton, in Somersetshire; where, in her park, A.D. 1227, she began a monastery for them, which she finished in 1232, and dedicated to the honour of the blessed Virgin Mary, St. John Baptist, and All Saints.^b

King Henry the Third confirmed the Privileges of this House in the twenty-fourth year of his reign:^c and a bull of Privileges was granted to it in 1245, by Pope Innocent the fourth.^d

The temporalities of this Priory as returned in Pope Nicholas's Taxation, A. D. 1291, were, "In Chynton, 4*l.* 10*s.* In Norton Comitis, 12*l.* In Henton, 24*l.* 15*s.*," making a total of 41*l.* 5*s.*^e

Collinson says, the monks here had, by various Grants, lands in Hinton, Wellow, East Wick, Peglinch, Norton, Lullington, Iford, Freshford, Wordwick, Woodborough, Whiteoxmead, and many other places.^f King Richard the Second gave them a hogshead of wine yearly out of the port of Bristol;^g and King Henry the Fifth a charter of free warren in the manors of Hinton and Norton.^h

In the 26th Henry VIII. this Priory was valued in the gross at 262*l.* 12*s.*, the net income amounted to 248*l.* 19*s.* 2*d.* per annum.

Stevens has given "King Henry the Eighth's Letters patents for the pension granted to Edmund Horde, last Prior of Hinton, translated from the Latin.

"Henry the Eighth, by the grace of God King of England and France, Defender of the Faith, Lord of Ireland, and supreme Head of the Church of England upon Earth: To all to whom these presents shall come, greeting. Whereas the late Monastery of Carthusians of Hinton is now dissolved, whereof Edmund Horde was Prior, at the time of the Dissolution, and long before. We, being willing that a reasonable yearly Pension, or suitable Promotion should be provided for the same Edmund, for his better exhibition, maintenance, and support. Be it therefore known to you, that we in consideration of the premises, of our special grace, and of our certain knowledge and meer proper motion, by the advice and consent of the chancellor and council of the Court of Augmentations of the revenues of our Crown, have given and granted, and by these presents do give and grant to the same Edmund a certain annuity or yearly pension of forty-four pounds sterling, to be had, enjoyed, and yearly received, the same forty-four pounds, by the said Edmund and his assigns, from the feast of the Assumption of the blessed Virgin Mary last past, to and for the term of the said Edmund's life, or till such time as the said Edmund shall by us be preferred to one or more ecclesiastical benefices, or other suitable promotion of the full value of forty-four pounds, or better, as well by the hands of the Treasurer of the Revenues of the Augmentations of our Crown, for the time being, out of our treasure which shall chance to be in his hands of the said revenues; as by the hands of the receivers of the profits and revenues of the said late Monastery, for the time being, out of the same profits and revenues, at the feast of St. Michael the Archangel and the Annunciation of the blessed Virgin Mary, by equal portions. EDMUND HORD was the last Prior, who, March 31st, 1540, with nineteen monks, surrendered his House to the king. He had a pension of 44*l.* a year. The pensions and gratuities, which were granted him and his monks, are enumerated by Stevens in his Continuation of Dugdale.^m

In the 21st Henry VIII. A. D. 1529, the Austin Priory of St. Radegund, at Longlete, in Wiltshire, was appropriated to this House.ⁿ

The Scite of Henton was granted in the 36th Hen. VIII. to John Bartlet, who sold it to Matthew Colthurst. It was afterwards in the Hungerford family, then in the Robinson's, and, in Collinson's time, the joint property of James Humphreys, esq. and Joseph Frowd, esq. in right of their wives, the daughters of S. Robinson, esq.

Charter-House, London.

THE following is Stevens's Account of this Monastery, in his Continuation of the Monasticon, as selected from different authorities.

"The Charter-House, or rather Chartreux Monastery of Carthusians, London, was founded," says Stowe,^a "by Sir Walter Manny, Knt. a stranger born, lord of the town of Manny, in the diocese of Cambrai, in the Netherlands, who, for service done to King Edward the III^d, was made Knight of the Garter.

"This House he founded upon this occasion. A great pestilence entering this island, began first in Dorsetshire, then proceeded into Devonshire, Somersetshire, Gloucestershire, and Oxfordshire, and, at length, came to London, and spread over all England, making such havock, that scarce the tenth person, of all sorts, was left alive, and churchyards were not sufficient to receive the dead, but men were forc'd to appoint certain fields for burials. Hereupon Ralph Stratford, bishop of London, in the year 1348, bought a piece of ground, call'd No Man's Land, which he enclos'd with a brick wall, and dedicated for burial of the dead, building thereon a proper chapel, which was afterwards enlarg'd, and made a dwelling-house, and the burying plot a fair garden, retaining the old name of Pardon Church-yard.

"About this time, in the year 1349, the aforesaid Sir Walter Manny, in respect of the danger that might befall in a time of so great a plague and infection, purchas'd thirteen acres and a rod of ground, adjoining to the said No Man's Land, and lying in a place call'd Spittle-Croft, because it belong'd to St. Bartholomew's Hospital, since that call'd the New Church Haw, and caus'd it to be consecrated by the said bishop of London to the use of burials.

"In this plot of ground there were in that year more than 50,000 persons bury'd, as I have read in the charters of Edward the III^d.

"I have also seen, and read, an inscription fix'd on a stone cross, sometime standing in the same church-yard, which was in Latin, the English whereof was to this effect.

"In the year of our Lord 1349, a great pestilence then prevailing, this Church-yard was consecrated, in which, and within the enclosure of this monastery, there were bury'd above 50,000 bodies of the dead, besides many others from that time to this, to whose souls God be propitious. Amen."

"In consideration of the number of Christian people here bury'd, the said Walter Manny caus'd first a chapel to be built, where, for the space of 23 years, offerings were made, and it is to be noted, that above 100,000 bodies of Christian people had been bury'd in that church-yard, for the said knight had purchased that place for the burial of poor people, travellers, and others, that were diseas'd, to remain for ever. Whereupon an order was taken for the avoiding of contention between the parsons of churches and that house, viz. That the bodies should be carry'd to the church where they were parishioners, or dy'd, and after the funeral service done, had to the place where they should be bury'd.

"And in the year 1371, he caus'd there to be founded an house of Carthusian monks, which he will'd to be call'd the Salutation, and that one of the monks should be call'd prior; and he gave them the said place of 13 acres and a rod of land, with the chapel and houses there built for their habitation. He also gave them the 3 acres of land, lying without the walls, on the north part, betwixt the lands of the abbat of Westminster, and the lands of the prior of St. John; which 3 acres being purchas'd, inclos'd, and dedicated by Ralph Stratford, bishop of London, remain'd a long time by the name of Pardon Church-yard, and serv'd for burying of such as were executed for felonies, who were usually fetch'd thither in a close cart, bal'd over, and cover'd with black, having a plain white cross thwarting, and at the fore-end a St. John's cross without, and within a bell ringing by the shaking of the cart, whereby the same might be heard when it pass'd, and this was call'd the friery-cart, which belong'd to St. John's, and had the privilege of sanctuary.^b

"This monastery at the Suppression, in 29 Hen. VIII. was valu'd at 642*l.* 0*s.* 4½*d.* per annum.^c

"This dissolv'd Charter-House, by West Smithfield, coming after the said Dissolution to the possession of Thomas, earl of Suffolk, being spacious, and having good gardens, and many appurtenances belonging to it, Mr. Thomas Sutton thought a proper place to build an hospital. He had before resolv'd to build the same at Hallingbury Bouchers, in Essex, for poor men and children, a school-master and usher to teach the said children to read and write, as also the Latin and Greek grammar, with a preacher and a master to govern the whole. To this purpose he had already procur'd an act of parliament for empowering of him to do the same.

"Afterwards finding this Charter-House to be much more convenient for his purpose than the before intended place at Hallingbury, he prevailed with the earl to sell the said Charter-House, for which he paid him down 13,000*l.* in hand. Next he obtain'd the king's letters patents for performing the same at the Charter-House, which had been before granted by act of parliament for Hallingbury.

"For the maintenance of this hospital, the said Mr. Sutton gave his manors and lordships of Southminster, Norton, Little-Hallingbury, alias Hallingbury Bouchers, and Much Stanbridge, in the county of Essex. The manors buried here in 1367. See Ducarel's Excerpts from the Lamb. Reg. vol. xii. p. 766.

^c This was the clear income. The gross revenue as returned in the 26th Hen. VIII. was 736*l.* 2*s.* 7*d.*

^a See Stow's Survey, p. 477.

^b Sir Walter de Manny bequeathed his body for burial at the Charter-House, by his will dated St. Andr. day, 1371, proved in April, 1372. Reg. Wittleseye archiep. Cantuar. fol. 121. Sir Robert Launde, Knt. and citizen of London, had previously bequeathed his body to be and lordships of Bastingthorpe, alias Bustingthorpe, and Dunnesby, in the county of Lincoln. The manors and lordships of Salthorp, alias Saltrop, alias Haltrop Chilton and Blackgrave, in the county of Wilts; and also his lands and pasture-grounds, call'd Blackgrave, containing, by estimation, 200 acres of pasture, with the appurtenances in Blackgrove and Wroughton, in the said county of Wilts; and also in his manor of Missenden, otherwise Missunden, in the parishes of Wroughton Lidieride and Tregose, in the said county. All his manor of Elcomb, and a park call'd Elcomb Park, in the said county. All his manor of Watelescote, alias Wiglescete, alias Wigleskete, in the same county. All his manner of Westcote, alias Westcete, with the appurtenances, and all those his lands and pastures, containing, by estimation, 100 acres of land, and 60 acres of pasture, with the appurtenances in Wiglescote and Wroughton; and all his manor of Uscote, with the appurtenances; and also his two messuages and 1000 acres of land, 2000 acres of pasture, 300 acres of meadow, and 300 acres of wood, with the appurtenances, in Brodehinton, in the said county of Wilts. All the manors and lordships of Camps, alias Campes Castel, otherwise call'd Castel Campes, with the appurtenances, situate, lying, being, and extending in the counties of Cambridge and Essex, or in either of them, or elsewhere within the realm of England. His manor of Balsham, in the county of Cambridge. And all his messuages and lands which are in the parishes of Hackney and Tottenham, in the county of Middlesex, or in either of them. And all and singular the manors, lordships, messuages, lands, tenements, reversions, services, meadows, pastures, woods, advowsons, patronages of churches and hereditaments of the said Thomas Sutton whatsoever; situate, lying, or being within the said counties of Essex, Lincoln, Wilts, Cambridge, and Middlesex; or in any of them, with all and every their rights, members, and appurtenances whatsoever.

"Except all his manors and lordships of Littlebury and Haddestock, with their appurtenances, in the county of Essex.

"By legacy, he left towards the building of his intended hospital, chapel, and school-house, 5000*l.* if he liv'd not to see it perform'd in his life-time. Besides, he gave into the treasury or storehouse of the same intended hospital, to begin their stock with, and to defend the rights of the house, 1090*l.* To every one of his feoffees, put in trust about his intended hospital, 26*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* To other pious uses he left many legacies, which do not belong to this place.

"His hospital consisting of a master, governors, a preacher, a free-school, with a master and usher, eighty poor people and forty scholars, maintained with sufficient clothing, meat, drink, lodging, and wages; beside officers and ministers to attend on them, and the number to increase, according as the revenues upon the expiration of the leases increas'd.

"This hospital was finish'd, and possession taken of it by the persons intended, on the 3d of October, 1614."

To what has been said above from Stow, we will here add what follows from Newcourt, vol. i. p. 578.

"It is to be noted, that the bull which was obtain'd of Pope Urban the Vth. at the petition of the prior and convent of this house, for the uniting some ecclesiastical benefices to it, to the value of 200*l.* per annum, bears date at Rome, on the day before the ides of December, in the first year of his pontificate, which was in the year 1362, so that, though it be generally said, by Stow and others who have written of this house, that it was founded by Sir Walter de Manny, in the year 1371, it appears plainly by the said bull, that this house of Carthusians, was founded by the said Sir Walter Manny, and Michael de Northburg, bishop of London, and not by the said Walter alone; and that it was founded, and a prior and convent there settled before the date of the said bull, which must be in or before the year 1362, though the letters patents above mention'd of Edward the IIIrd. whereby he granted license to the said Walter de Manny, to found the house of Carthusian monks, and to give and assign to the prior and monks there, 20 acres of land, &c. together with the chapel and other houses built upon the same, bear date in the 45th year of his reign, on the 6th of February, which was the year 1371, from whence, I suppose, they have dated the foundation of this house.

"This bishop Michael, who dy'd in 1361, by his will gave 2000*l.* for the founding, building, and finishing of this house of Carthusians, according to the form and fashion proper for that order, in a certain place call'd New-Church-Haw, where then stood a church dedicated to the Annunciation of the blessed Virgin; which place, with the patronage thereof, he purchas'd of Sir Walter Manny, as it is said; and to the said house, when fully perfected, he appointed that his two best silver basons should be deliver'd, to serve at the altar there, with a vessel of silver enamell'd, in which the host used to be put, as also another vessel of silver for holy water, and a silver bell.

"To the better accomplishing of this pious work, and most ample endowment of this house, he likewise devis'd all his leases whatsoever, for the term of four years after his decease; and moreover all his rents and tenements, which he possess'd within the city of London, with whatsoever reversions he had likewise in that city, he likewise gave thereunto for ever, some few excepted. Hereunto he also added the total number of all his divinity books, not otherwise dispos'd of, with the two best vestments he had, bequeathing the perpetual patronage thereof to his successors, bishops of London; and desiring, with all humility, that they would have a special regard to the building and compleating of this eminent work.^a

"Harpfield tells us, that this house was endow'd with great privileges and immunities, by King Edward III. Richard II. and other succeeding princes, by which the religious men were exempted from all publick rates and taxes to the king.^b

"Sir Walter Manny, who had a summons to parliament among the barons of this realm, from 21 Edw. III. till 44 of that king's reign inclusive, by his testament, bearing date at London, upon St. Andrew's Day, anno 1371, bequeath'd his body to be bury'd in the midst of the choir of the Carthusians, near West-Smithfield, and ordain'd that a tomb of alabaster, with his image, as a knight, and his arms thereon, should be made for him like that of Sir John Beauchamp, in the cathedral of St. Paul's, London, as a remembrance of him, and that men might pray for his soul; and among other debts, in his said will, he appointed an old debt, which the king ow'd him, by bills of his wardrobe, to be given to the prior and monks of this house, if it could be had; and whereas there was due to him from the prince, from the time he had been Prince of Wales, the sum of 100 marks per annum for his salary, as governor of Hardelegh Castle, he bequeathed the one half thereof to the said prior and monks of the Charter-House, and departing this life upon the Thursday following the feast of St. Hilary, in 46 Edward III. 1371, was bury'd here in his own church, much lamented, says Weaver,^c by the king and nobility, and commons of England; and his obsequies were perform'd with great solemnity, notwithstanding, by his will, he had order'd his burial to be without any great pomp, King Edward the IIIrd. himself, and all his children, with the greatest prelates and barons of England, being present.^d

"After the dissolution, King Henry VIII. bestow'd this monastery and that of the Holy Trinity, now call'd Duke's Place, in London, upon Sir Thomas Audley, speaker of that parliament which dissolv'd the religious houses. It passed from him to his sole daughter and heiress, by marriage, to Thomas Howard, duke of Norfolk, and so by descent to Thomas earl of Suffolk, of whom Thomas Sutton, Esq. purchas'd it, by the name of Howard-House, otherwise call'd the late dissolv'd Charter-House, near Smithfield, in Middlesex, consisting of four or five courts, a wilderness, gardens, orchards, and walks thereunto belonging, with Pardon Church-yard, and the two messuages adjoining, call'd Willbeck, with all buildings, &c. known to belong to the said house, or other mention'd premises, paying down for the same 13,000*l.* May 9, Jac. 9, 1611; and on the 22d of June following settled an hospital here, which he design'd before to have founded in the parish of Hallingbury Bouchers, in Essex, for which he had gotten an act of parliament.^e

"After the death of the said Thomas Sutton, there being an attempt made by Simon Baxter, the said Mr. Sutton's only sister's son, as next heir of the founder, to overthrow the incorporation and foundation of this hospital; the case, after it had been pleaded by counsel learned in the law, on both sides, was solemnly argu'd in the Exchequer-Chamber, by all the judges of the land, except the lord chief justice of the King's Bench, who was then sick, and judg'd for the defendants, the governors of the hospital; and after this, there was an act of parliament procur'd in the 3d of King Charles the First, for the confirmation of the settlement thereof, to put it beyond all question.

"Of this hospital there are 16 governors, of which the master is always to be one, which are incorporated by the name of The Governors of the Lands, Possessions, Revenues, and Goods of the Hospital of King James, founded in the Charter-House, within the County of Middlesex, at the humble petition, and only cost and charges of Thomas Sutton, Esquire. These governors are usually prime ministers of state, and prelates of the church; and when any one happens to die, another is to be chosen within two months, by the voices of the major part.

"The hospital consists of a master, a preacher, a free-school, with a head master, and a second master, and eighty decay'd gentlemen, who have been soldiers. So it was intended at first, but there are more of a meaner sort of decay'd persons put in: these persons are chosen by particular governors, every one in their turn, only the king puts in two in his course, the queen and the duke of York one each.

"There are also 44 boys at school, chosen by the same persons, and after the same manner as the pensioners; they are only capable of admission between the years of 10 and 15, and are to continue in the house but 8 years at most. This also was intended for the sons of poor gentlemen, but that also is as it happens.

"Such as go from hence to the universities, of which they allow to the number of 29, have 20*l.* a piece per annum, duly paid quarterly, which continues 8 years; such as go out apprentices have 40*l.*

"The number kept in the year 1677, was 185 persons, besides the 29 scholars at the universities, and the standing council of the house, and several other persons who are mention'd in the first establishment, as physician, register, receiver, &c.

"The total sum of yearly expences of this hospital, for diets, liveries, stipends, wages, and other ordinary allowances, is 3706*l.* 9*s.* 10*d.*; besides extraordinaries.

"This establishment was made 49 years before, since which time there have been considerable alterations, chiefly upon the account of the increase of the revenue.

In the Abstracts of the Originalia, 36 Hen. VIII. p. 3, we have, "Lond. Rex 23 die Apr. concessit Edw. North mil. Donum et Scitum nuper Priorat. Carthus. ^a"The nineteenth day of June," says Hall, in the 27th of Henry VIII. "were three Monkes of the Charterhouse hanged, drawn, and quartered at Tyborne, and their quarters set up about London, for denyng the Kyng to be Supreme Head of the Church. Their names were Exmewe, Myddlemore, and Nendigate. These men, when they were arraigned at Westminster, behaved themselves very stiffly and stubbornly; for hearing their Inditement read, how traiterously they had spoken against the King's Majesty, his crown and dignity, they neither blushed nor bashed at it, but very foolishly and hypocritically knowledged their treason, which maliciously they avouched, having no learning for their defence; but rather, being asked divers questions, they used a malicious silence, thinking, as by their examinations afterward in the Tower of London it did appear, for so they said, that they thought those men, which were the Lord Cromwell and other that then sat upon them in judgment, to be heretics and not of the church of God, and therefore not worthy to be either answered or spoken unto. And therefore, as they deserved, they received as you have heard before." Hall's Chron. edit. 1809, p. 317.

"Thus much of this hospital and its founder, from the history of the same, call'd Domus Carthusiana, publish'd by Mr. Samuel Herne, Fellow of Clare-Hall, who had his education in this house, anno Domini 1677.

"For the honour of this convent of Carthusians, and to do justice to the dead, as well as to set the readers of this history right; it is requisite here to insert the following observation.

"In the fourteenth vol. of Rymer's Fœdera, is the prior and convent of London's renunciation of the pope's authority, and owning of King Henry the VIIIth. as head of the church, sign'd by William Trafford, the prior, and 19 of his convent, nine others possitively refusing to sign. The names of those here said to have sign'd, were William Trafford, prior, Edmund Sterne, vicar, John Revel, Bartholomew Burgoyne, each of these three distinguish'd with the title of dominus, Thomas Clay, Robert Cardyn, D. Thomas Baringham, John Boleyn, William Wayte, procurator, Richard Byllingsley, John Thompson, John Huse, Evererd Dygby, Thomas Baker, John Nicholson, William Broke, John Enys, Thomas Owen, Robert Howell, Oliver Babmanson. Those that refus'd to sign were, D. Thomas Johnson, D. Richard Bere, D. Thomas Grene, here stil'd monks profess'd; John Davy, reserendary, Robert Salt, William Greenwood, Thomas Redyng, Thomas Shryne, Walter Pierson, William Horne, call'd here, converse. Now, with all possible deference to a worthy author, for whom I have the greatest respect, I must, for the sake of truth observe, he has been led into a mistake, I suppose, by relying on the collections of others. His History of Abbies, vol. ii. p. 126. tells us, that John Houghton, prior of the Carthusians, London, subscrib'd to the king's supremacy, on the 29th of May, 26 Hen. VIII. whereas it is evident, that this very prior was hang'd and quarter'd at Tyburn, on the 27th of April, 1535, 27 Hen. VIII. and one of his quarters set up at his own gate, for opposing the king's supremacy. Humphrey Middlemore, whom he makes to have sign'd at the same time, as also William Exmewe, and Sebastian Newdigate, to have sign'd on the 6th of June, 1534, suffer'd the same death as the prior had done, and for the same cause, on the 18th of June, 1535, as may be seen in Stow, p. 571 and 572. Richard Bere, John Davy, Thomas Johnson, Thomas Green, Thomas Shryne, Walter Pierson, Robert Salt, and Thomas Redyng, nam'd also by him among those that subscrib'd, dy'd all of them in prison, for denying the supremacy, in June and July the same year aforesaid; and William Horn, another of them, was executed on the 4th of August following.^a That these were recusants may be seen in Rymer, vol. xiv. p. 589. Nor is it to be wonder'd, that so able an antiquary should be led into an error, for in those days, when these things happen'd, many forgeries were spread abroad, to delude the multitude, as has been often practis'd since, and as will be made appear in several parts of this work. The commissioners or visitors appointed to carry on the work King Henry the VIIIth. had in hand,

Ellis, in his Original Letters illustrative of English History, has printed one from Thomas Bedyll to Lord Cromwell, preserved in the Cottonian Collection of MSS. Clcop. E. iv. fol. 217. It is as follows:

"My very good Lord, after my moost hertie commendations it shall please your Lordship to understand that the Monkes of the Charter House here at London, which were committed to Newgate for thair traiterous behavior long tyme continued against the King's Grace be almoos depeched by the hand of God; as it may appear to you by this byll inclosed. Whereof considering thair behavior and the hole matter, I am not sorry, but wold that all such as love not the King's Highnes and his worldly honor were in like caas. My Lord (as ye may) I desir you in the way of charite, and none otherwise, to be good Lord to the Prior of the said Charter House, which is as honeste a man as ever was in that habite (or els I am much deceyved), and is one which never offended the King's Grace by disobedience of his lawes, but hath labored very sore continually for the reformacion of his brethren, and now at the last, at my exhortation and instigation, constantly moved and finally persuaded his brethren to surrender thair House, lands, and goods into the King's hands, and to trust only to his mercy and grace. I beseeche you, my Lord, that the said Prior may be so entreated by your help, that he be not sorry, and repent that he hath fered and folowed your sore words and my gentill exhortation made unto him to surrender his said House; and think that he might have kept the same, if your Lordship and I had not led him to the said surrender. But suerly (I beleve) that I knowe the man so well that how soever he be ordered he wold be contented without grudge. He is a man of suche charite as I have not seen the like. As touching the House of the Charter House I pray God, if it shall please the Kyng to alter it, that it may be turned into a better use (secing it is in the face of the world), and mucbe communication wold run thereof throughout this realme; for London is the common county were not chosen for their piety, but for their subtilty and time-serving temper, being proper tools to advance that prince's designs, as wholly intent upon their own interest, without the least regard to justice. But I shall say no more of them in this place, because they are spoken of elsewhere. As for the prior William Trafford, he had seen his predecessor Houghton suffer death in defence of his principle, and perhaps his quarter was still over the Charter-House gate. Trafford, it is likely, valu'd his life more than an oath, and accordingly comply'd, which same motive might induce others to follow his example; yet we see the ten resolute persons above-mention'd were not of his mind, but contemn'd life, to save their consciences."

Monastery of Beaubale, or Pulchra Vallis in Parco de Gresseley, in Nottinghamshire.

THE following is Thoroton's Account of this Priory in his History of Nottinghamshire.

“Nicholas de Cantelupe, lord of Ilkeston in Derbyshire, having obtain'd licence of King Edward the III^d. dated 22 September, in the 16th year of his reign, founded a monastery in his park of Greyseley, for a prior and 12 monks of the order of the Carthusians, to which he gave ten pounds per annum, of land and rent in the towns of Greysely and Selleston, together with the park of Greyseley, and the advowsons of the churches of both the said towns, which he got appropriated. And this he devoutly did for the glory of Almighty God, and the increase of religion and the divine worship, and for the good or healthful state of the said King Edward the III^d. and of William la Zouch, the lord archbishop of York, his most dear lord and cousin, and of the Lord Henry de Lancaster, earl of Derby, and of himself and Joan his wife, and William his son and heir, while they should live, and for the souls of the said king, and of all the rest, when they should dye, and of his father and mother, and all his progenitors and heirs; wherefore he, by special deed, gave to God, and to the blessed Trinity, Father, and Son, and Holy Ghost, and the prior and monks of the Carthusian Order, in the monastery call'd (the Fair Vale) Bella Vallis, which he had builded for them in his said park of Greyseley, and their successors, there serving God, according to the custom, order, and rule of the mother-church of the Carthusians; the said monastery and park of Greyseley adjoining, and 300 acres of land, ten messuages, twelve bovats, with the appurtenances in Greyseley, which Richard le Carter, John Pygot, Robert Neubell, John le Carter, Thomas Dey, Roger Pygot, Hugh, son of Agnes, John le Maisterman, Henry le Cartre, Richard Sareson, Roger Dey, Thomas de Fulwode and Hugh Pynkeston, his natives, or villains, held of him in the said town in villainage, together with the said villains, their chattels, sequels, and sects; and also 3s. rent of John Whitteberne, in the town of Selleston, and 4s. 4d. of like yearly rent of John Arnold, in the same town; as also thirteen messuages, and seventeen bovats and an half, with their appurtenances, in the said town of Selleston, which Robert le Coke, John above the Kirke, Nicholas le Schipherd, William le Taillour, William son of Richard le Wright, Thomas le Mough, Nicola who had been wife of Richard le Wright, John son of Richard le Wright, Robert son of William Coke, and Thomas Cabald, his natives, held in that town in villainage, together with those natives, and all that were born of them, and their suits and services (here also call'd sects and sequels), and likewise the said advowsons of the churches of the said towns of Greyseley and Selleston, with all their rights and appurtenances. He also granted, that the said prior and monks, and their successors, should have common of pasture for all manner of cattle whatsoever, wheresoever they couch'd, or from whencesoever they came, through his whole dominion, or lordship, and demesnes of Greysesley and Selleston, in all places and times where his other freeholders had; and that they should have stone for all the work of the church, and their houses, and marle to marle their lands in all the said places, except his park of Kirkestall. To this deed were witnesses his said cousin the archbishop of York, Richard bishop of Durham, Thomas of Lincoln, Roger of Coventry and Litchfield, Henry de Lancaster, earl of Derby, William, earl of Northampton, and William, earl of Huntingdon, John de Grey, William Dencourt, William de Grey of Sandiacre, knights, William, his own son and heir, and Nicholas son of that William, Robert Barnah, William Faunbrige, and others. This was dated at Greyseley, December 9, 1343, 17 Edward III. as was also another of his, partly to this purpose, but something shorter, which had other witnesses, viz. Sir Richard de Wyleby, Robert de Strenley, William de Grey, John de Annesly, knights, Hugh Martell, John Attecarre, William Danvers, and others; by which it appears, very probable, at least, that in those days they were not less precise in the date of their deeds, in reference to their time or place of sealing, than they are now.

In the year 1347, 21 Edward III. By another deed, dated at Greysely, the 20th of October, before the same witnesses, saving that Thomas was then instead of Richard, bishop of Durham, and John instead of Thomas of Lincoln, and William Grey of Sandiacre was wanting, the said Nicholas de Cantelupe, his son and heir William, having by his instant supplication, obtain'd licence of the king for 20l. per annum of lands and rents in the towns of Greyseley, Selleston, Watnowe, Kynmarle and Neuthorpe, to be given to the said prior and convent, and their successors, did, for the same reasons, and as before is express'd, give five messuages, one mill, and forty acres of land, with the appurtenances in Greyseley and Watnowe, and all his demesne of the said town of Selleston, and a great company of his villains, with the messuages and bovats of land which they held in Watnowe, with all their chattels, suits and sequels, and 16s. 6d. yearly rent, out of the lands which Thomas de Gratton held of him in Selleston, and as much out of the lands and tenements, which Joane, who had been the wife of William le Cressy, held in the same town, and divers small rents in Greyseley, and the reversions of 21 acres, which Thomas le Purchaseour held of him, for life, in Watnowe, and of a messuage and six acres of land on the north side of the castle of Greyseley, which William de Beaurepair held for life, and of another and five acres and one rood of land, which William de Worthington and Agnes his wife held for life, on the north side also of the castle, &c.

“King Richard the II. granted licence to Elizabeth, who had been the wife of Sir Brian Stapleton, the younger, knight, and to William de Rither, chr. and Sibyl his wife, to give to the prior and convent of Beauval, each of them forty shillings a year out of their respective moieties of the manors of Kirkye Orblawers and Kereby, for two monks more especially, to celebrate in the church of Beauval, for the souls of William de Aldburgh the elder, chivaler, and Elizabeth his wife, and William de Aldburgh his son and heir (brother of the said Elizabeth and Sibyl), and Margery his wife, and of Edward Bald, chr. which they did accordingly, and William Rither, and Sibyl his wife, Mich. 18 R. II. levy'd a fine; which rents, after some time of intermission of payment, William Rither, knight, their son, and Robert de Rither, his son and heir, restor'd to Thomas Methelay, the prior, and his successors, he forgiving them all the arrears, except 40s. of silver, which they were to satisfy to the noble and reverend Guy Fairfax, which he had paid to the said prior and convent, for which the said William and Sibyl, and William and Robert, their wives and children in their lives and after their deaths, were to have full participation of all the masses, prayers, psalms, watchings, disciplines, fastings, alms, and other spiritual exercises of the said house of Beauval.

“William de Aldburgh, chr. for the soul of his Lord Edward de Baliol, king of Scotland, and Elizabeth his own wife, and that himself might be as one of the founders, and the king of Scotland as a principal benefactor, in the participation of the spiritual benefits of that house, with some others also of his near kindred, did by his deed bearing date at Willey Haye, Feb. 10, 1362, 37 Edw. III. give and confirm the said Hay of Willey, to the said prior and convent of Beauval, which he had of Sir Thomas Metham, knt. heir to his great grandfather Adam, son of Adam de Hamelton, to whom King Edward the 1st. granted it in the ninth year of his reign, reserving 10l. per annum rent to be paid yearly into the Exchequer, which said fee-farm rent of 10l. King Edward the III. January 1st, in the 32nd year of his reign, granted to his belov'd servant John Attewode for the term of his life, and the reversion of it. May 26th, in the 37th year of his reign, to his beloved cousin Edward de Baliol, king of Scotland, and William de Aldburgh, chr. with licence likewise for them to give it to this priory, which they did the same year, having obtain'd of John Attewode the possession also, so that the said Edward Baliol, king of Scotland, might from thenceforward likewise enjoy all the benefits of this house as one of the founders.

“They had the rectory of Ferneham, at the first foundation, which Sir William Malbis, Sir William de Plumpton, and Sir Robert de Roos of Ingmanthorp, pass'd to Robert de Barnak, Hugh de Cressy, and Hugh Marttell, as they to the founder Nicholas de Cantelupe.^a

^a The church of Farneham was appropriated to Beauvale Priory Dec. 14th, 1355. See MS. Harl. 6971. p. 182.

^b This, as in the case of the Charter-house of London, was the clear value. The gross income amounted to 227l. 3s.

^d See the Append. to the present account, Num. I.

^e Num. II.

^g A more particular account of the Pensions granted to the monks of Beauvale by King Henry VIII. will be found in the Append. Num. VI.

^h The Charters are divided under the following heads :

1. Cartæ regie de Fundatione.
2. Cartæ de Gryseleye, Seleston, et Wattenowe.

“John of Gaunt granted license to Sir William de Finchenden, knight, Richard de Ravenser, archdeacon of Lincoln, Mr. Nicholas de Chaddesden, Richard de Chesterfield, and Richard de Tystington, clerks, to give the manor of Etwelle in Derbyshire, to this priory, to pray for him while he liv'd, and for his soul, and the soul of his wife Blanch, when dead, which John de Ryboef also releas'd to the prior and convent.

“All they got was valu'd to 196l. 6s. per annum;^b and after the Dissolution, most of it, July 8, 33 Hen. VIII., was granted to Sir William Hussy, and the heirs males of his body, at 21l. 11s. 9½d. rent, viz. the site of the priory of Beauval, and divers lands of Gresley, Hucknall, Bagthorpe, Westwood, Watnow Countcliff, Watnow Chaworth, Brokebreasting, Bullwell, Moregreen, Kymberley, and Etwell, and the rectories of Ferneham, and lands in Underwood and Netwhorp, 37 Hen. VIII.

“But all these, and the manor of Selston, were, November 22, 4 Edward VI. granted to Richard Morison, and Brigit, his wife, and the heirs of Richard, at the value of 168l. 10s. 7d. yearly. The Lord Capel marry'd the heir of Morison, and, with his posterity, the earl of Essex, they still continue.”^c

Thus Thoroton, says Stevens; the Monasticon, he adds, vol. i. p. 962, has, of this house, the foundation charter, by King Edward the III.;^d the genealogy of Nicholas de Cantelupe, the founder;^e the foundation of a chantry of two monks in the church of this monastery, to celebrate for the souls of William de Aldeburgh and Edward Baliol, king of Scotland, and King Richard's license for founding of the same.^f Willis, in his History of Abbies, vol. ii. p. 167, adds the names of some of the PRIORS of BEAUVALE.

JOHN SWIFT occurs anno 1478; as does THOMAS WYDDER in 1482. His successor, as I guess, was

AUGUSTIN WEBSTER; who being hanged for opposing King Henry the VIIIth.'s measures, May 4, 1535, was succeeded by

ROBERT LAURENCE, and he by

THOMAS WOODCOCK, the last prior, who, with seven monks, surrendered this convent, July 18, 1540, 31 Hen. VIII. for which he had a pension of 26l. 13s. 4d. Alexander Louthe 5l. 6s. 8d. Thomas Walles, Nicholas Dockmere, and Thomas Leyton 5l. each. Ralph Burde and Richard Wakefield 2l. each.^g

Among the Lists of Principals of Religious Houses, quoted from Willis's Manuscript Notes by Tanner, we find THOMAS METHELAY named as prior of Beauvale in 1395.

Tanner, probably from Dugdale's references in the present work, notices “REGISTRUM Prioratus de Gresely sive Bella Valle.” This Manuscript, or at least a Register of Beauvale, answering precisely to Dugdale's references, was presented to the British Museum by the Rev. Thomas Leeson Cursham, vicar of Mansfield, in Nottinghamshire, in 1814. It is in fine preservation, and forms a large quarto, written upon vellum.^h It was compiled by Nicholas Wartre, prior of the House in 1446.

Several Deeds relating to this priory and its possessions are to be met with among the Chartæ Antiquæ in the Augmentation Office, all of a date antecedent to its Dissolution.

The Particular for the Grant in the reign of Edw. VI. to Morison, is also in the Augmentation Office.ⁱ

An Impression upon red wax in the Augmentation Office of the COMMON SEAL of the Priory, appendant to the Surrender, which is dated 18 July, 31 Hen. A slight view of the Remains of Beauvale Priory exists in Throsby's Edition of Thoroton's Notts, vol. ii. p. 245.

The Ruins are chiefly seen among the outbuildings of a farm-house.

The Alien Priory of BONDEBY, in Lincolnshire, was granted to this House in the 4th Hen. IV.

Monastery of St. Anne, near Coventry.

IN 1381, says Dugdale,^a William, Lord Zouch, of Haringworth, in Northamptonshire, having a desire to found a House of the Carthusian Order near Coventry, in honour of St. Anne, obtained from Sir Baldwin Freville, the elder, fourteen acres of land at Shortley, in the suburbs of the same city, where he purposed to build the house, resolving to endow it with sufficient possessions: but being the same year prevented by death, lying upon his sick-bed, he appointed that a hundred marks per annum should be paid out of his lands, till his heirs had procured as much in churches appropriate to be settled thereto. Which legacy, his confessor and others who were then about him thought too large; and therefore prevailed with him that it should be no more than 60*l.* per annum.

The great affection that he had to the founding of this monastery, occasioned him to procure from the House of Carthusians in London three monks; viz. one Robert Palmer, at that time procurator there, and the original mover in that business; John Netherby, then vicar of the same monastery; and Edmund Dalling; who accordingly came to Coventry on the eve of St. Andrew the apostle, and began their abode in the Hermitage of St. Anne: in which place, associating to themselves three monks from the monastery of Beauvale, in Nottinghamshire, and four more who were then newly profest of this order, they continued by the space of seven years.

But the Lord Zouch, Dugdale continues, departed life in Lent following; whereupon his good intentions and fair beginnings were prosecuted by others. For Richard Luff, sometime mayor of Coventry, and John Botoner his fellow citizen, bestowed no less than four hundred marks upon the quire, church, and cloisters: with three Cells in the east part, next to the Chapter-House, and making of seven ponds. John Holmeton, of Sleaford, 180*l.* towards the structure of the quire; and with 20*l.* of the goods of William Tilney, whose executor he was, made the Cell at the west corner of the cloister. The fourth Cell on the east side was built by Margery Byri, of Newarke; who thereupon, and for the Books of Isaiah and Jeremiah with comments, bestowed 20*l.* The fifth, being the utmost on the said east side, by the Lady Margery Tilney, of Rotston; who gave 10*l.* also to the making of the east window of the quire. The sixth, by John Bokyngham, bishop of Lincoln. The seventh, next to it on the same side, by Thomas Beauchamp, earl of Warwick.

King Richard the Second returning from Scotland in 1385, and coming to Coventry on Saturday within the octaves of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin, at the special instance of Queen Anne, his consort, with his own hands laid the first stone of the church, at the east end of the quire: publicly protesting in the presence of his nobles, as also of the mayor and citizens of Coventry, that he would be the founder thereof and bring it to good perfection. Neither were others slack in so pious a work; for the eighth Cell, viz. the third on the south side, was made with 20*l.* given as a legacy thereto by Adam Botoner, citizen of Coventry. The ninth (next to it), by Sir Nigel Loryng, Knt. at the procurement of Robert Braybroke, bishop of London. The tenth, viz. the first in the west corner, out of the goods of William Tilney beforementioned. ^a The eleventh by John Morton, canon of Litchfield.^b

King Richard II., by his precept, dated 18th March in the same fifth year of his reign, expressed that John Netherby was assigned Prior of this House, and declared the bounds of the fourteen acres of land given by Sir Baldwin Freville.^c Soon after which he granted licence to these monks that they might obtain advowsons of churches to be appropriated to the value of 100*l.* per annum over and above what should be assigned for endowment of vicars in the same:^d and within two years following bestowed upon them the advowson of the church of Walton upon Trent, in Derbyshire.^e In the 9th year of his reign he gave them the advowson of the church of Ecclesfield, in Yorkshire.^f In the 13th he granted licence to the monks of St. George, at Banquerville, in Normandy, that they might settle their manor or priory of Edweston, in Rutland, upon them:^g and in the 16th, in recompence for the advowson of the church of Walton beforementioned, which he had granted with the manor to John Delves, Esq. gave them licence to purchase the priory of Lymberg, alias Limbroke, in Herefordshire, with the parcels of Curtelyngton and Ashby-Mares; together with the advowson of the vicarages; all which belonged to the abbey of Aveneye, in Normandy.^h

In the 17th Ric. II. they had licence to purchase from the abbat of St. Sergius and Bachus, in Normandy, the manors of Swaveseye and Dry-Drayton, in Cambridgeshire, with the advowson of the church of Swavesey, excepting sixty-five marks sterling, annually due to the warden and scholars of King's Hall, in the University of Cambridge:ⁱ and in 20 Ric. II. from the monks of St. Peter super Divam, in Normandy, the Priory of Wolston, in Warwickshire, which was a Cell belonging to that monastery. As also the Priory of Haghham, in Lincolnshire, from the abbat and convent of S. Severus, in Normandy.^k And now that they were grown thus rich in possessions, by his charter bearing date 21st May, in the 21st of his reign, did he grant as ample protection to them, and privileges, both for the choice of their prior and otherwise, as the original house at Carthuse had, together with immunity from all taxes and payments whatsoever.^l

Neither did his bounty to them stay here; for the next year ensuing he released unto them the payment of those sixty-five marks per annum to the scholars of Cambridge before mentioned; upon condition that they should find and maintain within the precinct of their house xii. poor scholars from seven years old till they accomplished the age of seventeen, there to pray for the good estate of him the said king and of his consort, during this life; and afterwards for the health of their souls: as also for the soul of Queen Anne late deceased, and for the souls of his father and mother and all the faithful departed.^m And to the end that the service and worship of God might yet be further augmented in this monastery, by a convent of monks which were priests, he granted unto them the Priory Alien of Lodres in Dorsetshire, which was a Cell to the Abbey of Monteburgh in Normandy; the Priory of Wotton in Warwickshire, which belonged to the Abbey of Councches in Normandy, with the manor of Monkenlane in Herefordshire, parcel of the possessions belonging to the said Priory of Wotton; and the Priory of Long Benyngton in Lincolnshire, belonging to the Monastery of Chirburgh in Normandy. Which said priories alien were all seized into the king's hands by reason of his wars with France.ⁿ But the most of these last mentioned were reassumed in 1st Hen. IV.

To the ample donations here recorded King Henry the Seventh, in the tenth year of his reign, added his licence for the appropriation of the church of Potter's Piry in Northamptonshire of their patronage; and of Eymond in Shropshire, whereof the advowson belonged to the Abbey of St. Peter at Shrewsbury; in consideration that they should daily pray for the good estate of the said king, his queen, and their children; as also of his mother: celebrating likewise once a Carthusian Priory of Kingston upon Hull.

FROM a patent of the 51st Edw. III. printed in the Appendix to the present Account, it appears that Sir William de la Pole, knight banneret, intended at first to have built an hospital at Kingston, and afterwards resolved to found, instead of it, a house for nuns of the order of St. Clare, and had licence of King Edward the Third to found and endow the same; but, being prevented by death, his son, Michael de la Pole, afterward earl of Suffolk and Lord Chancellor of England, founded without the north-gate a Carthusian Priory for thirteen monks,^a commended it, according to Tanner, to the patronage of St. Mary, St. Michael, and St. Thomas of Canterbury;^b and endowed it with ample revenues.^c

In the will of Michael de la Pole, duke, marquis, and earl of Suffolk, dated 17 Jan. 27 Hen. VI. 1450, that nobleman directs "my wreched body to be beryed in my Charterhouse at Hull, wher y wol myn ymage and stone to be made, and the ymage of my best beloved wyf by me, she to be there with me, yf she lust my saide sepulture to be made by her discrecion in the said Charterhouse, where she shal thinke best, in caas be that in my dayes it be not made nor begonne."^d

In the 26th Hen. VIII. the total amount of the revenues of this House came to 231*l.* 17*s.* 3*d.* The clear income was no more than 174*l.* 18*s.* 3*d.*

JOHN CRAVEN occurs prior here in 1410.^e

Tanner says the Scite of this House after the Dissolution was granted to Thomas duke of Northumberland, 6 Edw. VI. to Edward lord Clinton, and 2 Mariæ to John Gren and William Jenyns.

No REGISTER of this House is known.^f

There is, in the Augmentation Office, an Impression of the Priory COMMON SEAL; the subject is St. Michael slaying the Dragon, underneath is a Shield of Arms, being a fess between three leopards' heads, bearing the Arms of the De la Poles, the founders. The Legend is imperfect; what remains may be thus read, s. co'e . dom . mich'is

Leland, in his Itinerary, vol. i. fol. 57, says, "The Charter House of the De la Pole's foundation, and an Hospital of their foundation standing by it, is without the North Gate. The Hospitale standith. Certain of the De la Poles wher buried yn this Cartusian Monastery: and at the late suppressing of it were founde dyverse trowehes of leade with bones in a Volte under the High Altare ther. Most part of this Monastery was buildid with brike, as the residew of the Buildinges of Hulle for the most part be."

Of this House, now, not the slightest vestige remains. It stood in the fields on the north side of the town of Hull, at the distance of about four hundred and fifty yards from the walls, and two hundred yards from the western bank of the river Hull. In an ancient Plan of Hull preserved in the Cottonian Manuscript, Aug. I. vol. i. art. 83. it is represented as surrounded by a wall, with a gateway in the centre of the south side, facing a postern in the town wall. Above the enclosure the church is seen to rise with a square tower in the centre. In Hollar's Plan of Hull, taken about 1640, the Priory is represented without a tower; and in 1642, a great part of what remained was destroyed by Sir John Hotham, in order to deprive the Royalists of its protection. The eastern gate, also shewn in Hollar, and of which a view is given in Tickell's History of Hull, was taken down about twenty-five years ago, and soon afterwards the Scite of the Priory was disposed of for building upon; a street called Sykes-street being laid out in a line west of the old gateway, in digging for the foundations of the houses in which, several masses of wall were found of great thickness, with a quantity of human bones and skulls, some of extraordinary size. The only fragment now remaining of the Priory is a coat of arms of the De la Poles, supported by two mutilated figures of angels, inserted in the wall of a tenement adjoining De la Pole's Hospital.

Priory of Mountgrace de Ingleby, in Yorkshire.

THE following is Burton's Account of this House. "Thomas de Holand, duke of Surrey, earl of Kent, and lord Wake, founded a Carthusian Priory here in the manor of Bordelby, and dedicated it to the blessed Virgin and St. Nicholas, about the 20th Ric. II. A.D. 1396;^a and not only endowed it with his manor of Bordelby, near Cleveland, but also obtained for it of the same king, the lands and possessions of the religious at Hinkley in comit. Leicestershire; of Wareham in Dorsetshire; and of Carisbrook in Southamptonshire; three alien priories belonging to the abbey of St. Mary in Normandy, to hold the same as long the war betwixt England and France should last;^b but he dying soon after in arms against King Henry the Fourth,^c before all the buildings were finished, the work was at a stand; and the right of the monks to their possessions was questioned; till King Henry the VIth. in A.D. 1440, confirmed in parliament all the duke's grants to them. After this the buildings were soon completed, and the monastery flourished till the general dissolution."^d

Tanner's References to Records relating to this House are below.^a

No COMMON SEAL of this Priory has, as yet, been discovered.

According to Tanner the Site was granted 32 Hen 8. to James Strangwaies; it afterwards descended to the Lascelles, and was sold by the late Robert Lascelles to the family of Mauleverer, the present proprietors.

The Church was in the form of a cross, the walls of which are standing, the roof is gone, but the tower is perfect and beautiful. The outer walls inclose about three acres of ground, and are still standing, fantastically covered with ivy. On the summit of the woody mountain which shelters this place on the east, are the ruins of a building called the Lady Chapel, founded in the year 1515.

Two Views of the Remains of this Priory are given in Grave's History of Cleveland, pp. 129, 133.

The Priory in the Wood, or the House of the Visitation of the Blessed Virgin, near Eppeworth, in the Isle of Axholm, in Lincolnshire.

BY Milwood Park, says Leland in his Itinerary, stood the right fair Monastery of the Carthusians, where one of the Moubrays, dukes of Norfolk, was buried in a tomb of alabaster. Mr. Candish, he adds, hath now turned the monastery to a goodly manor place.^a

This House was founded in the 19th Ric. II. by Thomas Moubray, earl of Nottingham, and earl marshall of England, afterwards duke of Norfolk, who commended it to the patronage of St. Mary, St. John the Evangelist, and St. Edward the King and Confessor.^b He also procured the royal licence to enable the abbat and convent of St. Nicholas at Angiers to make over to this priory their Cell of Monks Kirby, in Warwickshire, with the manors of Newbold super Avon, Copston, and Walton, to the same belonging; as also the advowsons of the churches and vicarages of Kirkby Monachorum, Neubold super Avon, Milnbroke, Wapenbury, and Sharnford, with their respective pensions:^c John, son and heir to Sir Can. Robsart the lessee, releasing all right and title in the said Cell to the king and John Moresby, the then first assigned Prior of Eppeworth.^d

King Henry the Fourth, for a short time, restored the patronage of Monks Kirby to the Abbey of Angiers:^e but Henry the Vth. reciting the licence of King Richard the Second, on the 28th of June, in the third year of his reign, again confirmed the change.^f

The possessions of Eppeworth were also confirmed by King Edward the Fourth and King Henry the Eighth.^g

PRIORS of EPPEWORTH.

JOHN MORESBY has been already mentioned as the first prior.

RICHARD BOSTON occurs prior Jan. 10, 1472.^h

MICHAEL MAKENESS was the last prior.ⁱ

In the 26th Hen. VIII. the gross revenue of this House was returned at 290*l.* 11*s.* 7¼*d.*; the net income at 237*l.* 15*s.* 2¾*d.*

The Scite was granted in the 32d Hen. VIIIth. to John Candisse, or Candish.^k

No REGISTER of this House is at present known to be preserved; but Tanner's references to Manuscripts and Records relating to it, with a few others, will be found in the note below.^l

An Impression of the COMMON SEAL, 27 Hen. VIII. has two females under a rich canopy, and on each side of them a shield with a lion rampant, underneath another shield with three lions passant, a label of three points.

Litterarum verò apostolicarum per omnia tenor talis est.

Bonifacius episcopus servus servorum Dei universis Christi fidelibus præsentibus literas inspecturis, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Licet is de cujus munere venit ut sibi à suis fidelibus dignè et laudabiliter serviatur, de abundantia suæ pietatis quæ merita supplicum excedit et vota bene servientibus sibi multo majora retribuat quam valeant promereri; nihilominus tamen desiderantes Domino populum reddere acceptabilem et bonorum operum sectatorem, fideles ipsos ad complacendum sibi quasi quibusdam allectivis muneribus, indulgentiis scilicet et remissionibus invitamus, ut exinde reddantur divinæ gratiæ aptiores. Cupientes igitur ut capella beatæ Mariæ prioratus de Wode antiquitus dicta, in Insula de Axiholme, Lincolniensis diocesis, juxta quam dilectus filius nobilis vir Thomas comes Nottinghamiæ quandam domum Cartusiensis ordinis, in honorem Dei sub vocabulo Visitationis beatæ Mariæ Virginis, et sanctorum Johannis Evangelistæ, ac Edwardi regis et Confessoris, omniumque sanctorum canonicè construi et Volumus autem quod si aliàs visitantibus dictam capellam vel ad ejus fabricam seu conservationem, aut ipsius domus constructionem seu fabricam, manus porrigentibus adjutrices, aut aliàs inibi pias elemosinas erogantibus, seu aliàs aliqua alia indulgentia imperpetuum, vel ad certum tempus nondum illapsum duratura, per nos concessa fuerit, ipsa aliàs facta concessio nullius existat roboris vel momenti. Datum Romæ apud sanctum Petrum kalendas Junii pontificatus nostri anno octavo.

Tenor vero transcripti de indulgentia sancto Francisco concessa, per omnia talis est.

In Dei nomine, Amen. Postquam beatus Franciscus ecclesiam sanctæ Mariæ de Angelis juxta Assisium reparaverat ex devotione quam habuit in reginam cælorum, ibidem morabatur in omni sanctitate et devotione ac continua oratione. Et cum in una nocte ferventissimè exoraret, fuit sibi revelatum quod Dominus noster Jhesus Christus et beata Virgo mater ejus in ecclesia prædicta cum multitudine angelorum adessent, qui statim consurgens et cellam suam exiens cum maxima læticia spirituali ecclesiam introivit. Et videns Dominum Jhesum Christum et dulcissimam matrem ejus stantes super altare, atque multitudinem angelorum in circuitu altaris, prostravit se in terram, et tunc Christus beato Francisco ait, Postula à me quid vis circa tuam salutem, et aliorum, quia daturus es in lucem gentium et præparationem ecclesiæ cælestis. Franciscus jacebat in terra quasi raptus; tandem verò ad se reversus ait, Sanctissime pater et rex eterne domine, supplico ego miser peccator, ut digneris facere hanc gratiam generi humano, ut concedas veniam et indulgentiam omnibus et singulis venientibus ad locum istum, ac intransitibus ecclesiam istam omnium peccatorum suorum universaliter et singulariter de quibus contriti confessionem veram fecerint sacerdoti. Item supplico beatissimæ Mariæ matri tuæ advocatrici generis humani, quod pro hujusmodi me adjuvare, et apud tuam clementiam et piissimam majestatem intercedere dignetur. Tunc regina ipsa cælorum beati Francisci precibus humiliter inclinata statim cœpit supplicare filio suo, dicens, Altissime Deus Christe supplico deitati tuæ et humiliter intercedo, quod dignetur majestas tui inclinare se precibus fratris Francisci famuli tui et mei. Tunc Christus statim respondit dicens, Satis grande est Francisce quod petisti; sed majoribus dignus es, et majora habebis, et ego orationem et petitionem tuam admitto: tu autem habes ire ad summum pontificem vicarium meum qui ex nunc est Perusium, Honorium tertium, et ex parte et auctoritate mea petere indulgentiam quam tibi concessi. Quibus dictis, Dei filius cum benedicta matre sua et multitudine angelorum in cælum ascendit, et visio disperuit. Franciscus vero de mane surgens vocavit fratrem Massen. de Maretin, cum quo dominum papam adiit, et se ibidem præsentans dixit, Sancte pater nuper ad honorem matris Christi reparavi unam ecclesiam, et supplico sanctitati vestræ quod ponatis ibi indulgentiam absque oblationibus pecuniæ. Qui respondit, Hoc convenienter non possit fieri, quia qui petit indulgentiam oportet ut ipsam mereatur adjutricem manum apponendo. Et dixit, Indica mihi frater Francisce quot annos vis de indulgentia? Vis quod ponam ibi indulgentiam quinque annorum? Et respondit, Pater sancte, quid est hoc? Iterum papa, Vis ut ponam ibi sex aut septem annorum? Et sanctus Franciscus non erat bene contentus, ideo dixit, Domine quid est hoc? Et dominus papa ad eum, Quid vis ut faciam tibi? Cui sanctus Franciscus respondit, Sanctissime pater placeat sanctitati vestræ non dare annos sed animas. Et ait papa, Quomodo vis animas? Qui respondit, Volo, pater, si placeat sanctitati vestræ, ut propter beneficia quæ Deus fecit in illo loco, quod quicumque venerit ad illam ecclesiam devotus, contritus, et confessus, et, sicut expedit, per sacerdotem absolutus, habeat ibidem indulgentiam plenam omnium peccatorum suorum quæ commisit a die baptismatis sui usque ad horam introitus sui ecclesiæ memoratæ, ut non ulterius habeat aliam brigam pro illis. Dominus papa respondit, Multum est quod petis Francisce; non est consuetudo curiæ Romanæ talem indulgentiam exhibere. Et sanctus Franciscus dixit, Domine quod peto non ex parte mea peto, sed ex parte illius qui misit me, Domini Jhesu Christi. Statim papa cum ferventissimo spiritu respondit, Et nos concedimus quod ita sit et fiat in nomine Domini; ita ter dicens, Placet mihi quod habeas quicquid petisti Francisce. Quod cum audissent cardinales qui tunc aderant, dixerunt papæ ut eam revocaret quia in præjudicium terræ sanctæ erat. Et papa ad eos, Non revocabo eam quia auctoritate clavium concessi sibi. Tunc cardinales dixerunt, Si huic talem indulgentiam conceditis, curiam Romanam destruitis, et indulgentiam magnam beatorum Petri et Pauli ad nihilum redigetis. Et papa dixit, Deditimus et concessimus eam sibi; non possumus nec expedit illud destruere quod per nos et potiùs per Deum factum est. Tunc cardinales dixerunt, Artate igitur eam in quantum potestis. Et respondit papa, Modificemus eam ut tantum ad diem naturalem se extendat. Tunc vocavit sanctum Franciscum, et dixit ei, Ecce frater Francisce, concedimus tibi ut quicumque venerit devotè et intraverit dictam ecclesiam contritus et confessus, sit ille plenè absolutus. Et hoc valere volumus singulis annis imperpetuum tantum per diem naturalem à primis vespers, includendo noctem, usque ad vespers diei sequentis. Tunc sanctus Franciscus recessit; et dominus papa videns eum abire, vocavit eum, et dixit ei, O tu simplex homo, quasi stultus appares, quid portas tecum de indulgentia tibi concessa? Cui sanctus Franciscus respondit, Sufficit mihi unum verbum tuum, opus Dei est, ipse habeat opus suum manifestare; de hujusmodi nolo aliquid instrumentum nisi ut Virgo beata sit carta, et Christus sit notarius, angeli sancti sint testes.

Exiens autem beatus Franciscus de palacio post concessionem indulgentiæ prædictæ, et sic recedendo de Perusio, venit in quodam loco qui dicitur Colle ad quatuor miliaria, ubi erat et adhuc est habitus leprosororum, et ibi cum socio aliquantulum requievit et dormivit, et excitatus audivit vocem de cœlo dicentem sibi, Francisce scias sicut hæc indulgentia data est tibi in terra, ita confirmata est in cœlo. Qui cum surrexisset, vocavit socium suum dicens, Frater Massen. dico tibi ex parte Dei, indulgentiam mihi exhibitam per summum pontificem Honorium tertium esse confirmatam in cœlo. Cum beatus Franciscus esset in cella sua quæ erat in orto post ecclesiam sanctæ Mariæ versus silvam, in mense Januarii et orationi vacans, et in eodem anno, ecce noctis silentio venit diabolus et dixit ei, Francisce quare vis mori ante tempus? an ignoras quod dormitio sit potissimum alimentum corporis? Quare ergo stas ad talia facienda; nonne alias dixi tibi quod juvenis es et adhuc satis tempestivè poteris facere pœnitentiam de peccatis? ad quid ergò vigiliis et orationibus te perimis? Tunc sanctus Franciscus exivit de cella sua in fervore avido, et projecta tunica sua transivit silvam densam, et inter vepres et spinas traduxit corpus suum, dicens, Melius est mihi inestimabiliter ut cognoscam sic passionem Domini nostri Jhesu Christi, quam ut ego obtemperem blandiciis inimici. Ubi cum se palparet lacerau s et fractus frigoribus, affuit circa eum lumen immensum et rosæ albæ et rubeæ, mirifici odoris et venustissimi aspectus, rosæ hujusmodi in copiam magnam circa eum apparuerunt, et cum ipsis multitudo angelorum dicentium, Francisce surge, et accede citò ad Dominum et ad Salvatorem tuum et matrem ejus qui sunt in ecclesia tua. Tunc beatus Franciscus seipsum invenit novo et candido vestimento indutum, quomodo aut qualiter ipse ignoravit. Tunc accepit de rosis duodecim albas et duodecim rubeas, et venit versus ecclesiam, et videbatur sibi semitam esse inter silvam et ecclesiam pannis cericis stratam et perornatam. Qui veniens et intrans, dictas rosas posuit super altare. Et statim vidit Jhesum Christum et matrem ejus super altare cum multitudine angelorum in circuitu, et dixit Jhesus Christus; Francisce quare non das dotem matri meæ, quas sibi dare debes. Beatus igitur Franciscus intelligens quod de animabus salvandis per indulgentiam illius ecclesiæ loqueretur, dixit, Sanctissime pater, ordinator cœli et terræ, et salvator humani generis, digneris diem istum ordinare propter magnam misericordiam tuam in quo potero dotes illas dare beatissimæ matri tuæ generis humani advocatrici. Et Christus statuens diem dixit, ut quicumque venerit à vesperis primæ diei mensis Augusti usque ad vespervas sequentis diei contritus et confessus de peccatis suis de quibus memor existeret, quod omnia essent et erant plenariè remissa à die baptismatis sui usque ad diem et horam introitus ecclesiæ prædictæ. Tunc sanctus Franciscus humiliter jacens in pavimento, dixit Christo, Sanctissime pater et salvator noster, quomodo veniet in notitiam et credulitatem generis humani? Cui Christus, Hoc fiet per gratiam meam; tu tamen habes ire ad vicarium meum Romanum, ut ipse faciat patefieri, prout ei expedire videbitur. Beatus Franciscus respondit, Qualiter mihi peccatori vicarius tuus credet? Cui Christus dixit, Ducas tecum aliquos ex sociis tuis qui hoc audierunt, et rosas albas et rubeas quas in hoc mense Januarii in silva collegisti in afflictione et disciplina corporis tui, et in eo numero deferas rosas tecum sicut bonum videatur tibi. Istud autem præceptum audierunt quatuor fratres et stabant in cellis suis juxta cellam beati Francisci juxta ecclesiam prædictam. Tunc sanctus Franciscus de rosis albis et rubeis ad honorem sanctæ Trinitatis tres accepit de utrisque, hoc fecit in præsentia dulcissimæ matris. Tunc cœtus angelorum hoc carmen cecinit et dixerunt, Te Deum laudamus, et usque in finem compleverunt. Quo dicto, statim disperuit visio. Et sanctus Franciscus induit se tunica sua, et mane accedens ad prædictos socios dixit illis, Præparate vos ad eundem Romanam; et imposuit eis silentium de hiis quæ audierant. Venientes autem Romam invenerunt dominum papam Honorium in loco Lateranensi; et genibus flexis ante eum retulit dictus Franciscus omnia sicut supranotata sunt, offerens ei sex rosas, tres albas et tres rubeas, in signum veritatis. Et dominus papa aspiciens dictos flores odoriferos præsentem, cum admiratione magna dixit; Hoc est admirabile opus Dei, habere sex rosas in mense Januarii. Et nos frater Francisce credimus verum esse testimonium vestrum; loquemur autem cum fratribus nostris et audiemus responsum illorum et deliberabimus quid sit super hoc faciendum. Interim dominus papa fecit recipi beatum Franciscum cum sociis suis valde bene. Sequenti autem die, de mandato venit beatus Franciscus coram eo, et dixit, Digne Christi vicarie adimpleas voluntatem regis cœlestis et matris ejus de ecclesia cujus vocabulum Ecclesia Angelorum de Porciuncula vocatur. Et papa respondit; Francisce, dicas coram fratribus nostris cardinalibus, quæ est voluntas regis cœlestis et matris ejus, licet alias dixisti. Et respondit; Voluntas ejus est, ut à primis vesperis primæ diei Augusti usque ad vespervas sequentis diei dicti mensis, quod quicumque intraverit ecclesiam sanctæ Mariæ de Angelis de Portiuncula, Assisiensis diœcesis, remittuntur ei omnia peccata sua à die baptismatis sui usque ad illum diem de quibus recordatur, vel non recordatur, et in confessione memoriam fecerit corde, contrite, et humiliato, si absolutus fuerit a sacerdote. Et papa respondit; Magnum est quod petis; sed quia Dominus noster Jhesus Christus ad instantiam matris ejus tuam orationem exaudivit, nos scribemus episcopis Assisiensibus, Perusiensibus, Turdenn, Spolentino, Fulginatino, Anterino, Eugubino, quod veniant ad sanctam Mariam de Angelis de Portiuncula prima die Augusti et notificent venientibus ad indulgentiam istam sicut tibi placuerit. Et sic beatus Franciscus cum sociis suis, acceptis literis summi pontificis ad prædictos episcopos venit, et literas eis præsentavit, et procuravit idem adeo, quod in die prima Augusti omnes prædicti episcopi convenirent ad prædictam ecclesiam; et factum fuit pergulum ligneum, id est pulpitem, in quo omnes prædicti episcopi ascenderunt simul cum beato Francisco. Et cum magna multitudo populi ibi esset congregata circa pergulum, nutu divino dixit beatus Franciscus episcopis, Quis vestrum vult prædicare populo, et veniam concessam annunciare? Qui habito consilio responderunt beato Francisco. Nos habemus sequi voluntatem tuam secundum tenorem literarum papalium. Tunc beatus Franciscus ait; Licet indignus inter vos sum, volo populo prædicare et annunciare indulgentiam de mandato regis cœlestis, quæ conceditur in loco isto ad instantiam matris ejus gloriosæ. Et vos unà mecum annunciabitis eandem de mandato vicarii sui. Et surgens beatus Franciscus, benedictione accepta, prædicavit adeo benè quod videretur angelus, et non homo carnalis, et denunciavit eis indulgentiam prædictam, ut quicumque venerit ad ecclesiam sanctæ Mariæ de Angelis in Porciuncula, et ingrederetur devotè, à primis vesperis primæ diei mensis Augusti usque ad vespervas sequentis diei hujus mensis, scilicet per diem illum naturalem tam de nocte quam de die, includendo noctem, sicut diem, remittuntur sibi omnia peccata sua plenariè post confessionem cum contritione factam et absolutionem à sacerdote susceptam, à die baptismatis sui usque ad prædictum diem, et hoc in hoc loco habebit in prædicto die integro quolibet anno inperpetuum. Audientes autem episcopi indignati sunt quando audierunt inperpetuum duraturam plenam remissionem pœnæ et culpæ; et dixerunt beato Francisco, Licet dominus papa mandavit nobis quod circa hoc sequeremur voluntatem tuam ad notificandam indulgentiam, non tamen suæ opinionis erat quod sequeremur quod incongruum est. Unde annunciamus indulgentiam decem annorum tantum. Tunc surrexit episcopus Assisiensis, et credens annunciare populo decem annos, annunciavit quicquid dixerat priùs beatus Franciscus. Alii autem indignati contra eum ascenderunt unusquisque post alterum, et quilibet eorum per se proponentes firmiter dicere decem annos, semper annunciabant plenam remissionem inperpetuum duraturam, ut superius dictus est. Et ad hoc fuerunt multi testes tam de Perusio et Assisio quam de aliis civitatibus, castris, et villis, inter quos aliqui subscribuntur fide digni, videlicet dominus Suppolinus, Hugolius, dominus Andreas de Monte-Molino, de Assisio, Neapolius de Armentano. Dominus Johannes Gualteri, dominus Johannes Petri Tubaldaci. Dominus Bruncus Lamansii, et universaliter multi alii qui domino papæ omnia prædicta retulerunt, et de sermonibus dictorum septem episcoporum, et præsentibus etiam domino Petro Cassali, fratre Angelo ministro, fratre Bonifacio, fratre Benedicto de Arcio, fratre Guidone, fratre Bartholomeo de Perusio, et multis aliis. Acta sunt hæc, prout suprascriptum et recitantur, anno indictionis pontificis, mense, die, et loco prædictis, præsentibus tunc ibidem discretis viris, domino Roberto de Selby, rectore ecclesiæ parochialis de Sybthorp, Eboracensis diœcesis, dominis Roberto Barton, Richardo Hodesake, capellanis, Lincolniensis diœcesis, et Roberto Veer, laico dictæ Eboracensis diœcesis, testibus ad præmissa vocatis specialiter et rogatis.

Priory of Shene, in Surrey.

IN detailing the History of this House we can do no better than condense the materials furnished to us in Manning's History of Surrey.

In the year 1414, says Mr. Manning, King Henry the Fifth founded at this place a House for the maintenance and support of forty monks of the Carthusian order, whom he incorporated by the name of the House of Jesus of Bethlehem, at Shene. The foundation-charter describes it as built on the north side of his manor-house or palace there; being three thousand one hundred and twenty-five feet in length, and one thousand three hundred and five feet eight inches in breadth; extending from Hakelot by Divers-bush on the south, to the cross called Cross-ash on the north; and Willis and Aubrey inform us, from a manuscript copy of Florence of Worcester (though the account there given is not a very clear one) that the length of the Hall was forty-four paces, and the breadth twenty-four; the great quadrangle a hundred and twenty paces long, and a hundred broad; the Cloisters a square of two hundred paces, and nine feet in height. Nor, he adds, was the founder's munificence in the endowment of it unbecoming the magnificence of the structure itself.

Its Temporalities consisted of the alien Priory of Ware, in Hertfordshire; the alien Priories of Noyon and Newmercat, in Normandy; the alien Priory and manor of Lewisham, in Kent; the manor of East Greenwich and Old Court, its mansion; the manor of East Comb, in Greenwich; the alien Priory of Hayling, in the county of Southampton; the alien Priory of St. Mary, at Caresbrook, in the Isle of Wight; together with all lands, tenements, and possessions which had belonged, in England and Wales, to the Abbey of Lyra, excepting only the Priory of Hinckley, in the county of Leicester; the Sewer or Were of Petersham, with half an acre of land adjoining thereto; and four pipes of red wine of Gascony yearly, to be received out of the king's wines in the port of London, or the wines of his household, at the discretion of the prior and convent.

Bishop Tanner likewise informs us, from Rymer, that Henry V. by his last will and testament, bequeathed a thousand marks to this convent toward the completion of their House.

They had also a manor at East Hendred, in Berkshire. King Henry VIIIth. on Dec. 23, 1531, in the 23d year of his reign, gave to the monks here the manor of Bradwell, in Bucks, and the priory there, with their appurtenances in Byfield, Padbury, &c. in the counties of Buckingham and Northampton, in exchange for their manors of Lewisham, Greenwich, and Comb: a curious rental of which estate is preserved in the Cottonian Library.^a

The Spiritualities of Shene consisted in the impropriation of the vicarage of Ware, with the chapel of Thundridge, in Hertfordshire; the impropriations and advowsons, of Belgrave, in the county of Leicester, and of Byfield, Merston, St. Laurence, and Middleton Cheney, in Northamptonshire; the impropriations and advowsons of Lewisham and Marden, in Kent; the impropriations and advowsons of Hailing, in Hampshire, and of Winterborn Stoke, in Wiltshire; the impropriations and advowsons of Upper Clatford and St. John's, in Southampton; of Carisbrook, Areton, or Atherton, Freshwater, Godshill, Wippingham, Newchurch, and Newtown, in the Isle of Wight; of Basildon, Easthamstead, and Sunningfield, in Berkshire; the alien Priory of Wareham, in Dorsetshire, with the impropriations and advowsons of St. Martin, St. Mary, St. Michael, and St. Peter thereto belonging; the impropriations and advowsons of Linton, Bridstow with Wilton chapel, Westeord, Great Merely, Fownhope, Lene, and Erisland or Areland, with the tithes of the lordships of Dunre, Pulton, King's Chapel, Credenhill, Chislet, Stanford, Thornbury, and Lugwardine, in Herefordshire; the impropriations and advowsons of Tuddenham, Lydney, and Chedworth, with the tithes of the whole lordships of Alvington and High Hempstead, and two hides of land in Duntesham Abbots, in Gloucestershire; the impropriations and advowsons of East Ham cum Handley, Feckingham, and Tenbury, with the tithes of the forest of Malverne, and the liberty of chace therein; with those of the whole lordships of Crowle, Brisseley, Fort Elmedon, and Eldersfield, in Worcestershire; the tithes of the forest of Grosmont, half the tithes of the toll of Strigul, and half the tithes of cows, hogs, fish, and honey, between the Wye and the Usk, in Monmouthshire; the impropriations and advowsons of Elmedon, in Essex, and Hellingley, in Sussex; and the impropriation and advowson of Padbury, in Buckinghamshire: all of which, like the greater portion of their temporalities, were part and parcel of the possessions of alien priories.

There is also a patent extant of the founder for licence to appropriate the church of Fulham, in Middlesex, to this priory, Pat. 9 Hen. V. p. 2, m. 1., but it never took effect.

Such, says Mr. Manning, were the estates of which this House was possessed: beside which, the immunities and privileges granted to them by their founder were uncommonly great and extensive, amounting to an exemption from every burden and service incident to a subject of the realm, whether personal or pecuniary; and this, not only for themselves, but for the tenants of their estates. See the detail in the charter foundation.^b

In 1416, a Hermitage was founded within the monastery for a recluse, endowed with an annual rent of twenty marks issuing out of the manors of Lewisham and Greenwich: the first chaplain or hermit of which was John Kingston.^c Dr. John Colet, also, dean of St. Paul's, built himself lodgings within these walls, where he died of the sweating sickness, Sept. 16th, 1519.^d

This Monastery was also memorable for receiving the corpse of James the Fourth of Scotland, which was found upon the field after the battle of Flodden; Stowe was shewn it here, lapped in lead, in a lumber-room, after the dissolution.^e

^g Manning says, "It is related of one Godwin, a monk of this convent, that, in the latter end of March, 1502, he murdered the prior of the House in a cellar; but whether it was Prior Ingleby, or some other that succeeded him, and whose name is lost, I do not find."

ⁱ Manning, ut supr. from Reg. Wells.

HENRY MAN was the last prior. He was a native of Lancashire, and was of Corpus Christi College, in Oxford, where he took the degree of doctor in divinity in 1539; about which time the convent was surrendered to the king. A pension of 21*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* was assigned to him after his resignation. As a farther reward for his compliance he was, shortly after, appointed the second dean of Chester, and, in 1546, bishop of the Isle of Man, with which he held his deanery in commendam. He died Oct. 19, 1556.^a

The revenues of this House in the 26th of Henry VIIIth. amounted, in the gross, to 96*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.*; in the net receipts to 77*l.* 12*s.* 0½*d.*^b

The Scite was granted, in 1540, to Edward earl of Hertford, afterwards duke of Somerset; and upon his attainder in the beginning of 1552, to Henry Grey, duke of Suffolk, who resided here. But on Jan. 26, 1556-7, Queen Mary resumed the Grant, and replaced the Carthusian monks here: and by her Letters patent, dated Nov. 14th, 1558, (in consideration of a surrender made by

MAURICE, their new Prior, of certain estates in Essex, which had been given them the year before by Sir Robert Rochester,) gave them the manors of Bocking-Hall, in the parish of West Mersey, in Essex; of Stanes, in Middlesex; of Merton and Pirford, and the prior's manor at East Horsley, in Surrey, with the respective rights, members, and appurtenances of each; together with the wood called Charter-House Grove, situated near Comb Park, and containing by estimation seven acres. This new foundation, however, was of very short continuance: for an act having passed in the beginning of 1559 suppressing all such Religious Houses as had been re-founded by Queen Mary, and for re-annexing them and their estates to the crown, this among the rest was finally dissolved.^c

In 1572 the Scite appears to have been in the possession of Percival Gunston, gent.^d Queen Elizabeth, by Letters patent, of June 23, 1584, granted it, for life, to Sir Thomas Georges and his wife Helen, relict of William Par, marquis of Northampton. Sir Thomas died March 30th, 1610; the lady Helen in April, 1635. About three years after, viz. 2d May, 1638, King Charles the First granted it, on the same tenure, to James duke of Lenox,^e who died 30th March, 1655. But in the mean time, in 1650, it was sold as crown land, being valued at 92*l.* per annum, and purchased by Alexander Easton, on which occasion a survey was taken by order of parliament, in which the buildings, according to the state of them at that time, are minutely described. The priory church is mentioned as standing, though very ruinous; the Priors' lodgings, of brick work; the Refectory, a stone building; the Lady St. John's lodgings; the Hermitage, or Anchorite's Cell; and the Gallery.^f On the 8th of August, 1660, King Charles the Second granted a lease of the Priory, or some part of the Scite of it, for sixty years, to Philip viscount Lisle, son of Robert earl of Leicester;^g who, in 1661, assigned it to John lord Bellasque; to whom, on his surrender of it to the crown in 1662, a new grant was made of sixty years more. In 1675, a lease of the priory was granted to Robert Raworth and Martin Folkes, in trust for Henry Brouncker (afterwards viscount Brouncker) and Sir William Temple. Part of the scite of this monastery, with two messuages and other buildings thereon, and also several parcels of ground, being those which were formerly granted to Sir William Temple, were demised by lease, dated 2d July, 1750, to John Jefferys, esq. for fifty years from that date, and another part to Charles Buckworth, esq. by lease, dated 2d July, 1760, for such term as would make up the term in being thirty-one years, being the time limited by statute for granting crown lands on lease.^h

The Scite of this Priory, now inclosed within the lower park at Richmond, is marked by some old trees, and by a slight unevenness of ground. A representation of it in its ancient stateⁱ is comprised in one of the views of Richmond Palace, drawn in the time of K. Philip and Queen Mary, by Anthony van Wyngaarde, the publication of which is speedily intended by Messrs. Harding and Lepard.

On June 8th, 1820, William Bray, esq. exhibited to the Society of Antiquaries an Impression of the SEAL of this Priory, appendant to an Indenture between John Bokyngham, prior, on the one part, and John and Joan Rede, of Lewisham, in Kent, on the other, respecting a garden or toft in East Greenwich, dated 22 Hen. VI. The Impression was small, upon green wax, of an oval shape; bearing in the area a representation of the Adoration of the Shepherds. At the bottom were the arms of France and England quarterly. The Inscription round, as read at length, was, SIGILLVM . DOMVS . JHESV . CHRISTI . IN . BETHLEM . ORDINIS . CARTVSIENSIS . DE . SHENE.^k

Isti duo conventus debent habere, ex regula, sufficientem dotationem ad sustentationem personarum et servientium, ac supportationem onerum tanti monasterii, ita quod absque indigentia, et mendicitate, tam in anno sterili quam fertili, possint sufficienter et quiete subsistere. REX, &c. salutem. Cum excelsæ magestatis exennia quæ gloriam nostri regiminis de die in diem ubertim, ut ipsi videmus, extollant, ritè a nobis graciaram vendicant actiones, justissimum credimus ut eo medio in auctorem tendant quo nobis ab auctore fluxerunt, nomine salvatoris; ut sicut per mediatorem Dei et hominum Dominum Jesum ad nos indignos, de patre luminum, bona cuncta procedunt, ita nostræ laudes quamvis inutiles per eundem Jesum Christum et datorem gratiarum, et omnis boni principium revertantur; nam Jesus iste noster non nave set Nazare in terram sanctæ Christianitatis transcenso Jordanis alveo nos omnes baptizatos induxit, quod Moyses vetus non potuit. In Moyse enim, sine ordine, sicut populus sic sacerdos incessit, in Jesu nostro refertur sacerdocium præcedit, archa sequitur, dux comitatur et populus et omnia per ordinem distinguntur. In Jesu nostro Aggei templum reædificatur per Babilonios hæreticos ante consumptum; Jesu nostro baptizato tota Trinitas carnalibus nostris ipsa corporalis apparuit. Jesus dum se humiliter inclinaret adulteram potenter redemit. Stans Jesus in medio reparavit incredulos. Resurgens de supulcro consolabatur mæstos. Deprecans in horto deicit inimicos; et quid mirum si ego qui utcunque minimus servus sum Jesu, sic cum propheta quasi cantans Exultem in Deo Jesu meo, cum hostis Herodes impius viso Jesu meo miro modo gaudebat. Fatemur quicquid nobis prospere contigit Jesus ipse donavit, ipse per nos dejecit hæreticos, servavit catholicos, Jesus ipse nobis pacificat æmulos exteriores, et domat intrinsecos, subicit homines, et abigit dæmones, ut quasi visibiliter cernimus verum esse, quod in homine Jesu flectitur omne genu, cælestes obsecuntur, spiritus terrestres obediunt, et inferi contremescunt; legitur namque quod Romani à Barbaris persecuti, in locis Domini Jesu dedicatis, per virtutem ejus salvati fuerant, et defensi; nec mirum cum secundum apostolum non sit aliud nomen sub cælo datum hominibus in quo oporteat salvari; ipse etenim, sacro attestante eloquio, salvum faciet populum suum; cæcis siquidem dedit visum, surdis auditum, claudis cursum, mutis sermonem, mortuis vitam, totamque diaboli potestatem de obsessis corporibus effugavit. Ex hac igitur meditatione commoniti, et Domini Jesu gratia, ut speramus, præventi, considerando quod bona est negotiatio per quam largiendo transitoria declinantur, et æterna fælici commercio subrogantur, quandam domum conventualem monachorum ordinis Cartusiensis, ob specialem et sinceram affectionem quam ad ordinem et religionem illam multis inducti causis et motivis gerimus et habemus, in quodam solo nostro apud Shene ex parte boreali situs manerii nostri ibidem, continente tria millia centum et viginti et quinque pedes in longitudine ac mille ac trecentas et quinque pedes et octo pollices in latitudine; et extendit se à Hakeloto juxta Diversbussh ex parte australi usque ad crucem vocatam Crosasshe ex parte boreali, ad honorem et gloriam ac exaltationem nominis dulcissimi Jesu, quam quidem domum, Domum Jesu de Bethlæm de Shene nominari volumus perpetualiter et vocari, disposuimus et duximus ordinandam, et fundandam, ac in eisdem solo et loco, si et quatenus in nobis est vel esse poterit, domum illam tenore præsentium erigimus, fundamus, creamus et stabilimus, temporibus perpetuis duraturam. Et idcirco solum et locum prædicta cum pertinentiis prout limitantur, seu imposterum limitabuntur et includentur, Johanni Wydrington monacho ordinis prædicti, priori ejusdem loci, assensu eorum quorum interest assignato et constituto, ac monachis ordinis prædicti Deo ibidem servituris et moraturis, pro situ et constructione ac primaria fundatione ejusdem domus ac inhabitatione dictorum prioris et monachorum ac certarum aliarum personarum imposterum specificandarum et nominandarum, et per eosdem priorem et monachos et successores suos imposterum sustinendarum et subveniendarum, de gracia nostra speciali et ex certa scientia nostra, ac de maturo et deliberato assensu consilii nostri, pro nobis et hæredibus damus, concedimus, et hac carta nostra confirmamus. Habendum et tenendum sibi et successoribus suis de nobis et hæredibus nostris in liberam, puram, et perpetuam elemosinam, libera et quieta ab omni exactione et servicio seculari, cum liberis introitu et exitu et omnibus aliis aisiamentis in hac parte rationabiliter necessariis, vel oportunis, pro orationibus et aliis divinis officiis tibi faciendis, pro salubri statu nostro, dum vixerimus, ac anima nostra cum ab hac luce migraverimus, et animabus parentum et progenitorum nostrorum et omnium fidelium defunctorum; necnon pro pace, tranquillitate, et quiete populi et regni nostri; ac insuper pro aliis pietatis operibus ibidem sustinendis, ministrandis, et supportandis juxta ordinationem nostram, hæredum vel executorum nostrorum, in hac parte plenius faciendam. REGULAR Canons, says bishop Tanner, were such as lived under some Rule; they were a less strict sort of Religious than the Monks,^a but lived together under one roof, had a common Dormitory and Refectory, and were obliged to observe the Statutes of their Order.^b

The chief Rule for these Canons is that of St. Augustine, or Austin, who was made bishop of Hippo, A.D. 395. But they were little known till the tenth or eleventh Century, were not brought into England till after the Conquest, and seem not to have obtained the name of Austin Canons till some years after.^c

Bale,^d indeed, and Sir Robert Atkyns^e say, that these Canons were brought into England by St. Birinus in the beginning of the seventh Century:^f but those were certainly Secular Canons whom he placed at Dorchester: and all other Historians agree that we had no Regular Canons here till the eleventh, and probably not till the twelfth Century. For though they differ about the place of their first settlement, yet the general opinion is, that they came in after King Henry I. began his reign. Jos. Pamphilus^g indeed saith that they were seated in London, A. D. 1059, but he seems to have been but an obscure writer. Mr. Somner says, that St. Gregory's, in Canterbury, which was built by archbishop Lanfranc, A.D. 1084, was their first House;^h but Leland's saying, that archbishop Lanfranc placed Secular Canonsⁱ at St. Gregory's, and that archbishop Corboil changed them into Regulars,^k makes the authority of that judicious antiquary in this case doubtful. Reyner says, that they were brought into England by Athelwulphus, or Adulphus, confessor to King Henry the First;^l and had their first House at Nostell, in Yorkshire; but they seem not to have been settled there till Thurston was archbishop of York,^m and that was not till A.D. 1114.ⁿ Stowe says, that Norman was the first Canon Regular in England, and that these Religious were first seated at the Holy Trinity, or Christ Church, within Aldgate, London; A.D. 1108,^o but that House was not built till R. Beaumeis was bishop of London;^p whereas the House of these Canons at Colchester was founded before the death of bishop Maurice his predecessor,^q which happened Sept. 26, 1107.^r And, therefore, bishop Tanner thinks that John Rosse^s and Pope Paschal II.^t are right in placing them first at Colchester, though it could not be in Rosse's year, 1109, but was rather A. D. 1105.^u

ⁱ These were clergymen conversant in the world: differing in nothing almost from ordinary priests, save that they were under the government of some local statutes. They were maintained by distinct prebends, similar in manner with the canons and prebendaries of our cathedrals and collegiate churches at present.

^u In which Fuller, Ch. Hist. b. vi. p. 268, places the coming of these Canons into England.

Stevens tells us, in his Continuation of Dugdale,^a that though there were Regular Canons who embraced the Rule of St. Austin, taken from his sixth. epistle, in the eleventh Century (as particularly at the Abbey of St. Denis, at Rheims, about A. D. 1067), yet the Regular Canons did not make solemn vows till the twelfth Century; and did not, in general, take the name of "Regular Canons of St. Austin" till Pope Innocent II. ordained in the Lateran Council, A. D. 1139, that all Regular Canons should submit to that Rule of St. Austin in his sixth. epistle. So that these Regular Canons certainly fall short of the time of their pretended founder, and therefore when Black or Regular Canons are mentioned before A. D. 1105, the reader must thereby understand Secular Canons. For it was usual in those days to call the Secular Canons of cathedral and collegiate churches "Canonici Regulares," to distinguish them from the common parochial clergy, though probably many of those societies might become Austin Canons afterwards.

Their HABIT was a long black cassock, with a white rochet over it, and over that a black cloak and hood.^b The monks were always shaved, but these canons wore beards, and caps on their heads.

Tanner says, he found above one hundred and seventy-five houses of these canons and canonesses in England and Wales.

But besides the common and general sort of these Canons, there were also the following particular sorts:

First, such as observed St. Austin's Rule according to the regulations of St. Nicholas of Arroasia,^c as those of Harewold, in Bedfordshire; Nutley, or Crendon, in Buckinghamshire; Hertland, in Devonshire; Brunne, in Lincolnshire; and Lilleshul, in Shropshire.

Secondly, some of the Rule of St. Austin, and the Order of St. Victor; as at Keynsham and Worspring, in Somersetshire; and Wormesley,^d in Herefordshire.

Thirdly, of the Order of St. Austin, and the Institution of St. Mary of Meretune; as at Buckenham,^e in Norfolk.

Fourthly, Premonstratenisan, or Canons who lived according to the Rule of St. Austin, reformed by St. Norbert, afterwards archbishop of Magdeburgh, who set up this regulation about A. D. 1120, at Præmonstratum in the diocese of Laon in Picardy, a place so called because pointed out, as it was said, by the blessed Virgin to be the head of this reformed Order.^f They were brought into England after A. D. 1140. It is reckoned that in England this Order had about thirty-five Houses. More will be said of its History and Regulations hereafter.

Such are the particulars, chiefly from Bishop Tanner's Preface, which it seemed necessary to lay before the Reader respecting the Origin and Branches of the Houses of the Order of St. Augustine.

Numerous Copies of the Rule of this Order, chiefly written in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, are to be found in our Manuscript Libraries: see particularly MSS. Harl. Brit. Mus, 2939, art 1. 4053. Some with Commentaries, as Ibid. 2939, art 5. 3995, art 7. In Harl. MS. 3392. we have "Regula B. Augustini cum expositione Hugonis de S. Victore, Latinè et Italicè." Sæc. xv. cod. membr.

The Cottonian Manuscript Vesp. D. I. contains,

DE CANONICORUM ORDINIS ORIGINE.

ERANT ab initio ordines monachorum et clericorum prorsus distincti: monachus enim (ut inquit Hieronymus) non doctoris, sed plangentis officium habet. A viris autem religiosis et piis monasticæ vitæ imitationem, etiam presbyterorum et canonicorum collegia instituta sunt, in quibus clerici ministeriis ecclesiæ initiati ac destinati, et presbyteri in ecclesiæ ministerio jam constituti, ad certam et præscriptam regulam vitam agerent, quæ quamvis monastica illa paulò fuerit liberior, tamen etiam certis legibus et canonibus adstringebantur, unde et vita illa canonica, et qui eam profitebantur Canonici dicti sunt, ipsorumque collegia, Monasteria quoque dicta fuerunt: quod nomen adhuc in celebrioribus nonnullis collegiis retinetur, ob eamque causam in antiquioribus conciliis monasteria monachorum et clericorum memorantur: atque his præerant episcopus, ut illis abbas, hodie tamen episcopi loco præpositum habent.

De Origine Canonicorum variæ Sententiæ.

De auctore hujus instituti variæ proferuntur variorum sententiæ. Thomas Aquinas secunda secundæ, quæstione 88. comprobare nititur, apostolorum esse inventum: inquit enim inter alia, apostoli post ascensum Christi in cælos, in Monte Sion, de genere vitæ deliberantes, communia inter se omnia, ac tria vota coram Deo statuerunt: sicut etiam refert Polydorus lib. 7. cap. 3. de Invent. His autem paucissimis Thomæ verbis duo falsissima insunt. Primum est, quòd dicit apostolos post ascensionem Christi de novo quodam vitæ genere deliberasse. Alterum, quòd ait, apostolos tria vota instituisse. De his enim ne vestigium quidem ullum apud Evangelistas extat: quorum concursus est sententia, apostolos mox post ascensionem Domini rectam reversos Hierosolymam, fuisse semper in Templo laudantes et benedicentes Deum. De novo quodam vitæ genere, et tribus votis ab se institutis, nulla prorsus fit mentio. Hoc igitur (ut inquit D. Hieronymus) quia de Scriptura Sacra non habet auctoritatem, eadem facilitate contemnitur, qua probatur. Deinde, nemini dubium esse debet, quin apostoli id vitæ genus ingressi sint quod ipsis erat à Christo præscriptum, qui dixit, Profecti docete omnes gentes, baptizantes eos in nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus Sancti: docentes eos servare omnia quæ mandavi vobis, Matthæi vigesimo octavo. Hanc regulam sequutos esse apostolos Marcus 16. cap. testatur, qui dicit: Illi egressi prædicarunt ubique, &c. Tertiò adversatur Thomas eorum sententiæ, qui S. Basilium trium monasticorum votorum authorem faciunt.

Alii igitur hujus canonicæ vitæ initium ad Urbanum I. Romanum Pontificem referunt, qui floruit circa annos Christi 230, ideo quòd is constituisse legitur, ut ex prædiis et bonis matricibus ecclesiis collatis, episcopi omnes communem vitam degere volentibus, cuncta necessaria subministrent: sicut legitur in Decretali I. Urbani.

Nonnulli D. Augustinum hujus instituti præcipuum authorem faciunt, qui cum cætum quendam piorum virorum congregasset, qui extra urbem et turbas hominum pietatem exercerent, factus episcopus, intra episcopium monasterium quoque clericorum et presbyterorum, cum quibus communiter viveret, instituisse legitur. Refert equidem Possidonius de S. Augustino hujuscemodi quid in vita ejus: sed ratio illa Augustini vivendi cum clericis longè alia fuit quàm hodie canonicorum sit: nullis enim votis illi obligati erant ut hi sunt, neque etiam eo vestitu usi leguntur quo hodie utuntur. Adhæc longè fuit aliud illorum officium quàm horum sit nostra ætate. Nam quum probè illi in honestis disciplinis et sacrarum literarum arcanis instituti fuissent, ad ecclesiastica munia promovebantur, et vel ecclesiam docendo cum episcopo in commune regebant, ut qui veluti collegæ ejus essent in munere pastoralis, vel ipsi ad episcopatus dignitatem evehebantur: hi verò docendi munere prorsus neglecto abjectoque, si tantum in choro (unde et Chorherren Germanicè, quasi chori Domini, vocantur) constitutis horis cantillent, et nescio quas preculas demurmurent, tam demum egregiè se suo officio perfunctos arbitrantur.

Onuphrius Panuinius in suis ad Platinam annotationibus, indicat ex archivis ecclesiæ Lateranensis, Gelasium I. Papam, circa annum 495, canonicos regulares ordinis sancti Augustini Laterani primùm collocasse. Crediderim ergo hunc Gelasium horum canonicorum esse authorem, et ad hoc exemplum mox alibi quoque in majoribus ecclesiis eos institutos esse: de quo tamen alii judicent. Fuit certè hic Gelasius idololatriæ egregius architectus, et cæremoniarum cumulator, ut in vita ejus indicatur.

De origine hujus ordinis ita scribit Sabellicus Enne. 9. lib. 9. In hæc, inquit, tempora, quibus nimirum schisma ingens erat inter Benedictum XIII. Gregorium XII. et Alexandrum V. reponit canonicorum regularium ortum Philippus eremitanus apud Frisonariam Lucensis agri oppidum. Sed hujus fidem elevat inveterata contentio de eremitanæ et canonicæ familiæ ortu, utraque suam ad Aurelium Augustinum referens originem. Potuit igitur instauratio esse verius quàm origo. Hæc Sabellicus.

Cranzius lib. 4. cap. 37. Metrop. indicat, ordinem hunc sub Ivone Carnotensi episcopo refluere cœpisse circa annum 1080. Vicentius in Spec. Hist. lib. 26. cap. 51. et Antoninus tit. 15. cap. 17. indicant hoc factum saltem in ecclesia S. Quintini Beluacensis, sub Ivone ejusdem ecclesiæ præposito; postea verò Carnotensi episcopo, Panuinius in Chron. ait, hunc ordinem in Galliis esse ab Ivone restitutum. Gilbertus verò cognatus Narat. lib. 3. refert, in doctorum hominum locum, quorum collegia Basilius et Augustinus instituerint, canonicos regulares successisse anno Domini 1080, sub Ivone, et postea reformatos anno 1380.

Canonici quando primum in Angliam venerint.

Balæus centuria I. scriptorum Britannicorum indicat sectam canonicorum à Berino, circa annum Domini 636, in Angliam primùm esse propagatam: et addit, hanc sectam unum ex duobus bestiæ cornibus fuisse, quod mendacibus signis Antichristum ad stellas extulerit, juxta id quod extat Apocal. 13.

Canonici Reformati.

Hæc autem vita canonica cum paulatim laxari et solvi cœpisset, in concilio Moguntino anno 813, sub Carolo celebrato, canonici ad ejus observationem revocati sunt, cap. 9. enim leges canonicæ vitæ breviter comprehenduntur: ut canonici clerici canonicè vivant, observantes divinam scripturam et doctrinam, et documenta sanctorum patrum: nihilque sine scientia episcopi sui vel magistri agere præsumant: et ut simul dormiant ac manducent, ubi facultas hoc faciendi suppetat, et in suo claustro maneant. Hinc Tritthemius in Chronico Hirsaugiensi, fol. 41. refert, in cathedralibus ecclesiis hanc fuisse canonicæ vitæ antiquam institutionem, ut canonici in commune viverent, unam habentes mensam, unam bursam, unumque commune dormitorium. Cum verò hæc Caroli constitutio fortassis minus proficeret, in conventu Aquisgranensi sub Ludovico I. Imp. mandatum fuit, ut liber conscriberetur, in quo accuratius et copiosius ex scriptis potissimum sanctorum patrum, tota ratio canonicæ vitæ descripta esset: missusque fuit liber ille per civitates et monasteria canonici ordinis, et vitam illam profitentibus injunctum, ut quæ præciperentur in illo fideliter custodirent et servarent: imprimisque ut abjicerent succrescentem pompam in auro et argento, inque pellibus varii generis magnique precii: quæ res jam tum per Galliam et Germaniam excreverat in abusum maximum.

Canonicus non debet fieri Monachus.

De iisdem canonicis præcipitur in Synodo Educensi, circa annos Domini 1083, ut nullus abbas vel monachus ipsos à proposito professionis canonicæ revocare, et ad monasticum habitum trahendo suscipere audeat, ut monachi fiant, quamdiu ordinis sui ecclesiam invenire quiverint; quod si temerario ausu id agere tentaverint, anathemate feriuntur, c. 19, q. 3. In quam sententiam etiam Urbanus II. papa mandavit, et universaliter interdixit, ne quis canonicus, nisi publicè lapsus fuerit, monachus efficiatur. Si contra egerit, ad ordinem redeat, et deinceps memorialem cucullam deferat, ultimusque in choro maneat: ibidem. Si tamen hoc fecerit cum patris et totius congregationis licentia, licet ex ejusdem Urbani ad abbatem S. Ruffini concessione: ibidem. In Coloniensi synodo anno 1260 celebrata, sancitur, Can. 7. Ne canonici frequenter extra immunitatem ecclesiarum suarum comedant aut dormiant. Et cap. 9. Si quando per vicos civitatis, aut plateas incedant, ita decenter in habitu vestimentorum incedant, sicut ab antiqua consuetudine observatum sit.

Progressu verò temporis affluentibus divitiis, et religiosis laicis ecclesiarum patrimonia supra quàm credi possit locupletantibus, vetus canonicorum disciplina penitus collapsa et conculcata est. Religio enim ubi peperit divitias, mox filia devoravit matrem: id est, opes pepulere pietatem et induxerunt luxum. Neglecta autem pietas errori locum aperuit, error verò omnia superstitione opplevit, superstitione bonas literas oppressit, proque his barbariem plantavit. Luxus pauperibus valedicere, egenos negligere, equisones et canum magistros conducere, palatia extruere, aulas regias instruere, Alcinoique hortos adornare docuit.

Cum igitur illorum vita longissimè sic à regula deflexisset, ipsique jugum omne excussissent, et veterum constitutionum repagula perfregissent, in eorum locum successit canonicorum aliud genus, qui cum regulæ præscriptum propius sequerentur, canonici regulares dicti sunt, ad quorum differentiam illi regulæ desertores, absurdo et monstroso nomine Canonici Seculares, hoc est, regulares irregulares, dicti sunt. Quo tempore autem hæc irregularitas per Germaniam cœperit, Tritthemius indicat in Chronico Hirsaugiensi, fol. 46, ubi inquit: Anno 977, Canonici Trevirenses majoris ecclesiæ abjecta regulari vita, desierunt esse regulares, et facti sunt nomine et re seculares. Quorum exemplo canonici quoque S. Paulini Trevisis, S. Castoris Confluentiæ, item Moguntinenses, Vuormatienses, Spirenses et complurium aliarum ecclesiarum diversis temporibus regularitatem abjecerunt. Non injuria autem Albertus Cranzius, lib. 3, cap. 15. et lib. 7, cap. 50. Metrop. Canonicum Secularem vocat monstrum sine exemplo: regularem sine regula: canonicum sine canone.

Cùm itaque, post annos Domini 1300, hic ordo penè interisset, rursus instauratur, et in plures familias diducitur circa annos Christi 1380, ut Antoninus refert tit. 15, cap. 17.; eo enim tempore exorta est congregatio canonicorum Servatoris, quæ et Scopetina nuncupatur: alia item Frisonaria, quam et Lateranensem appellant. Tertia D. Gregorii Venetiis in Alga, ut Polydorus indicat lib. 7, cap. 3, de quibus et nos in classe quarta plura dicemus.

Vestitus Canonicorum.

Vestitus canonicorum est tunica candida, cum linea toga, sub nigro pallio; tegumentum à scapulis impositum, cervicem totumque contegit caput, præterquam à fronte, ut testantur Sabellicus Enne. 7. lib. 9. et Polydorus Virgilius, lib. 7, cap. 3. Et in Senonensi synodo, cap. 22, sancitur, ut canonici regulares tam intra quam extra monasteria super veste exteriori togam lineam ferant. Volateranus, lib. 21. Anthr. de vestitu eorum ita scribit: Amictus est, inquit, linea tunica tantum, veste cujuscunque superaddita, quam Jacobus apostolus præsul Hierosolymitanus primus ex more Levitico veterumque sacerdotum sibi assumpsit: post eum Marcus Alexandriæ. Posterii verò diversis inter se factis conciliabulis, alii alia simul cum lineis indumenta corripuere, statutaque condidere.

Canonicorum Ordinis Incrementa et Propago.

Sabellicus Ennead. 7, lib. 9. ait, quæ intra extraque Italiam sortiti sint canonici loca, aut quantus sit hodie initiatorum numerus neque ipsos scripsisse, nec se alioquin scriptum reperisse. Regula Prima, quam divus Pater Aurelius Augustinus Fratribus, seu Monachis, qui simul et communiter vivere spondissent, præscripsisse dicitur.

[Ibid. fol. 213 a.]

CAPUT I.

COMMUNI diffinitione decrevimus apud nos, quòd nunquam postmodùm ab aliquo poterit infringi. Residentibus in monasterio, in nomine Domini nostri Jesu Christi, omnibus placuit, secundùm apostolicam traditionem, unum sentire in Domino, et communiter possidere, sicut scriptum est, Unum sentite in Domino, et nemo quidem proprium vendicet quicquam; sed sicut scriptum est in Actibus Apostolorum, “Habentes omnia communia, nemo quicquam esse suum dicebat, quod à nobis scriptum est.”^a In Domino ergo jure observationis nos teneamus, quoniam in lege scriptum est, “Qui perseveraverit usque ad finem, hic salvus erit.”^b

CAPUT II.

SI quis autem venire desiderat ad congregationem fratrum, qui unum esse videntur: non ignoret Evangelicum dictum, quod dixit: “Vendat omnia sua, et eroget egenis et pauperibus.”^c Et iterùm: “Abneget semetipsum sibi, et tollat crucem suam, et sequatur me.”^d Et ne tractet in corde suo de victu aut vestitu, et cæteris quæ necessaria sunt corpori, ipso Domino præmonente in Evangelio et dicente: “Nolite cogitare, dicentes, quid edetis aut quid vestiemini? hoc enim gentes cogitant. Scit Pater vester, quia horum omnium indigetis. Quærite primùm regnum Dei, et justitiam ejus, et hæc omnia apponentur vobis.”^e

CAPUT III.

VERUMTAMEN antequàm statuatur esse in monasterio, probet propositum fratrum atque exemplum, et ipsi probentur in omni conservatione ab illo qui prior est, et cæteris consentientibus, propter illud quod Scriptura docet et admonet, dicens: Amicum noli citò comprobare.

CAPUT IV.

SED si contigerit ut aliquis ex qualibet causa necessitatis, à monasterio fuerit abstractus: ne vel mente concipiat, secum aliquid ferre de his omnibus quæ in monasterio fuerunt: sive etiam quæ secum aliquando attulerat, sive ea quæ cum fratribus adquisierat: quia certum est, fratres nihil habere, possidere, dare, vel accipere debere, sine superioris licentia. Quòd si propinquus vel amicus, vel quilibet fratrum aliquid offerre voluerit, primò quidem priori insinuetur, et sic suscipiatur, si ipse mandaverit: de quo tamen nihil fiat aliud, nisi quod priori placuerit vel permiserit: quoniam valdè verendum est, ne sibi eveniat quod scriptum est: “Vir mutabilis in lingua, incidit in mala.”^f Et istum ut nullum de fratribus secum provocet: ne magis destructor quàm ædificator monasterii videatur, propter id quod scriptum est: “Qui non est mecum, contra me est: et qui mecum non congregat, dispergit.”^g Et quicumque provocatus ab aliquo, de monasterio voluerit abscedere, aut indicet præposito: cui utique de his, quæ in communi decrevimus, nihil esse censeo subtrahendum: quia scriptum est, “Pacifici sint tibi multi: sed unus ex mille, sit tibi consiliarius.”^h

CAPUT V.

IGITUR hæc quæ scripta sunt, cum summa diligentia observanda sunt a præposito usque ad omnes fratres. Et si quis ab aliquo doctrinam audiverit, præterquam in monasterio consecutus est ab eo cui se credit, hanc autem suscipiat, et eam non subtrahat doctore; quia scriptum est, Omne quod manifestat, lux est. Si enim bona fuerit, collaudanda est: si verò prava, reprobanda.

CAPUT VI.

DE his autem fratribus, qui in unitate consistunt, si quis subito adversus præpositum altercatus fuerit, non solum semel, sed secundo et tertio, ut Evangelium docet, licet exorare. Si autem noluerit se emendare, ille cui injuria irrogata est post poenitentiam vel secundam correctionem, quæ non revocaverit, contumacem denunciât, et illud præposito: ne per taciturnitatem ille et frater suus periclitetur, sicut Solomon ait: Qui occultat inimicitiam instruit dolum.

CAPUT VII.

SI verò, ut fieri solet, incursio repentina supervenerit, aut hostilitas, ut impossibile sit, fratribus in unum fugam petere propter insecutionem inimicorum, et postmodum Deo favente evaserint, et potuerint pervenire, ubi præpositum esse cognoverant, velut filii ad patrem festinare debebunt. Nec ullo modo poterunt separari, quos divina charitas sociavit, quia scriptum est: "Perfecta dilectio foras mittit timorem."^a

CAPUT VIII.

SI quis autem, quod superius diximus, causa necessitatis detinet id quod à monasterio secum portavit, necesse habebit, ubi præpositus suus est, illud proferre: qui non poterit sibi retinere, quod per pactum ad omnes pertinet, et Deo utique est consecratum. Sed si cogitaverit de his aliquid retinere, contra dictum apostoli agere videtur, qui ait: "Nemini quicquam debeatis, nisi ut invicem diligatis vos."^b

CAPUT IX.

OMNIA quæ in isto libro continentur, omnes fratres observent, atque se subscribant, qui boni esse desiderant. Verum propter illos hæc sunt cauta, id est, scripta, qui in omnibus stabiles esse noscuntur.

D. Patris Aurelii Augustini Regula Secunda, Confratres et Monachos de modo ac tempore orandi, psallendi, legendi, operandi, vivendi et conversandi, instruens.

CAPUT I.

ANTE omnia, fratres charissimi, diligatur Deus: deinde proximus. Qualiter autem oporteat nos orare, vel psallere, describimus: id est, in matutinis dicantur psalmi octuaginta octo cum debitis antiphonis, versibus, et responsoriis. Ad primam et tertiam dicantur sui psalmi, antiphonæ duæ, lectiones duæ. Simili modo ad sextam et nonam dicantur sui psalmi, cum debitis responsoriis, et antiphonis. Hoc idem in vesperis et completorio servetur. Ad lucernarium autem psalmus unus, responsorium unum, tres antiphonæ, lectiones tres. Et opportuno post lucernarium, omnibus sedentibus, legantur lectiones. Nocturnæ autem lectionis mense Novembri, Decembri, Januario, et Febuario, antiphonæ duodecim, psalmis sex, lectiones tres: Martio, Aprili, Septembri, Octobri, antiphonæ decem, psalmi quinque, lectiones tres: Maio, Junio, Julio, et Augusto, antiphonæ octo, psalmi quatuor, lectiones duæ.

CAPUT II.

OPERENTUR à manè usque sextam, et à sexta usque ad nonam vacent lectioni: et ad nonam reddant codices. Et postquam refecerint, sive in horto, sive ubicunque fuerint, faciant opus usque ad horam lucernarii. Nemo sibi aliquid vendicet proprium, sive in vestimento, sive in quacunque re. Apostolica enim vita optamus vivere. "Nemo cum murmure aliquid faciat, ut non simili judicio murmuratorum pereat."^c Fideliter obediant: hi patrem suum post Deum honoraverunt: præposito suo deferant, sicut decet sanctos. Sedentes ad mensam taceant, audientes lectiones: si autem aliquid opus fuerit, præpositus eorum sollicitus sit. Sabbato et dominica, sicut consuetudo est, qui volunt vinum accipiant.

^a 1 Joan. 4.^b Rom. 12.^c Act 2 et 4.

CAPUT III.

SI opus fuerit ad aliquam necessitatem mitti, duo eant. Nemo extra monasterium sine præcepto manducet, neque bibat. Non enim hoc ad disciplinam pertinet monasterii. Si opera monasterii mitantur fratres vendere sollicitè caveant, ne quid faciant contra præceptum, scientes, quoniam exacerbant Dominum in sanctis suis. Si aliquid emant ad necessitatem monasterii, sollicitè et fideliter, ut servi Dei, agant.

CAPUT IV.

OTIOSUM verbum apud illos non sit. Manè ad opera sua sedeant: post orationem tertiæ eant ad opera sua: non stantes fabulas contexant, nisi fortè aliquid sit pro utilitate animæ: sedentes ad opera taceant: nisi necessitas operum exigeret, ut loquatur quis.

CAPUT V.

SI quis autem non omni virtute, adjuvante misericordia Dei, hæc conatus fuerit implere, sed contumaci animo despexerit: semel atque iterum commonitus, si non emendaverit, sciat se subjacere disciplinæ monasterii sicut oportet. Si autem talis fuerit ætas ipsius, vapulabit. Hæc in nomine Christi fideliter et piè observantes, et vos proficietis, et nobis non parva lætitia erit de vestra salute. Hæc sunt, quæ ut observetis, præcepimus in monasterio constituti.

D. Patris Aurelii Augustini Regula tertia, in qua latius tradidit ea, quæ ad communem Clericorum Vitam pertinent: quæ à nonnullis inter sermones de communi Vita Clericorum enumeratur.

ANTE omnia, fratres charissimi, diligatur Deus: deinde proximus,^a quia ista præcepta sunt principaliter nobis data. Hæc igitur sunt, quæ ut observetis, præcipimus in monasterio constituti.

CAPUT I.

PRIMUM propter quod in unum estis congregati, ut unanimes habitetis in domo, et sit vobis anima una et cor unum in Deo. Et non dicatis aliquid proprium, sed sint vobis omnia communia.^b

CAPUT II.

Et distribuatur unicuique vestrum à præposito vestro victus et tegumentum: non æqualiter omnibus, quia non æqualiter valetis omnes: sed potius unicuique, sicut cuique opus fuerit. Sic enim legitis in Actibus Apostolorum: Quia erant illis omnia communia, et distribuebatur unicuique sicut cuique opus erat.

CAPUT III.

QUI aliquid habebant in seculo, quando ingressi sunt monasterium, libenter velint illud esse commune. Qui autem non habebant, non ea quærant in monasterio, quæ nec foris habere potuerunt.

CAPUT IV.

SED tamen eorum infirmitati, quod opus est, tribuatur: etsi paupertas eorum, quando foris erat, nec ipsa necessaria, poterat invenire. Tamen non ideò se reputent esse felices, quia invenerunt victum et tegumentum, quale foris invenire non poterant: nec erigant cervicem, qui sociantur eis, ad quos foris accedere non audebant, sed sursum cor habeant, et terrena vana non quærant: nec incipiant esse monasteria divitibus utilia, non pauperibus: si divites illic humiliantur, et pauperes illic inflantur.

CAPUT V.

RURSUS etiam illi, qui aliquid esse videbantur in seculo, non habeant fastidio fratres suos, qui ad illam sanctam societatem ex paupertate venerunt. Magis autem studeant non de parentum divitum dignitate, sed de pauperum fratrum societate gloriari. Nec extollantur, si communi vitæ aliquid de suis facultatibus contulerunt: nec de suis divitiis magis superbiant, quia eas monasterio partiuntur, quàm si eis in seculo fruerentur. Alia quippe quæcunque iniquitas in malis operibus exercetur, ut

^b 12 q. 1.

fiant: superbia verò etiam bonis operibus insidiatur, ut pereant. Et quid prodest dispergere dando pauperibus, et pauperem fieri, cùm anima miseria superbior efficitur divitias contemnendo, quàm fuerat possidendo?

CAPUT VI.

OMNES ergo unanimiter et concorditer venite, et honorate in vobis Deum invicem, cujus templa facti estis.

CAPUT VII.

ORATIONIBUS instate horis et temporibus constitutis.

CAPUT VIII.

IN oratorio nemo aliquid agat, nisi ad quod factum est, unde et nomen accepit: ut si fortè aliqui etiam præter horas constitutas, si eis vacat, orare voluerint, non eis sint impedimento, qui ibi aliquid agendum putaverint.

CAPUT IX.

PSALMIS et hymnis cùm oratis Deum, hoc versetur in corde, quod profertur in voce.

CAPUT X.

ET nolite cantare, nisi quod legistis esse cantandum. Quod autem non ita scriptum est ut cantetur, non cantetur.

CAPUT XI.

CARNEM vestram domate jejuniis et abstinentia escæ, quantum valetudo permittit.

CAPUT XII.

QUANDO autem aliquis non potest jejunare, non tamen extra horam prandii aliquid alimentorum sumat, nisi cum ægrotat.

CAPUT XIII.

CUM acceditis ad mensam, donec inde surgatis, quod vobis secundùm consuetudinem legitur, sine tumultu et contentionibus audite; ne solæ vobis fauces sumant cibum, sed et aures esuriant Dei verbum.

CAPUT XIV.

QUI infirmi sunt ex pristina consuetudine, si aliter tractantur in victu, non debet aliis molestum esse, nec injustum videri, quos fecit aliqua consuetudo fortiores. Nec illos feliciores putent, quia sumunt quod non sumant ipsi: sed sibi potius gratulentur, quia valent, quod non valent illi.

CAPUT XV.

ETSI eis, qui venerunt ex moribus delicatoribus ad monasterium, aliquid alimentorum, vestimentorum, operimentorum datur, quod aliis fortioribus, et ideo felicioribus, non datur: cogitare debent quibus non datur, quantum de sua seculari vita illi ad istam descenderint, quamvis usque ad aliorum, qui sunt corpore firmiores, frugalitatem pervenire nequiverint; nec debent velle omnes, quod paucos vident amplius, non quia honorantur, sed quia tolerantur, accipere: ne contingat detestanda perversitas, ut in monasterio, ubi, quantum possunt, fiunt divites laboriosi, fiant pauperes delicati.

CAPUT XVI.

SANE quemadmodum ægrotantes necesse habent minus accipere, ne graventur: ita post ægritudinem sic tranctandi sunt, ut citius recreentur, etiamsi de humillima seculi paupertate venerunt, tanquàm hoc illis contulerit recentior ægritudo, quod divitibus anterior, consuetudo.

CAPUT XVII.

SED cum vires pristinas reparaverint, redeant ad feliciorum consuetudinem suam, quæ famulos Dei tanto amplius decet, quanto minus indigent: ne cibi eos teneat voluptas jam vegetatos, quos necessitas levarat infirmos. Illos existiment ditiores, qui in sustinenda parcitate fuerint fortiores. Melius est enim, minus egere, quàm plus habere.

CAPUT XVIII.

NON sit notabilis habitus vester, nec affectetis vestibus placere, sed moribus.

CAPUT XIX.

QUANDO proceditis, simul ambulate : cum veneritis, quo itis, simul state.

CAPUT XX.

IN incessu, statu, et in omnibus motibus vestris nihil fiat, quod cujusquam offendat aspectum, sed quod vestram deceat sanctitatem.

CAPUT XXI.

OCULI vestri etsi jaciuntur in aliquam fœminarum, non figantur in illa. Neque enim quando proceditis, fœminas videre prohibemini : sed appetere, aut ab ipsis appeti velle, criminum est. Nec solo tacito affectu, sed affectu quoque et ad aspectu appetitur, et appetit concupiscentia fœminarum. Nec dicatis vos habere animos pudicos, si habeatis oculos impudicos : quia impudicus oculus, impudici cordis est nuncius. Et cùm se invicem sibimet, etiam tacente lingua, conspectu muto corda nunciant impudica, et secundùm concupiscentiam carnis alterutro delectantur amore, etiam intactis ab immunda violatione corporibus, fugit castitas ipsa de moribus. Nec putare debet, qui in fœmina oculos figit, et illius in se diligit fixum, ab aliis se non videri, cùm hoc fecerit. Videtur omnino, et à quibus se videri non arbitratur. Sed ecce lateat, et à nemine hominum videatur : quid faciet desuper inspectore, quem latere nihil potest ? An ideo non putandus est non videre, quia tanto videt patientius, quanto sapientius ? Illi ergo vir sanctus timeat displicere, ne velit fœmina malè placere. Illum cogitet omnia videre, nec velit fœminam malè videre. Illius namque et in hac causa commendatus est timor, ubi scriptum est : Abominatio est Domino defigens oculum.

CAPUT XXII.

QUANDO ergo simul estis in ecclesia et ubicunque ubi fœminæ sunt, invicem vestram pudicitiam custodite. Deus enim qui habitat in vobis, etiam isto modo custodiet vos ex vobis.

CAPUT XXIII.

ETSI hanc, de qua loquor, oculi petulantiam in aliquo vestrum adverteritis, statim admonete, ne cœpta progrediantur, sed de proximo corrigantur. Si autem et post admonitionem iterum vel alio quocunque die id ipsum eum facere videritis, jam velut vulneratum, sanandum procedat, quicunque hoc potuerit invenire. Prius tamen et alteri vel tertio demonstrandum, ut duorum vel trium possit ore convinci, et competenti severitate coerceri. Nec vos judicetis esse malevolos, quando hoc indicatis. Magis quippe innocentes non estis, si fratres vestros, quos indicando corrigere potestis, tacendo perire permittitis. Si enim frater tuus vulnus habet in corpore quod velit occultari, cùm timeret secari : nonne crudeliter abs te sileretur, et misericorditer indicaretur ? Quanto ergò potius debes manifestare, ne deterius putrescat in corde ? Sed antequam aliis demonstretur, per quos convincendus est, si negaverit : prius præposito ostendi debet, si admonitus neglexerit corrigi : ne fortè possit, secretius correctus, non innotescere cæteris. Si autem negaverit, tunc neganti adhibendi sunt alii : ut jam coram omnibus possit non ab uno teste argui, sed à duobus vel tribus convinci. Convictus verò, secundùm præpositi, vel etiam presbyteri, ad cujus dispensationem pertinet, arbitrium debet emendatorem subire vindictam. Quam si ferre recusaverit, etiam si ipse non abscesserit, de vestra societate projiciatur. Non enim et hoc sit crudeliter, sed misericorditer, ne contagione pestifera plurimos perdat.

CAPUT XXIV.

ET hoc, quod dixi de oculo non figendo, et in cæteris inveniendis, prohibendis, judicandis, convincendis, vindicandisque peccatis, diligenter et fideliter observetur cum dilectione hominum et odio vitiorum.

CAPUT XXV.

QUICUNQUE autem in tantum progressus fuerit malum, ut occultè ab aliquo literas vel quodlibet munus accipiat, si hoc ultro confitetur, parcatur illi, et oretur pro illo. Si autem deprehenditur, atque convincitur, secundùm arbitrium presbyteri vel præpositi gravius emendetur.

CAPUT XXVI.

VESTES vestras in unum habeatis sub uno custode vel duobus, vel quot sufficere potuerint ad eas excutiendas, ne à tinea lædantur. Et sicut pascimini ex uno cellario, sic induamini ex uno vestiario.

Et si fieri potest, non ad vos pertineat, quod vobis indumentum, pro temporis congruentia, proferatur, utrum recipiat hoc unusquisque quod deposuerat, an aliud quod alter habuerat: dum tamen unicuique prout opus est, non negetur. Si autem hinc inter vos contentiones et murmura oriuntur, cum queritur aliquis deterius se accepisse, quam prius habuerat, et indignum se esse, quod non ita vestiatur, sicut alius frater ejus vestitur: hinc vos probate, quantum vobis desit in illo interiore sancto habitu cordis, qui pro habitu corporis litigatis. Tamen si vestra toleratur infirmitas, ut hoc recipiatis, quod posueritis: in uno tamen loco, sub communibus custodibus habete, quod ponitis.

CAPUT XXVII.

ITA sanè, ut nullus sibi aliquid operetur: sed omnia opera vestra in unum fiant majori studio et frequentiori alacritate, quam si vobis singulis feceritis propria. Charitas enim, de qua scriptum est, quod non querit quæ sua sunt, sic intelligitur, quia communia propriis, non propria communibus, anteponebat. Et ideò quanto amplius rem communem, quam propria vestra, curaveritis, tanto vos amplius proficere noveritis: ut in omnibus, quibus utitur transitura necessitas, superemineat, quæ permanet charitas.

CAPUT XXVIII.

CONSEQUENS ergò est, ut etiam qui suis filiis, aut necessitudine aliqua ad se pertinentibus, in monasterio constitutis, aliquam contulerit vestem, sive quodlibet aliud inter necessaria deputandum, non occultè accipiatur, sed sit in potestate præpositi, ut in rem communem redactum, cui necessarium fuerit, præbeatur.

CAPUT XXIX.

QUOD si aliquis rem sibi collatam celaverit, furti iudicio condemnetur.

CAPUT XXX.

INDUMENTA vestra, secundum arbitrium præpositi, laventur, sive à vobis, sive à fullonibus, ne interiores animæ sordas contrahat mundæ vestis nimius appetitus.

CAPUT XXXI.

LAVACRUM etiam corpori, cum infirmitatis necessitas cogit, minimè denegetur. Fiat sine murmure de consilio medicinæ, ita ut, etiam si nolit, jubente præposito, faciat quod faciendum est pro salute. Si autem velit, et fortè non expedit, suæ cupiditati non obediatur. Aliquando enim, etiam si noceat, prodesse creditur quod delectat. Denique si latens est dolor in corpore, famulo Dei dicenti, quid sibi doleat, sine dubitatione credatur. Sed tamen, utrum sanando illi dolori, quod delectat expediat: si non est certum, medicus consulatur.

CAPUT XXXII.

NEC eant ad balnea, sive quocunque ire necesse fuerit, minus quam duo vel tres. Et ille qui habet aliquo eundi necessitatem, cum quibus præpositus jusserit, ire debet.

CAPUT XXXIII.

ÆGROTANTIUM cura, sive post ægritudinem reficiendorum, sive aliqua imbecillitate, sive etiam febribus laborantium, uni alicui debet injungi, ut ipse de cellario petat, quod cuique opus esse prospexerit.

CAPUT XXXIV.

SIVE autem qui cellario, sive qui vestibus, sive qui codicibus præponuntur, sine murmure serviant fratribus suis.

CAPUT XXXV.

CODICES certa hora singulis diebus petantur: extra horam qui petierit, non accipiet.

CAPUT XXXVI.

VESTIMENTA verò et calceamenta quando indigentibus fuerint necessaria dare non differant, sub quorum custodia sunt, quæ poscuntur.

CAPUT XXXVII.

LITES autem nullas habeatis, aut quam celerrimè finiatis: ne ira crescat in odium, et trabem faciet de festuca, et animam faciat homicidam. Sic enim legitis: Qui odit fratrem suum, homicida est.

CAPUT XXXVIII.

QUICUNQUE convicio, vel maledicto, vel etiam criminis objectu aliquem læsit : meminerit ritè satisfactionem quàm citius curare quod fecit : et ille qui læsus est, sine disceptatione dimittere. Si autem invicem se læserint, invicem sibi debita relaxare debebunt propter orationes vestras : quas utique quanto crebriores habetis, tanto saniores habere debetis. Melior est autem, qui quamvis sæpè tentatur, tamen impetrare festinat, ut sibi dimittat, cui se fecisse agnoscit injuriam : quàm qui tardius irascitur, et ad veniam petendam tardius inclinatur. Qui autem nunquam vult petere veniam, aut non ex animo petit, sine causa est in monasterio, etiam si inde non projiciatur.

CAPUT XXXIX.

PROINDE vobis à verbis durioribus parcite : quæ si emissa fuerint ex ore vestro, non pigeat ex ipso ore proferre medicamenta, unde facta sunt vulnera.

CAPUT XL.

QUANDO autem necessitas disciplinæ in moribus coercendis dicere vos verba dura compellit, si etiam ipsi vos modum excessisse sentitis : non à vobis exigitur, ut à vestris subditis veniam postuletis : ne apud eos, quos oportet esse subjectos, dum nimium servatur humilitas, regendi frangatur authoritas : Sed tamen petenda est venia ab omnium Domino, qui novit etiam eos quos plus justo fortè corripitis, quanta benevolentia diligitis. Non autem carnalis, sed spiritualis inter vos debet esse dilectio.

CAPUT XLI.

PRÆPOSITO tanquam patri obediatur : multò magis presbytero, qui omnium vestrum curam gerit.

CAPUT XLII.

UT ergo cuncta ista serventur, et si quid servatum minus fuerit, non negligenter prætereatur, sed ut emendandum corrigendumque curetur : ad præpositum præcipuè pertinebit, ut ad presbyterum, cujus est apud vos major authoritas, referat quod modum vel vires ejus excedit.

CAPUT XLIII.

IPSE verò qui vobis præest, non se existimet potestate dominante, sed charitate serviente felicem. Honore coram vobis prælatus sit, vobis timore coram Deo substratus sit pedibus vestris. Circa omnes seipsum bonorum operum præbeat exemplum, corripiat inquietos, consoletur pusillanimes, suscipiat infirmos, patiens sit ad omnes. Disciplinam libens habeat : metuendus imponat, et quamvis utrumque sit necessarium, tamen plus à vobis amari appetat, quàm timeri, semper cogitans Deo se pro vobis redditurum esse rationem. Unde vos magis obediendo, non solum vestri, sed etiam ipsius miseremini, qui inter vos quanto in loco superiore, tanto in periculo majore versatur.

CAPUT XLIV.

MONET Dominus, ut observetis hæc omnia, tanquam spiritualis pulchritudinis amatores, et bono Christi odore de bona conversatione fragrantés, non sicut servi sub lege, sed sicut liberi sub gratia consituti.

CAPUT XLV.

UT autem vos in hoc libello, tanquam in speculo possitis inspicere, ne per oblivionem aliquid negligatis, semel in septimana vobis legatur. Et ubi vos inveneritis ea, quæ scripta sunt, facientes : agite gratias Domino, bonorum omnium largitori. Ubi autem sibi quicumque vestrum videt aliquid deesse, doleat de præterito, caveat de futuro : orans, ut debitum dimittatur, et in tentationem non inducatur. Amen.

OMNES quivis per gratiam baptismi fratres sumus in Christo, et unum patrem habemus in cœlo, si ejus præceptis, prout possumus, obsequimur, procul dubio tunc maximè unimur, quando orationibus et beneficiis invicem nosmetipsos copulamus, quemadmodum et in primitiva ecclesia, quibus cor unum erat, et anima una. Quorum amore plures accensi mente, possessiones, et facultates rerum vendentes, congregatis cum matre Jesu Christi in unum præcia deferebant gaudentes. Sicque iste nihilominus, Deo inspirante, eorum exemplo commonitus, nostris optat conjungi consortiis, idcirco damus ei communem societatem vivendi nobiscum: quantum autem à Domino promereri possumus, et nostrum est largiri, quatenus cum electis à remuneratore omnium bonorum præmia repromissa percipere. Per eundem Christum Dominum nostrum, Amen.

Judicium de Regula Augustini.

Ex iis verò quæ superius libro 3. cap. 5. diximus, apparet, S. Augustinum hanc regulam non scripsisse. Adhæc Augustinensium monachatus, quem hac regula informari gloriantur, nihil habet prorsus commune cum eo vitæ genere quod D. Augustinus cum doctis et studiosis hominibus ante episcopatum Hipponensem in loco, à turbis et frequentia hominum remoto paululum, egit. Quocirca Erasmus, magni judicii vir, ausus est dicere à prima regula, nihil eos habere frontis ac mentis, qui tales nænias adscribant tali tantoque viro. De secunda scribit, ejusdem farinae eam esse cum superiore. Tertiam ait, et sententiis et dictionis figura referre quidem Augustinum, quin et pia civilitate humanitateque præferre authorem suum: attamen probabile esse eam non clericis, sed fœminis esse scriptam. Ita Bellarmin. de Script. Eccles. in Augustino, p. 165, quæ in unum collectæ sub moderatione sororis Augustini vixerint. Eam enim præpositam vocat, sed omnium summa potestas erat penes presbyterum. Nonnullis autem immutatis accommodaverunt eam viris, velut ubi de modestia cultus præcipit fœminis, c. 18. Non sit notabilis habitus vester, nec affectetis vestibus placere, sed moribus: ne sint vobis tam tenuia capitum tegmina, ut retiola subter appareant, sic enim arbitratur Erasmus legendum. Capillos ex nulla parte nudos habeatis, nec foris vel spargat negligentia, vel componat industria, quod viris accommodari non poterat omiserunt, Item, c. 20. In omnibus motibus nihil fiat quod cujusquam illiciat libidinem: sic mutatum est, quod cujusquam offendat aspectum. Rursus quod præcipit de non aspi-ciendis fœminis, item de hoc, c. 30, 32. ut bini aut terni procedant, de lavandis propriis vestibus, de operando in commune, aliaque permulta parùm congruunt in clericos ejus temporis, quorum tum erat major et libertas et dignitas. In calce alludens ad formæ studium, speculum et odores, quibus fœmineum genus peculiariter delectatur, quæ dicit, c. 44, Donet Dominus ut observetis hæc omnia tanquam spiritualis pulchritudinis amatrices, et bono Christi odore, de bona conversatione fragrantés: et c. 45. Vos autem in hoc libello tanquam in speculo possitis inspicere, &c. non perinde quadrant in viros. Sunt et alia quædam, verùm hæc exempli causa proposuisse sufficit. Postremò ut nihil sit, quod non possit ad clericos detorqueri, certè nihil est hic quod illis cum fœminis non fit commune. At quàm multa erant præscribenda de presbyterorum, hypodiaconorum, ac diaconorum officiis, si illis regulam præscribendam judicasset. Et tamen hæc regula fundamentum est multorum ordinum, quam fœminis traditam utinam bene servent viri. Habetur verò in epistola centesima nona, ineptum est autem de hujus viri titulo contendere: magis ad rem pertinet pietatis et eruditionis illius æmulatione decernere, ut hi jure optimo dicantur Augustinenses, qui virtutem Augustini proximè referunt. Illud constat orationem quæ cucullæ et balthei meminit, sub Ambrosii nomine confictam esse. Nec ipse Augustinus usquam se monachum vocat, nec suos clericos eo nomine designat, quanquam exiguum in cognomine momentum est. Ipse fatetur se reliquisse omnia, et eodem multos provocasse: tum in oratione quadam apud populum, negat se usurum pileo rubro. Decet, inquit, episcopum, at non decet Augustinum; ubi magis dicendum erat, non decet monachum. In libris de moribus ecclesiæ, præter anachoretas et cœnobitas, tradit genus tertium, eorum qui quoniam in eremum secedere non erat commodum, vel ob parentes, vel ob liberos, aut alias causas, tamen ut quietius viverent, complures in iisdem ædibus commorabantur, nullo imperio, sed libera charitate omnia moderante. Eos conventus diversoria vocat, quæ Romæ permulta viderit. Hoc exemplum videtur imitatus in Africa, sic ut nec cultu notabiles essent, quemadmodum monachi, et liceret ab eo convictu discedere, si cui parum esset commodus, licet Posidonius appellet hæc monasteria. Ex Polydori quoque lib. 7. cap. 3. colligi potest, ne ipsi quoque visum, has et similes regulas ab Augustino, Hieronymo, aut aliis conscriptas.

Priory of Plympton, in Devonshire.

LELAND, speaking of Plympton in his Itinerary, says, "The Glory of this Towne stode by the Priorie of Blake Chanons there, buildid and richely endowid with landes. The original beginning of this Priorie was after this fashion: One William Warwist, bishop of Excester, displeasid with the Chanons or Prebendaries of a Fre Chapelle of the fundacion of the Saxon Kinges, because they wold not leve theyr concubines, found means to dissolve their Colledge, wherein was a Deane or Provost and four Prebendaries, with other ministers. The Prebende of Plymton self was the title of one, and the Prebend of St. Peter and Paule at Suttoun, now called Plymmouth, another. Bishop Warwist, to recompence the Prebendaries of Plymton, erectid a Colledge of as many as were ther at Boseham, in Southsax, and annexid the Gift of them to his successors Bishops of Excester. Then he set up at Plymton a Priorie of Canons-Regular, and after was there buried in the Chapitre House.

"Diverse Noblemen gave after landes to this Priorie, emong whom was Walterus de Valle torta, lord of Tremerton in Cornwall, and, as sum say of Totenes, but yet I know no certentie of that.

"I know that he was a man of fair possessions about Plymmouth, and that he gave onto Plymtoun Priorie the Isle of S. Nicolas cum cuniculis, conteyning a two acres of ground, or more, and lying at the mouthes of Tamer and Plym ryvers.

"I hard say, that the landes of Valletorte were for a morther doone by one of them confiscate, and sins the great part of them have remaynid yn the Kinges handes.

"There were buryed some of Courteneis and diverse other gentlemen in the Chirch of the Priorie of Plymtoun.

"Plymtoun Priorie stonidith not apou Plym river; for it is distant almost half a mile from it. But it stonidith on Torey brooke by the est ripe of it, wherby the lower and first Buildinges of the Court of the Priorie be almost clene chokid with the sandes that Torey bringgith from the Tynne Workes.

"One Prior Martine, the third or fourth Prior of Plymtoun buildid the substance of the Chirch that there a late stode."^a

Such is Leland's Account of this Priory, which Dugdale gave in the former edition of this work, both in English and Latin.

Bishop Warlewast's foundation was settled in 1121; and was dedicated to the apostles St. Peter and St. Paul. Tanner says the former foundation was in being, if the record is true,^b in the time of Edgar, who was a benefactor to it.

The principal Instruments which will be found in the Appendix to the present account are; the particulars of the foundation from the Placita of the 2d Ric. II.;^c three Charters of King Henry the Second, one of privileges, a second of confirmation, and the third granting the land of Neweton;^d a charter from William de Curchi of land in Posterigg;^e a charter of Robert bishop of Exeter, confirming the gifts of the church within the castle of Exeter of the church of St. Michael, at Alrynton, and of the church of St. Andrew, at Chen;^f a charter of Edward the First of lands and the church of Landoho;^g and a lease of land at Posterigg.^h

Within the cemetery of the conventual church of Plympton, says Mr. Oliver, was a parochial chapel dedicated to St. Mary. As a mark of dependence, the parishioners had been accustomed, from time immemorial, to assist at divine service in the conventual church, on the feast of its dedication; as also to receive there the blest palms on Palm Sunday, and to walk in the procession. Bishop Lacy confirmed these customs on March 21st, 1436.

The Priory, he adds, possessed in the city of Exeter, a garden situated near the bishop's palace; a large house at the eastern corner of the entrance from Fore-street into St. Mary Arches-street, now (1820) occupied by Mr. Coldridge, ironmonger; also a house and garden in the parish of St. Mary Major. This tenement was in Cooke's Rewe, and was let by the last prior to John Alyn, 16th Sept, 15th Hen. VIII.ⁱ

The following is Mr. Oliver's List of the

THOMAS DENLYTH.

RALPH PERSON occurs in 1373. He died late in 1379.

JOHN SHALDON succeeded on the 27th of February following. He died in 1422.

NICHOLAS SELMAN was confirmed as his successor May 4th, 1422. He died March 1st, 1425.

RICHARD BREDON succeeded March 21st, 1425. He died Oct. 18th, 1437.

ROBERT BOYS was instituted Oct. 31, 1437. He died 14th April, 1440.

WILLIAM HYLLE was confirmed May 3d, but resigned on account of age and infirmity in July, 1462.

ROBERT DENBAWDE succeeded on the 5th of the following August.

DAVID BERCLE instituted prior in 1479. He died March 13th, 1508.

JOHN RYSE was confirmed 31st March, 1508.

JOHN DAVID, sub-prior, succeeded and died early in 1522.

JOHN HOWE, the last prior, succeeded March 8th, 1522. He subscribed, with twenty monks, to the king's supremacy in 1534. At the dissolution he received a pension of 120*l.* a year; retired to Exeter College, Oxford, and was still alive in 1553.

The annual Revenues of Plympton in the 26th of Henry the Eighth amounted to 91*l.* 12*s.* 8*d.*

The Scite and Demesnes were granted in the 2d of Queen Elizabeth to Arthur Champernoun; they afterwards came into the family of Fownes; they were parted with a few years ago by John Fownes Luttrell, esq. and the immediate Scite of the Monastery went to a miller of the name of Deal; but there are scarcely any remains of the Monastic Buildings.

Tanner notices "REGISTRUM Prioratus de Plympton," without mentioning the name of the possessor: in the Harleian MS. 6974, however, we have "Excerpta è Registro Prioratus de Plympton penes Joh. Episc. Norw. A.D. 1698: and either this or another Register, in 1725, was in the position of . . . Strode of Plymouth.^a

Attached to the Surrender of this House, dated 1 March, 30 Hen. VIII. is an impression of the COMMON SEAL on red wax, representing Saint Peter with his keys, and Saint Paul with his sword, both seated. The Inscription round the Seal is, SIGILLVM . ECCLESIE . AP'LOR . SÇOR . PETRI . ET . PAVLI . DE . PLIMTONA.

Plympton Priory is stated by Mr. Oliver to have borne the ARMS of the See of Exeter.

There were two CELLS to PLYMPTON PRIORY whose history is short, and may be here despatched: one, was ST. ANTHONY'S, near St. Mawe's in Cornwall: the other was MARSHE near Exeter, between Exeter and Exmouth.

ST. ANTHONY'S was supplied with two monks only. A lease of the premises and demesnes of this Cell was granted by King Henry the Eighth, Jan. 21, in the 31st year of his reign, at the rate of 2*l.* per annum, to Henry Thomas of London, yeoman, for twenty-one years.^b It was afterwards granted in fee, in the 38th Henry VIII. as parcel of Plympton, to Thomas Goodwin.

MARSHE, or ST. MARY'S DE MARISCO, now called Marsh Barton, was founded in the reign of Henry the Third. Leland incorrectly states it to have been a Cell to St. Anthony's already mentioned. At the dissolution the scite of this was granted by King Henry VIII. to James Coffin and Thomas Godwin.^c The rents of this Cell in 1291 appear to have amounted to 6*l.* 7*s.* 1*d.*

Abbey of Waltham Holy Cross, in Essex.

THE Harleian Manuscript 3776, among several other Tracts, contains two which illustrate the early history of this Abbey. One is entitled "Vita et Miracula Haroldi quondam Regis Angliæ," the other, "De Inventione S. Crucis de Waltham;" they are in a hand of the twelfth century, and were once in the abbey library. The first Tract is imperfect at the end. From the second we learn that Tovi, the standard-bearer to King Canute, was the first founder of a religious House here, which he built for two priests; a cross, with the figure of our Saviour upon it, which had been found at Montacute, and had been transferred here, gave a name and sanctity to the place;^a and was believed to perform miracles; one of which, it is stated in the first Tract, was performed upon Harold the son of earl Godwin, who, having been attacked by a stroke of palsy, was relieved entirely from it upon a visit to this cross. He in consequence rebuilt the church, increased the number of secular priests to twelve, furnished it with an ample endowment, and made it as much of a school of learning as his day allowed.^b

From other authorities it is stated that Harold's selection of this place was owing to the circumstance of its having been bestowed upon him by Edward the Confessor, after Athelstan the son of Tovi had squandered away the estate.

Certain it is, from King Edward the Confessor's confirmation charter, that Harold endowed his new foundation with no fewer than seventeen manors, Passefeld, Walde, Upminster, Wallfare, Tippedene, Alwartune, Wodeford, Lambhithe, Nelsingan, Brikendune, Melnho, Alricheseia, Wormeleia, Nethleswelle, Hicche, Lukintone, and West-Waltham: all these manors the king confirmed to the dean and canons serving there, with sac, soc, tol, theam, and the other usual privileges: the boundaries of nine of the manors being distinctly enumerated.^c

The generality of our historians appear to admit that after the fatal battle of Hastings, Harold's body having been given to his mother, was brought to Waltham and interred. So Brompton, col. 961, Higden, &c. And Knyghton, col. 2342, mentioning the assertion of Giraldus Cambrensis that Harold became a recluse at Chester and afterwards died there, says, "de ista opinione fiat qualiter poterit, hoc unum scio, quod tumulatio ejus cum imagine superposita in ecclesia abbatihæ de Waltham videre adhuc volentibus ostenditur."

From the Life of Harold, already quoted, it appears that the Conqueror treated the canons of Harold's foundation here with some degree of harshness: He is represented to have robbed them of the chief of the moveable wealth which Harold had bestowed upon them. The particulars are given below.^d Their landed endowment, however, went for the most part undisturbed.

^a Which till then had been only a hunting seat; "vile domicilium ad succurrendum, cum, causa venandi, accederet illuc heros ille."

^c Append. Num. I.

^d "Judicium proinde rerum illarum quæ a primo Normannici generis Anglorum rege Willielmo in Haroldi, ut traditur, invidiam sanctæ suæ Crucis ecclesiæ violenter ablata, et in Neustriam translata sunt præsentî paginæ inserendum. The state of the lands held by the Abbey of Waltham in capite, at the time of the Domesday Survey, will be found in the Appendix to the present Account transcribed from the Record.^a In addition to these entries, however, in Waleton Hundred in Surrey, the Canons appear to have been under tenants to Earl Moretayne for a hide and a half.^b

There are two entries also in the Survey for Bedfordshire, among the bishop of Durham's lands in Bicheleswade Hundred, respecting possessions which appear to have been alienated from them. Under Melehou, of four hides and a half, it is said, "Hanc terram dedit rex Edwardus ecclesie S. Crucis de Waltham, ut homines de hundredo testantur." Of eight hides and two parts of a virgate in Alrichsie, it is said, "Hoc manerium tenuerunt canonici S. Crucis de Waltham in elemosina tempore regis Edwardi."^c

Waltham continued a College, according to Harold's foundation, for about a hundred and fifteen years, from 1062 to 1177; when Henry II. purposing to institute Regular Canons, in the room of the Seculars, ("quia clerici seculares, qui ibidem huc usque manserant, mundanis operibus, et illecebris illicitis magis quam divino servitio intendebant,") Guido, or Wido Ruffus, the last Dean, having previously been suspended by Richard archbishop of Canterbury, resigned his Deanery into the hands of the archbishop, Geoffrey bishop of Ely, and Gilbert bishop of London, the king's commissioners. This happened in 1174.^d

After this, in 1177, the king came to Waltham on the eve of Pentecost, where Walter bishop of Rochester, on the part of the archbishop, Gilbert bishop of London, John bishop of Norwich, and Hugh bishop of Durham, meeting him, by the precept of the king and the mandate of the pope, the said archbishop consenting, sixteen Regular Canons of the Order of St. Austin, six of Cirencester, six of Oseney, and four of Chich, were inducted into the church, and Walter de Gaunt, a canon of Oseney, constituted the first abbat. The church being at the same time declared exempt from episcopal jurisdiction.^e Pope Lucius III. by his bull, confirmed to the monastery the exemption from all episcopal jurisdiction.

Henry the Second having thus settled his Regular Canons in this Church of Waltham, dedicated at first to the Holy Cross, and after that to St. Laurence, not only confirmed the Confessor's Charter, with many parcels of land and tenelements which pious benefactors had afterwards bestowed on this foundation, but also gave them the rich manors of Sewardston and Epping.^f

King Richard the First, in the first year of his reign, granted to the Canons here his whole manor of Waltham, with the great wood and park called Harold's Park, three hundred acres of assart-land, the market of Waltham, the village of Nasing, a member of Waltham, and a hundred and sixty acres of assart-land there, they paying yearly into his Exchequer 60*l.* for all services.^g By a second charter he gave them the church of St. John Baptist, of New Windsor, with his chapel of Old Windsor, and the church of All Saints, in Hertford, as also the churches of Alrichesey and Nasing:^h and by a third charter in the tenth year of his reign, confirmed to the monks all the lands and endowments which had been before confirmed and given by his father King Henry the Second.ⁱ

Other charters, which will be found in the Appendix, are, from John de Nevil of the manor of Thorndon;^k from Geoffrey de Scalars of the church of Badburgeham;^l from Roger de Gaist of the church of Kateram;^m from Everard de Gaist of the churches of Gaist and Gaisthorp, and the third part of the church of Nortone;ⁿ from Robert de Valoines of the church of Hartford;^o from Julia de Sudecampe of the church of Sudecampes;^p from John de Tany of the manor of Theydon Boys;^q and a bull from Pope Urban.^r ^g It may not be irrelative to insert here a few HISTORICAL NOTICES concerning Waltham.

King Henry the Third, who was a benefactor to Waltham, frequently made this Abbey his place of residence, bestowing upon it a seven days' fair annually.

In 1242, Matthew Paris informs us that the church here was again solemnly dedicated, the king and many noble personages being present. Mat. Par. ed. 1684, p. 527.

King Richard the Second was "now at London, now at Waltham," during Wat Tyler's Rebellion. Stowe's Annals, edit. 1592, p. 292.

According to Duearel's Excerpts from the Lambeth Registers, vol. xvii. p. 271, John duke of Bedford had willed to be buried at Waltham Abbey had he died in England.

Here also Margaret the third daughter of Richard duke of York, afterwards dutchess of Burgundy, was born, May 3d, 1446. Will. Wyrcest. Aneed. quædam ad calc. Lib. Nig. Seacc. tom. ii. p. 526.

The Cottonian Manuscript Tiberius C. ix. originally perhaps the finest of all the Registers of Waltham Abbey, suffered materially in the Fire of the Cottonian Library in 1731. It is on vellum, and consists of two hundred and eight leaves, and though these are contracted toward the margins, the Volume is in most parts sufficiently legible for reference.

The Harleian Manuscript 3776, also, among several other Tracts, contains two which illustrate the Early History of this Abbey, one intitled "Vita et Miracula Haroldi quondam Regis Angliæ," the other "De Inventione S. Crucis de Waltham:" they are in a hand of the twelfth century, and were once in the Abbey Library. The first Tract is imperfect at the end. It was the production of one of the ejected canons in the reign of Henry the Second. The Harleian Manuscript 3766, likewise, contains "Pars Libri cui titulus Liber Niger qui fuit inventus cum Cruce magna de Waltham S. Crucis: et agit præcipue de virtutibus Crucis et miraculis." On vellum, of the fourteenth century.

The Inscription round the Common Seal was HOC . EST . SIGILL . ECCLESIE . SANCTE . CRVCIS . DE WALTHAM. The first Counter-Seal, appendant to a Deed of the year 1253, has two heads in the area, supposed to represent Tovi and Harold, looking toward each other, circumscribed, HOC . CARTE . FEDVS . CUM . TOVI . FIRMAT . HAROLDVS. The second Counter-Seal, was apparently an antique of the Roman times, which had been dug up.

Exclusive of the Nave of the Abbey Church, the REMAINS of this Monastery are few. They consist of a Gateway of entrance across an arm of the river, some Walls, and a few vaulted Arches in a Garden belonging to the Abbey Farm. The Refectory is reported to have stood eastward of the church: and what is now the Abbey Farm to have been anciently the Stables. The Campanicle of Waltham Abbey was struck by lightning in 1444.^b

NUM. I.

Carta Sancti Regis Edwardi de Possessionibus nostris.

[Ex Registro de Waltham in bibliotheca Cottoniana (Tiberius, C. 9.) fol. 49 a. Et Cart. antiq. M. n. 1.]

IN nomine Domini nostri Jesu Christi, qui unus Deus in Trinitate ab omnibus se colentibus veneratur, et puro cordis affectu adoratur. Ego Edwardus Dei dono Anglorum rex, in hujus mundi decursu hujus seculi filiorum, qui justii inveniuntur studens exaltare cornu, utpote regalis imperii jure ritè roborati, accedant ad eum per callem justitiæ qui dat petentibus justè et religiosè vivere. Hæc tam beata commutatio dignè censetur in hoc seculo, ut sui fælicitas tantum deliberaverit animi, quod mundialium gravedine cupiditatum postpositâ, velut granum frumenti à spinis suffocantibus, aliquando verò dumetis arescentibus, decipiat in hunc tenorem emergi, ut divina virtute firmatus vigeat suo Creatori et Domino. Istas etenim inter transitorias mundi procellas cuidam meorum comitum, onomate Haraldo, quandam terram, quæ antiquitùs ab incolis illius loci nuncupatur Waltham hæreditario jure concessi, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus campis, pascuis, pratis, silvis, et aquis. Exhinc sibi tantam Deus suæ pietatis gratiam contulit, ut inter momentanea mundi desideria cogitaret fæluciter desudando cœlestia: quinetiam ille, qui omnia in omnibus operatur ut vult, talem divinæ pietatis dulcedinem, ut supra memoravi, concessit ei, ut non solùm Dei cultor efficiatur, verum etiam canonicæ regulæ strenuus institutor fieri credatur; nam hæc divinitùs fidei declaratione et operum exhibitione cæterarumque ecclesiasticarum rerum plenitudine probavit eventus. Quis autem finis ejus desiderii post hæc evenerit, sapientia per Solomonem declarando prompsit, dum ait, "Justis dabitur desiderium bonum."

Enimvero rationali consilio ditatus, ac suæ non immemor conditionis, in præscripto loco monasterium ad laudem Domini nostri Jesu Christi et sanctæ Crucis construxit. Primum concedens ei terram quæ vocatur Northlande, unde ecclesiam villæ antiquitùs dotatam invenit. Post fundatum dehinc sacræ fidei monasterium, ad normam sanctæ Dei ecclesiæ dedicari fecit honorificè, ob memoriam mei et conjugis meæ nomine Ædithæ, patris ac matris pro se suisque omnibus vivis et defunctis sibi consanguinitate conjunctis. Hoc enim per plurimos sanctorum apostolorum, martyrum, confessorum, virginum reliquiis ornavit. Hoc non solùm terris (quarum vocabula post hæc sunt recitanda) verum etiam libris evangelicis, vestibus, ac diversis ornamentorum generibus templo Domini congruentibus, qui divinis cultibus clarè ac dulcedine imbutus, attentius sanctæ celebrationis templum excolere cœpit ac venerari. Quid plura? suæ denique conditionis non immemor, ibidem, quorundam catervulam fratrum secundùm auctoritatem sanctorum patrum canonicæ regulæ subjectam constituit, quæ Deo et sanctis ejus die noctue laudes hymnizando decantet.

Hæc sunt vocabula prædiorum ad præfatum pertinentia monasterium: Passefeldam, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus campis, pascuis, pratis, silvis, et aquis. Walde, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus campis, pascuis, pratis, silvis, et aquis. Upminster, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus campis, pascuis, pratis, silvis, et aquis. Wallifare, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus campis, pascuis, pratis, silvis, et aquis. Tippedene, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus campis, pascuis, pratis, silvis, et aquis. Alwartune, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus campis, pascuis, pratis, silvis, et aquis. Wodeforda, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus campis, pascuis, pratis, silvis, et aquis. Lambehithe, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus campis, pascuis, pratis, silvis, et aquis. Nésingan, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus campis, pascuis, pratis, silvis, et aquis. Brikendune, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus campis, pascuis, pratis, silvis, et aquis. Melnho, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus. Alricheseia, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus. Wrmeleia, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus. Nethleswelle, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus. Hicche, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus campis, pascuis, pratis, silvis, et aquis. Lukintone, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus. Westwaltham, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus.

Has omnes supradictas terras ego Edwardus rex pro redimendis peccatis meis et antecessorum, sive etiam successorum meorum, consilio archiepiscoporum et episcoporum, necnon et principum terræ meæ, ecclesiæ sanctæ Crucis et fratribus ibidem in Dei nomine congregatis sive congregandis concedo, cum sacha, et socha, tol, et team, et infangenethof, et flemenesfyrinthe, et gridbreche, forstal, hamsokne, blodwite, ordel, et oreste. Si verò aliquis successorum meorum, quod absit, de terris istis quicquam substraxerit vel substrahi permiserit, et inde requisitus emendare noluerit, ei Deus justus Judex, regnum pariter et coronam auferat. Nos autem archiepiscopi et episcopi ad hanc confirmationem congregati ex præcepto domini nostri regis, ejusdem hortatu excommunicamus et maledictione perpetua condemnamus omnes transgressores hujus consularis donationis et regularis concessionis.

ILLE (videlicet Willielmus dux Normanniæ) ubi perfecta victoria potitus est, suos sepeliendos mirificè curavit, hostibus quoque, si qui vellent idem exequendi licentiam præbuit. Corpus Haroldi matri, repente sine pretio, misit, licet illa multum per legatos obtulisset. Acceptum itaque apud Waltham sepelivit, quam, ipse, ecclesiam ex proprio constructam in honore Sanctæ Crucis, canonicis impleverat.

[Ibid. fol. 52 b. Et Cart. antiq. M. n. 2. Et Pat. 4 E. IV. p. 3. m. 9.]

HENRICUS Dei gratia rex Angliæ, dux Norm. et Aquit. et comes Andeg. archiepiscopis, episcopis, &c. salutem. Cum ex divinæ benignitatis gratia, quæ corda regum ad quod voluerit, sola potest inclinare, propositum nobis esset et voluntas construendi monasterium canonicorum regularium, duximus imprimis à viris religiosis et à majoribus regni nostri de loco convenienti construendo monasterio consilium quærere, qui diligenter super hoc deliberantes, locum proposito nostro congruum, ecclesiam de Waltham existimaverunt; et præcipuè, cum in ea canonici seculares nimis irreligiôsè et carnaliter vixissent, ita quod infamia conversationis illorum modum excedens multos scandalizasset, visum fuit archiepiscopis et episcopis nostris; et aliis viris religiosis opus esse pietatis, illis amotis, quos infamiæ nota maculaverat, viros sanctæ conversationis substituere, et opinione laudabiles; ut sic uno eodemque facto regiæ celsitudinis propositum sanctum sortiretur effectum, et à loco celeberrimo turpitudinis remove-retur exemplum.

Hiis itaque de consilio majorum regni nostri ad dominum papam Alexandrum tertium relatis, ut ipse discretionis suæ consilium nobis impertiret, in hac forma responsum nostra consultatio suscepit; videlicet ut canonicis secularibus ecclesiæ de Waltham pro qualitate præbendarum suarum aliàs provideretur; et deinde canonici regulares introducerentur. Cum igitur prædictis canonicis competenter fuisset provisum, canonici regulares, ex auctoritate prænominati papæ, per manus episcoporum quos ad hoc convocavimus, in commemoratam ecclesiam de Waltham à primitiva sua fundatione semper regalis fuisset capella nulli archiepiscopo, vel episcopo, sed tantum ecclesiæ Romanæ et regiæ dispositioni subjecta, illam cum omnibus pertinentiis suis liberam, et, ut præscriptum est, absolutam ex auctoritate supradicti papæ concessimus et donavimus in perpetuam elemosinam canonicis regularibus, gloriosam servantibus vivendi regulam à sanctis apostolis traditam, et postea à magno et beato Augustino divinâ revelatione, multis adjectis, adornatam. Hanc insuper ecclesiam, quasi novam Christi sponsam novâ dote, sicut decebat, dignum duximus esse ditandam.

Concedimus ergo et donamus illi et canonicis ibidem Deo servientibus, pro salute nostra liberorum successorumque nostrorum, pro redemptione etiam nostrorum prædecessorum regum Angliæ, et reginarum, omniumque fidelium in perpetuam elemosinam, quietas à me et ab omnibus hæredibus meis, Siwardestune, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus campis, pascuis, pratis, silvis, et aquis: Eppinges, cum omnibus ad se pertinentibus campis, pascuis, pratis, silvis, et aquis; item Walterum de Geldeford filium Alwrini, et domum suam, cum omnibus pertinentiis, et libertate inferiùs expressa, quam domum ego eis dedi, ut habeant ibi hospicium in eundo et redeundo ad curiam regis. Veteres etiam possessiones commemoratæ ecclesiæ de Waltham, quas in præsentis pagina certis duximus exprimendas vocabulis illis perpetuâ stabilitate confirmamus; scilicet apud Waltham terram quæ dicitur Norlande; mansiones quæ fuerunt canonicorum secularium; prata hiis mansionibus adjacentia, scilicet Normad, Chelnoseie, majorem Wardam et minorem. Item pratum quod dedit Philippus de Swineheya; pratum quod dedit Galfridus pincerna de Enefeld: pratum quod dedit Alexander de Enefeld: pratum quod dedit Porthors; pratum quod dedit uxor Gilleberti de Hillifeld: decimam fœni de toto prato domini de Waltham: molendina ipsius villæ.

Apud Eppinges, terram quam tenuit Bruningus presbyter de Can: decimam domini regis ejusdem villæ et ipsam ecclesiam cum omnibus pertinentiis: terram Helyoth ejusdem villæ; duas Scrutlandas de Nasinges cum ipsa ecclesia, et omnibus pertinentiis. In eadem villa decimas de Lange-riche. Item manerium de Nethleswelle et ecclesiam cum omnibus pertinentiis. Passefeld et ad illam pertinentia. Waldam, et ejus villæ ecclesiam cum suis pertinentiis. Duas scolandas de Walfare, cum suis pertinentiis. Upministre cum suis pertinentiis. Terram quandam de soccagio ejusdem villæ, quæ reddit XXI. denarios. Wodeforde et ejus ecclesiam cum suis pertinentiis. Alwarton cum suis pertinentiis. Luketon cum ecclesia et Scrutlanda et suis pertinentiis. Tippeden cum suis pertinentiis. Terram quam dedit Unfridus de Bartun ipsi ecclesie de Waltham. Terram de Lamburne et decimam de Purlai. Hæc in Essexia.

In Hertfordsire, Wrmeleia cum ecclesia et suis pertinentiis. Brikendon cum suis omnibus pertinentiis. In Bedefordsire, Alricheseiam, cum ecclesia et suis pertinentiis. Melno, cum suis pertinentiis. In Duntone, terram quam camerarius de Duntone ipsi ecclesie contulit. In Berksire, Westwaltham cum omnibus pertinentiis. Has omnes terras et possessiones ecclesie de Waltham à prædecessoribus nostris vel ab aliis in præterito, vel à nobis, impræsentiarum collatas, vel in futuro à regibus, vel ex aliorum liberalitate conferendas, vel alio modo adquisitas, Deo et canonicis regularibus in præfata ecclesia constitutis, concedimus et præsentī scripto confirmamus, cum omnibus libertatibus et liberis consuetudinibus quas regia potestas liberiores alicui ecclesie conferre potest, in bosco et plano, in viis et semitis, in pratis et pascuis, in molendinis et aquis, et piscariis, infra burgum et extra burgum, cum soca et sacha, et thol, et theam, et infangenethef, et uftaungenetheof, et hamsoca, et grithbreche, et blodwite, et murdro, et forstal, et flemenferd, et ordel, et oreste, infra tempus et extra, et in omnibus locis et cum omnibus causis quæ sunt vel quæ esse possunt.

Volo etiam et firmiter præcipio, ut ipsi et homines sui liberi sint ab omni scotto et geldo, et omnibus auxiliis regum, vicecomitum, et omnium ministerialium eorum, et hidagio, et denegaldo, et exercitibus, syris, et hundredis, et placitis, et querelis, et warda, et wardpani, et boreghalpani. Item ab operibus castellorum, et parcorum, pontium clausuris, et omni careio, et summagio, et navigio, et domuum regalium ædificatione, et omnimoda operatione, et silvæ eorum ad prædicta opera vel ad aliqua alia nullo modo capiantur. Liceat eis liberè bosco suo uti, porcos et animalia sua, quanta et quando voluerint, ibi ponere. Exsarta omnium terrarum suarum et hominum suorum jam facta et quæ fient assensu regio eis imperpetuum quieta clamo.

Præcipio etiam quod ecclesia Sanctæ Crucis de Waltham libera sit et secura ab omni dominatione comitum et baronum, et ut ipsi canonici et omnes homines terrarum eorum liberi sint et quieti ab omni theloneo in omni foro et in omnibus nundinis, et in omni transitu pontium, viarum, et maris, per totum regnum meum, et per omnes terras meas et omnia mercata sua et hominum suorum sint similiter in prædictis locis ab omni theloneo quieti, et hoc super forisfacturam meam præcipio. Item, catalla furum et mercie quæ ex murdris, vel ex aliis forisfactis contingunt vel contingere possunt, quantum ad terras suas et hominum suorum, suæ sint, servata regie potestati malefactorum justicia. Præterea nihil de possessionibus Walthamensis ecclesie in feodum detur, set, si opus est, ad censum annuum vel ad operationem secundum utilitatem ecclesie solvendam. Item præcipio ut apud abbatiam Walthamensem vel in omnibus possessionibus suis, nullus consanguineus abbatis seneſcalciam vel aliam ministrationem habeat. Nullus homo per hæreditatem teneat officium, set in arbitrio abbatis et canonicorum sit de transmutandis præpositis vel aliis officariis.

Quare volo et firmiter præcipio, ut canonici mei de Waltham omnia supradicta tenementa, cum omnimodis libertatibus, habeant et teneant in pace, et quietè, liberè, et honorificè, de me et hæredibus meis imperpetuum. Si quis autem contra hæc statuta scienter venire temptaverit, et ammonitus hoc non emendaverit, indignationem omnipotentis Dei et Sanctæ Crucis et Omnium Sanctorum incurrat. RICARDUS Dei gratia rex Angliæ, &c. Quoniam quæ à venerabili principe rege Henrico Secundo, patre nostro, pro salute sua et suorum sunt condita, et à rege Henrico Tercio fratre nostro confirmata, honori nostro concedens et saluti nostræ necessarium est semper observare; inde est, quod sicut pater noster mutationem canonicorum secularium et institutionem canonicorum regularium fecit in ecclesia de Waltham, et eis quasdam novas possessiones et veteres concessit et confirmavit; sic nos laudabilem virorum commutationem in præfata ecclesia factam nostra auctoritate approbamus, et pro salute prædicti patris nostri, et nostra, et matris nostræ, et fratrum nostrorum, et pro salvatione omnium fidelium, constitutionem canonicorum regularium in eadem ecclesia factam; et donationes novas, quæ à patre nostro eis factæ sunt, veteresque possessiones et libertates commemoratæ ecclesie Walthamensi ab eodem concessas et confirmatas; donationes etiam, quæ à quibuscumque eis rationabiliter pro Deo factæ sunt vel in futurum sunt faciendæ, regia potestate et hac præsentī carta nostra confirmamus, et à nobis et à successoribus nostris et ab omnibus regni nostri hæc observanda constituimus. Et ne quid omittatur quod ad securitatem prædictorum dominicorum canonicorum nostrorum et ecclesie nostræ de Waltham in carta nostra comprehendendi conveniat novas donationes eis factas et veteres possessiones eis concessas propriis volumus exprimere nominibus.

Quapropter prædictæ ecclesie de Waltham et canonicis regularibus ibidem Deo servientibus concedimus et perpetua stabilitate confirmamus; inprimis donationem quam pater noster eis fecit de medietate villæ de Stanstede, et pontis de Thele, quam emit de Michaele de Waunci adquietando eum adversus Brunum Judæum de ducentis quater viginti libris et xvij. solidis et iij. denariis, et aliam medietatem ejusdem villæ, quam in præsentia patris nostri prænominatus Michael præfatis canonicis dedit in perpetuam elemosinam, tenendam de eo et de hæredibus suis pro xijl. per annum, cum omnibus conventionibus inter eos factis, et cum omnibus libertatibus et adquietanciis, quas pater noster eis et Gilleberto de Striguil et hæredibus suis et Michaeii et hæredibus suis de omni regali et forinseco servicio quod de præfata terra aliquo modo exigere poterat, fecit, sicut ejusdem patris nostri carta testatur. Et licet prædictus Gillebertus tunc in custodia patris nostri fuerit, tamen quia hæc auctoritate et scientia tam venerabilis et sapientis principis, et non sine alto consilio facta fuisse credimus et confirmata, ideo regia auctoritate decernimus quod nullo tempore liceat successoribus præfati Gileberti de Striguil, quicumque fuerint, venire contra conventiones prædictas inter præfatum principem patrem nostrum, et Michaelem de Waunci factas. Et similiter statuimus, quod à Michaele et hæredibus suis firmiter observetur; quod pro sua magna necessitate et auctoritate principis regni factum est, sicut cartæ eorum continent et testantur.

Et licet prædictæ villæ de dote fuerint reginæ, tamen elemosinam quam pater noster fecit de illis, ecclesie de Waltham quando eam fundavit de canonicis regularibus stabilem et firmam omni tempore fore decernimus, et ut ipsis canonicis pro anima patris nostri securius provideatur, firmiter statuimus, quod liberè et quietè præfatas villas possideant à calumpnia omnium mortalium. Item Walterum de Geldford, filium Alfrini, et domum suam, cum omnibus pertinentiis et libertate inferiùs expressa, ut habeant ibi hospitium suum quando curia ibi fuerit. Item terram de Melno et de Duntone, quam Galfridus et Willielmus fratres eis dedcrunt.

Item concedimus eis et confirmamus, quod si aliquis hominum illorum pro delicto suo vitam vel membrum debeat amittere, vel fugerit, et iudicio noluerit stare, vel aliud delictum fecerit pro quo debeat catalla sua perdere, ipsa catalla prædictorum canonicorum sint, ubicumque justitia fieri debeat, sive in curia nostra, sive in alia curia. Similiter si aliquis hominum suorum sit in mercia erga regem vel ballivos suos, pro quacumque causa vel delicto vel forisfacto, mercie et merciamenta prædictis canonicis reddantur, servatâ regie potestati justitia mortis et membrorum.

[Rymeri Fœdera, &c. tom. i. m. 743. A.D. 1262. A. 46 H. III. ex Autogr.]

URBANUS episcopus servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis abbati et conventui monasterii Sanctæ Crucis de Waltham, ad Romanam ecclesiam nullo medio pertinentis, ordinis Sancti Augustini, Londinensis diœcesis, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem.

Ecclesiarum utilitatibus tunc recte consulimus, cum earum indemnitatibus præcavemus.

Sane ad audientiam nostram pervenit quod, diversis creditoribus, per patentes litteras vestro sigillo munitas, in diversis pecuniarum summis vos ad importunam aliquorum instantiam, obligastis; de quibus plerumque, quamquam ad manus vestras non pervenerint, nec cesserint in utilitatem monasterii vestri, creditoribus ipsis satisfacere vos oportet, propter quod monasterium ipsum incurrit sæpius detrimentum.

Nos itaque volentes super hoc salubre remedium adhibere, universitati vestræ auctoritate præsentium districtius inhibemus, ne, ad aliquorum instantiam, vel mandatum, vos prædictum monasterium, vel bona ejus obligare aliquibus creditoribus de cætero præsumatis.

Nulli ergo hominum liceat hanc paginam nostræ inhibitionis infringere, vel ei ausu temerario contraire.

Si quis autem hoc attemptare præsumserit, indignationem omnipotentis Dei, et beatorum Petri et Pauli apostolorum ejus, se noverit incursum.

Pentney Priory, in Norfolk.

THE founder of this Priory was Robert de Vallibus, or Vaux, one of those who came over with William the Conqueror, in whose time, Tanner supposes, it might have been founded.

From the foundation charter it appears that the House was dedicated to the honor of the Holy Trinity, the Virgin Mary, and St. Mary Magdalen; and was endowed with the manor of Pentney in the isle called Eya, the mill and miller of Brygmylne, two salt-works, or brinaries, one at Lynn the other at South Wotton, the whole rent of Fulk de Congham, the assart belonging to the hermitage of Walney, with Offsey and Shortwood, fifteen acres of land at Wadington called Crundale, the land of Richard the weaver in Wadington, consisting of thirteen acres, the mill at Shotesham, with the land of Ralph fitz presbyter; and the advowsons of the churches of Thorston, Chedeston, Keteringham, Shotsham, St. Botolph, Houghton, and Shotsham Allhalows.^a

The founder, at his death, left three sons, William, Oliver, and Henry. William, the eldest, confirmed his father's grants, and gave by deed a rent charge of four shillings per annum out of land in Wootton to be paid by William the priest there and his heirs.^b William de Vaux, at his death, left also three sons, Robert, Adam, and William.

In the 16th Hen. III. Rowland le Sire and Helewis his wife granted, by fine, to Simon the prior of Pentney, lands in Thorp. In the 34th Hen. III. Nicholas de Hastings gave by fine to Simon the same prior, a mesuage and two carues of land in Thorp by Geyton, and East Winch, and certain customs and services which Thomas de Multon demanded of the prior for lands held there.^c

In the 3d Edw. I. the prior was found to hold the advowson of the church of West Bilney, of the gift of Peter de Pelevile.^d

ship in Geyton Thorp, with a mesuage, a hundred acres of land, four of pasture there and in Walton, Wykes, and Bekeswell, and the advowson of a moiety of the church of Geyton Thorp, with twenty-eight acres of land in Tilney; and before this, in the 11th of the said king, the prior had licence to purchase a mesuage, twenty-two acres of land, two roods of pasture, and seven shillings rent of Amicia, wife of John Butterwick in Fincham and Stradset, and, in the 43d Edw. III. had a patent for the manor of Belhouse in North Tudenham.^e

In the 44th Edw. III. the prior had a grant of free warren in Pentney, West Bilney, and Thorp.^f

In 1468, Walter bishop of Norwich, with the consent of his convent, and of John earl of Northumberland, patron of the priory of WIRMEGAY, united and consolidated that Priory to this of Pentney; upon which the prior and convent of Pentney engaged to pay xl.d. per annum to the Priory of Norwich for a moiety of the church at Fordham, in Norfolk, appropriated to Wirmegay; and xx.d. per annum for the church of Westbriggs, appropriated thereto, and xii.d. per annum for this union and consolidation of the said two priories.^g

The manor of Grantcourts, in East Winch, and that of Curples, in West Derham, and lands in Rexham, by West Derham, belonged to them.^h

This House had also a manor in Keteringham, with the rectory appropriated and the patronage of the vicarage, to which Richard de la Rokele added land, and also Alice de Kangham, who in 1249 gave twenty-eight acres of land, eight of wood, and five shillings rent per annum.ⁱ

Shotesham, All Saints, and St. Botolph's rectories were appropriated to the canons of Pentney, and they presented to the vicarages of those churches; Shotesham St. Mary was also appropriated to them, and was granted to them by William de Roos, who had married Maud de Vaux, in 1311. The churches of Pentney, Thorston, West Bilney, Shanbourn, and Refham alias Whitwell, were appropriated also. The presentation of the vicar of Sharnbourn, Whitwell, and Thorston, in Norfolk, was also in this Priory, with the patronage of St. Mary's church of Warham. The rectories of Abington Parva, in Cambridgeshire, and of Chedeston, in Suffolk, were likewise in this Priory, and appropriated.^a

The patronage of this House descended by marriage from the Vaux's to Sir William Nereford.^b

ROBERT CODDE, or JODDE, occurs in 1526. He was the last Prior, and with Richard Lynne and twelve other canons, subscribed to the King's supremacy Sept. 9th, 1534. They afterwards surrendered their Priory to the King, and had pensions for life. In the Compendium Compertorum the last Prior of this House is charged as having had criminal conversation with the Prioress of Marham, a circumstance not very consistent with the subsequent grant of a pension.

The yearly Revenues of this House in the 26th of Henry the VIIIth. amounted in the clear to 170*l.* 4*s.* 9¼*d.*; in the gross, including the Cell of Wirmegay, to 215*l.* 18*s.* 8*d.*^c

The Scite was granted in the 30th Hen. VIII. to Thomas Mildmay, auditor of the Exchequer.

The present possessors are John Lloyd, esq., lord of the Priory-manor, and Mr. Gamaliel Carter, owner of the Scite.^d

Taylor, in his Index Monasticus, gives the following as the ARMS of this House, from Edmondson: Gu. three covered Baskets Or.

Dugdale quotes a REGISTER of this House, as in the possession of the Duke of Rutland, at Belvoir Castle. Tanner's References to Records, with some other Memoranda will be found below.^e

The SEAL of this House bore the figure of St. Mary Magdalene, with this Inscription, SIGILLVM . SCE . MARIE . MAGDALENE . DE . PENTNEIA.

In Parkin's time the Gate-house, of free-stone, was still standing, covered with lead.^f

This is the correct account of the foundation; though it should be told that a Chapel was first built here, dedicated to the Annunciation of our Lady, in 1061, by the mother of Geffrey, the widow of Richoldis de Faverches, which was afterwards in the reign of William the Conqueror converted into, or made a part of the Priory.

The confirmations and additional endowments received by this House from the descendants of the founder, as their patrons, have been already enumerated.

The continuator of Blomfield has selected the names of numerous other benefactors; amongst whom we find William de Hocton, in the reign of Henry the Second, giving lands in Wighton; William le Ker, a messuage and thirty acres of land in Walsingham Magna and Wighton; Damietta de Flichtam, and Emma de Beaufoe; Roger Earl of Clare; William de Valence Earl of Pembroke; William Longespee Earl of Salisbury; Roger, son of Ralph de Sall; Hubert de Brisworth; Reginald and Stephen de Wharfles; John de Nerford; Richard de Wichingham; Godwin, the son of Reynford; Ralph de Hacon; Ranulph Earl of Chester; Hawisia de Quincy; John de Somery; Ralph de Hemenhale, knt. who gave his manor of North Creke, with a moiety in the advowson of the Church; Richard Earl of Gloucester, William de Clare, knt. and others.^b

The temporalities and spiritualities of this Priory in the year 1291, are stated to have amounted to 157*l.* 13*s.* 8*d.* per annum.^c

The Prior and Convent here had a patent in the 2d of Edward the Second, to acquire lands to the amount of 40*l.*: with another grant to hold to the value of forty marks per annum. In the 30th Edw. III. licence was obtained for the Prior of Anglesey in Cambridgeshire to grant to this Priory several messuages and tofts of land held by them in the two Walsinghams; with other licences to purchase tenements at Walsingham in the same year, and in the 40th Edw. III. in Hoghton, Egmore, and North Creke.

Other acquisitions of importance to this Priory were, the alienation to it by Sir Stephen de Hales in the 8th Ric. II. of the manors of Great and Little Ryburgh, with the advowson of the Church of the former, a messuage and seven acres at Walsingham, the manor of Penthorp, lands and tenements in Warham, Snoring, West Barsham, &c. to found a chantry for Sir Thomas de Felton and his family; the amorlization of twenty acres of land in Burnham in the 7th Hen. IV. from John Gourney and John Drew parson of Apley to celebrate an obit for Sir Edmund de Rynham; and the lordship of Egmore, and tenements in Walsingham, Wighton, Waterden, &c. in the 3d of Hen. VI.

The continuator of Blomfield says, that in the 28th Hen. VI. the temporalities of this House in Norfolk were taxed at 78*l.* 18*s.* 0*¼d.*; the spiritualities at 78*l.* 16*s.* 8*¼d.*^d

At the Dissolution of this House the gross income was rated at 446*l.* 14*s.* 4*¼d.*; the net receipts at 391*l.* 11*s.* 7*¼d.* besides the offerings to our Lady, valued in one MS. at 260*l.* 12*s.* 4*½d.* per annum; but in another at 26*l.* 15*s.* only.^e

The Image of OUR LADY at WALSINGHAM, was so famous in former times that even foreigners came on pilgrimage to visit it. Erasmus has given us a description of the Chapel or Shrine in which it was contained, and which appears to have been a distinct building from the Priory Church. King Henry the Third paid his devotions to it in his 26th year, anno 1248. Edward the First visited it in his 9th and 25th years. Edward the Second in his 9th year. Edward III. in his 35th year. John de Montford Duke of Bretaine came over to visit it in the 35th Edw. III. David Bruce King of Scotland in the 38th of that king. Henry the Sixth went there in 1455. Henry the VIIth. ordered an image of silver gilt to be set up before it in his will; and Henry the Eighth and his first Queen made more than one visit to it. Sir Henry Spelman says, that when he was a youth, the tradition was that Henry the Eighth had walked barefoot from the town of Barsham to the Chapel of our Lady, and presented her with a necklace of great value.

This famous Image, however, upon the change of belief was taken from Walsingham to Chelsea, near London, and there burnt in the 30th of Henry VIII.^f

Thremhale Priory, in Essex.

THE Priory of Thremhale, Thremhall, or Trenchale, situated in the parish of Stansted Mountfichet, about two miles South East from the Church, by the side of Hatfield forest, was founded, according to Tanner, by Gilbert de Montefixo, or Montfichet, who came into England with the Conqueror;^a Morant says by Richard de Montfichet, the first of the name, the son of Gilbert.^b The House was dedicated to St. James.

Dugdale has printed Richard de Montfichet's grant to this Priory of thirty acres of land in Stansted.^c

The Patronage of Thremhale Priory went from the Montfichet family to the Veres earls of Oxford, with whom

^c Append. Num. I.

it continued till the Dissolution: the descent is explained in Dugdale's transcript of the "Origio Baronum de Montfichet."^a The greatest endowment of Thremhale came from the Veres. Robert de Vere, the fifth earl of Oxford, about A.D. 1289, granted to the prior and convent ninety-five acres of arable, and five of meadow land in Takeley, with forty-three acres of arable, and two of meadow in Birchangre.^b Hugh de Vere confirmed the same, and added to it two messuages, six acres of meadow, fourteen acres of pasture, and sixteen shillings rent in those two parishes and in Stansted.^c They had also the great tithes of the parish of Stansted; an estate in Tendring, supposed to be what was called the manor of Gernons, though that name is now forgotten; the manor of Geddy Hall, alias Engaynes, in Little Clacton; lands in Great Clacton, Rose-bridge, Perstedeyes, Watmade, &c.^d

One of the Vere family granted to this Priory Beches in Pelham Furneaux in Hertfordshire: and Richard de Wendover, canon of St. Paul's, gave forty marks to buy lands that a canon of St. Paul's might, in the Church of this Priory, celebrate for the soul of the said Richard.^e

At the Suppression this House was valued in the gross income at 70*l.* 19*s.* 3½*d.* The net produce of its rents amounted to 60*l.* 18*s.* 7½*d.*^f

PRIORS OF THREMHALE.

WILLIAM DE SHERFORD, prior of Thremhale, died June 15th, 1368.^g

JOHN DE TAKELEY was elected prior on the 24th of the same month.^h

JOHN ROKBY died prior in 1438, when on account of deficiency in the proper number of canons for an election the bishop of London put in

REGINALD HARNEYS to the office:ⁱ and for the same reason, upon Reginald Harney's death, the bishop appointed JOHN CROWNE, June 6th, 1465.^k

JOHN HERBERT was appointed prior, upon Crowne's death, April 28th, 1474.^l

Cole in one of his Manuscript Volumes, in the Museum, vol. xii. fol. 244 b, has preserved a "Rentale reddituum pertinentium Prioratui de Thremmenhale."^m

SIMON SPONER was the last prior.ⁿ

There are no Ministers' Accompts of this Priory in the Augmentation Office, by reason of the possessions having been granted away by Letters patent of King Henry the Eighth in the 28th year of his reign to Sir John Cary, knt. and Jocosa or Joice Walsingham widow, and the heirs male of their bodies lawfully begotten.^o The Premises were subsequently granted to Sir Wymondham Carew, knight, in fee, 6 Eliz. The Particular for which latter Grant is in the Augmentation Office.^p Newcourt says that in the 8th Eliz. Wymond Cary (the same person abovementioned) had license to alienate the scite to William Glascock.^q

NO SEAL of this Priory has been discovered by the Editors.

For many years past no vestiges of Thremhale but a stone wall.

NUM. III.

Origo Baronum de Montfichet.

[Ibid.]

DE nobilitate vestri generis, licet incognita, minùs, tamen intelligentibus necesse est declarare quemadmodum patres nostri antiquiores in scripturis, ne memoria nostrorum fundatorum in posterum labaretur nobis ideo rumoribus relinquendo exposuerunt. Dominus Gilbertus de Montefixo, qui fuit genere Romanus, et editus de stirpe Romanorum, patrem vestræ generationis primùm nominamus, qui in palacio regis Romanorum exstitit venerabilis, et inter omnes Romanos reputatus est gloriosus. In tempore verò illo quo regnavit iste dominus Gilbertus inter Romanos, omnes reges, principes, duces, comites, barones totius Christianitatis semel vel sæpius in vita eorum sedem apostolicam ob causam animarum saltim conati sunt visitare: sed inter cæteros Willielmus bastardus dux Normaniæ, cui dominus Gilbertus fuit consanguineus. Et quando ille nobilis dux Normaniæ curiam Romanam dignatus est visitare, semper apud prædictum Gilbertum fuit hospes; in suis maneriis, castellis, dominationibus, cum omnibus suis laudabiliter est susceptus. Et sicut veritas est semper amico dicenda, sic iste dux nobilis et reverendus aperuit omnem thesaurum sui cordis, et omne consilium sine velamine fixationis; et quomodo sanctus Edwardus rex Angliæ misit sibi literas pro corona Anglorum post ejus mortem hæreditariè adhibenda, et sic prædictum Gilbertum de Montefixo ille nobilis dux rogavit, ut dignaretur esse ejus amicus, et sibi cum omnibus suis præbere auxilium in præmissis; unde factum est quod prædictus Gilbertus, cum magno exercitu Romanorum, cum domino suo duce Normaniæ intravit in Angliam, et ibi dimicaverunt, et regem nobilem Heraldum cum suo exercitu, et militibus ferocissimis in illo bello ceciderunt: Et sic contingebat prædicto Gilberto, gratia Dei mediante, ex quocumque se divertisset cum suo exercitu omnes sibi Saxonum contradicentes viriliter superabat. Multa verò dominia, prædia, et castella diversis partibus Anglorum sibi in possessionem strenuè subjugavit; unde in tempore prædicti Gilberti fuit quidam canonicus, cui nomen Daniel, valde sanctus, sed natione Scotus, quem Gilbertus tenere diligebat, cui dedit locum domini sui, videlicet Thremhale, ad ædificationem ecclesiæ et domum religiosorum cum possessionibus valde tenuis, sed in promissione ditissimus. Et inmediate post, ad terram sanctæ nativitatis Romanorum, quam sæpiùs visitarat, est regressus, et omnia bona sua, dominia, prædia, cum omni sua possessione, filio suo domino Ricardo hæreditariè reliquit.

Iste Ricardus de Montefixo, filius prædicti Ricardi similiter cum ad virilem ætatem pervenisset, Romanam curiam devotè peregrinando visitavit, et ibi usurpavit sibi nomen fortitudinis in jactando lapidem in civitate Romana ultra omnes nationes, et inde mirati sunt omnes Romani, in tantum, quod posuerunt palas æreas in signum suæ fortitudinis, quia nemo in diebus illis attingere poterat ad limites supradictas; sed tamen in diebus supradicti Ricardi contingebat quod omnia sua castella fuerunt dejecta et ad nichilum redacta, et per guerram baronum importunè devastata. Et iste Ricardus tam viribus robustus genuit filium, cui imposuit nomen proprium, scilicet Ricardus, et iste dominus Ricardus secundus, cumque ad ætatem pervenisset virilem, accepit sibi uxorem, quæ fuit relicta domini Thomæ Engayne, cui nomen erat Jocosa, quæ fuit valdè inter mulieres decora, atque in omnibus sancta et generosa; sed tamen ab ea prolem (quod est dolendum) minime suscitavit; unde iste nobilis vir dominus Ricardus secundus, videns quod migraturus esset de hoc mundo sine hærede de corpore proprio procreato, tunc cœpit sanctiùs vivere, facultates ejus pauperibus erogare, possessiones suas distribuere, ecclesias divitiis ornare, monasteria plurima fundare sumptibus propriis, atque possessionibus multipliciter dotare.

Et iste dominus Ricardus de Montefixo decessit sine hærede de corpore suo legitimè procreato; et ideo omnia terræ et tenementa descendebant hæreditariè duabus sororibus ipsius Ricardi, quarum una nupta fuit domino Hugoni de Ver, quæ ex Hugone viro suo genuit quatuor filias, scilicet Philippam, Margeriam, Matildam, et Aliciam; unde prædicta Philippa nupta fuit domino Rogero de Lancastræ, quæ concepit ex viro suo et genuit dominum Johannem Lancastræ. Et Margeria nupta fuit domino Nicholao Corbet. Et Matilda fuit nupta domino Hugoni de la Vale. Et Alicia nupta fuit domino Waltero Hundercombe. Secunda soror dicti Ricardi de Montefixo fuit nupta domino Ricardo de Plays, quæ ex Ricardo viro suo genuit Ægidium Plays. Et dominus Ægidius Plays genuit dominum Iohannem Plays, et dominus Iohannes Plays genuit dominum Iohannem Plays. Et prædictus Iohannes genuit filiam, quæ nupta fuit domino Iohanni Haward, quæ ex prædicto viro suo genuit filium et filiam; quæ filia est subarrata Domino Jesu Christo mantello castitatis et annulo æternæ beatitudinis et claritatis. Et prædictus filius, qui etiam vocabatur Iohannes Haward junior, in sua ætate florea atque ætate tenera, areptus est viam versùs Sanctam Terram et mortuus est, qui genuit filiam, quæ Elizabetha est vocata, quæ jam honorificè comiti de Oxford est maritago copulata.

Austin Canons of Huntingdon.

OUR Account of this House must be principally taken from Tanner; who calls it a Priory of Black Canons dedicated to St. Mary,^a and founded in or near the parochial church of St. Mary, before A. D. 973,^b which was removed to a place without the town^c of Huntingdon by Eustace de Luvetot,^d either in the time of Stephen or King Henry the Second, where it continued till the Dissolution; when it consisted of a prior, eleven canons, and thirty-four servants;^e the revenues being valued in the gross amount to 232*l.* 7*s.* 0½*d.*; in the net receipt at 187*l.* 13*s.* 8¼*d.* per annum.^f

King Henry the First's charter of confirmation to this Priory, of the different donations made to it, with another "de geldis;" two Bulls, one of Pope Eugenius in 1147, the other of Pope Martin, in the tenth year of his pontificate; and a confirmation from King Henry the Third; will be found in the Appendix of Instruments.^g

The Scite of this House was granted, May 29th, 33 Hen. VIII. with the Scite of St. Neot's, and lands in various other places, to Richard Cromwell, otherwise Richard Williams.

ROGER BLUNTESHAM, 1322.

JOHN, April 13, 1492.

THOMAS FORTE, bishop of Achonry, in Ireland, 1492, and canon of Bodmin cum Prim; commendatory of Huntingdon, 12 Hen. VIII. A.D. 1496. He voided this priorate, either by death or cession in 1503.

GREGORY NORWICH, prior of Bismede, in Bedfordshire, was chosen prior here in 1503.

WILLIAM GIDDING, resigned April 13th, 1532.

HUGH OLIVES, alias WHITEWICK, elected in 1532. He occurs in 1536. He was the last prior; and had a pension at the Dissolution,^h

Tanner's references to Records concerning this Priory will be found in the note below.ⁱ

^a Leland. Collect. tom. iii. p. 14. Itin. vol. iv. p. 31.

^b See King Edgar's charter of that date to Thorney Abbey in a former part of the Monasticon, according to which this Priory should have been subject to Thorney; for the king therein confirms to Thorney "duas mansas juxta Huntandune, et Monasterium S. Mariæ extra oppidum dedicatum supradictum."

^c So Leland, in the places before cited expressly: but according to the last quotation, from the account of Thorney Abbey, it was then without the town. And Camden says, it was out of the town, eastward.

^d So Leland, Collect. tom. iii. p. 14. Itin. vol. ii. p. 31, and the former edition of this Work, vol. ii. p. 224. But Leland, Collect. tom. i. p. 71. Camden, and Speed, make Maude the Empress co-foundress with Eustace Lovetot, which perhaps might be occasioned by what is said in the Appendix to the present Account, Num. II. of Maud, the first queen of Henry the First, being a benefactress to this House. It was in the patronage of Hugh d'Audele, jun. 15 Edw. II. as Dr. Hutton.

The COMMON SEAL of this Priory was round, and its subject elaborate, representing a Saint crowning a King, on each side an Angel, in chief a head, probably intended to represent the Father Omnipotent, between the letters alpha and omega. Of this Seal an Impression, in some respects imperfect, is attached to the acknowledgement of supremacy 1534, at the Chapter-House. Such part of the Legend as remains may be read, s . COMMVNE . P ET . CANONICORVM . SCE . MARIE . HVNTINGDONE.

The Scite of this Priory belongs to the Earl of Sandwich; the buildings have long been demolished, but the lanes which sever the closes from each other, still retain their ancient appellations. In the Priory Close two stone coffins were dug up in the last century. In this Priory David Bruce, the Scotch Earl of Huntingdon, and brother to King William, was buried; and there was also an elegant monument, with the figure of a knight on horseback in his hunting dress, ascribed by the townspeople to another Earl of Huntingdon.

NUM. I.

De prima Fundatione ejusdem, et Stemmata Fundatoris.

[Ex Registro quodam de Burgo S. Petri, in bibl. Cotton. fol. 103.]

ABBAS de Burgo, et prædecessores sui tenuerunt unum feodum in Clopton, Pokebroke, et Thirning, de quodam Richardo comite Gloucestræ. Veritas est quod Æustachus vicecomes, fundator ecclesiæ beatæ Mariæ de Huntingdon, tenuit duo feoda de honore Burgi in Clopton, Pokebroke, Catworth, Wynwyke, et Henyngton; tenuit etiam unam baroniam in capite de rege in comitatu Huntingtoniæ, in Sutho, Pirie, Graffham, Wynwyke, Sautre, Wassingle, Thirning, Overton-Lungvile, Offord, Heungford, Pappeworth, Gidding, Cesterton, et Stilton: et vocatur baronia de Lovetot.

De istis terris, et tenementis, feoffavit diversos tenentes; et etiam domum canonicorum de Huntington super fundatione ejusdem, dotavit; tenendum de eo, &c. quorum nomina, quantitatum feodorum, habentur in Rubro Libro Feodorum Scaccarii, fol. clviij. et annotantur etiam inferiùs. Cujus status postea pervenit ad quendam Willielmum de Lovetot; quo mortuo, successit ei Richardus de Lovetot, filius et hæres, et tenuit dicta duo feoda; et per cartam régis Richardi, anno regni sui primo, inter cætera quæ tenentur de abbate de Burgo, confirmavit duo feoda in Clopton, et pertinentiis, quæ Richardus de Lovetot tenuit, ut in carta prædicta régis Rich. plenius apparet.

Qui quidem Richardus de Lovetot habuit duos filios; videlicet, Willielmum et Nigellum, et tres filias, viz. Amiciam, Rosiam, et Margeriam; Willielmus obiit sine hærede de se; et sic descendit hæreditas Nigello filio juniore, qui fuit clericus beneficiatus. Similiter iste Nigellus obiit sine hærede de se, cui successerunt tres sorores supradictæ, inter quas fuerat prædicta hæreditas divisa; prima istarum sororum Amicia fuit desponsata Radulpho de Mandevil; qui genuit ex ea Nigellum Mundevil, et Eliam. Secunda soror, scilicet Rosia, fuit desponsata Huberto de Bromford, qui genuit ex ea filium nomine Richardum, quo tenuit cognomen matris suæ, antecessorum videlicet de Lovetot, ut consanguineus et hæres: tamen ad istam partem, nihil fuit assignatum de duobus feodis supradictis, quæ tenentur de abbate de Burgo S. Petri. Tertia soror, scilicet Margeria, fuit desponsata Richardo Patrick, qui ex ea genuit unum filium, Willielmum nomine, et unam filiam, nomine Margeriam, quæ nupta fuit cuidam Willielmo de Vernon, qui quidem Willielmus, frater Margeriæ, dedit totam partem suam Margeriæ sorori suæ. Et quod ista fuit vera, et dicta hæreditas, patet per librum supradictum feodorum scaccarii, ubi sic dicit; Nigellus de Mandevil, Margeria de Vernon, et Rogerus de Lovetot tenent in Sutho, &c.

De istis duobus feodis supradictis, quæ tenentur de abbate de Burgo Sancti Petri, tenuit quidam Hugo Fleming, et filius ejus Robertus post eum, tenementa in Pokebroke, Kingesthorp, et Clopton, per feofamentum antecessorum de Lovetot; tenendum de feofatoribus suis, videlicet, de illis de Lovetot, Walterus filius Walteri tenuit residuum, scilicet in Catteworth, et Wynewike, qui ante feofavit quendam Iohannem de Vallibus, consanguineum suum; et ipse Iohannes abbatem et conventum de Sautre; qui pro duobus feodis supradictis facit sectam ad curiam de Castre, de tribus septimanis, in tres septimanas, quia reddit v^s. per compositionem per annum, quæ sequitur inferiùs.

Prædicto verò Willielmo Patrick fuerunt assignatæ homagium et servitium Hugonis Flemming et hæredum suorum, et Thomæ Smert, et hæredum suorum, qui tenuerunt tenementa sua in Pokebrook in dominico, et tenementa in Clopton in servitio, in partem suam; et per donationem prædicti Willielmi, ut supra, remanserunt Margeriæ sorori suæ; quæ quidem Margeria maritata fuit cuidam Willielmo de Vernon, quo mortuo, prædicta Margeria in libera viduitate sua, dedit et concessit, &c. homagia et servitia prædictorum Roberti Flemming, et Thomæ Smert, et hæredum suorum Iohanni de Caletto, abbati de Burgo, per factum suum, quod sequitur inferiùs. Et misit literas suas prædictis Roberto et Thomæ, quod atturnarent. Hoc idem fecit Nigellus de Mundevil. Post, prædictus Robertus Flemming feofavit prædictum Iohannem abbatem de omnibus terris, et tenementis, quæ habuit in Pokebroke per cartam, cujus tenor sequitur inferiùs.

Post, prædicta Margeria desponsata fuit cuidam Iohanni Littelbiri; qui quidem Iohannes et Margeria concesserunt cuidam Richardo comiti Gloucestræ, per finem inde levatum. Anno regis Henrici filii regis Iohannis xliij. coram Rogero de Thurkilby, unum messuagium, et unam carucatam terræ in Sutho, et homagium et servitium Petri Cordon, Thomæ de Hotetot, Roberti Flemming, et Roberti de Lovetot, de terris quæ tenuerunt in Wynewike, Pokethorp, et Thirnyng; et homagium prioris de Huntington, &c. Similiter Nigellus de Mundevil hoc idem fecit per finem inde levatum coram eisdem justiciariis, et eodem anno. Et concessit tres carucatas terræ in Sutho et Cesterton in comitatu Huntington, et tres carucatas in comitatu Lincolnæ, et unam carucatam in Preston in Craven. Et advocationem prioratus de Huntingdon; et homagium et servitium Henrici Dengaine, Berengarii le Moyne, et Roberti de Beaumeys de omnibus terris et tenementis, quæ tenuerunt de prædicto Nigello in Werisle, Thyrnyng, et Sautre.

HUNTINGDUNE, id est mons Venatorum; opidum aliquot abhinc seculis quindecim parochialibus ecclesiis insignis; quarum tantum quatuor nunc supersunt; reliquæ, vetustate, et incuria collapsæ sunt, extantibus tamen etiamnum in aliquot locis murorum vestigiis et cimiteriis.

Cænobium canonicorum, quod nunc paululum quiddam distat ad opido, erat eo loco ubi nunc ecclesia S. Mariæ est; quod, per Eustachium, Huntingdunensem comitem, translatum est in locum paulò remotiorem, propter opidi strepitum. David Brucius, Scotus, comes Huntingdunensis sepultus in hoc cænobio. Est et ibidem sepulcrum elegantis operis cujusdam (ut illi putant) comitis Huntingdonensis, in quo eques inculpitur, cum insignibus venatoriis. Habent et opidani in sigillo publico venatorem cum suis armis. Habent numisma vetustissimum, non procul ab oppido erutum, cum imagine canis leporarii, sed inscriptio, præ vetustate, oblitterata est.

Priory of St. Oswald, in Gloucester.

SOME of the legendary writers, says Tanner, report that Mexwald, viceroy of the western part of Mercia, and his wife Domneva, did, about the year 660, build a stately monastery here in honour of St. Oswald the king and martyr.^a It is more certain that, A.D. 909, Ethelred earl of Mercia, and the famous Elfreda, daughter of King Alfred, his countess, translating the relics of that canonized prince from Bardney to this place, founded here a religious House, from whence the monks being forced to fly in the Danish wars, it became a college of secular priests,^b which was accounted a free chapel royal, exempt from the jurisdiction of the archbishop of Canterbury, or the bishop of Worcester; but King William Rufus gave it to the archbishops of York in lieu of their claims to Lindesy and some parts of Lincolnshire, which they quitted to the bishop of Lincoln.^c

Fosbrooke says, "During the Anglo-Saxon æra, when the monastery seems to have had an intimate connexion with the Mercian palace, and the college devoted to the service of the kings, during their residence at Gloucester, its endowment appears to have been ample; for the canons complained that Thomas archbishop of York had given their estates to St. Peter's Abbey in his pretended restitution. The times were unfavourable to secular priests, and the priory was forced to yield to its lofty rival."^d

In 1153, Henry Murdac archbishop of York placed here regular Canons of the Order of St. Austin, putting over them one HUMPHRY, a religious of Lantony and a man of letters, as prior.^e

The Prior of this House was summoned to parliament in the 21st of Edw. III.^f

The archbishops of York so impoverished this House that in the 26th Hen. VIII. we find it valued at no more than 90*l.* 10*s.* 2½*d.*^g Tanner says there were then no more than seven canons in it.^h

Fosbrooke has given the following List of the

HENRY, bishop of Salisbury, in 1501, held this Priory in commendam.^k

No REGISTER of this Priory is at present known to exist;^l nor have the Editors yet met with any Seal of this House.

The Scite of this House was granted in the 31st Hen. VIIIth. to John Genyns, or Jennings. In Rudder's time, whose History of Gloucestershire was published in 1779, it was the property of the rev. John Newton, who resided there. Rudder adds, "Most of the Priory has been long since demolished, but by the buildings yet remaining it seems to have been a small quadrangle, with a gate on the south side, and another on the north, leading to the church adjoining."^m

THE Priory of St. Oswald stode north northwest from Gloucester Abbay, upon Severn ripe. Ethelredus, erle of Marches, and Ethelfleda his noble wife, doughter to Edward the First afore the Conquest, foundyd originally this house; instituting prebendaryes in it, and thither translatid from Bardney the body of S. Oswald king of Northumberland, and there richly entombed it. It chanced that soon afir the Conquest, a bishop of Lincolne, grete with the king, required other jurisdiction or lands in Lyndesey belonging to the seat of Yorke, for the which the king entreated the archbishop, being at that tyme also bishop of Worcester: whereupon the bishop of Yorke desyring the king to have the Colledge of S. Oswalde impropriate to the seate of Yorke, and so he had: whereupon he practised with the prebendaries of a new foundation, and that they should be channons regular. Some were content, some wold not; but the bishop brought his purpose to pass by power; and there instituted a house of channons regular, impropriating benefices unto them, and gyving them roylets of land, reserving the goodly lands to the chirch of Yorke, that at this time be possessid of it.^a Barnwell Priory, in Cambridgeshire.

IN or near the Church of St. Giles, in Cambridge, says Tanner, Picot, a Norman lord of Bourne, and many years sheriff of Cambridgeshire, at the instance of Hugolina his wife, began a religious House for a prior and six canons,^b A. D. 1092,^c which was twenty years^d after removed to a place on the other side of the river called Barnwell, by Pain Peverell, that famous soldier, who was standard-bearer to Robert duke of Normandy in the holy wars. Here he new built and enlarged the priory, in honour of St. Giles and St. Andrew, designing it for thirty canons of the order of St. Austin.^e

Extracts from the Charters of foundation and re-foundation are given by Dugdale, in the Appendix to the ^a Dugdale, in the former edition, appended a Latin translation of this passage of Leland, which is omitted in this edition as unnecessary.

Pain de Peverell died before he had fully completed the number of thirty canons: William Peverell, however, confirmed his father's donations, adding half a hide of land in Brunne to their possessions; but, dying at Jerusalem, he left four sisters his co-heirs; the eldest of whom marrying Hamo Peche, the patronage of Barnwell Priory came into that family.^h Sir Gilbert Peche was a considerable benefactor toward the middle of the thirteenth century.

Mr. Rutherford, in the History printed in the Bibliotheca, has given a transcript of a charter of confirmation granted to the monks by King John. Dugdale has printed

William bishop of Ely dedicated the conventual church 11 kal. May 1191. Rutherford, p. 42. John de Fortibus dedicated the chapel of the Infirmary to the honor of St. Peter, A. another from Henry the Third, confirming that of John.^a Rutherforth gives other charters from King Edward the First and King Edward the Second, with a second charter from the latter, whereby the prior and convent were freed from tallages for all their estate in Cambridge.

Rutherforth, p. 62 to 74, is very minute upon the grants of property to Barnwell Priory, the whole of the possessions of which will be found comprized in Tanner's references which will presently be given, and in the abstract of the Ministers' Accompts of the 32d Hen. VIIIth.^b

In the wars between Henry the Third and his Barons Richard King of the Romans was at one time quartered at Barnwell Priory.

Richard the Second, in 1388, came to Barnwell and held a Parliament there.^c

The Prior of Barnwell is stated in Selden's Titles of Honour, p. 723, to have been summoned to Parliament in the 49th Hen. III.

The following is a list of the

partly from Cole's Manuscripts in the Museum, partly from Rutherforth's Account, from the Harleian Register, and from Records.

GEOFFREY was the first prior. He died about 1113. Caius, p. 11. calls him GEOFFREY DE HUNTINGTON.

GERRARD was the successor of Geoffrey.

RICHARD NORRELL. Rutherforth calls him NOEL: the Harleian Register NOREL. Cole says, upon his resignation after two years,

HUGH DOMESMAN was elected, about 1115.

ROBERT, surnamed JOEL, was elected about the year 1135. After holding the priorate thirty-five years he resigned on account of age. Another

ROBERT occurs in 1197.

WILLIAM DEVONSHIRE died 8 kal. Jan. 1213. He was buried in the cloister, "juxta ostium ecclesiae in parte occidentali."^d

WILLIAM DE BEDEFORD was elected 10 kal. Nov. 1213, but deceased soon after.

RICHARD DE BURGH, or DE BURGO, who succeeded, died the same year.

LAURENCE DE STANFIELD, or STANESFELD, the next prior, held his office thirty-eight years. He built the Refectory, the Infirmary, the great Hall for guests, the Granary, Bake-house, Brew-house, Stable, the inner and outer gate, &c.; the chapel of St. Edmund, and very excellent barns.^e He was succeeded by

HENRY DE EYA, about, 1251. He resigned from incapacity and debt in 1255; but remained in the priory for fourteen years before his death.^f

JOHN, or rather JOLANUS DE THORLEYE, Cole calls him SHOTLEY (probably by mistake), succeeded in 1256. He raised the number of canons to thirty; relieved the convent from debt; new built part of the cloister; and though he resigned, yet, afterwards, finished the greater part of the chapter-house and two sides of the cloister.

SIMON DE ASCELLIS was the next prior. In his time, "A. D. 1287 quicquid lignae fabricae in nobilissima Turri

FULCO was elected Dec. 3d, 1316. The temporalities were restored to him Jan. 24th, 1317.^h Upon FULK's death,

JOHN DE QUOYE, or QUYE, was elected. He received the temporalities March 22d, 1331.ⁱ Willis by some strange error calls him John de Oxney.

JOHN DE BRUNNE was elected 10th kal. Dec. 1340.

JOHN DE BERNEWELL occurs in the Ely Register in 1404. Upon his death

NICHOLAS SMITH, the next prior, was obliged to resign in 1534;^x in which year on November the 24th,

JOHN BADCOCK was constituted prior.^y He surrendered his monastery to the king Nov. 8th, 1539: and obtained a pension of 6*l.* as did his predecessor Smith of 20*l.* a year. Prior Badcock afterwards farmed the priory lands under a lease from the crown. He died about the 2d year of Queen Elizabeth.

The Scite was granted in the 38th Hen. VIII. to Anthony Browne; and again in the 6th Edw. VI. to Edward Lord Clinton.^a

A REGISTER of Barnwell Priory, a very fine volume upon vellum, was purchased in 1798 at the sale of Dr. Farmer's library, by Richard Gough, Esq. of Enfield, and is now preserved with Mr. Gough's Topographical Collection in the Bodleian Library at Oxford. This is probably the same MS. which Tanner names as "penes dom. Ed. Peyton mil." Mr. Rutherforth made use of another Register, formerly belonging to Mr. Francis Peck; but which seems to have been a transcript from a very fine Register written in a clear and beautiful letter, upon two hundred and forty-three leaves of vellum, formerly belonging to Richard St. George, Norroy King of Arms.^b This latter manuscript

The COMMON SEAL of this Priory was large and oval; it is appended to the Surrender temp. Hen. A small Seal also of this Priory occurs in the Archæolog. vol. x. p. 386. Cole in his MSS. vol. xii. p. 191. has given a sketch of a Seal probably the same with that appended to the Surrender, in which the abbat is represented as bearing in his left hand a book; appended to a Deed of the 12th Edw. IV. In another of Cole's volumes, xlv. p. 223. is a Sketch and Description of the Seal which the prior and convent were accustomed to use for their leases. Oval,

NUM. I.

Historia Foundationis et Fundatorum ejusdem Cœnobii.

[Ex veteri eodice Bernwellensis Monasterii, de variis rebus memorabilibus Grantibrigensis provinciae. Lel. Col. vol. i. p. 621.]

REGNANTE rege illustri Anglorum Gul. primo, exstitit quidam vir nobilis in partibus Cantabrigiæ, de gente et genere Normannorum, Picotus nomine, Vicecomes cognomine; quia vicecomitis in illis partibus fungebatur, et inter optimates regni pro comite habebatur.

Memoratus namque rex quandam baroniam in provincia Cantabrigiæ, dum integra esset satis opulentam illi contulerat; et altis aliis honoribus et opibus, ut benè dignus erat, per diversa regni loca, eum satis ditaverat.

Hugolina uxor Picoti S. Egidium, tanquam patronum, coluit; quæ aliquandò gravissimè ægrotans monasterium ex voto, si salutem recuperaret, D. Egidio dicaturam se promisit, &c. ut convaluerit, et maritum de complendo voto exoraverit.

Tandem Anselmo Cantuar. episc. et Remigio Lincoln. consultis, ecclesiam in honore beati Egidii, et officinas satis eo tempore competentes, Cantabrigiæ juxta castrum construxerunt; et sex canonicis regularibus, in brevi illic adunatis, ad eorum curam gerendam, Galfridum de Hantedon canonicum, magnæ religionis virum, præfecerunt. Ad horum itaque sustentationem, duas partes decimarum de dominiis suis, atque omnium militum suorum ejusdem provinciae, antequam ipsis militibus fundos conferrent, uti mos erat Francigenis, domini Remigii episc. priùs habita concessione, assignaverunt. Ecclesiarum verò de jure fundi, intra fines illius provinciae, ad se spectantium, advocacionem, eis contulerunt. Decernentes, ut cum vacarent, usibus eorum cederent; et chartam suam inde fecit ad petitionem et instantiam uxoris suæ Hugolinæ.

Ex Charta Picoti de Donatione.

[Ibid. Vide Plac. coram rege Term. Pasch. 8 E. III. rot. 16. Cantab.]

“Consilio Remigii, et precibus Hugolinæ ux. meæ, concessi, et hac charta confirmavi canonicis regularibus S. Egidii, ecclesiam S. Egidii, ubi domus eorum fundata est, eccl. de Mordon cum capella de Redderia: ecclesiam de Thadelaws: ecclesiam de Brune, alias Brunne, cum capella castelli, et cum capella de Caldecote: ecclesiam de Cumbretone: ecclesiam de Maddingelc: ecclesiam de Rampton, ecclesiam de Harlestone, et de Henxton; habendas et tenendas liberè,” &c.

Ex eadem Picoti Donatione.

Post paucos annos, cœnobio non perfecto, ambo fœlices migraverunt ad Dominum; adjurantes Robertum filium suum, ut de illa domo ditanda et amplianda, onus subiret et curam gereret.

Sed ille Robertus, parentum relicto vestigio, in brevi accusatus, quod in regis necem et regni prodicionem conspirasset; à glorioso rege Henr. primo conventus, diem de parendo juri in curia regis sibi præfixum, fugiendo prævenit; cujus baronia, de jure regni, fisco cedente; domus S. Egidii illa pauperula, facta est sub tributo; omnes etenim amici ejus spreverunt eum, et facti sunt ei inimici.

Procedente verò tempore, contulit rex Henricus baroniam illam cuidam suo familiari; scil. Pagano Peverelle, egregio militi, armis insigni, militia pollenti, viribus potenti, et super omnes regni proceres bellico usu laudabili. Qui partes Cantabrig. adiens, et illam domum S. Egidii desolatam, et ad nihilum redactam intuens; dixit:

“Triginta hic constituam canonicos, per Dei gratiam, me ad æternam vitam producturos. Et sicut loco hæredis successi Picoto, ad hæreditatem possidendam; ita et succedam ad domum istam ditandam et sufficienter dilatandam.”

Impetravit Paganus à rege Henrico locum extra burgum Cantebrig. à magnâ plateâ, usque in riveram Cantebrig. se extendentem; et amœnitate situs loci delectabilem. Porrò de illius loci medio, fonticuli puri et vividi emanabant, Anglicè Barnewell, idem Fontes Puerorum eo tempore appellati, eò quod pueri et adolescentes semel per annum in vigilia scilicet nativitatis S. Johannis Bapt. illuc convenientes, more Anglicano luctamina et alia ludicra exercebant puerilia, et cantilenis et musicis instrumentis sibi invicem applaudebant; unde propter puerorum et puellarum turbam illic concurrentium et ludentium, mos inolevit, ut in eodem die illic conveniret, negotiandi gratia, turba vendentium et ementium. In hoc etiam loco quidam homo magnæ sanctitatis, Godilone nomine, conversari consueverat, solitariam vitam ducens; et parvulum oratorium ligneum, in honore beati Andreae apostoli constructum, habens; qui parum antea defunctus, locum sine habitatione, et oratorium sine custode, dimiserat.

Picoti donatio confirmata à Pagano Peverelle.

Ex Charta novæ Donationis Pagani.

“Concessi similiter eisdem canonicis, quendam locum jacentem in campis Cantabrig. pro xiiij. acris, circa fontes de Barnwelle; quæ Henr. mihi dedit ad domum eorum stabilendam et fundandam, liberè, quietè, et integrè; à magna platea usque in riveriam de Cantebrig.,” &c.

Ad eccles. S. Egidii, ut dictum est, Picotus Vicecomes canonicos fundavit An. D. 1092. Sed ad prædictum locum de Barnwelle, Paganus canon. regulares, cum magna apparatu et supellectili, comitante non modicâ catervâ cleri et populi, et burgensium Cantebrig. à primo foundationis loco, postquam ibi steterat per xx. annos, transtulit, et translatos in prædicto loco Barnwelle, multò magis eis oportuno, cum gaudio magno, collocavit A.D. 1112. Ecclesiamque miræ pulcritudinis, et ponderosi operis, in honore beati Egidii, ibidem inchoavit. Sicque beatus Andreas, sicut in cœlo et in terra beatum Egidium sibi associans, hospitioque suscipiens, hospes ejus usque in hodiernum diem est effectus; et ambo permanent ejusdem loci patroni, usque in sempiternam.

NUM. II.

De Morte Pagani Peverell.

VERUNTAMEN antequam propositum suum de xxx. canonicis constituendis complêsset, vel sufficientem sustentationem eis providisset, à translatione canonicorum decennio nondum decurso, Londini, febre correptus, migravit ad Dominum; Bernewellamque delatus in aquilonari parte magni altaris decenter est collocatus.

Gul. Pevrell filius Pagani confirmavit donationem patris sui, adjectâ dimidiâ hidâ terræ in Brunne.

Post Gul. Peverelle Hierosolimam adiit, et illic à seculo migrans, nullum ex se reliquit hæredem.

Quatuor sorores, dicti Pagani filias, reliquit; quæ totam baroniam inter se diviscrunt: quarum primogenita vocabatur Mathildis de Doure; et ipsa sine hærede de se mortua est: et sic hæreditas ad tres sorores devoluta est, et pars prædictæ Mathildis inter ipsas divisa; quarum una fuit uxor Hamonis Peche senioris, quæ vocabatur Alicia, et ex illa processerunt filii et filiae. Primogenitus Hamonis vocabatur Gilbertus Peche primus, et secundus vocabatur Gaufridus Peche. Iste Galfridus dedit canonicis ecclesiam de Harleston ad vesturam.

Primogenitus Gilbertus Pecche, qui fuit de isto stipite, ultimus noster patronus. Secunda soror Gul. Peverelle, vocabatur Roisia, de illa processit Albreda de Harecourt, et ex illa Albreda, processerunt Galfridus Trussebut.

His omnibus defunctis sine hærede de se, tres sorores remanserunt, scilicet Roisia, Hillaria, et Agatha.

Ex Roisia Robertus de Ros senior. De Roberto Gul. de Ros, et isti tres, scilicet Gulielmus, Hillaria, et Agatha hæredes sunt in parte.

Tertia verò soror vocabatur Ascelina de Waterville, et ex illa nata sunt duæ filiæ, scilicet Ascelina de Waterville, et Matildis de Diva.

De Ascelina venit Rogerus de Torpel, et de Mathilda, Hugo de Diva.

Gilbertus Pecche fuit filius Hamonis Pecche. Hic fecit avum suum, Gilbertum Peche nomine, et Aliciam uxorem ejus levare de pulvere, et in uno sepulcro marmoreo, ex parte aquilonari magni altaris, ad caput egregii Pag. Peverelle, amborum corpora recondi.

Ex iis processerunt sex filii, scilicet Gilbertus primogenitus, Hamo, Hugo, Robertus, Thomas, et Gulielmus.

Ex iis vidimus quinque milites potentes, prudentes, et robustos. Sextus verò, scilicet Hamon, erat clericus ecclesiis et redditibus copiosè ditatus. Pater verò eorum mortuus est in Terra Sancta, et corpus ejus delatum est Bernewelle, et sepultum est in capella D. Mariæ; uxor verò ejus Eva senex et plena dierum, cum magna veneratione, præsentibus quatuor filiis suis, sepulta est à dextra viri sui, et filius illorum junior Gul. Peche miles, aspectu quidem pulcher, et armis inter omnes bachelarios validissimus nominatus, sepultus est à sinistra patris sui.

Prædictus dominus Gilbertus Peche duas habuit uxores, unam quæ vocabatur Mathildis de Hastings, genere quidem claram, sed moribus multò clariorem, et habuit filios et filias. Quæ London. defuncta est, sepultum est corpus ejus in ecclesia canonicorum beatæ Mariæ ultra aquam; quia videlicet huc deferri honorificè non potuit tunc temporis, sicut ipsa optaverat, propter perturbationem quæ tunc erat in Anglia. Sed cor ejus huc deportatum fuit, in locello plumbeo, et coram magno altare, juxta pueros, filios suos, sepultum.

Post hæc accepit D. Gilbertus aliam uxorem filiam D. Simonis de Grey; quæ vocabatur Joanna. Hanc quidem dilexit et honoravit multùm, eò quod pulcherrima esset et bona.

De hac quidem genuit filios et filias, et ob amorem matris magis cœpit diligere pueros secundæ uxoris quàm primæ, quod, ex post facto, patuit.

Nam secundæ uxori, et pueris suis, dedit Gilbertus maneria quædam, et securitatem super his, quæ necessaria erant ad perpetuitatem, providenter providit. Johannem verò Peche primogenitum suum, et Edmundum ejus fratrem filios primæ uxoris, quasi ferè dimisit inanes. Nam nescio quo spiritu ductus vel consilio, dominum regem Edwardum filium regis Henrici et reginam Alianoram, de residuo baroniæ suæ suos fecit hæredes.

Noverit universitas vestra, me ad dilucidationem juris patronatus, quod habeo in monasterio de Bernewell, cum ipsum vacare contigerit, pro me et hæredibus meis in subscriptam formam consensisse et canonicis ejusdem inviolabiliter observandam concessisse: ordinatum est igitur ex communi assensu meo, videlicet, et supradictorum canonicorum, quod cum supradictum monasterium vacare contigerit, quod ad me, si in regno Angliæ fuero, vel ad senescallum meum, qui pro tempore fuerit, si extra regnum fuero, debeant unum vel duos canonicos destinare, et per eosdem vacationem sui monasterii denunciare; ac taliter diceret, "Domine, ad vos tanquam ad patronum nostrum accedimus, et vacationem domus nostræ vobis denunciavimus; et de vestro beneplacito ad electionem nostram procedemus." Quo facto, petitâ licentiâ, licèt non optentâ, possunt redire liberè ad eligendum. Cum autem electio facta fuerit, debent electum suum michi, tanquam patrono, et hæredibus meis præsentare, et consensum meum requirere. Concedo autem dictis canonicis, ut ratione patronatus, quem habeo in eorum monasterio, nullus hæredum vel successorum meorum possit aliquam destructionem facere in eodem monasterio tempore vacationis suæ, vendendo, largiendo, distrahendo bona eorundem, aut mutando aliqua, quorum mutatio ad dampnum ejusdem monasterii fore comprobabitur. Et ut nulla occasio distractionis vel destructionis fiat, volo, et eisdem canonicis concedo, ut tempore vacationis, quamdiu monasterium suum vacare contigerit, non habeam ego, nec aliquis successorum meorum nisi unicum famulum cum equo et garcione, qui propter recognitionem juris patronatus mei, et meorum successorum, habeat simplicem possessionem, qui nullam faciat destructionem, prout superiùs dictum est; set unâ cum officialibus domus se intromittat ad salvandum omnia bona ejus, donec de priore fuerit provisum eisdem. Hanc igitur supradictam formam et libertatem concedo eisdem; contra quam nolo quod aliquis hæredum vel successorum meorum aliquid in præjudicium ejusdem monasterii, attemptet. Et ut hæc concessio imperpetuum robur habeat et firmitatem, duo instrumenta in modum cirographi sunt hinc inde confecta, quorum unum sigillo capituli prædicti monasterii, et sigillo magistri Ricardi de Wytton gerentis tunc temporis vices domini Cantuariensis in diœcesi Elyensi, vacante tunc eadem sede, signatum residet penès me; et aliud sigillo meo et sigillo prædicti magistri Ricardi signatum residet penès prædictos canonicos. Nostell, Nostlai, or Nestelhoo Priory, in Yorkshire.

THIS Priory, in the deanry of Pontefract, and archdeaconry of the West Riding, was founded in the time of King William Rufus, by Ilbert de Lacy, and finished by Robert de Lacy, his son, in the time of Henry the First. Here had previously stood a House of poor Hermits, dedicated to St. James; but the new foundation was endowed to the honour of St. Oswald, king and martyr. Reyner makes this the first established house of Austin Canons in England, in which he is incorrect.^b Thus far Tanner.

Burton gives a different account of the Foundation. He says, "It happened that King Henry the First, going on an expedition against the Scots, was attended by one Ralph Adlave, his chaplain and confessor, who, falling sick, was obliged to be left at Pontefract: but after some time growing better, was induced, for the speedy recovery of his health, and perhaps by inclination for hunting, frequently to ride from thence to this part of the country, about three miles distant, where he found some hermits; and being struck with their pious manor of living, became desirous to be one of their society; but as that could not be, without the king his master's consent, he was obliged to defer his intention till the king's return; and then, communicating his design, the king approved of it. RALPH then sate about founding a Priory there, and took upon him the habit and order of St. Austin; and, by the king's mandate, became the first governor, master, and rector veteris loci, as it is called, and of eleven brethren or monks, the king himself, in A.D. 1121, becoming a benefactor by granting them twelve pence per day, to be received out of his exchequer at York. Several of the nobility followed his example, and

^a Robert de Lacy, and Mabel his wife, and Henry and Gilbert their sons, gave to Gilbert the hermit of St. James Nostell, and to his Brethren of the same house, and their successors serving God there, the Manor of Nether Sutton, with all such liberties, &c. as Gilbert, the father of the said Robert, had of the free gift of William, Duke of Normandy, the year after he conquered England. MS. penes Cox Macro. 12. ii. 176.

^b Reyner. Tract. i. p. 158.

particularly ROBERT DE LACI (in whose fee of the honor of Pontefract this place was situated), who granted them the wood in which it was built, with two oxgangs of land in Hardwic; for which reason the Laci family looked upon themselves, and were always deemed, the founders. Though the succeeding Canons, when they became powerful and rich, would have gladly assumed the honor of being of a royal foundation, as well from the benefaction of Henry the First, already named, as from his confirmation of their lands and privileges by a charter, dated 4th id., that is, the 10th of January, 1121. Their possessions were also confirmed by Pope Calixtus the Second, in the first year of his pontificate.^a

"This Ralph Adlave," Burton adds, "having been the principal instrument of their foundation, they were desirous of looking upon him as a saint. He died on the 4th id. May 1128, and was buried (apud veterem locum), at Old Place, i. e. where the old chapel stood, and where afterwards the parish church was built."^b

King Henry the Second granted, that all which belonged to the canons of Nostell, and their demesnes, should be free from tolls and customs; he also granted them soc, sac, toll, theam, and infangtheof, with the same privileges as were enjoyed by the Church of St. Peter at York; and Thurstin, archbishop of York, exempted them from archiepiscopal duties. In A. D. 1512, Henry the Eighth also exempted them from payment of tolls throughout the kingdom.

Burton, from the manuscript already mentioned, traces the gradual progress in the buildings of Nostel Priory. Adelward or Athelward, the second prior, he says, began the work, having obtained a faculty or bull from Pope Calixtus II. for placing the new building at a little distance northward from where the ancient or first chapel of St. Oswald stood: but he does not seem to have proceeded farther than the vaults or crypt. Savard, the third prior, elected in 1153, was scarcely settled in his office, when Henry de Laci, earl of Lincoln and lord of Pontefract, began to dispute the right to the ground whereon the building was erecting; who, however, on going to the holy wars, relinquished his claim. Anketil, the fifth prior, began the choir of the church, and built several houses. William de Clifford, the thirteenth Prior, built the nave of the church, and began to build the chapter-house, which was finished by his immediate successor Richard de Wartre, who died in 1291. William de Birstall, the next Prior, began the refectory or hall, and built the kitchen, larder, buttery, and also the treasury. He enlarged the dormitory or common bed-chamber. He also erected a warehouse for their wool till sold; laid aqueducts to the house; built the new chamber near the Infirmary, called the bishop's chamber, and a new oratory or chapel, dedicated to the Virgin Mary, on the north side of the cemetery; caused a picture of the crucifixion to be painted by one Asbert for the great altar; and set up the cross at the left of the entrance into the choir. Henry de Abberford began the new choir to be joined to the church; but between the expenses, and loss occasioned by the incursions of the Scots, he was obliged to desist. John de Dewsbury, the eighteenth Prior, attempted to proceed in the building, but did little. Thomas de Dareford, his successor, though he dismissed the workmen from the main structure, caused the clock to be set up in the church, built the Prior's apartments, and the great granary. He died in 1372, and was succeeded by Richard de Wombwell, who divided the dormitory into cells or separate places for each canon: he built a new Infirmary; chambers for guests who came to the house, a bake-house, and stable near the pool; made a new belfry, and dug a drain to convey the water from the coal-mines. At his death, in 1385, the new choir still remained unfinished, and so continued for many years.^c

Burton has given some remarkable facts relating to the wealth of this Monastery. He says, in 1312, when William de Birstall resigned his office of Prior, the produce of the manor of Bamburgh, in the county of Northumberland, belonging to this house, was sold for 383*l.* 11*s.* 9*d.* The Prior, then, had a great number of servants; in the malt-house and bake-house eleven; in the kitchen five, except the master and cook of the Priory; in the brewhouse three; in the smiths' and carpenters' workhouses, nine; curriers five; plowmen, sixteen; at Huntwick, five; at Santingley, six; in Bercar, seventeen; in all seventy-seven. But in autumn, he had as many reapers as ran his expenses up to 1274*l.* In the kitchen, the expenses amounted to 224*l.* 18*s.* 4*d.*, besides what was out of the dairy and stores; of wheat bread, 500*l.* per annum; of flour 260 quarters; in malt liquor eleven hundred and five score of oats, and five score quarters of barley:^d he had 2540 sheep, five score cows, four bulls, 72 oxen, 61 heifers, and 33 calves.

There was in the house twenty-six canons; to the cloathing of whom there was a pension out of the Churches of Wynwyk and of Lymington, amounting to 24*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* per annum.

In A. D. 1328, this priory was held by divers creditors, for the sum of 1012*l.* 4*s.* 1*d.* during the priorate of Henry de Abberford. The profits of Bamburgh were lost for fifteen years, amounting, in the whole, to 4454*l.*, and the rent of 60*l.* The loss out of the profits of Burstall church, which used to bring in 100*l.* per annum, but for six years had brought 40*l.* only, amounted to 360*l.*

In three years the canons lost, by the murrain, 1200 sheep, 59 oxen, 400 cows, calves, &c. But in two years and eight months time, John de Insula, the seventeenth Prior, paid off 540*l.* out of the 1012*l.* 4*s.* 1*d.* above-mentioned, and left 319*l.* in the treasury.

In A. D. 1372, when Thomas de Dereford, the nineteenth prior died, he left 8000 sheep in the pastures, and 800 marks of silver in the treasury; and yet in A. D. 1390, when Adam de Bilton resigned, the priory was indebted twelve hundred marks.^e

The lands, tenements, &c. of this Priory lay in Acton, Aikton, Akenshaw, Audreskirke, Bamburgh in Northumberland, Baal, Bedford, Botelvestan, Bramham, Burstal, Burton, Burton-Fleming, Canonthorpe, Castleford, Charwelton, Chebesai, Chedendon, Chevit, Cranton, Crofton, Cumberworth, Cuthworth, Elforth in Northumberland, Escheby, Estoft, Fletham in Northumberland, Friteby, Gomersale, Halton, Hammerton, Hardwic, Heath, Herlleton, Hesel, Holm, Houghton, Huntewic, Hupton, Inclesmore, Langeley, Lamenton or Leminton, Leventhorp, Lythe, Medley, Middleton, Morlay, Norton, Norwich, Nostel, Oglethorpe, Pontefract, Preston or Purstan-Jackelyn, Rogerthorp, Salden, Santingley-Grange, Saxton, Seldfort, Sharleston, Smethal, Stapleford, Sticheswald, Sulgholm or Sulkhalm in Nottinghamshire, Swinton, Thornhurst, Thurnesco, Tockwith, Tong subtus Montem, Warsop, now Worksop, in Nottinghamshire, Wath, Willesic, Winterset, Winwic in Lancashire, Witeness or Witteheness, Wiverthorp, Woodchurch, and York. King Edward the First, in 1269, granted the monks here free-warren in their lands in Castleford: Edward the Second, in 1318, gave them free warren in Hardwicke, Houghton, and Medley: and Richard the Second, in 1379, in all their lands at Burstal, Crofton, Elforth, Fletham in Northumberland, Houghton Magna, Kirkby South, Preston, Skokirke, Sharlston, Sulgholm, Thurnesco, Warsop, and Wodechirch.

RICHARD, according to Burton, occurs in 1489; but in the Registers of the See of York,

WILLIAM MELSONBY, or MELTONBY, is said to have been confirmed Prior "per mortem Will. Ashton," 10th May, 1489. His successor was

THOMAS WILCOX, or WILKOK, who was confirmed Prior on Melsonby's resignation, 24th July, 1489.

RICHARD HIRST was confirmed Prior, upon Wilkok's death, Oct. 17, 1489.

At the time of the Suppression, the gross revenue of this Priory amounted to 606*l.* 9*s.* 3*d.*: the net income to 492*l.* 18*s.* 2*d.* The Scite was granted in the 31st Hen. VIII. to Thomas Leigh, LL.D., one of the visitors of the Religious Houses.^f

In 1625 Sir Richard Gargrave, Knt. sold the Scite to — Ireland, Esq.; and it was afterwards sold to Sir Rowland Wynne, Bart.,^g whose descendant, Charles Wynne, Esq., is the present possessor.

Tanner refers to a CHARTULARY of this Priory as existing, in 1632, in the possession of Charles Fairfax of Monston, in the county of York, Esquire. Whether this was the same REGISTER which was afterwards given to the Cottonian Collection by Sir Christopher Hatton, does not appear. This latter Manuscript is still preserved in the British Museum, MS. Cotton. Vespas. E. xix.^h Tanner refers to another Register, with various charters, rentals, and accompts concerning Nostel, as in 1719, in the possession of Sir Rowland Wynne.ⁱ

An impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Monastery is attached to a Deed dated in 1280, in the Chapter House at Westminster. It is on green wax, of a round form, and contains Saint Oswald, king and martyr, holding in his right hand a cross, in his left a sprig of laurel; he is seated in an antique chair, decorated with the heads of wolves: the Legend is, SIGILLV . SĪI . OSWALDI . REGIS . MR . DE . NOSTELL.

The ARMS of Nostel Priory are engraved in Tanner. See also MS. Coll. Brit. Mus. vol. xviii. fol. 211, 214, 214 b.

Quare si in prædictorum divinorum celebratione defecerint, dabunt nobis quolibet anno, quando defectus ille fuerit, quadraginta, solidos, nomine pœnæ: et subjecerunt se jurisdictioni nostræ, et capituli nostri, ad compellendum eos quando voluerimus districtioni, tam ad prædictorum divinorum celebrationem faciendam, quàm pœnæ solutionem, si fuerit commissa. Et sciendum quod non licebit dicto Richardo vel hæredibus suis, terram prædictam, cum suis pertinentiis Judæis dare vel aliquo alio modo eis impignorare, vel ad aliquos viros transfere religiosos. In cujus rei testimonium, tam nos, quàm dictus Richardus, huic scripto, in modum cyrograficum confecto, sigilla nostra hinc inde apposuimus. Hiis testibus, &c.

[Ibid. Anno 1231.]

ANNO gratiæ MCCXXXI. facta fuit hæc conventio, inter Johannem priorem et conventum de Sancto Oswaldo, ex una parte, et Willielmum de Runeys militem, ex altera; videlicet, quod prædicti prior et conventus concesserunt, et hac præsentis cartâ suâ confirmaverunt prædicto Willielmo, locum suum sancti Egidii supra Roder, qui dicitur Canuntorp, cum omnibus pertinentiis, suis, in totâ vitâ suâ de eis tenendum. Reddendo inde eis per annum unam marcam argenti; medietatem ad Pascham, et aliam medietatem ad festum sancti Mich. Prædictus verò Wil. miles, singulis ebdomadis in capella prædicti loci, tribus diebus, divina faciet celebrari; die videlicet dominicâ, et quartâ et sextâ feriâ. Cum dictum Willielmum, militem, viam universæ carnis contigit ingredi, medietatem omnium bonorum suorum, mobiliū et immobilium, ubicunque fuerunt inventa, domui Sancti Oswaldi de Nostell, tanquam fratrem ejusdem loci, relinquet; similiter et terrarum et reddituum, si quas habuerit de suo adquisitu.

De quercubus tamen ejus nemoris nullam scindet, vel scindi faciet sine assensu, visu, et voluntate prædictorum prioris et conventus; nec licebit prædicto Willielmo prædictum locum, nec aliquod quod ad illum pertineat impignorare vel aliquo casu in manus alicujus ponere, vel aliquid aliud facere, quo prædicti prior et conventus, post decessum ipsius, prædictum locum, cum pertinentiis liberè ingredi impediatur. Et tam de his quàm de prædicta summa fideliter solvenda, prædictus Willielmus miles, corporale præstitit sacramentum. Compositio inter Canonicos de Nostell et Richardum de Crul, super loco de Canonthorp.

NOTUM sit omnibus præsens scriptum visuris vel auditoris, quod cum inter dominos priorem et conventum Sancti Oswaldi ex una parte, et Richardum de Crul clericum ex altera, super retentione annui redditus unius marcæ; quam debet prædictus Richardus, dominis priori et conventui, pro loco supra Roder, qui vocatur Canonthorp, defectu et cele-brationis divinorum, et pœna quadraginta solidorum propter hoc sæpius, ut dicebatur, commissa; item super reædificatione ædificiorum, incendio consumptorum, et vasto boschi; necnon capellæ ejusdem loci per indebitam inhabitationem prophanatione, et aliis coram decano et capitulo Pontefracti quæstio verteretur: tandem idem Richardus, volens de omnibus satisfacere, ordinationi et misericordiæ dictorum prioris, et conventus omnino se submitit; promittens pro se et hæredibus suis, quod, de cætero, assignatis terminis redditum unius marcæ, quam eis debet, fideliter et sine dilatione, apud Sanctum Oswaldum persolvent; videlicet, dimidiam marcam ad Pentecosten, et dimidiam marcam ad festum sancti Martini in hieme: et si eos in aliquo prædictorum terminorum in plenaria solutione cessare contingit per octo dies, pro cujuslibet cessatione dabunt prædictis priori, et conventui, nomine pœnæ, dimidiam marcam argenti. Prædictus autem Richardus, et hæredes sui invenient in perpetuum sacerdotem, qui celebret divina per tres dies in hebdomada in capella de Canuntorp, sub pœna quadraginta solidorum pro quolibet anno sæpedictis priori et conventui solvendorum, quando defectus erit in præmissa celebratione.

Ita quod pœnâ solutâ, rata non maneat conventio. Dictam autem capellam, cum consecrata sit, sub pœna præmissa honestè facient custodiri; nec per inhabitationem prohibitam vel inhonestam, aliquo modo permittent prophanari. Domos etiam et ædificia eidem loci infra unius anni spatium, ad eundem statum, quo ea dictus Richardus recepit, vel meliorem, reformabit; et boscum non vastabit, et ad omnium præmissorum firmiter, et majorem securitatem, prædictus Richardus subjeit se et hæredes suos jurisdictioni præfati decani et capituli, ut possint, per censuram ecclesiasticam excommunicationis sententiam, unicâ monitione præmissâ, ipsos ad præmissorum omnium et singulorum observationem compellere, et sententias in eis latas, inviolabiliter facere observari, quoties in aliquo, præmissa infringere, vel non observare præsumpserint; renuntiando omni exceptioni, cavillationi, et regiæ prohibitioni, et cuilibet alteri defensionem, vel vi et facti remedio super hoc competentibus vel expetituris; et obligando se et hæredes suos ad omne damnum et expensas, quas pro defectu ipsius Richardi, vel hæredum suorum, ipsos incurrere contingit, declarandas solius prioris assertionem, sine ulterius probatione; et sciendum est quod non licebit dicto Rich. vel hæredibus suis prædictum locum de Canonthorp, vel ejus pertinentiis Judæis dare, vel aliquo modo impignorare eis, vel ad aliquos viros religiosos transfere, vel alicui alteri alienare, sine dictorum prioris et conventus assensu et voluntate. Hæc omnia et singula tactis sacrosanctis, juravit dictus Richardus fideliter observanda, sine qualibet deceptione et fraude, pro se et hæredibus suis. Acta apud Pontefractum in capitulo xvi. cal. Februarii, anno gratiæ MCC. xl. sexto. Et in hujus rei testimonium tam dictus prior, quam Richardus huic scripto cyrografico sigilla sua apposuerunt.

canons there all the lands they had held in the time of Robert de Ferrers. Isolda, his daughter, carried the patronage of this Priory, by marriage, into the family of Tateshall.^a

In 1303, Robert de Tateshall, at his death, was found to be the true patron of the Priory of Bredon, worth 20*l.* a-year to the prior and canons.^b

Concerning the presentation to this Priory of Bredon, Mr. Nichols says, we find an agreement entered into between the Prior and Convent of Nostell, and Walter de Tateshall, son of Robert, patron of the church of Bredon, that the said prior and convent (with the consent of the patron) should choose out two of the canons of this cell at Bredon, and present them to the said Walter (or the heirs of him by his wife Isolda) who should appoint one of them to be prior here; and in case no two canons should be found properly qualified at Bredon, in such case two others were to be sent from the convent of Nostell, of which the said patron was to elect one, who was then to be presented to the bishop of the diocese as Prior of Bredon Cell, where he was to remain without molestation so long as he behaved himself according to canon, and in obedience to the superior Prior of Nostell. In case of his death or dismissal, the same method was to be observed in the election of a new prior. Farther the said parties covenanted not to disturb the goods and possessions of the said Cell; and the said Prior of Nostell also covenanted "quod non perhendinabit ad ipsius Cellulæ superfluum gravamen."^c

In 1317 Thomas earl of Lancaster confirmed to the monks of Bredon all their former grants; with the additional privilege of exemption from his court-leets.^d

Henry earl of Lancaster and Leicester, his son, also gave them pasturage for forty great cattle and three hundred sheep, with pannage for all their swine in his outwoods at Melborne and Newton, in the county of Derby. He also granted them pasture for two hundred and forty sheep at Hethcote in the Peak, in lieu of the pasture for five cows, six score ewes, and four rams, which they had from William and Robert de Ferrers, earls of Derby.^e

Of benefactions of a smaller kind, Nichols says, in Andreskirke the prior and convent had several other lands granted them by the third Robert de Tateshall, then lord of Bredon, Isolda Pantulfe, his mother, and others; and divers lands in Worthington by Roger de Colston, and William, the son of Simon Pakeman.^f Richard de Staunton, the son of Harald de Lecha, gave to the canons of Bredon, in 1202, all his land called Scalacre; the monks to find a chaplain at Staunton. In 1296, Alan, the son of Richard de Staunton, confirmed to the priory certain lands in Staunton.^g Thomas Curzon gave them half a virgate in Diseworth, and confirmed to them a small parcel of land where they afterwards built a grange.^h William de Winteworth gave them eleven acres of land in Winteworth.ⁱ

Peter Picot also, lord of Radclive upon Sore, gave them two virgates of land in Kingston in Nottinghamshire, which Thomas Picot, his son, confirmed.^k

In 1330, the Prior and Convent of Nostell obtained, from King Edward the Third, permission to change their annual fair at Bredon from one to five days;^l and in 1379, from King Richard the Second, a grant of free warren at Bredon.^m

At the Dissolution, the priory of Bredon, according to Tanner, contained but two canons.

In the 26th Hen. VIII. the gross sum of the Revenues of this Priory amounted to 25*l.* 8*s.* 1*d.* The clear income to 24*l.* 10*s.* 4*d.*

Nichols, in his History of Leicestershire, vol. iii. p. 695—701. has printed an Analysis of the Bredon REGISTER, in the possession of Earl Ferrers, collated with the Excerpts in the Cottonian MS. Claud. A. VIII. p. 73. and with Dugdale's Extracts. To this the Reader is referred. Copies are given in it of various charters of confirmation from our early kings; with more minute details of other kinds than fall within the prescribed limits of the Monasticon.^o

There is a small SEAL of Adam prior of Bredon in the Augmentation Office, as old as the reign of Richard the Second, representing a religious person with keys. Inscription, S. ADA' . PETRI.

The Church belonging to the Cell, is now the parish church of Bredon: adjoining are some small remains, and but small, of the conventual buildings. A View of both will be found in Nichols's Leicestershire, vol. iii. pl. xcii. p. 688.

Priory of Woodkirk, or Erdislaw, in Yorkshire.
A Cell to Nostel Priory.

TANNER calls this Cell Widkirk, olim Wodechurch, or Kirkwode, in the deanry of Pontefract in Yorkshire. It was situated about three miles from Wakefield.

William earl of Warren, he says, Ralph L'Isle and William his son, having given the church of St. Mary here to the priory of Nostel temp. Hen. I.^a some Black Canons^b from thence were placed here.^c

The earl of Warren's charter follows this account,^d with another confirming land at Erdeslaw to it, from Robert Brito of Dennyngby.^e

Burton says, that John son of Henry de Deneby, gave an oxgang of land in Deneby:^f and that other lands were given by dame Maud de Preston.^g

We have no account of the Priors of this House, who were probably appointed and removed at the pleasure of the priors of Nostel.

Tanner's References to MSS. and Records relating to Woodkirk are, "Inter Collect. Rog. Dodsworth, vol. viii. fol. 195. vol. ix. fol. 294. vol. cxvii. fol. 124. Fin. com. ignot. 4 Joan. n. 49. inter Matildam fil. Gilberti et priorem de Wodechirch, de terris in Brightlington. Pat. 4 Edw. III. p. 1, m. 33."

The Valor Ecclesiasticus of the 26th Hen. VIII. makes the value of this Cell to have amounted to 49l. 7s. 2d. per annum.^h The Ministers' Accompt in the Augmentation Office 34th Hen. VIII. makes the value 47l. 0s. 4d."

Woodkirk Cell was situated five miles and a half from Wakefield, in the parish of West Ardesley. The REMAINS of it are very trifling.

Priory of Hyrst, in the Isle of Arholm,

IN LINCOLNSHIRE.

THIS Cell appears to have been founded in the time of Henry the First by Nigel de Albini, whose charter, with two others of Roger de Moubray, will be found below.

In the Valor of the 26th Hen. VIII. the revenues of this little Cell are stated to have amounted to 7l. 11s. 8d.^a In the Ministers' Accompts of the 35th Hen. VIII. the rents appear to have risen to the sum of 9l. 18s.^b upon white wax, marked Cart. Harl. 43. 1. 18.; the former represents the blessed Virgin and divine Infant, the latter a small figure; these Impressions are, however, very imperfect.

Impressions of the COMMON and COUNTER SEAL of this small Priory exist in the British Museum

The Scite of this little Priory was granted in the 1st Edw. VI. to John earl of Warwick, and then valued at forty shillings per annum. The Particular for the Grant is extant in the Augmentation Office.

Scarcely a fragment of the Buildings is remaining.

Scokirke, Stowkirke, or Tockwith Priory,

IN YORKSHIRE.

A Cell to Hostel.

THE Chapel of All Saints, with two oxgangs of land here, were given to the Priory of Nostell by Geoffrey Fitz-Pain; before A.D. 1114, some black canons of that Monastery were sent to reside here.

King Henry the First confirmed to this Cell the grant of Geoffrey the son of Paganus, being the ploughlands at Tockwrit, with all the liberties which he enjoyed.^a Aldreda de Harecure, relict of William Trussebut, the son of Geoffrey, ordered the bailiffs, &c. of her lands to support the canons in their rights.^b Albert de Tockwith gave them two acres of land at Nes.^c

A controversy arising about a certain tithe of bread between the canons here and Iveta de Arches, Pope Innocent referred the decision thereof to the Prior of the Holy Trinity at York, and others; but the matter was amicably adjusted in this manner, that the said Iveta should pay the canons half the tithe of her corn given them by her father, William de Arches; and that they should find a canon to say mass at Scokirk, for her soul, and those of her ancestors.^d

A like controversy arising between the canons and Peter de Brus, about half the tithe of corn of his manor of Thorp-Arches, it was decided that he should allow them ten sheaves of corn, and they to find a canon to say mass at Scokirke.^e

In the 26th Hen. VIII. this Cell appears to have been of the value of 8*l.* a-year.

Tanner has but one reference to MSS. relating to it: "Collect. d. Rog. Dodsworth, vol. ix. pp. 283, 284."

"Innocentius episcopus servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis priori Sanctæ Trinitatis, H. thesaurario, et magistro G. canonico Eboraci, salutem, et apostolicam benedictionem. Exposita nobis prioris, et canonicorum de Nostla petitio reseravit, quod cum Iveta mulier de Arches, Eboracensis diocæsis, quandam decimam panis domus suæ canonicis suis apud Scokirke morantibus in perpetuam elemosinam assignatam contra justitiam detinet, et reddere contradicit: Ideoque discretioni vestræ, per apostolica scripta mandamus, quatinus partibus convocatis, audiatis hinc inde proposita, et quod justum fuerit, appellatione proposita statuat; facientes quod statueritis, per censuram ecclesiasticam firmiter observari. Bamburgh Priory, in Northumberland.

DUGDALE has taken no notice of this Priory in the Monasticon; and Burton, in the account of the Priory of St. Oswald, Nostel, has despatched it in little more than a single line.

Tanner says, King Henry I. having given the Churches of St. Oswald and St. Aidan here, with these Chapels, to the Priory of Nostell, some Regular Canons of the Order of St. Austin were settled here as a Cell. They were endowed, however, altogether, with what may be called a considerable revenue, as may be gathered from the Valor Ecclesiasticus and the Ministers' Accompts.

There is a Paper Survey of this Cell, 32 Hen. VIIIth, in the Augmentation Office, which gives a very minute account of its demesne lands.

No SEAL of this Cell has been discovered, nor of any other of the Cells of St. Oswald Nostel, except Hyrste in Axholme.

The Scite of Bamburgh was granted 6th March, 37 Hen. VIII., to John Forster, Esq., with tithes in Bamburgh, Shafton, Synderland, Elynton, Roos, and Belforth, in the county of Northumberland, to hold to him and his heirs. A Seat erected upon the Scite by the descendants of Mr. Forster was pulled down about the year 1812.

Priory of St. Julian and St. Botolph, Colchester.

MORANT is so very full upon the history of this Priory that we shall make his account the ground-work of our own.

It was founded, according to Morant, about the beginning of the twelfth century; Tanner says before 1107, by a monk named Eynulph, or Ernulph, who was also the first Prior. The scite and gardens of the Priory appear to have been all the land with which it was in the first instance endowed.^a

Henry the First gave the Canons here the whole tithes of his demesnes in Hatfield Regis. He also confirmed to them the lands they had in Colchester and elsewhere; the third part of the mill under the Castle, called Middle-mill, and the Serjeancy, and all the lands which they had of the gift of Hugh Fitzstephen, upon condition that whenever he or his successors should make war in Wales, they should find one horse of five shillings price, a sack, and a spur, for forty days only, "ad custum regis." Finally, he confirmed to them land and houses in Canterbury, given to them by Bristerd and his wife Lunne.^b

The property of these Canons, as it stood at a period somewhat later, will be found minutely detailed in the confirmation charter from King Richard the First.

In 1398, Thomas Whot and John Hervy gave three mesuages, two hundred and forty-two acres of land, seventeen of meadow, and xxi^{d.} in rent, in Peldon, Adburton, and Leyre de la Haye, not held of the crown, and worth yearly lxiv^{s.} ix^{d.}; and also one mesuage, with the appurtenances in Colchester, held of the King in free burgage, worth ij^{s.} per annum.^c The same year John Doreward and John Clerke gave two mesuages, a hundred and twenty-four acres of land, one acre of meadow, twelve acres of pasture, five acres of wood, and xvj^{d.} rent in Great Teye, called Trumpington.^d John Doreward also gave the canons two acres of land, and the advowson of the parish church of Chigwell in Essex, to find a chaplain to pray for the soul of his father, ancestors, and benefactors.^e They had also thirty acres of land and two acres of wood, called Godekye, in Lexden, recovered by William de Colchester, prior, in the year 1419; ^f eighteen acres in Monkwykfield; ^g thirteen shillings rent out of Coke's place; ^h the Church of Frating; and a portion of tithes in Mount-Buers.ⁱ

"What other possessions they had," Morant says, "not already mentioned, appears in King Henry the Eighth's grant of them to the Lord Chancellor Audeley, which comprehended, beside the scite of the Priory, the manors of Blyndeknights, Canwikes, and Dilbredge, and the rectories or impropriate tithes of St. Botolph, Colchester, Leyr de la Hey, and Tay Maundeville; and the advowsons of the Churches of St. James, St. Peter, and St. Martin, in the town of Colchester, and of Mile-end near the same; and an annual pension of lx. shillings out of the Priory of Hatfield-Regis; vj^{s.} viij^{d.} out of Mile-end Rectory; xxvj^{s.} viij^{d.} out of St. Peter's Vicarage; iii^{s.} out of the Rectory of St. Martin's; x^{s.} out of the Rectory of St. James, and vi^{s.} viij^{d.} from the Guardians of the Chapel of St. Anne in Colchester; vj^{s.} viij^{d.} out of Frating Rectory; xx^{s.} out of the Rectory of Little Raine; and vj^{s.} viij^{d.} out of the Rectory of Adham, in the county of Essex; x^{s.} out of the Rectory of Bures St. Mary; vj^{s.} viij^{d.} out of that of Holton, and vj^{s.} viij^{d.} out of the Rectory of Cornerd, in the county of Suffolk; and all the pensions and portions of tithes in Boxted, White Chapel in Great Tay, Whytham, and White Notley in Essex, belonging to this Monastery; and vjs. viij^{d.} out of the manor of Sheriffs in Colne Engaine in the county of Essex; and all other rights and hereditaments in the towns and suburbs of Colchester; and in Leyra de la Haye, Peldon, Abberton, Fingringhoo, Great and Little Wigboro, Ardley, Great and Little Bentley, Bromley, Lawford, Abresford, Dadham, Wyvenhoo, Elmsted, Est-Donyland, Birch, West-Donyland, Lexden, Stanwey, Copford, Mile End, Gynstead, Great Tey, Little Tey, Tey-Mandevyle, Earl's Colne, White Colne, Colne Engayne, Keldor, Boreham, Notley, Cressing, Hatfeild-Regis, Frating, Little Rayne, Fordham, Bergholt-Sackvile, Langham, Aldham, and Roydon, in the County of Essex; Bures St. Marys, Holton, Cornerd, and Reydon, in the County of Suffolk; and in Hawesdon, in the County of Cambridge; parcel of the possessions of the aforesaid Priory of St. Botulphs; and a yearly rent of x. marks out of the manor of Brydeknyghts, which the Priory of St. Botulphs used to pay to the Prior of Woodbridge. All the said premises being valued at 134*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* per annum."^k

This Priory was surrendered to the King, March 20th, 1535.

The Prior of St. Botolph's owed suit at the law-hundred courts of Colchester.

Upon the Suppression, the Scite of St. Botolph and St. Julian, Colchester, with all its revenues, valued then at 113*l.* 12*s.* 8*d.*, were granted by K. Henry VIII. 26th May, 1536, to Sir Thomas Audeley, Knt. Lord Chancellor of England, to be held in capite by knight's service, paying a yearly quit rent of 13*l.* 8*s.* 4*d.*^p He sold part of the revenues thereof the same year to John Christmass, Esq. who alienated them again, Feb. 5th 1552, with Kellers-more, in More-lane, and near Chidwell-lane, to George Christmass, Esq. and his heirs, and to Edward Markaunt, Gent.^q But the Scite of the Priory was alienated by the Lord Chancellor Audeley, in September, 1540, to John Golder.^r It has since descended through various hands.

No REGISTER of this Priory is at present known to exist.^s

An Impression of the COMMON SEAL exists in the Chapter House, Westminster: its subject is St. Botolph seated between a bishop, or mitred abbot, on his right, and a prior on his left standing; under an arch beneath is a small representation of a church, having a star and crescent on each side of its spire. The Legend is, SIGILL. ECCLESIE. SANCTI. BOTVLEI. DE. COLCESTR.

It is said few Remains of this building (the Priory) can at present be traced: some of them have been modified into the walls of a brewhouse, erected on their scite. The Priory Church continued perfect till the time of the siege of Colchester, but was then in a great measure demolished.

Two Views, one of the west front, the other of the interior of St. Botolph's Priory, are neatly engraved in the Excursions in Essex, vol. i. p. 86.

PASCHALIS episcopus servorum Dei, dilecto in Christo filio Ernulpho præposito, cæterisque dilectis filiis et fratribus ecclesiæ Christi Colcestriæ, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Singulare semper sedis apostolicæ privilegium claruit, ut per nos licet indignos, subjectarum nobis per orbem ecclesiarum status dirigatur, stabiliatur, et augeatur. Cæterum cum universis sanctæ ecclesiæ filiis id apostolicæ sedis auctoritate ac benevolentia debeamus, illis tamen locis atque personis, quæ ampliori religionis gratia eminent, propensiori nos studio convenit imminere, ut quibus universalis conditor Deus plenioris misericordiæ suæ contulit largitatem, nos quoque ipsius exemplo excellentiorem conferamus dignitatem. Unde non immerito æstimamus locum sive canonicam vestram amplioribus nostræ benignitatis muneribus honorandam, quam omnipotens Deus ad formam ecclesiæ primitivæ primitivam in loco hujusmodi quædam eximia prærogativa plantavit; ostendens quid possit figulus in luto, plastes in plasmate, Deus in homine. Primi enim omnium, ut à religiosis personis accepimus canonicæ religionis professores in patria vestra floruistis, primicias corporum et animarum vestrarum conditori Deo, spontanei optulistis; et ideo hujus secundi privilegii nostri auctoritate decernimus, ut sicut in hoc ordine primi in Anglia militastis, ita quoque dignitate ipsius primi semper habeamini; ut ubicunque per canonicas in Anglia fratrum negligentiam sentitur imbecillitas, vestra per nos potens succurrat auctoritas. Et si fortè instinctu diaboli quilibet fratrum, causa seculi vel ordinis imitandi, ab hoc ordine lapsus fuerit, Colcestrensis præfati auctoritate revocetur, ubicunque reperiat, et apostata ac desertoris militiæ prioris, pœna plectatur. Ad formam itaque vitæ vel institutionis canonicæ vestræ, cæteræ omnes regantur. Hinc personæ sapientes eligantur, electæ per canonicas distribuuntur, distributæ, si opus est, locis singulis præferantur, ut in omnibus quibus in locis canonicæ religionis viget integritas, superemineat vestra per nos regularis auctoritas. Ecclesiam S. Trinitatis Londini, quam vobis Matilda regina commendavit, cum ecclesia S. Leonardi, et cæteris quas habetis, obedientiis vestri juris esse præcipimus, et ad hujus præcepti tenorem præsentis decreti paginam promulgamus: quas si quis ibidem manentium fratrum per superbiam, vel per subreptionem, vel latenter vel palàm, quasi secularis potestatis auctoritatem inducens, de manu vestra subtrahere voluerit, illius spirituali gladio perdat animam, cujus corporali Malchus amisit auriculam. De cæteris etiam vobis concessis, sive decimis, sive possessionibus aliis quæcunque miseratione regum, libertate principum justè adquisistis vel acquirere poteritis idem iudicium Spiritus Sancti iudicio fiat.

Ut autem in omnibus paci vestræ consulamus, ab omni vos tam secularis quam ecclesiasticæ personæ iugo liberos esse volumus; interdicens in nomine Domini, et apostolica censura statuentes, ex auctoritate S. Petri, ut nullus archiepiscopus, aut episcopus, nullus regum aut principum, aut quælibet omnino magna vel parva persona, Colcestrensi cœnobio in universis ad ipsum pertinentibus, quocunque modo, seu qualibet occasione, aliquid auferre, minuere, vel violentiam inferre, fatigare, aut Dei servos inquietare puniendam temeritate præsumat, quatinus solius S. Romanæ ecclesiæ protectione defensi perpetualiter sint securi.

Obeunte autem te Ernulpho nunc ejus loci præposito, vel tuorum quolibet successorum, nullus ibi qualibet subreptionis astutia præponatur, nisi quem fratres communi consensu vel fratrum pars consilii sanioris elegerit. Electus Londonensi pontifici consecrandus representetur, à quo etiam crisma et oleum sanctum, consecrationes altarium sive basilicarum, ordinationes canonicorum accipiant, si gratiam et communionem apostolicæ sedis habuerit, et si omnia gratis et sine molestia fratrum exhibere voluerit omni exactione sepositâ. Si quid autem horum obstiterit, liceat præfato, vel fratribus, quemcunque voluerint antistitem adire, et ab eo præfata sacramenta percipere, quatinus Romanæ soli ec-

Quum autem huic ordini à patribus nostris dispensatio verbi Dei, prædicationis officium, baptismus, reconciliatio pœnitentium semper credita fuerit, sicut est videre in tractatibus S. Augustini ad Aurelium papam, nos eorum exempla secuti, et ordinis celsitudine subtiliùs intuentes, patrum sanctita confirmamus, confirmata sanctificamus præsentis paginæ auctoritate: Quam si quis temerario ausu in aliquo transgredi præsumpserit, Sancti Spiritus iudicio, ac beati Petri, apostolorum principis, anatematis vinculo religetur, et cum transgressoribus angelis et Juda traditore æternis suppliciis deputetur, nisi statim congrua satisfactione pœniteat. Conservantibus autem hæc et benedictio cum misericordia conservetur, ut et hic fructum bonæ actionis suæ percipiant, et apud districtum iudicem præmia æternæ recompensationis inveniunt. Nostis fratres, quod vobis ad cœnulum nostræ dilectionis altare, cum sanctorum reliquiis impositis, per manus filii nostri, fratris vestri, Zenonis transmisimus, obsecrantes ut dignè ambuletis vocatione qua vocati estis. Scriptum per manum Grisogoni scriviarii et notarii sacri palatii. ROGER WESTELEY; upon whose death

RICHARD BURNEL was elected in 1420.^m He occurs in 1459.ⁿ

RICHARD PONTISBURY, according to Cole's Manuscripts, occurs in 1495.^o

THOMAS CORVESAR was the last abbat; he, with ten monks, surrendered his monastery to the king 9th Sept. 1539, when a pension was assigned to him of forty pounds a year.^p

At the Dissolution the Revenues of this House were valued in the gross at 294*l.* 12*s.* 9*d.*: in the clear income at 259*l.* 13*s.* 7*d.* The Scite was granted in the 32d Hen. VIII. to Edmund Littleton.

Tanner mentions two REGISTERS of this Abbey; one which in 1653 was in the possession of dame Margaret Barker, and afterwards in that of John Kynaston, Esq.; the other, a fragment belonging to Peter Le Neve, Esq. Norroy King of Arms, now in the Harleian Collection at the British Museum, Num. 446.^q

Attached to the Surrender of this Abbey, 31 Hen. 8. in the Augmentation Office, is an Impression of the COMMON SEAL on red wax. It is round, in the centre is a female figure seated, having before and behind her a male and a female standing, each of them with a key; in chief a star and crescent: underneath is a bird. Legend, s. COMMUNE. CAPITVLI. DE. HAGHEMON.

manuscript, "Mr. Le Neve in a Letter in my possession tells bishop Tanner that he had in his custody (being rescued the minute it was designed to be burned) an original Register on vellum of the monastery of Haghmon, Salop, which he supposed the same with that mentioned in the Notitia to be in the hands of Mr. Barker: but it was imperfect, all being torn out to the sixth leaf, the tenth was wanting; also the 22d and 23d and several after the 43d; yet he could hardly think it the same which Dugdale saw, because he could find nothing of what is in the second Volume of the Monasticon."

The following are the contents of this Manuscript at present:

1. Relaxatio Edm. Com. Arundell de una placea terræ infra boscum de Upton et boscum ipsorum canonicorum, fol. 6.
2. Lettre de seysine de una place en le boys de Upton, ibid.
3. Lettre de seysine 10 Edw. II. fol. 6 b.

9. La Lettre Rog. Carles de la seysine des trois acres de wast en la bruwere de Nortone.

The REMAINS of the Abbey of Haghmon are considerable: though it would perhaps be difficult to give an entire trace of the whole foundation. The Chapter House is almost entire, built in the style of the twelfth century; much also remains of the Refectory, and of the buildings which are supposed to have formed the Abbat's lodging. The Scite of the Church was opposite to the Refectory.

The present owner of the Scite of this Abbey is John Corbet, Esq. who has long taken a great interest in the preservation of the Ruins.

Of this Abbey the Mess. Buck engraved a North-West View. Two Views also, one of them representing the Chapter House, have been engraved in the Beauties of England and Wales, vol. viii.

DE SARTIS, or RAUNTON Priory, in Staffordshire, was a Cell to Haghmon Abbey.

HÆC est inquisitio facta per hos subscriptos, domino Hugone de Scheynton; Rogero de Pivelesden, &c. qui dicunt, quod vacante abbatia de Haghmon per mortem, vel per cessionem abbatem ejusdem loci, antecessores domini Johannis filii Alani, consueverunt habere custodiam ejusdem abbatie; et quod prior et conventus ejusdem loci, solebant requirere licentiam eligendi à prædecessoribus dicti Johannis filii Alani; et ipsius antecessores semper præbuerunt assensum electioni illi: et quod dominus rex, nec prædecessores sui, nunquam habuerunt custodiam ejusdem abbatie, nisi quando dominus Johannes filius Alani fuit infra ætatem, et tota terra sua in custodiâ domini regis, tunc vacavit abbatie, et conventus petiit licentiam à domino rege, eligendi, et elegerunt Gilebertum in abbatem, et dominus rex præbuit assensum electioni illi: et dicunt, quod antecessores domini Johannis filii Alani, ea ratione habuerunt custodiam; quia dicta abbatia est de feudo dicti Johannis filii Ordinatio pro Coquinâ Conventus.

[Ibid.]

UNIVERSIS præsentis literas inspecturis, frater Nicholaus, abbas monasterii de Haghmon, salutem in Virgine gloriosâ. Religionis honestas, quam sicut decet, super omnia conversationem habere quietam, ita postulat consequenter ut laborantibus in vinea taliter ministrenter victualia, ne ex inordinatè, seu defectivo hujus ministerio murmur ingruat; seu forsitan quies ad inquietem, vel tranquillitas inurbationis materiam convertantur: cum igitur longis retro temporibus fuerat in monasterio de Haghmon usitatum ministrari priori et canonicis et refectorio comedentibus, sub quadam formâ mediocri et simplici (ut de paupertate propter monasterii honestatem taceamus ad præsens) ex quâ frequenter oblocutionis dabatur occasio, et os bovis trituranis sæpè videbatur esse ligatum: ac noviter per Dei gratiam dicti monasterii facultates aliquo modo, licet non sufficienter, prout exposcit necessitas, sint adauctæ, Nos volentes augmentationem hujus participare cum fratribus, ut tenemur, de voluntate et consensu prioris et conventus prædicti, taliter duximus ordinandum; viz. quod iidem prior et conventus habeant de ætèro novam coquinam, pro refectorio assignatam, quam ædificari celeriter faciemus; in quâ parari faciant per coquum eorum specialem, cibaria eorum quæ ad coquinam pertinent, de quibus ministrabitur eisdem, diebus singulis, per canonicos et ministros ad hoc per eos, cum abbatis licentiâ deputandos. Habebunt iidem prior et conventus ecclesiam parochialem de Hunstanton, Norwicensis diocesis; ac ecclesiam parochialem de Ruyton Coventr. diocesis, cum earum pertinentibus et obventionibus quibuscunque, cum vivario de Saleispark, et vivario illo quod vocatur Vivarium Prioris, pro alimentatione in carnibus et piscibus, prout ad coquinam pertinet antedictam; omnes etiam aliæ expensæ ad coquinam necessariæ, ut in focalibus, farinâ, piscibus, omnimodis pottagiis, pro tempore consuetis, vasis æneis, caseo, et butiro, debent nihilominus fieri de communi. Concedimus etiam pro nobis et successoribus nostris, quod omni tempore anni habeant in communi porcariam domus quæ est extra portam, viginti porcos ad sumptus communes domus, pro eorum lardaria faciendo. Habebunt etiam annuatim duas summas frumenti, pro pastellis, cum voluerint, faciendis; ministrabiturque abbati de eadem coquinâ, sicut duobus canonicis ubicunque fuerint infra septa dicti monasterii, ac etiam in uno ferculo pro secularibus, seu extraneis, quorum unus erit clericus communis domus, cum eos secum adducere voluerit in refectorio commensuros.

Cumque celerarius liberaverit pro aliquo canonico, extra monasterium, in aliquâ grangiâ dicti monasterii, panem et cervisiam, liberabuntur pro eodem canonico cibaria de coquinâ novâ superius expressâ, ac si idem canonicus personaliter domi esset: pro abbate tamen nec ejus capellanis, nec etiam senescallo domus erit quicquam extra septa dicti monasterii liberatam de proventibus dictæ coquinæ; sin autem lis et contentio super eisdem ecclesiis, vel earum alterâ, oriatur, expensæ litis debent fieri de communi, ita quod ex hoc nihil ex alimentatione conventui solitâ subtrahatur. Cocus etiam et garcio suus in prædictâ coquina specialiter servientes, victualia et stipendia in omnibus percipient, sicut cocus, et page suus, qui in communi coquinâ deserviunt, ante hæc tempora perceperunt. Per hanc tamen dispositionem intendimus facere divisionem bonorum, quæ ad monasterium nostrum de Haghmon pertinent, nequiequam includere, quod fectionem^a inferat seu separationem effectivalem

in rebus aut personis; ne quod ad bonum, ut præmittitur, est dispositum, ad noxam seu dissolutionis opprobrium tendere dinoscatur: volentes etiam, quod minister dictæ coquinæ, quicumque fuerit, de expressum^a factis in dictâ coquinâ, abbati et conventui reddat, quater, compotum annuatim. Concedimus etiam, pro nobis et successoribus nostris, quod diebus infrascriptis, viz. die natalis Domini, S. Joh. evangelistæ, die Paschæ, Ascensionis Domini, die Pentecostes, et in diebus Corporis Christi, Assumptionis beatæ Virginis, et in die Omnium Sanctorum, dicti prior et conventus nullas expensas facient de ecclesiis antedictis, sed tam ipsi quàm eorum servientes, in coquinâ prædictâ, annis singulis, in dictis diebus procurari debent in omnibus de communi: Ne tamen præsens dispositio in eventum aliquem sit mutata, eam, tam sigillo monasterii nostri, quam sigillo nostro privato, fecimus communiri; et à venerabili patre nostro in Christo Domino Coventr. et Lichfelden. episcopo procurabimus confirmari. Data in capitulo nostro de Haghmon die Martis in virgiliâ Epiphaniæ Domini, anno Domini millesimo trecentesimo tricesimo secundo.

NUM. XI.

Ordinatio pro Officiis Prioris et Sub-Prioris ibidem.

[Ibid.]

IN Dei nomine, amen. Divinâ inspirante gratiâ, anno Domino millesimo quadringentesimo quinquagesimo nono die S. Michaelis archangeli, Richardus Burnell, sub tuitione deificâ, abbas monasterii S. Joh. apostoli et evangelistæ de Haghmon, columnæ canonicalis gerens officium, in pleno capitulo, cum assensu sui conventus, et aliorum prudentum virorum fretus consilio, observantias pertinentes ad ministraciones, quos priori claustrali, et sub-priori, in ordinali suo non aliquo modo repertas, ita prudenter et laudabiliter ordinavit: Inprimis quod vices abbatis, illo absente, generaliter habeant, statutaque ejus legalia inviolata conservent, et semper in omni loco sanctorum patrum ordinationes ad regulam canonicalem constituta teneantur. Et præter hæc specialiter ordinavit certas in oratorio, ad præfati prioris officium pertinentes, observantias: Primariè sancivit, quod locum et sedem pro priore deputatum, dummodo fuerit in ecclesiâ, habeant et custodiant præter in horâ postquam celebrabit missam altam, et tunc chori ultimum servet locum. Item in omni processione conventuali prosequatur dominus prior totalem conventum immediatè et directè ante abbatem; et absente illo servet locum ipsius abbatis; viz. post conventum directè, et in medio, nisi in processibus ad aquam benedictam, et ad recreationes perquirendas, in quibus consimilem ordinem et locum teneat conventus in procedendo, sicut in aliis post conventum. Subsequendo insuper ebdomodarii curam minimè observet, sed celebret ipse missam conventualem in festis omnibus duplicibus, exceptis illis in quibus dominus abbas voluerit celebrare. Præterea semper post incensationem abbatis in choro, immediatè et secundariè incensetur prior ab eodem à quo incensabatur et abbas. Ulteriùs in capitulo, refectorio, et infirmariâ, et in omnibus locis, tam conventualibus quam non conventualibus, servet et custodiat sæpeditus prior, post dominum abbatem, locum et sedem super omnes suos confratres, maximè superiorem: Et quod in omni loco, absente abbate, sibi serviatur de capho et omnibus ferculis coopertis.

Item ad sub-prioris curam decrevit sollicitamque, sicut post priorem, præcedit alios onere, ita omnes præcedet honore; quare post priorem in omni loco sit primus, et ab abbate in choro teneat sedem, quæ est quinta. Et ut hæc omnia inviolabiliter à prædictis et assidue observentur et religiosorum animæ ad horum curas sollicitudines spe allectivâ condignæ remunerationis ferventiùs excitentur, protegentibus cœlestis oraenli verbis; viz. "dignus est suâ mercede operarius:" Decretisque sanctorum patrum munientibus; sc. "à mercede repelli non debet, qui eligitur ad onus;" sancivit in hunc modum: Inprimis, quod præfatus prior claustralis habeat pro recreationibus suis, cameram quandam sub dormitorio, introitum habentem in claustro juxta parlarii ostium, quam prædictus confrater noster et canonicus dominus Will. Salop pronunc, et diu ante, prior claustralis nuper magnis reparavit sumptibus et plurimis renovavit laboribus, cum gardino vocato ab antiquo Longenores-gardine cameræ præscriptæ annexo, unâ cum columbari in eodem; quæ omnia et singula prædicto præfato domino Will. Salope priori concedimus, vitâ sibi comitante, per præsentem; possidebitque sæpeditus prior claustralis cameram antedictam, cum suprascriptis, post decessum solum prænominati Will. Salop, nunc prioris, ac omnia et singula jocalia et ornamenta, tam altari in capellâ S. Andreae in ecclesiâ, quam dictæ cameræ pertinentia, quæ conscribuntur, seu aliquibus futuris temporibus conscribentur, ex concessione seu donatione ejusdem, ad officium prædicti prioris claustralis, et alterius cujuscunque in scedula præsentibus annexâ, ita tamen quod annuatim feriâ sextâ proximè post festum Assumptionis Virginis gloriosæ sæpenominatus prior claustralis, qui pro tempore fuerit, seu alius qualiscunque, dictam cameram, cum aliis prænominatis, habens et occupans dicet et faciet dici pro anniversario dicti domini Will. nunc prioris, per totum conventum, cum nota, Placebo et Dirige, cum novem lectionibus; et in crastino, viz. die Sabbati sequentis, Commendationes et Missam de requiem, pro quo eodem die dabitur per prædicta habentem et occupantem eidem conventui xvij. in piscibus, seu in aliis ad pietantiam, et domino abbati viij. pro lagenâ vini, ad audiendum per se aut per suam assignatum compotum, de omnibus et singulis jocalibus et ornamentis in præfatâ scedula specificatis seu specificandis; et si aliqua eorundem, per prædictum priorem claustralem, seu alium, prædicta habentem, dampnificantur, tunc dominus abbas pensionem priori claustrali inferiùs assignandum detinebit, quousque de dictâ dampnificatione fuerit satisfactum, seu per retractionem alterius pecuniariæ distributionis pertinentis alicui alteri, omnia prædicta habenti et possidenti, et quousque solum sit abbati, vi s. viij. quociens deficitur in servitio et computo suprascriptis.

Præterea percipiet de pecunia pro ebdomodariis ordinata non minus, et denarios quadraginta. Item omnes ad abbatiam infrascriptam de Biriton redditus recipiet, cum pensione quadam ex decimis de Eton ejusdem rectore solidos ipse xx. habebit, sub-prior decem, sed domino abbati reliquum remanebit. Et ut hoc decretum perpetuæ firmitatis robur obtineat invocato Dei consilio in capitulari domo contradictores sententiâ excommunicationis innodavit, ut quicumque, temporibus futuris, hanc paginam violare, vel contra hanc collationem suam venire præsumpserit, indignationem Salvatoris Domini nostri Jesu Christi et beatæ virginis Mariæ, et beati Johannis apostoli et evangelistæ, et omnium sanctorum irremediabiliter possit incurrere. Et quia voluit quod hæc sua donatio et concessio, et confirmatio rata et stabilis imperpetuum permaneat, hoc scriptum sigilli sui munimine, unâ cum communi sigillo domus de Haghmon, et toto capitulo, datum apud Haghmon die et anno suprascriptis.

Abbey of St. James, Northampton.

THIS Abbey was founded, to the honour of St. James, for black canons, by William Peverel, of Nottingham, natural son to the Conqueror. The precise time of its erection does not appear. It must, however, have been built before the year 1112; the founder dying about the latter end of that year, or the beginning of 1113. Adeliva, his wife, died in 1119. The ground allotted to the monks by the founder for their buildings was forty acres, to which he added the mill and church at Duston. These donations were confirmed in the 5th Hen. I. and again by Henry the II. in the eighteenth year of his reign; with a further confirmation of sixty acres of assarts at Hyde and at Rokeland. Their revenues became soon augmented by considerable benefactions and possessions. In the fifty-second of Henry III. they obtained licence for a fair to be held at the convent on the eve of the festival of St. James, and the two following days. This grant was renewed in the 14th year of Henry IVth. The fair continued to be held in the abbey grounds long after the dissolution of the monastery. About 1760 it was moved into the town of Northampton, where it is still kept.

Bridges, from whom the above particulars have been taken, gives a long list of donations of small parcels of land to this monastery, with a few gifts of higher importance.

^a See Bridges's Hist. Northampt. pp. 501, 502. from the Register of St. James and other Records.

The following are the Entries concerning St. James, Northampton, in Pope Nicholas's Taxation, A.D. 1291.

Among the latter we find, a part of the church of Rode, one virgate of land in Rode, with the chapel and certain lands and a mill in Hertwell; fifty acres of land adjoining to Hide, by the gift of Robert de Pavely; the church of Throp, from William de Betun; a moiety of the church of Helmeden, by Matthew de Remeili, afterwards given up; the church of Lichebarewe, by Rai le Poer; the church of Gatesden Parva; and divers houses and rents in the town of Northampton, St. James's End, and at Charing Cross in London.^a

In the 12th Edw. II. the abbat of St. James was summoned to a parliament held at York: being very infirm he appointed Henry de Bliseworth, a canon of the House, his proxy, to excuse his attendance. Upon searching the Rolls of Chancery, it appeared that the abbat of this convent had been called to parliament once only before, in the 49th Hen. III. having however been never inrolled, and holding nothing of the king in capite, or by barony, but in frank almoigne, and as a parliamentary attendance would greatly impoverish the convent and monks, the Lord Chancellor permitted his name to be struck out of the chancery register.^b

In 1534, John Dusset, the abbat, and eight monks, subscribed to the king's supremacy.

In the Survey of the 26th Hen. VIII. the gross amount of the revenues of this abbey amounted to 213*l.* 17*s.* 2½*d.*: the clear income to 175*l.* 8*s.* 2½*d.* The Surrender of this abbey, dated August 25th, 1539, is still remaining in the Augmentation Office; signed by the abbat and five monks. The Scite was granted in the 37th Hen. VIII. with the demesne lands, a wood called the Great Grove, and the profits of St. James's fair, to Nicholas Giffard, in whose family they remained for several generations.

ABBATS of ST. JAMES, NORTHAMPTON, partly from Bridges's History, and partly from Records.

RALPH presided here in 1158. During his government the church and abbey were new built, and the situation changed. In 1173 the monks, quitting their former habitation, took possession of their new house. He died in 1176. 22 Hen. II. and was succeeded by

WILLIAM PAVELY. He sat only four years, and dying in 1180, had WALKELIN DE DUSTON his successor; upon whose death in 1205, 7th Joh.

THOMAS was elected abbat. Upon his decease

ADAM DE DUSTINE succeeded, in 1220; who dying in 1231, the vacancy was supplied by

WALTER DE MELTON. He died May 27th, 1237; when

OSBERT DE LUFFENHAM succeeded. Upon his resignation

ADAM GILLY, GRILL, or GRIW, became abbat in 1241.

JOHN DE LOU was admitted on the death of Gilly, in 1269.

ADAM DE KEYLMERS, or KEYEMERSH, succeeded; at whose decease in 1274,

RALPH DE HECHAM, or HEGHAM, became abbat.

NICHOLAS DE FLORA, who succeeded Hecham in 1298, sat till 1334.

GERARD DE COMBES, his successor, received the temporalities Sept. 19th, 1355; and died in 1358: when

WILLIAM DE THORPE succeeded. The temporalities were restored to him April 2d, 1353. He died in 1378.

JOHN CAYNHO received the temporalities 23 July 1378: and held the office till his death in 1410: when

JOHN BACON was admitted. He received the temporalities May 28th, 1410. On his decease in 1430

JOHN WATFORD, alias MARGYORY, succeeded. Upon his death

WILLIAM YOUNG became abbat. He is probably the same person whom Cole in one of his MSS. vol. xxvi. fol. 226 b. calls WILLIAM YON, and says he occurs in 1446.

JOHN GRANTWELL or BRAUNTEWELL, received the temporalities Oct. 30th, 11 Edw. IV. He died in 1476, and was succeed by JOHN WEEKLY, or WYKELEY.

HENRY COKKYS received the temporalities 1 Feb. 15 Hen. VII. He died in 1532.

JOHN DASSET was the next abbat. His successor, the last abbat of this monastery, was

WILLIAM BROCKDEN, by whom it was given up to the crown.

The REGISTER of this Abbey, from which Bridges selected his chief information, in the sad fire of the Cottonian Library in 1731, was reduced to a crust. It consisted formerly of two hundred and forty-one leaves. Its title in Smith's Catalogue was Tiber E. v. "Liber Chartarum cum confirmationibus Regum, &c. cum omnibus libertatibus ad ecclesiam S. Jacobi extra Northamptonam spectantibus; conditas A.D. 1313."^a Tanner has given the ARMS of this Monastery, party per pale Ar. and Gu. an Escallop Shell Or. The same Arms occur for this Abbey in the Lansdowne MS. 255. fol. 13 b. with Sa. instead of Ar.

An impression of the COMMON SEAL is appendant to the Surrender in the Augmentation Office, for an account of which see Baker's History of Northamptonshire, part 1st. p. 150. where it is engraved.

The following is Bridges's Account of the small Remains of St. James's Abbey as they existed in his time:

"The Site of Church and Churchyard contains about two acres; and the Abbey demesnes lay on both sides of the Road which leads to Banbury. Going down to the Abbey is a causey called Cut-throat lane, with the old wall upon the left. In a close adjoining was a Mill supplied by a Spring now called the Abbey Spring. In this close was kept St. James's Fair; and formerly there were standing in it a barn and door house; and here is supposed to have stood the Abbey itself. Westward is a wall of ashler stone, near which are the foundations of Buildings.^b

Præterea quascumque possessiones, quæcumque bona eadem ecclesia impræsentiarum justè et canonicè possidet, aut in futurum concessione pontificum, largitione regum vel principum, oblatione fidelium, seu aliis justis modis Deo propicio poterit adipisci, firma vobis vestrisque successoribus et illibata permaneant: In quibus hæc propriis duximus exprimenda vocabulis. Obeunte verò te nunc ejusdem loci priore vel tuorum quolibet successorum, nullus ibi qualibet subreptionis hastucia vel violencia præponatur, nisi quem fratres communi consensu vel fratrum pars consilii sanioris secundum Dei timorem et beati Augustini regulam præviderint eligendum.

Decernimus ergo ut nulli hominum omnino liceat præfatam ecclesiam temerè perturbare, aut ejus possessiones auferre, vel ablatas retinere, minuere, seu quibuslibet vexationibus fatigare, sed omnia integra conserventur eorum, pro quorum gubernatione ac sustentatione concessa sunt, usibus omnimodis profutura, salva sedis apostolicæ auctoritate et diocæsani episcopi canonica justitia. Si qua igitur in futurum ecclesiastica secularive persona hanc nostræ constitutionis paginam sciens contra eam temerè venire temptaverit, secundo terciove commonita, nisi præsumptionem suam congrua satisfactione correxerit, potestatis honorisque sui dignitate careat, reamque se divino judicio existere de perpetrata iniquitate cognoscat, et à sacratissimo corpore ac sanguine Dei et Domini redemptoris nostri Jesu Christi aliena fiat, atque in extremo examine districtæ ultioni subjaceat. Cunctis autem eidem loco sua jura servantibus sit pax Domini nostri Jesu Christi, quatinus et hic fructum bonæ actionis percipiant, et apud districtum judicem præmia æternæ pacis inveniant. NUM. IX.

Stemma Fundatorum Prioratus de Wyrksope.

[Ex vet. pergam. MS. penès . . . Talbot de Grafton, in Com. Wigorn. arm. a. 1587.]

WHICH had that affiaunce and inspiration
The Monastery of Worsoppe first for to found,
Mortest therto goods thereupon,
Wooddes, medues and mounds; to say a greate grounde,
Therefore in speciall, certs we are bounde,
To pray for his soule, and his successours,
As we nightly do, and dayly at all houres.

This was founded in King Herrye dayes,
The first, as we rede, after the Conquest
Of William Conquerer, as the Cronicles says,
Third sonne, which England mightely possest
Third day of the moneth of Mars as is cest,
The third yere rennyng of Herry aforesayd,
As in divers monuments tyl us is conveyd.

The seventh yere and xxx. of William Conquerour,
That Conquest this realme the yere of our Lord
A thousand sixtie and six, was that shoure
Against Harold king, the Chronicles accord,
And so sone counted it is to record
The yeres of our, that now present be,
How many they are, sene he had the gree,

Anno milleno sexageno quoque seno,
Anglorum metæ crimen sensere cometæ,
Dux Normannorum transit mare, vicit Heraldum.

Which Sr. William^a dicest and was tumulate
In the said church on the north side,
On the nederest gree, for his hye estate,
Tendyng to the hye awter, and there doth abyde:
And he gat Sr. Richard his sonne in good tyde
Which beryed was beneth him under a white stone
The lefte side Thomas Nevill, and thereon gone.

And Sr. Richard gate William Lovetoft also Beryed next the neder gree on the said payment;
Sr. William gate good Molde Lovetoft, called tho
Last of that tayle as aunchaunt hath ment:
Then by King Richard conquerer was sent
First Furnivall Gerard, and he her marryed
That came out of Normandie streight as we rede.

Apud Ebrard in Neustriâ, Normandia vocata est, tumulatus in suo dominio, quod constat Fornevall, per rectam successionem; si patria cum Anglia existeret pacificata.

Which Gerard gate Thomas; and Gerard eke
Good S. William cleped also in dede:
Which Thomas to the Holy Lande went for to seeke
The sepulture of Christe, and therto agreed
With Gerard his brother, and there Thomas dyed Slayne of the Sarazens for Christes love,
Therefore we trist Christ hath reward him above.

Then dicest Gerard the first Fournyvall
And beryed was in Normandy, his owne inheritance;
Which this place indued with lordships royall;
And goode Molde them confirmed with good affiance;
Gave us more to withouten distaunce
For his saule and hers, as monuments declare Under sure seales where so that they are.

To report the good deedes that they did to us,
Right longe time and space they wold have, I write
Bot in speciall: reward them our Lord Jesus,
Progenitours and successours, and in Heaven them quyte.
And of their successors further to indyte
How they do succeed by noble yssue
More under I will say in this pedegree.

Goode Molde was beryed most principall
Above Sr. Thomas Nevill afore the hye autere,
For a goode doer most worthie of all
That indued this place; and her husband in fere
To reherse what she did, dyvers things sere

^a Lovetot.

As expressed afore, it wolde take longe space,
Bot in Heven therfore we trust is there place.

When Sr. Thomas was slayne for Christes sake
His broder came home Gerard agayne,
And that Molde ther moder grevously gan take
That his bones emong hathen shuld be lane,
And made him retorne without more disdeyne Againe to the Holy Lande, and his bones home brought,
As it was Goddes will; that him dere boght.

Then tumulate here in Notinghamshire,
At Wyrksoppe, the north syde of this mynster,
With his helm on his hede will enquere
With precious stones sometyme, that were sett sere,
And a noble charbuncle on him doth he bere.
On his hede to see they may who so will
Of my writing witness for to fulfill.

Sr. Gerard on the south side under a merbill stone Next St. Peters Chappell is beried also,
And Sr. William ther brother both flesh and bone
In our Lady Chappell was beried even tho,
In the midst of the chappell good Molde a little fro grace:
Wyf to first S. John Fournivall that was;
Which forsaid Sr. Will. was greatly enduid with.

For five candells perpetuall in that chappell
He ordeyned to brynne afore our Lady;
And mych more he ordeyn'd as we herd tell
As his auncestrie afore had done worthely
And there lyeth tumulate full worshipfull
All in free-stone, and on him is write
These versés here that thus are indite.

Me memorans palle, similis currisque calle
De Fournivalle pro Williélmo rogo psalle.

Then Thomas gat Thomas which beryed was
At the bare foote-fryers in the towne of Doncaster:
And Thomas gat Gerard, this is the case
Beryed at Wyrksoppe, in this place here,
In Seynt Mary Chappell which doth not appere
Under the stall, nothing but the hede
Of this through-stone is sene lengthe and brede.

Then Gerard gate Thomas and William his broder
Which Thomas sterne and right hasty man,
The hasty Fournivall, but he was good founder
To the place of Wyrksoppe in his time than;
Which had none yssue from him that ran
Bot of his broder Sr. William foresaid
And from him dame Jone certs was conveyd.

Which forsaid Thomas on the north-side is layde
In a tumbe of alabaster above the hye quere.
And William of the south side enens him is seid,
Here these two breder are beried in fere.

This Thomas Nevill first gan appere
Brother that was to Erle Westmaryland
By dame Johanne, Lord Foernivall we understand.

And he maryed dame Johane, daughter to S. William
And they had a doghter, dame Molde that hight
With which doghter maryed the most noble of fame
Sr. John Talbot, warryour, that noble knight,
Here alterats the name, as we have in sight
Of Fournivalles to Talbots, knyt both in one,
Lovetofts and Fournivalles to the Talbots thus gone.

Dame Johane is beryed aboven the hye quere
Next Thomas Nevill, that was her husband,
In alabaster an ymage Sr. Thomas right nere
As he is tumulate on his right hand:
And by her daughter Molde we understand
Went owt the Fournivalles, as by their name
As Lovetofts by dame Molde afore did the sam.

And Sr. Thomas Nevill treasurer of England,
Aboven the quere is tumulate, his tumbe is to see
In the middes, for most royall there it doth stand:

In Saynt Mary Chappel tumulate lyeth shee
Afore our blessed Lady, next the stall side
There may she be seene, she is not to hyde.

Whom Sr. John the noble Talbot maryed,
And gate of her three sonnes by naturall yssue;
First Thomas which dicest right yonge in dede,
And then John Talbote, who so it knewe,
And St. Christofer, no mo by that pedegrue:
Which Sr. John Talbote, first Sr. John Fournivall,
Was most worthie warriour we reade of all:

For by his knighthode, and his chivalrye
A knight of the garter first he was made;
And of King Henry the First, Erle Scrovesberye
To which Sr. John his sone succession hade
And his noble successors now thereto sade
God gave them good speede in their progresse
And Heaven at their ende, both more and lesse.

The live to report of this foreseid lorde
How manly he was and full chivalrose,
What deedes that he did, I cannot by worde
Make rehersal by meter ne prose:
How manly, how true, how famose
In Ireland, France, Normandy, Gyon, and Gascone,
His pere so lang renyng I rede of none.

When he was no more bot xvi. yere of age
By Sr. Thomas Nevill Lord Fournivall
He was sent to Ireland, and there right sage
He quyt him full manfully in that land over all.
Both castles and townes he gat there royall.
Lord Fournivall was by the said Nevill's daughter
And after Lord Talbot by his progenitor.

Which while he reigned was most knight
That was in this realme here many yere
Most dughty of hand, and feresest in fight
Most drede of all other with Frenchmen of werre:
In Ireland, France, Gyon; whose saule God absolve
And bring to that blyss, that will not dissolve.

For speciall remembrance moreover also
His sonne Sr. John Talbot have we in mynde,
To whom dame Elizabeth was maryed tho
The erle daughter said of Ormunde we finde:
Which John erle was of Shrovesbery we finde
And true succession of his father afore
To second erle said of Shrovesbery that wore.

And they had faire yssue from theim procedynge
Sr. John, James, and Gilbert, and Christopher saide
With doghters royall they furth gan bring
And thus theire succession to us is conveyde:
Which Sr. John, erle second is tumulate and layde
In our Lady quere, at Northampton slayne
The tenth day of July, it is not to lane.

Anno milleno quater C. X. quoque seno
Festo sep. fratrum Northampton dat tibi bellum
Prato sanctarum moenia juxta monacharum.
Quid plagis, quid aqua sunt multa corpora strata,
Ex quibus hiis Buckingham Talbot proceres Bemont dic. et Egremont
Et Lucy miles; Deus omnibus hiis requiem des.

Salopiæ comitis lapis hic tegit ossa Johannis,
Cui nihil antiquius, quam fuit alma fides.
Hanc ut servaret, regi tormenta subivit,
Intrepidus ferri, sanguineamque necem.
Ergo licet parvum condat sua viscera saxum,
Virtus Angligenum lustrat in omne solum.
Hii versus super tumbam suam.

By his moder his son is at the ixth. degree
From Gilbert Beket, fader that was To Seynt Thomas of Canterbury by the Ormundes say we
The more as we trust shall fortune his grace:
With Duke of Buckingham doghter which maryed was Third Sr. John Talbot, and erle Shrovesbery
Which gat George Talbot, no ferther can I.

This processe one Pigote brevely thus saith
 If any can say more it is corrigible
 To there better avise I me bequaith
 To make it in matter more intelligibill,
 That none to my knowledge shuld be forgotten
 Bot remembrance lineall shuld be forshotton.

These saules, rehersed in generall afore,
 Have in remembrance what man so thow be ;
 Have piety, and pray for them evermore.
 Say Pater-noster, with the salutation Ave :
 And if thow a clerk be for there hye degree,
 Say De profundis withouten disdeyne,
 For them and all christen, that suffres pane.

Priory of Felley, in Nottinghamshire.

RALPH BRITO, with Reginald de Annesley his son (says Tanner), A.D. 1156,^a gave the Church and an old hermitage in this place, to the Monastery of Radford or Worksop, whereupon a Convent of Black Canons from thence were placed here, who not long after got themselves released from all subjection to that House.^b William, archbishop of York, appropriated to these Canons the Church of Adingburgh:^c and, as appears from other instruments, the substance of which is given by Thoroton, they had also the Church of Annesley appropriated to them.

The release of this Priory from subjection to Worksop was effected by a Composition, dated 5th non. March 1260, between John, prior, and the Convent of Worksop, and Henry, prior, and the Convent of Felley; on condition of the latter paying to Worksop an annual rent of twenty shillings: the same being confirmed by Godfrey archbishop of York.^d

Other persons who are recorded as benefactors to the Priory of Felley, were, Yvo de Heriz, who gave twenty acres of land in Ogeston and Brachinpheynt; Robert de Heriz, who gave an essart in Ogedeston; John de Heriz, who gave sufficient land in Tibbeself to maintain two canons; and Geoffrey de Langley, who gave them his whole land in Essover.^e

By an exemplification of a charter of King Henry III., in 18 Edw. I., it appears that the canons of Felley were to be quit of toll, and all customs, throughout England. King Edward the First, in the 34th year of his reign, gave them the tithes of his essarts in the Hayes of Lindeby, Romwood, and Willey.^f

This Priory was dedicated to the blessed Virgin Mary; and, according to Tanner, had only five or six religious. The value of the possessions of this House, in 1291, will be seen in the Note below.^g In the 26th Hen. VIII., its gross revenue was 61*l.* 4*s.* 8*d.*: its clear income, 40*l.* 19*s.* 1*d.* per annum.

An Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Priory is appendant to a Deed in the Augmentation Office. It represents the blessed Virgin and divine Infant; it is imperfect, and very little of the legend remains.

Abbey of Lanthony, near Gloucester.

THE original foundation of the Abbey of Lanthony in Monmouthshire, thence called Lanthonia Prima, as far as its history in English is concerned, must be again spoken of in another part of the present volume. The Canons who inhabited it, from the ill usage of the Welsh, were removed by Milo Earl of Hereford, in the reign of Henry the First, to a spot of ground on the South side of the City of Gloucester, called the Hide, where, in 1136, the Church of a New Monastery, originally intended as a Cell only, and thence called LANTHONIA SECUNDA, was consecrated by Simon bishop of Worcester, and dedicated to the Virgin Mary.

Milo Earl of Hereford's deed, which will be found in the Appendix,^a mentions his several donations to these Canons: and a charter of King John confirms a large number of Grants from different persons, among which we find one from Walter de Laci, of the Church of St. Mary of Drogheda in Ireland, dated 30th July, in the first year of his reign.^b These grants were again confirmed by King Edward the Second.^c

King Edward the Fourth, in the 21st year of his reign, united the two LANTHONIES, making this near Gloucester the principal House, and obliging the Monks to maintain only a residentiary Prior and four Canons in the old Priory, to say masses, which Prior was removeable at will; and thus Lanthony, in Monmouthshire, became a Cell only to Lanthonia Secunda.^d

This House was valued, in the 26th Hen. VIII., at 748*l.* 19*s.* 11½*d.* Tanner, in one of his MSS. in the Bodleian, No. clxiv., speaks reproachfully of the lives of some of the Canons of Lanthony. The Scite was granted, in the 32d Hen. VIII., to Sir Arthur Porter.

Fosbrooke says, the daughter and heir-general of the Porter family marrying a Scudamore, the Priory went into that family, and descended thence to the late dowager Duchess of Norfolk.

No CHARTULARY of Lanthony has fallen within the notice of the Editors of this Work;^a though the contents of one will be quoted below, from the Memoranda supplied by Mr. Fosbrooke, in his History of the City of Gloucester.^b

The COMMON SEAL of this Lanthony was oval, large, and handsome; its subject, the blessed Virgin and divine Infant; underneath the Virgin, a Lion couchant. Legend: SIGILLVM . COMVNE . PRIORIS . ET . COVENTVS . ECCLIE . BTE . MARIE . LANTHONIE . JVX^a . GLOUCESTR. There is an Impression of it in the Chapter House, Westminster.

The Abbey Barn and Gateway are the chief REMAINS of Lanthony, the latter ornamented with the Arms of the family of Bohun. Fosbrooke says, in digging the Berkeley canal, the foundations of the old Church were discovered, and some bodies disturbed, but no stones appeared: they had been carried away at the Dissolution, for then the tomb of Ann, Countess of Stafford, and many others buried here were lost.^c

^b Fosbrooke says: "In 1407, John bishop of Worcester, visited the Priory of Lanthony, to the intent and purpose that they might exhibit all benefits which then did appertain to their Monastery; and, in obedience to the same visitor, they by their Proctor exhibited and said, that at this time they had possessed the parish Church of St. Audoens in Gloucester, with the Chapel within Gloucester Castle, St. Kyneburg of the same; in Heyhampsted, Quedesley, and Elmore, depending on the same, and the parish churches of Payneswicke, Tiderinton, Brokworth, Prestbury, Sevenhampton, Wyrnicke, Berington Magna, Beryington Parva, &c. Harsfield, with the tithes, and a yearly pension of five shillings to that Monastery, anciently due from the rectory of the Chapel of Harscomb, and two parts of the great tithes of Colesbourne, and all great tithes from divers lands of the same Monastery in the town and parishes of Collesborne, Turkdeanc, South Cerney, and Southam, and all tithes of the demesne lands of Whaddon, Brockthrop, Leckhampton, Longford, and Southam; the same Monastery then had by right the yearly pensions following due to them, viz. from the Church of St. Mary in the South of Gloucester, 3*s.*; All Saints in Gloucester, 2*s.*; Rodmerton, 40*s.; portions of Vicars ministering in the same Churches only excepted. Reg. Lanth. fol. 1-6. MSS. Prin."

Fosbrooke adds, "And by the same Registry it appears that they had, besides, estates in Aiberton, Alvyngton, Aure, Barington, Barington Parva, Barton Lacy, Balmium, Brockworth, Burghill, Buckholt, Baldicote, Cerney, Chardsey, Chirinton, Cheltenham, Collesbourne, Cannock, Cushope, Dudston, Elkstone, Eylworth, Fulley, Frome Canons, Frome Bishops, Gloucester city, Haresfield, Hempsted, Henlaw, Kingswood, Mattesden, Monkmead, Mordeford, Myntz, Netheruge, Newent, Newland, Newton Sacy, Prestbury, Quedisley, Redgrove, Rockhampton, Sevenhampton, Staunton near Corse, Staunton Lacy, Southam, Tyderington, Tellington, Webley, Westbury, Wigginsmore, Windrige, Wales, Ireland. mirabiliter plantavit, et beneficiis variis misericorditer irri-gavit, quam nichilominus ad incrementum salubre, gratiâ comitante, feliciter perduxit.

Stat namque inibi in valle profunda, ecclesia conven-tualis præ omnibus ferè Britanniarum cœnobiis perfectæ religioni magis accommoda, tantò contemplativæ quieti et secretiore cum omnipotente confabulatione ydonea, quantò popularibus strepitibus, et tumultuosis clamoribus inaccessa.
Non denique hic querulæ oppressorum audiuntur calumpniæ; non protervæ litigantium ponderant insanix, sed pax certa, quies securâ, karitas firma ita sanctam religionem invitant, sicut omnimodam dissolutionem dissuadent.

De situ verò loci quid referam, cum pene universa eo tempore, quo primùm inhabitari cœperat, modo dissimilia esse sciantur. Præruptæ namque rupes vix feris præpeti-bus (quarum est ibi copia magna) perviæ, quibus valli oppaca, orbiculariter cingitur silvis aereis coronantur, longè et latè terra marique intuentibus, tam miranda quam eminentiora spectacula præbent; vallis verò media variis et densissimis nihilominus arboribus hirsuta in angustam opacæ abyssi subsidiit profunditatem, cuilibet aeris inclementiæ adeo ex-posita, ut sive die laxatur humus, seu fulgida lucent sydera, sæpe vel vento pervalido et urente, vel nebula caligante, vel ymbre ruente, vel gelu stringente, vel grandine rigente vel nive molestiæ, blandiente angustatur, licet aliàs clementioris auræ grata spiret æqualitas.

Fontium etiam rivuli perspicui è vicinis montibus coposiùs defluentes, fluvium efficiunt; qui vallis medium à lapsu placido interfluendo seperat, diversi generis piscium grata fœcunditate in alveo marmoreo refertus, qui cum aquis pluvialibus (quarum ibi frequentia est) habundantiùs intumuerit, cujuslibet obicis inpatiens, non sine locorum fi-nitimorum inundatione fertur in præceps, lapides subvertens, arboresque violenter prosternens. Pascua verò uberrima per montes spaciosos et prata apprica pecoribus jumentisque alendis accomoda frequentem terræ sterilitatem præponderare creduntur, ita ut in gratum annonæ defectum spontanea peculii suppleat fœcunditas. Aer salubris, etsi optusus, accolas incolumes usque ad senectam et senium frequenter conservare probatur. Gens vicina fera, vomere verbi Dei inculta, vaga, inconstans, rapinâ vivere gaudens, certarum sedium ignara quocumque eam rapit tempestas, hospita fertur.

Fingit siquidem Francorum urbana eloquentia locum istum dici Lanthony, quasi ex duabus corruptis compositam, acsi apertiùs diceretur la lande de Hodenay, hoc est enim nomen fluvii illius, vel Lanthotheni; Lan enim Kambrice locus ecclesiasticus sonat. Exquisitiùs tamen dici potest, quòd propria nuncupatio loci illius Kambrice est Nanthothem; Nant etenim rivus dicitur aquæ decurrentis, unde et à Walensibus dicitur ille locus Landeuvi Nanthotheni, id est, ecclesia David super rivum Hotheni. In hujus verò vallis invio, steterat olim beati David capella, structura fabrili modica, musco et hedera silvestri circumdata, densis fructectis tecta, vix adincluda homini, vix adeunda feræ.
Fama etenim celebris est, et à senioribus indubitanter iteratum, virum prædictum, ab hominum conversatione semo-tum, aliquot annos inibi solitariè transegisse; et quis ambigere audeat locum tanto hospite sanctificationis gratia donatum?
Quis tanti exemplaris speculo pie suspensus vasta silvarum vel devia montium impetusve ferarum formidet? quis tanti satoris semen in segetis copiosæ fœnora germinare desperet?
Affuit quandoque tempus cum pii patris herba in opimam messem gratâ maturitate proripit, et panem qui confirmat cor hominis, esurientibus justitiam largissimè erogavit, ut qui in labore et ærumpnâ peregrinationis semina misit, in gaudio et exultatione patriæ beatæ retributionis manipulos præsentium tribulationum camino excoctos, et in area multiplicium temptationum probatos, in horreo dominico sicut fidelis servus et prudens reconderet.

Cum igitur superno placuit dispensatori, et neglecta scintilla lucernam clarè radiantem misericorditer producere, miles quidam de domo et familia cujusdam principis Anglo-rum, nunc verò consors et concivis Anglorum, dum die qua-dam solito sollicitiùs venatorio scrutineo lustræ ferarum circuierat, earumque ferocius impeta avidissimo lustra per scopulorum devia turbaverat, non casu, sed divina potius aliciente dispositione, ad præfatam vallem non sine ingenti sui suorum sudore per affractus viarum, per ambiguas rupium crepidines tandem venisse refertur. Nomen verò præscripti viri principis illustrissimi Hugo de Laci. Nomen verò militis, quem vas electionis divina sibi prædestinaverit clementia, Willielmus. Qui dum æstu viaque fessus in humo gra-minea sub umbra paululum requiesceret; novo cœpit æstu-are incendio,

Dumque situm sedare cupit, sitis altera crevit.

Namque dum tacitus juga montium, prærupta rupium, devexa vallium, rivulosque fontium vicinumque fluvium, sagaci animo visuque sollicito perlustraret; secum fortè talia disseruit.

Hæc latebræ, dulces etiam si credis amœnæ,
Incolumen quemvis facient Septembribus horis.

Quinetiam ô omni felicitate beati, qui in melotis, pelli-busque caprinis Christumque sequentes, montes, speluncas terræque cavernas excelsis principum mœnibus fidei testi-monio probati prætulere! ô quam præstantius est abjectum degere in domo Dei, quàm tumidum in tabernaculis habitare peccatorum. Nonne regnum cœlorum vim patitur, et qui in eo gaudent hic, necesse est ut illud per violentiam adquirant.

Dumque hujusmodi sancto dictante spiritu secum silenter volveret, elevans oculos vidit haut procul capellam, de qua supradictum est, et grandi resumptâ fiduciâ ait. "Ecce, ne quid voto piè properantis obsistat, oratorium satis vicinum aspicio, et de cæteris quid sollicitor? Non enim affliget Deus fame animam justî. Anima mea jam eripi incipit de laqueo venantium; absit ut iterum per negligentiam viscatis aleat alis." Dixit et sociis canibusque relictis, ipse modico contentus famulatu Deo inservire decrevit. Et ait; "Ecce, qui mollibus vestiuntur in domibus regum sunt. Non sic mihi, non sic, sed veterem hominem cum actibus, desiderii, deliciisque voluptatibus suis exuere oportebit." Suscepit ergo pro balteo funiculum; pro syndone cilicium supra humanum usum, pro toga militari ferri pondus non modicum; nam loricam qua corpus muniri contra inimicorum jacula solebat, sibi strictissimè circumdedit, ne anima hostis antiqui insidiis molliter patefacta succumberet; ex quo homo exterior majori austeritate affligeretur, eò interior tutiori sanctitate divino cultui manciparetur. Nec ad modicum et quasi ad ho-ram fervescens, et subita temptationis procella tepescens, tali se censura cruciavit; sed loricam in corpore suo circumtulisse donec macularum reciaculum rubigine et vetustate con-sumptum dissiluit, indubitanter asseritur.

Sic igitur iste Deo dilectus, diebus multis in fame et siti, in frigore et nuditate et laboribus plurimis Deo infati-gabiliter militavit, omnem cogitatum suum in ipsum jactans, qui in se sperantes deserere non novit. Omnes verò qui conversationis ejus vias audierant, hanc invitationem dexteræ excelsi piè admirantes, Salvatoris clementiam in eo laudabant.
O quàm congruè loci illius primus inhabitator miles fuit, quem de facili aliquis inhabitare non poterit, nisi relictâ formidinis ignaviâ militaris strenuitatis audaciam fortiter arri-puerit? Nam si militia est vita hominis super terram, quantò magis religiosi super faciem deserti? Initio verò conversationis suæ iste Dei electus parvam litterarum ha-buit notitiam, sed qui ex ore infantium et lactentium perficit laudem, quique ora jumentorum cum voluerit in humanæ vocis expeditam modulationem mira potestate resolvit; inter cætera gratiarum ei collata beneficia etiam litterarum et scripturarum addidit intelligentiam, ut esset lex Dei ejus in corde ipsius etsi non in codice, ita ut infra annos paucos sacerdocii dignitate, quia dignus erat, illustraretur. O quam frequenti annisu molitus est antiquus hostis columpnam hanc evertere! nunc prospera pollicendo, fraudulentur blandiens, nunc adversa comminando terribiliter intonans; nunc deserti solitudinem palatii primo choortisque militum præcipuo improperanter objiciens: Sed et athleta invictissimus, tanto se cautiori fortitudine accingere studuit, quantò atrociori severitate contra se inimicum debacchari haut ambiguo experimento cognovit; nam sicut aliquibus ipso revelante innotuit, cum jam senex et plenus dierum, maturaque ætate gravidus in majoribus sollempnitatibus missarum sollempnia tanquam omnium pater ex more celebrare debuisset, sæpius eum totius munditiæ, et continentix adversarius nocturnæ illusionis fantasiâ impedire decertavit.

Hujus athletæ Christi præconiis crebrâ relatione longè lateque innotescens, multisque auditâ preclarâ tanti viri

famâ piè atthonitis, et imitantes sanctâ devotione beatificantibus, vir quidam vitæ venerabilis jam tunc heremi cultor famosus nomine Ernisius, tantarum laudum non surdus auditor, tantò plus cæteris virum prædictum tacitus piâ congratulatione collaudabat, quantò certiori experimento, quæ sit hujus vitæ arduitas, quæve hujuscemodi certaminis immanitas jam pridem ipse didicerat. Erat itaque vir iste Ernisius in curia Henrici regis primi, inter primos palatii nominatissimus, capellanus videlicet venerandæ recordationis Matildis reginæ, uxoris ejusdem Henrici, qui post diutinas curialis exercitii ambages, post inexplicabiles errorum circuitus, tandem ad suave heremiticæ vitæ sabbatum divinâ miseratione respiravit; in qua quàm strenuiter, quàm feliciter soli Deo vacaverit, quamque perfectum se Dei ministrum in omnibus exhibuerit, non est meæ pusillanimitatis evolvere; nam quia legitimè certavit, gloriosissime in fine triumphavit.

Degebat verò hic vir Dei eâ tempestate apud Edegarslegam, juxta forestam de Canotho, magnarum virtutum patrator eximius, loci illius accolis hospes carissimus, mæstorum et mærentium consolator efficacissimus. Erat enim eloquio dulcis, literarum studiis adprimè eruditus, parcimoniâ magnus, karitate præcipuus, multa gratiarum prærogativâ spectabilis, hostis invidi collectator diutinus. Huic itaque præfati Willielmi fama accito, quia

Segnius irritant animum dimissa per aures,
Quam quæ sunt oculis subjecta fidelibus.

Parum fuit solo auditu tanti viri laudibus applaudere, nisi etiam gratæ præsentia copiâ frueretur, optatique colloqui gratia confoveretur. Surgens igitur varios cogitationum conflictus, cœpit inire, et laboriosâ peregrinatione quærebat verum animæ virum, pro quo dignum judicaret mori, ut semper ejus inhæreret amori, et multis viarum amfractibus peragratis Lanthoniam usque properavit. Cujus adventum cum vir Dei Willielmus, jam non novus incola loci, comperisset, statim gratulabundus ei occurrit, et religiosa eum hilaritate suscipiens, pauperibus tectis inducit et admovit antris.

Humanitatis verò obsequiis pro loci possibilitate reverenter exhibitis, jam spirituales delicias eructantes, juvabat insomniam sermone benigno ducere noctem. Si sic gratiarum distributor et dispensator Deus, quæ stulta sunt elegit ut sapientes confundat. Ecce literatus illiteratum adit, vir industrius ab homine simplici in via deponit roborari, et quota pars futurorum Dei beneficiorum hæc est.

Anno igitur ab incarnatione Domini millesimo centesimo tertio; ab adventu Normannorum in Angliam anno tricesimo octavo, regnante pio et pacifico rege Henrico primo, qui tertius Normannorum in Anglia regnasse asseritur; Willielmus et Ernisius apud Lanthoniam, animâ unâ et corde uno in Deo habitare concorditer cœperunt. Nam postquam vir Dei Ernisius montes illos specialis jocunditatis dulcedine stillare, collesque sanctæ refectionis lac et mel fluere cognovit, nulla ratione exinde divelli consensit, quin potius Christi karissimi collegæ sui vita et exemplis animatus, in rupibus illis aliquam sanctæ karitatis scintillam strenuiter sibi excluderet. Isti itaque viri in præscriptæ vallis solitudine alternis nisibus insudantes, et mutuo sese exemplo in stadio certaminis choartantes, felicique solatio in temptationum fluctibus sullevantes, ecclesiam inibi confluerunt, rudi siquidem factam scemate, sed cœlesti præditam virtute, quæ officio Urbani diocesanis episcopi, et Ramelini Herfordensis episcopi, anno ab incarnatione Domini MCVIII. in honore S. Johannis Baptistæ sollempniter dedicata est, cujus tam grata ibi sentiuntur oportuna patrocina, quam famæ peribent indebita præconia. O quam convenienter heremiticæ vitæ sectatores non tepidi singularem et primum heremi cultorem sibi præsullem præficiunt, ut tantò interventorem sentiant propitiorem, quantò amica studia ferventiùs exercere conantur. Quis enim congruentiùs solitarius præsularet, quàm qui sub annis teneris inaccessibilia deserti antra viciorum contagia fugiendo primus subire non timuit? Vel quis efficacius pro justè et piè viventibus intercederet, quàm qui ex utero matris sanctificatus, sanctoque spiritu repletus, tam excellenti præconio meruit à saltatore sullimari, et eò major nullus hominum unquam surrexerit? Quis enim citiùs à piissimo exauditore petita impetret, quàm specialiter electus, singulariter sanctificatus, sanctissimè conversatus Christi baptista, Salvatoris præcursor, primus gra-tia prædicator, præco Judicis, paronymphus sponsi, hostis luxuriæ, virgo, præcipuus assertor veritatis, martyr invictissimus, apostolis prælatus, patriarchis præpositus, angelis adhæquatus, amicus Christi Johannes?

Horum patrociniū et temporalis solacii curam gerendam innato religionis amore, suscepit Hugo de Laci, præfati loci tunc advocatus. Vir quidem genere nobilis, sed nobilior moribus; inter primos regni principes nominatissimus, pauperum et oppressorum miseror benignissimus. Hic ne in aliquo paternæ religionis degener argueretur, liberalitatis et devotionis insignia, quæ traxit ex stipite felicibus indiciis in flores fructusque salubres produxit. Pater namque ejus in civitate Herefordiæ monasterium religiosorum à fundamentis construxit, et fratribus ibidem Deo servientibus ex propriis prædiis atque redditibus subsidia plena constituit. Frater etiam ejus Walterus in egregio cœnobio sancti Petri Gloucestriæ, sub patris imperio aliquandiu in monachica professione militavit, ibi postea abbas effectus, religionem, quæ inibi singularis sanctitate, fervore semper florere consuevit, suâ industriâ tam verbis quam exemplis propagavit. Nepos nichilominus miles probatissimus post innumeros probitatis titulos, post multos certaminum et bellorum triumphos, tandem sub habitu Templariorum pro summo rege Christo organizare non recusavit.

Hic ergo Hugo, ne tantarum virtutum laudibus, quæ in totam generis sui successionem naturali quadam innatæ religionis lineâ evitabiliter defluerunt, aliquatenus privaretur, non minus cæteris circa prænominatos fratres extitit in largiendo munificus, in colloquendo affabilis, in providendo sollicitus; nam eis donaria multa et prædia ampla contulit, et ampliora devotissima optulit liberalitate, sed ipsi melius arbitantes minus egere quam plus habere, ex quo sibi utcumque sufficere accepta credebant, plus accipere constantissimè recusabant.

Postquam verò divinæ visum est moderationi, hujus vineæ palmites longiùs extendere, propagesque latius propagare, ne lucerna sub modio latens, quos illuminare poterat diucius caligare permetteret, prædictorum fratrum mentibus incidit voluntas et consilium, approbante et consulente beatæ memoriæ Anselmo Cantuariensi archiepiscopo, ut post heremiticæ vitæ fructus aliquandiu jam feliciter collectos, contubernium duorum transiret in cœnobium multorum. Quamquam primò Willielmus hæc minus gratè accepisset, tandem precibus, instantiis, consiliis tam Ernisii qui ad hæc præcipuè nitebatur, quam aliorum discretorum adquiescens, assensit libens. Consilio ergo inito cujus ordinis cujusve professionis instituta arriperent; nigri monachi non eliguntur, ne labe superfluitatis, quæ eos singulariter inficere dicitur, aliquatenus notarentur: Nec etiam Cistercienses, singulariter enim incedere dicuntur, et aliis religiosis parum communicare, et præterea rebus augendis cupidâ satis sollicitudine inhiare. Tandem competenti quadam mediocritate subnixi, canonici regulares fieri præeligerunt, tum quia illo adhuc tempore propter caritatem cariores habebantur, tum quia leviori et modestiori contenti impensa, tanta rerum varietate non indigeant, tum quia habitus satis sit elegans, neque nimium nitidus, neque plurimum adjectus, unde plerumque solet superbia nutriri, vel sanctitatis ficta suscitari.

Acciti sunt igitur ex electis cœnobiis, videlicet de Mereton et de Sancta Trinitate Londoniarum, et de Colecestre viri religiosi et timentes Deum, qui fratres apud Lanthoniam secundum regulam sancti Augustini vivere diligenter instruerent. Qui accedentes et Deum semper præ oculis habentes, injunctum sibi ministerium docendo, præcipiendo, corripiendo, increpando, obsecrando efficaciter adimplere studuerunt. Nam quæcumque optima vel in alienis monasteriis censuerunt, hæc eis velut electos flosculos exponere diligenter curaverunt, tanto faciliore aviditate divini verbi calix sitientes inebriaret, quanto plurium (ut ita dixerim) aromatum sapore condiretur. Coartata est igitur eorum vitæ institutio sub censura cœnobiali, scilicet, ut unus imperans præesset, alii obsequentes subessent, ita duntaxat, ut quicquid ille secundum Deum imponeret, illi incunctanter et voluntariè obediendo adimplere festinarent, &c.

Cum fratres apud Lanthoniam cœnobialibus observantiis sufficienter instruerent, accitus est dyocesanus episcopus, qui electionem prælati in personam præfati Ernisii factam pontificali auctoritate communiret, qui etiam ei curam animarum, secundum sanctorum patrum traditionem cum regula religionis commisit. Prioris itaque dignitate Ernisius sullimatus, eandem morum gravitatem, eandem quam priùs sectebatur humilitatem, creber in oratione, strenuus in vigiliis, assiduus in jejuniis, in suscipiendis hospitibus devotus, forma autem gregis per omnia factus, quod verbis docuit, operibus corroboravit: Augebatur cotidie merito et numero fratrum collegio, ita ut ex XL. vel eò amplius, canonici tunc temporis inibi resedisse referantur. Fragrabat et longè latèque approbatæ opinionis odor suavissimus; vigilabat namque in omnibus et in singulis religionis censura, ordinis diligentia, divini cultus instantia, frugalitatis, austeritatis continua, et sanctæ communionis inconcussa concordia. Non jam Hugo de Laci solus, sed etiam Henricus rex Anglorum primus, et beatæ memoriæ Matildis regina, et alii barones nominatissimi eorum curam temporalem gerere decreverunt, illos non mediocriter beatos asseverantes, qui se tam sanctæ congregationis orationibus aliquatenus committere prævalerent.

Hinc amplæ possessiones, apprica prædia, acceptissima donaria à pluribus certatim offeruntur, quæ ab eis magna ex parte respuuntur, quia magis elegerunt pauperes habitare in domo Dei, quod videlicet unum à Domino cum summa devotione petierant, quam variis refertos opulentiis litigiosis causis gelidisque solitudinibus agitari; nam cum eis aliquando tota provincia de Bergelay, à rege et regina gratis offeretur, vix precibus optinuerunt, ut sine illorum indignatione liceret eis oblata non recipere: regina verò Matildis, supradicti Willielmi sanctitatis ignara, quanta videlicet mentis constantia insaturabilem divitiarum fugeret ingluviem, eum aliquando rogare cœpit ut modis omnibus sineret eam manum suam in synum ejus mittere. Quod cum ille satis pudenda simplicitate tandem permisisset, illa inter cilicium et ferrum non modicum auri pondus effudit, ut sic velut quadam artificiosa benignitate deluso, aliquod solacii et beneficii remedium gratuita aviditate impartiret. O prorsus stupendus mundi contemptus! ô omnibus imitanda singularis nil habendi voluntas! sed et aliàs ecclesiæ ornamenta licet invitis regia munificentia devotissimè offerre satigit.

Da mihi si possis de tot modo millibus unum.

Quem tam excellentissimi datoris munera oblata non delectarent, etiamsi nullo priùs cupiditatis igniculo anelaret.

————— Nam acceptissima cuique
Munera sunt, auctor quæ preciosa facit.

Sed viri isti religione et sanctitate notissimi semper sibi summo opere præcavere studebant, ne crescentibus opibus cresceret in eis opum furiosa cupido, et sic inciperent in via ardua recalitrare, vel præsigna inertis defectu languere, quia

————— Dissuadet honestum
Luxum, et humanas obcæcat copia mentes.

Et quoniam ambulaverunt coram Domino in torto corde suo, dedit eis Deus gratiam in conspectu omnium principum terræ, insuper et illud modicum quod habebant, plus illis habundare consueverat, quam aliis multo amplior et numerosior substantiæ plenitudo.

Walterus Constabularius, princeps militiæ domus regiæ, vir magnus et potens et inter primos regni præcipuè honoratus, audito tam celebris sanctitatis, tamque religiosæ conversationis præconio, universis seculi pompis grataque sobolis fæcunditate et numerosæ cognationis turbis relictis, præcunctis Angliæ tam egregiis cœnobiis, inter pauperes Christi apud Lanthoni residuum vitæ sub habitu canonici transigere, tandemque inibi finiri firmissimo consilio decrevit, quod etiam sub valle laudabili celeritate, opere complere non distulit. Illi verò qui corde perfectò sinceraque constantia seculum relinquere, Deumque sub habitu religionis sine desidioso temporis . . sequi statuerant, ipsorum se collegio jungere nitebantur. Qui autem mente bipertita non nisi duabus viis terram ingredi didicerant, nullatenus ad eos accedere præsumebant, ne in arduo conversationis clivo deficientes, eorum simulatione subitò detecta, aspicientes risu pulsarent, et fierent novissima eorum pejora prioribus. Nihil enim inter eos lascivum, nichil frivolum, unde desidia foveri solet, vertebatur, sed quicquid eis incompositum fortè surreperat, frequentibus vigiliis, diuturnis jejuniis, crebrisque verberibus premebatur.

Tempore aliquanto interlabente pater Ernisius Lantho-

niensis ecclesiæ prior primus, debita fati per solvens sublimiter in cœlis ab eo procul dubio meruit coronari, pro quo in terris legitimè certare non formidavit. Conventione igitur inter fratres de substituendo pastore facta, Robertum de Retun, licet plurimum renitentem, priorem sibi constituunt. Erat enim Robertus vir simplex et rectus, nobilis progenie sed nobilior moribus, ab ipso puerili ævo secutus Dominum, in artibus liberalibus magister emeritus, et in divina pagina ita prædicator catholicus, sicut in fidei articulis sufficienter eruditus, vir etiam religiosus ac timens Deum, omniumque virtutum prærogativa spectabilis. De hujus viri eximia sanctitate, excellentissima caritate, modestia, pietate, perfecta humilitate multa qualicumque macilenti sermonis stilo scribere mihi ex devotione esset voluntarium, aliisque pro imitatione forte pernecessarium; sed ejus vita venerabilis actusque laudabiles luculento peritoeque sermone insigniter digesti sunt.

Et quis avida intentione lectitare non gaudeat quantæ virtutis iste Deo dilectus extiterit, quantæ videlicet circa necessaria comportanda strenuitatis, quam piæ circa subditos compassionis, quam promptæ circa compares veneratōnis, quam voluntariæ erga superiores obedientiæ, quantum etiam aliis largus, sibique parcus, insuper qualiter prophetiæ spiritu et miraculorum gratia feliciter enituerit? et quis ista legendo non proficiat? Et quis proficiens Deum in dilecto et electo suo non glorificet? Sed quia paucos in vita sua ejus virtutibus pastores similes habuit, utinam vel aliqui post mortem ejus mox imitatores invenirentur. Sed non permissa est Lanthonia diu tanto rutilare thesauro, tali fulgere lucerna, tamque imitandi patris melliflua gratulari doctrina. Invidet enim sæpius fortuna successibus, nam urgentibus apostolicis mandatis regiisque præceptis, et aliorum magnatum deprecatoriis renitendi commentis cassatis, dulcibus latebris invictus abstrahitur, optatis sedibus mærens abducitur, dilectissimis fratribus piissimis pater violenter auferitur, et in episcopum Herefordensem gaudente ecclesia, plaudente clero, exultante regno sollempniter consecratur, &c.

Tandem post lamenta spiritu consolationis utcumque resumpto, redeuntes in se post mentis stuporem fratres, quis tam incomparabili patri digne succedere possit diligenter tractare cœperunt. Et ecce inter cæteros invenerunt Robertum de Braci multorum karismatum insigniis florere, virum videlicet venerabilem et ingenium in religione ferventem, et secundum scientiam ordinis zelum habentem. Hunc ergo sibi pastorem et in via Dei doctorem præficiunt, hujus maturitatis et puritatis non ambigunt reportantes confidentiam. Et nescio si fortè ad hunc eligendum ipso nomine in aliquo allicerentur, ut frequenti successoris nominatione, sancti prædecessoris virtutes nunquam à recenti memoria exciderent, et de illis non immeritò diceretur

Porro quoniam ea quæ secuntur paucis expediri non possunt, ut postea mutato labore fortiùs in area discurrat

Principio clivi fessus anelat equus.

Interea Henricus primus, rex pacificus, et princeps gloriosus finem vitæ suæ sortitus de medio sublatus est. Et ne parum fortuna miseris urgeret, non multis post evolutis diebus defungitur archipræsul Cantuariæ, mutulatur suo protectore tam regnum quam sacerdotium. Grassantur illico feralibus inimitiis, seditiosisque simultatibus quos priùs regalis districtiōnis timor non amor justitiæ cohercuit. Insaniunt undique filii pestilentes, et non est qui prohibeat. Rapiunt, cædunt, incendunt, et non est qui pacificos de manu hostis possit eripere. Et quoniam non est qui se murum pro domo Israel opponat, extenditur inundans flagellum usque in sanctuarium Dei; nam in subversione ecclesiarum et religionis indifferenter acteritur sicut populus sic sacerdos. Deprehenditur ecclesia Lanthoniensis in medio nationis pravæ et perversæ, quæ ob innatæ feritatis improbitatem ambitiosâ rapacitate singulariter gaudere cognoscitur. Adde etiam consuetam gentis illius paupertatem, rabiem effrenatam, insolentem circumquaque discurrendi audaciam, et Christianæ fidei magna ex parte ignorantiam, quæ universa malignandi præbent incentivum.

Talium vicinorum ingrata propinquitate durissimè opprimuntur fratres Lanthonienses, spoliuntur sæpius victualibus, nec mittuntur alia esurientibus tutò convectari. Affi-guntur acerrimè propriis angustiis, nec minus alienis, quos fervor karitatis edocuerat aliena dampna propria reputare. Nusquam enim pax, nusquam justitia, nusquam divini nominis pristina reverentia. Est præterea et aliud quod animos innocentium plus omnibus hiis in fixorio angustiarum acerbis terreat; unus namque ex vicinis Walensibus inimicorum minis et jaculis undique impeditus, cum nullus ei tutus ad latendum vel evadendum locus superesset, cum omni domo sua ad Lanthoniam convolvit; hanc sibi constituens domum refugii ut salvus fieret, quem inimici odio inexorabili persequentes non longè ab atrio in insidiis sedentes vigilantius oportunitatem observabant, quando in eum casu aliquo tandem oblatum irarum virus evomere prævalerent. Ipse verò in interiores officinas, quo securior redderetur, cum suis et ancillis se ingessit, ita ut ubi fratres reficere consueverant, ibi mulieres choros ducere et cætera muliebria ignominiosè tractare non erubescerent. Quid facient milites Christi tot hostium cuneis tam atrociter vallati? Ecce foris pugnae et intus timores. Non enim possunt de foris jejunis alimoniae comportari, nec possunt ab intus fratres divinis officiis præ ingratorum hospitem insolentiâ, consuetâ veneratione interesse: luget Martha quia pascere non permittitur, dolet Maria quia sanctæ refectiois epulis privatur, et præterea nimis timet ne in infirmioribus membris suis alicujus culpæ surreptione dehonestetur.

Sed cum tot cladibus involutis quid potius eligerent penitus non eluceret, mittitur Herefordiæ qui viri venerabilis Roberti episcopi super hiis consulta ingestaret, ut quicquid piissimus pater in hoc articulo fieri decrevisset, in cuncta conniventia universi agere non hæsitarent. Quæ cum vir misericors audisset, sicut erat compatiens et super afflictos pia gestans viscera, tristatur, angustiatur, incredibili mœrore affectus, et præ cunctis quæ pectus sanctissimum sollicitant, fraterni enim dolores gravius affligunt, fraterna vulnera acerbis cruentant. Quid multa? Consul hortatur, jubet conventum adesse, ut sub umbra alarum suarum protegatur à facie impiorum qui eum afflixerunt. Nec mora, accincti venire festinant. Episcopus verò domibus cedens episcopalibus, tradidit eis capellam, horrea, celaria, et cæteras oportunas officinas, ut in sede pontificali divinis officiis consuetâ devotione vacarent. Et ne quid eis in sumptibus necessariis deesset, redditus episcopales, quantum eis sufficere ratus est, eorum supposuit arbitrio. Quidam verò quos ferventior animi constantia accenderat, ut potius gladiis vel fame insigniter mori eligerent, quàm inimico et persequenti enerviter terga præbere, à loco conversionis et professionis divelli nulla ratione consenserunt. Sicque factum est divinâ hoc nimirum ordinante clementia, ut nullo tempore ecclesia Lanthoniensis religiosorum orbaretur residentiâ.

Istorum ergo magnanimitas laudabiliter est extollenda; illorum cautela satis nihilominus approbanda, quia magno se iudice quisque tuetur: audiunt enim isti, "In pace vestra possidete animas vestras:" illi verò, "Cum persecuti vos fuerint in civitate ista, fugite in aliam."

ut sopitâ persecutionis rabie fratres ad propria cum pace remeare possent, quin potius crebrescentibus undique malis, novis semper insaniis pacis inimici debachabantur. Nam inter regem Stephanum et cognatam ejus Matildem imperatricem et H. filium ejus, non modica de regni calumpnia simultas exorta est; unde, invalescente inter eos odio ferali, iteratis cædibus et incendiis insistitur, nec finem in alis gratior aura permittebat. Fuerunt siquidem inter hæc mala sæpefato episcopo lacrimæ suæ panes die ac nocte, et præcipuè pro diutina fratrum desolatione, ut prædictum est, urebatur; unde pristinam pro eis gerens sollicitudinem, sicut apes argumentosa circumquaque sedulus quæritabat, ubi eos religiosè et honestè collocaret.

Convenit super hoc Milonem Constabularium comitem Herefordiæ, exponens ei fratrum necessitates, ad memoriam reducens devotionem patris sui Walteri, qui apud eos etiam humatus quiescit. Dedit ergo eis præfatus Milo locum quandam extra urbem Gloucesteriæ, qui Hyda dicebatur, in quo ipsi pecunia quam secum à Lanthonia detulerunt, et expensis aliis quas eis præfatus episcopus ad hoc contulerat: ecclesiam inibi sub admirabili celeritate construxerunt, quæ ab episcopo Symone Wygornia, et Roberto Herefordiæ anno ab incarnatione Dom. m.c.xxxvi. in honore beatæ Dei genitricis Mariæ solempniter consecrata est. Transtulit igitur episcopum illuc conventum, hac procul dubio interjecta conditione, ut cum fortuna prosperior arderet, Deo ecclesiæ et populo suo pacem et tranquillitatem largiente, universi ad pristinam et matricem ecclesiam suam absque cunctatione redirent, tresdecim tantummodo ibidem remanentibus, qui divinis officiis regulariter et religiosè vacarent, non omnium videlicet electissimis ut sæpedictus Milo primò poposcerat, sed probis et discretis, unde ipse rationabiliter se pacatum non ambigeret.

Hanc verò ecclesiam quam recenter ædificaverant, nomine prioris ecclesiæ suæ Lanthoniam vocare, ne aliter veniret in dubium quin hæc ex illa, tanquam ramus ex stipite, vel stipes ex radice, indubitanter processerit; videat qui voluerit, utrum de jure filia vel cella sit nominanda, quæ hoc ordine originem accepisse cognoscitur; nam etsi patronus fundi locum illum ecclesiæ sancti Johannis in Wallia non contulerit canonicis, tamen illius ecclesiæ et non alterius professis illum se contulisse negare non poterit. Et quid est ecclesia? nunquid lapides? nonne Christi fideles? Sed ne mihi super hiis aliquis succenseat, digito compesco labellum, verbum non ampliùs addens. Aspice, quæso, vineam Domini Sabaoth, palmites extendentem, propagines dilatantem; nec tamen à nativi saporis oblectamento aliquatenus degenerantem; sed potiùs multarum terrarum populos fœcunda præclari calicis suavitate inebriantem: viri namque prænominati, etsi jam in alio regionis tractu positi, pristinae tamen sanctitatis et religionis censuræ nequaquam obliti, jocundissimo probatæ opinionis odore longè lateque fragrant.

Cernens itaque vir illustris Milo comes, regis constabularius, ecclesiæ illius fundator et advocatus, religiosam ipsorum conversationem, et quanti essent apud Deum meriti, et quam gratæ in impetrando efficaciam per experientiam satis eruditus unà cum egregia sobole sua, militibus videlicet opinatissimis et matronis famosissimis, ecclesiam illam variis donariis et possessionibus non minus largè quam voluntariè ditare adjecit. Et utinam ipsi hiis quæ eis aperta fidelium devotione oblata sunt, ita sano consilio uterentur, ne multiplici opulentia saturatis debitâ obedientiam promissaque fidei reverentiam in fastidium vel oblivionem veniret. Nam postquam cœperunt inibi rebus ditari, honoribus efferri, crebris visitantium allocutionibus confoveri, et solito delicatioribus cibariis potioribusque poculis recreari, primitivæ solitudinis latebras, primæque professionis ecclesiam minùs quàm deceret venerantes; sed ut veriùs fatear turpiter dehonestantes, visitare vel inhabitare neglexerunt; quod in non modicum matricis ecclesiæ desolationis tumulum versum est, sicut ex consequentibus lectoribus sufficienter poterit elucere.

Igitur Roberto de Braci Lanthoniensis ecclesiæ Priori tercio, viam universæ carnis ingresso, et in monasterio suo apud Gloucesteriam debitâ honorificentiam sepulto, Willielmus de Wycumba cononica fraternæ conniventia electione, locum et officium prioris sortitus est. De hujus eximia literatura, etsi lingua ingrata silere voluerit, paginae tamen disertis sermonibus ab ipso editæ ejus peritiam immarcessibili præconio loquentur. Erat siquidem hic Willielmus sæpedicto Roberto episcopo diutinæ dilectionis affectu familiaris, capellanus videlicet ejus; vir quidem multarum virtutum titulis insignis, sed aliquantulum districta severitate austerus. Cernens itaque Robertus episcopus et mente præsaga intelligens, quò se res verteret, quanta videlicet desolationis dispendia ecclesiæ Sancti Johannis jam tunc oriri inciperent, iteratâ supplicatione à sede apostolica impetravit, ut ecclesia Sanctæ Mariæ extra Gloucesteriam, cum suis possessionibus, auctoritate duorum Romanorum pontificum, Eugenii videlicet et Lucii, ecclesiæ Sancti Johannis Baptistæ Lanthoniensi, tanquam cella in perpetuum confirmaretur; ut si timore vel odio rei veritatem aliquandiu subticeri contingeret, tamen aliquando ad eam convincendam et debiti ecclesiæ status reformationem, tantæ auctoritatis testimonium posset, non inconvenienti argumenti assumi.

Præterea quidem conventus xx. fratrum, virorum videlicet prudentium et proborum, quos terræ sterilitas et loci importunitas nemrosis aditibus expulerant, hujus viri venerabilis industria studiosius procurante, una die intra collegium Lanthoniense admissi sunt: Et ne illorum ingressu, aliis oneri videretur, terris et ecclesiis, quas prius eis contulerat, etiam alias munificentissimè adjecit.

Considero hujus eximii viri tam munifica circa fratres opera, et admirari non sufficio, quanto karitatis fervore eos dilexit, qui illos in tempore necessitatis, tam prompta hilaritate suscepit, tam largis impensis exhibuit, tam indefessâ strenuitate in loco pascuæ et solo optimo et terra fluente lac et mel collocavit; tam desiderabilibus opulentiis ditavit, tam grato consilio et auxilio virorum sapientium roboravit. Bone Jesu, bonorum omnium benignissime remunerator, memento ei super hiis rebus omnibus in bono, et ne deleas miserationes ejus, quas fecit in domo tua et in servis tuis; sed cum præelectis tuis mirifica sanctum tuum et constitue eum in pace. Amen.

Exigit ipse locus, ut quæ superiùs de desolatione et spoliatione matricis ecclesiæ tacta sunt, hic apertius desiderantur: Si quis omnia etiam quæ memoriæ occurrent sine singultu et suspiriis stilo prosequetur; equis vel saxei pectoris ea sine lacrimabili admiratione audire poterit? Non enim potest commiserabilis ecclesiæ querela ingemiscere, dicendo, "Filiis matris meæ pugnaverunt contra me;" nam leniùs communia tangunt, sed quodammodo spetialiore et tanto atrociori flere, clamando, "Filiis uteri mei pugnaverunt contra me," quia

Pectora, descendit vulnus ad ossa suum;

Flante namque aura gratiori, et pace ecclesiis et terris redditâ, cum jam cuilibet deambulare tutò liceret, filii Lanthoniensis ecclesiæ matris suæ limina terere, et Deo ibidem prout deceret deservire, renuerunt. Nam valde dissimiliter sibi respondere experti sunt, urbem Gloucestriæ et montem Hatyre, et fluvium Sabrinae, et aquam Hodanie, Anglos ditissimos et Walenses pauperrimos; illic agros fertiles, hic saltus steriles, unde illorum copia blandiente illecti, istorum inopia urgente pertæsi locum istum, nec hominum quorumlibet necdum religiosorum inhabitatione dignum censuerunt. Audivi quidem dici et ex parte credo, quosdam linguæ levitate, et utinam non odii livore desiderâsse, ut quilibet hujus ecclesiæ lapis lepus foret: Alios autem, quod in pace illorum dixerim, ore sacrilegio impetisse, ut ecclesia cum omnibus officinis abyssi voragine absorberetur. Omnes verò ecclesiæ hujus redditus pro suo arbitrio expenderunt, illic excelsa et decentia officinarum ædificia fabricantes, hic verò fabricata situ et vetustate deferentes.

Et quoniam indignissimum eis videbatur, ut locus tam antiquâ religione sacer, et tam amplis possessionibus ditatus, omnino virorum religiosorum residentiâ destitueretur, destimare solebant senes, debiles, et abjectiores, qui nec sibi nec aliis multum prodesse valebant, qui non inmerito cum apostolo dicere poterant, Tanquam purgamenta fratrum facti sumus omnium paripsima usque adhuc. Hos verò multiplici inopia ibidem laborare permittebant, ita ut pro defectu contra usum et consuetudinem ordinis, sine superpellicis, eos passim incedere et præ carentia femoralium consuetam, et regularem disciplinam sæpiùs declinare, et bidio unius diei pane sustentari oporteret, fratribus apud Glocestriam omnium istorum sufficientia gaudentibus. Unde non fratres vel canonici sed præbendarii sæpiùs dicebantur. Divinum officium neque in ecclesia neque in refectorio regulariter et ordinatè agebatur. Quod si quis liberiori audacia postulâsset, ut majus adjutorium divinis officiis provideretur, faciliùs inde iram vel derisum excitare quàm promotionem impetrare videretur. Aliquando namque et fortè sæpius super hiis conquerenti responsum est. Quibus ibi cantandum est nonne lupis? Nunquid catuli luporum altissonâ melodiâ delectabuntur? Generaliter et quasi proverbialiter à multis de eo qui huc mittebatur dici solebat. Quid enim mali fecit? quâ meruit culpâ in carcerem retrudi? Carcer namque et quasi reorum exilium ipsa, quæ de jure domina et mater erat, propter causas supradictas à multis vocabatur.

Et cum tam variis angustiis ecclesia ista non minus turpiter quàm atrociter urgeretur, licet plures eam filioli amore affectuosiùs diligerent, ferè nullus inveniebatur qui ejus libertatem attestaretur, ut ejus adversarius quasi cum Assur gloriari posset, dicente, In fortitudine manus meæ feci hæc; nec erat qui moveret pennam et aperiret os et ganniret. Quod si quis super hiis aliquatenus, licet modicè velut conquerens mutire præsumeret, tanquam pro enormi delicto gravi proinde sententiâ plectebatur. Igitur plurimorum connivente conventiculo, occultoque Dei sed nequaquam injusto permittente judicio, spoliatur libris armarium, pannis sericis, et auro vel argento textis reliquiis, variisque cartarum et privilegiorum munimentis vacuatur gazophilacium; cæterorumque thesaurorum repositis nudatur ærarium; et quicquid visu pulcrum vel precio acceptum in ecclesia sancti Johannis reperiebatur, nullo prohibente apud Glocestriam asportabatur: Campanas eciam, licet metalli ponderositas diripientium agilitatem de jure posset retardare, nichilominus asportabant, &c.

Restant adhuc non pauca de ecclesiæ hujus afflictionibus dicenda; quæ licet per singula non scribantur, propter sui immanitatem, nunquam ut reor oblivione obliteranda, filii qui nascentur et exurgent enarrabunt filiis suis. Videat qui voluerit an in talibus tantisque tribulationibus desideranda esset respiratio. Et ne quid purgationis probationisve afflictæ ecclesiæ deesset, hujusmodi persecutiones usque ad septuagesimum annum ad instar illius Babylonicæ captivitatis protelatae, spiritus et animas innocentium variis et acerbis doloribus cruciabant.

Cum autem supradictus Willielmus annis aliquot ecclesiæ Lanthoniensi honestis moribus et religiosis exemplis præfuisset, contigit eum apud Rogerum comitem, tunc advocatum ecclesiæ Glocestriæ, grave simultate periclitari, divino hoc permittente seu etiam fortassis procurante judicio, ut ubi plus æquo et non sine aliorum læsione in rebus comportandis extiterat sollicitus, ibi se pudenda dejectione humiliari videret. Hujus itaque odii seminarium hujusmodi initium sumpsit: Milo comes Herefordiæ pater ejus Rogeri, tempore aliquo ecclesiam et ecclesiasticas personas acerbissimè insectabatur, et ecclesiasticâ sententiâ sub horribili austeritate proinde plectebatur. Hic verò Willielmus, qui Roberto episcopo comes individuus diutius adhærebat, omnem ejus tyrannidem actusque detestabiles probrosamque à grege dominico sequestrationem, tanquam æternæ mandans memoriæ, in libello quodam (sicut erat vir summæ eloquentiæ) digesserat. Fratres siquidem qui eum præ nimia vitæ austeritate inflexibilique severitate exosum habebant, cupientes omnimodis ejus carere consortio, quippe ———— quem metuit quisque perire cupit.

Hæc et fortè alia si qua impudenti malitiâ componere poterant, ipsi Rogero intimaverant, suggerentes ei, hujusmodi homini implacabilem se esse debere, nec aliquatenus passurum eum domui suæ ulterius præesse. Qui nimirum ulterius et suggestionibus eorum credulus, et præ magnifica sui potentia plurimum impatiens, tantam exarsit in iram, ut assereret, se nunquam domum illam, dum ipse præesset, ingressurum, quinimmo verbis levibus et si dici liceat blasphemis (quibus illud hominum genus habundantiùs intumescit) omnia eorum bona se velociùs demoliturum atrociter comminabatur. Quid quæso consilii superest priori hujusmodi angustiis inopinatè circumvento? videt hinc terribiles advocati comminationes, hinc cotidianas fratrum importunitates. Quod potuit fecit, cessit, loco officio et beneficio, et residuum vitæ apud Fremam unius canonici contentus solacio sub satis honesta conversatione transegit.

Quo cedente, fratres unanimi assensu virum clarissimum nomine et re, Clementem supprioris tunc officio fungentem in sortem prioris elegerunt. Et quis ego sum ut omnes hujus eximii viri virtutes stilo tegere præsumam, sed nunquid si omnia dignè explicare non sufficio, saltem vel aliqua utcumque tangere recusem? Absit hoc à devotissimi filii congratulatoria admiratione, ut immarcessibilia tanti patris præconia silenti transcursu censeam prætereunda. Floruit itaque permaximè in divinarum studiis litterarum, in quibus quantum extiterit, in investigando subtilis, in sapiendo sobrius, et in disserendo catholicus, insignia ejus volumina sano satis eloquio testantur. Præterea quantum fuerit in exhortando efficax, in prædicando alacer, et in cæteris spiritualis conversationis exercitiis (de quibus hic per singula longum esset enumerando discurrere) assiduus et devotus, viri probi, et seniores qui adhuc supersunt indubitabili peribent testimonio.

Deinque ea quæ in ordinis seu divini servicii consuetudinibus ei minus decentia videbantur, virorum prudentium sapienti usus consilio ita emendare et ordinare satagit, ut ecclesia Lanthoniensis nulli majorum cœnobiorum in hujusmodi crederetur esse secunda, plura verò ut alia majori devotione et alacritate fierent, prudenter resecauit; quædam autem ad majorem aliorum perfectionem discreto modamine adjecit, nonnulla etiam ad majorem aliorum venustatem non animi levitate, sed quadam decenti varietate mutavit. Denique matricem ecclesiam suam majori quàm plures alii, qui ante vel post eum prælati extiterunt, colebat obsequio, et venerabatur, ita ut per annum conventum universum spontè vel invitè unà secum cogeret in ea residere, tredecim cum suo rectore apud Glocestriam remanentibus; quod quia diutius propter nimiam quorundam inopportunitatem hoc modo facere non prævaluit, magno animi torquebatur angore: Dicere enim sæpius consuevit, Omnes propter Sanctum Johannem in infernum descendemus.

Plus tamen in hiis, quàm fecit, facere potuisset, si tantum illi serpentinæ prudentiæ quantum columbinæ simplicitatis ingenita ejus benignitas contulisset; verum cum jam provectoris esset ætatis, propter multam parentum et cognatorum suorum turbam, nimiamque eorum familiaritatem minus solito à fratribus molestè id ferentibus venerabatur: O quàm multorum famam denigravit hujusmodi inaccepta curiositas! Contingere namque mirum in modum solet, ut cum aliquis monasterium petens, universa, quæ seculi sunt, corde perfecto reliquisse videtur, paucis evolutis annis cum jam in sancta religione multum profecisse credi posset, quosdam nepotes vel cognatos in tantum diligere, tanto mentis affectu circa eorum curam affici, tantaque sollicitudine incipit agitari, ut non inmerito omnibus fratribus ejus inquietudo gravis, ejusque curiositas onerosa habeatur. De hujus autem eximii viri opinatissima vitæ honestate breviter, quod de familiaribus ejus didici, dico, quia virgo senex obiit, deficiensque senectute bonâ appositus est ad prædecessores suos priores, sepultusque est in monasterio suo apud Glocestriam.

NUM. II.

Fundatorum Progenies.

[Ex Chronicis Abb. de Lanthoni, juxta Glouc., per Rob. Gloverum, Somerset Heraldum, quondam transcripta.]

MEMORANDUM, quod in tempore regis Henrici filii Willielmi conquestoris Angliæ, fuit quidam constabularius nobilis, nomine Walterus; qui quidem Walterus habuit in sua custodia, castella Gloucestriæ et Herefordiæ: et dictus Walterus fieri fecit prædictum castellum Gloucestriæ, super proprium solum suum, et postea moriebatur, et jacet humatus apud Lanthoniam in Wallia.

Walterus constabularius prædictus, habuit unicum filium, nomine Milonem constabularium: quem Milonem rex Henricus prædictus fecit comitem Hereford; et ultra hoc, in augmentatione ipsius comitatus, dictus rex Henricus dedit sibi et hæredibus suis, totam forestam de Dene. Qui quidem Milo desponsavit Sibillam, hæredem de Brekenok, filiam domini Bernardi et Agnetis de Nova-Marchia. De quibus Milone et Sibilla procreati fuerunt quinque filii et tres filiæ; viz. Rogerus, Henricus, Walterus, Mathæus, et Willielmus; Margeria, Berta, et Lucia.

Et dictus comes Milo fundavit domum sive prioratum Lanthoniæ, juxta Gloucestriam, 25. die Maii anno Domini MCXXXVI. et regni regis Stephani primo. Et postea idem comes Milo moriebatur in vigilia natalis Domini, anno Domini MCXLIII. et jacet in capitulo dicti prioratus Lanthoniæ juxta Gloucestriam. Post cujus comitis Milonis mortem, quilibet prædictorum quinque filiorum suorum, post alium, fuit comes Herefordiæ; sed brevi temporis spacio migraverunt de hoc seculo sine hæredibus de corporibus suis legitime procreatis; per quod hæreditas dicti comitis fuit partita inter tres filias prædictas.

Lucia prædicta, scil. tertia filia dicti comitis Milonis, fuit desponsata domino Hereberto filio Hereberti, cum foresta de Dene, et aliis terris in Anglia. De quibus Hereberto et Lucia Petrus filius Hereberti. De Petro Reginaldus filius Petri. De Reginaldo, dominus Johannes filius Reginaldi. De Johanne, Herbertus filius Johannis. De Herberto, dominus Mathæus filius Hereberti. Postea dicta Lucia moriebatur, et jacet in capitulo prædicto.

Berta supradicta, dicti comitis Milonis secunda filia, fuit desponsata Willielmo Brewes, cum dominio de Brekenoke; de quibus procreati fuerunt tres filii, viz. Willielmus, Egidius, et Reginaldus. Qui quidem Willielmus senior filius et hæres, postea, tempore regis Johannis, debellavit cum adversario suo, nomine Guenhunewyn, et eum superavit; nec non plus quam 3000 Walenses uno die in Elvel interfecit; viz. in crastino S. Laurentii martyris, anno Domini MCXCVIII. ob quam causam, rex Johannes supradictus exhæredavit dictum Willielmum ipsumque exulari fecit extra regnum absque judicio; et sic in utlagatione sua moriebatur: Et Mathildis uxor ejus, et Willielmus filius eorum et hæres, per mandatum ipsius regis Johannis imprisonabantur, et in prisiona moriebantur.

Egidius de Brews, secundus filius supradictus, fuit episcopus Herefordiæ: Et Reginaldus de Brews tertius filius prædictus, post mortem prædicti regis Johannes et duorum fratrum suorum, Willielmi et Egidii supradictorum, intravit in omnia terras et tenementa, quæ fuerunt fratris sui Willielmi supradicti, ut rectus ejus hæres, et stetit dominus xiii. annis. Qui Reginaldus desponsavit filiam domini Willielmi de la Bruere; de quibus Willielmus de Brews quartus, qui desponsavit Evam filiam domini Willielmi Mareschalli sæpedicti: De quibus quatuor filiæ, viz. Isabella, Matildis, Eva, et Alianora. Isabella fuit desponsata David filio Lewelini principis Walliæ: qui quidem Lewelinus, in quodam magno convivio, per ipsum facto, cito post festum Paschæ, anno sc. Domini MCCXXIX. concipiens gelositatem inter uxorem suam et dictum Willielmum, proditiosè ipsum Willielmum fecit suspendi, per quod tota marchia Walliæ fuit graviter turbata, rege Henrico tertio ad tunc in partibus Franciæ, cum magno exercitu, morante.

Matildis secunda filia supradicta, fuit desponsata domino Rogero de Mortuomari, domino de Wyggemore, de quibus Edmundus de Mortuomari. De Edmundo Rogerus primus comes Marchiæ. De quo Rogero Edmundus. Et de Edmundo Rogerus. De Rogero Edmundus comes Marchiæ et Ultoniæ. De quo Edmundo Rogerus comes Marchiæ et Ultoniæ. De quo Rog. Edm. comes Marchiæ et Ultoniæ, et Rogerus frater ejusdem Edmundi. Et quia dicti Edmundus comes et Rogerus frater ejus obierunt sine hærede de se, tota eorum hæreditas descendebat duabus sororibus suis; viz. Annæ et Alianoræ. Et quia dicta Alianora defuncta est sine hærede de se, tota dictorum comitatum hæreditas descendebat supradictæ Annæ, ut sorori et unicæ hæredi supradicti Edmundi comitis Marchiæ et Ultoniæ; et quæ quidem Anna desponsata fuit domino Ricardo comiti Cantabrigiæ.

Carta Regis Edwardi Secundi, Donationes et Concessioniones Walteri de Lacy et aliorum, recitans et confirmans.

[Cart. 28 Edw. III. n. 1. Vide etiam Cart. 28 Edw. III. n. 26. Et Cart. 1 Joh. p. 1, n. 169. Et Cart. 17 Hen. III. m. 1.]

EDWARDUS Dei gratia rex Angliæ dominus Hiberniæ et dux Aquit. archiepiscopis, &c. Inspeximus scriptum quod Walterus de Lacy nuper dominus Midie fecit canonicis Lanthoniæ primæ in hæc verba: Universis fidelibus, præsens scriptum inspecturis vel audituris, Walterus de Lacy dominus Midie salutem in Domino. Noverit universitas vestra, me divinæ pietatis intuitu concessisse canonicis Lanthoniæ primæ, ut secundum præteriti temporis morem, non requisito consensu meo vel hæredum vel successorum meorum, licitum sit eisdem canonicis, cum ecclesiam suam priore vacare contigerit, personam idoneam de gremio ejusdem ecclesiæ, vel aliunde, per regularem electionem sibi præficere in pastorem, episcopo diocæsano præsentandam, ut ab ipso confirmationem accipiat. Ego quidem illo tempore medio quo ecclesia sua pastore vacaverit, in rebus, terris, aut possessionibus suis molestiam aut gravamen aliquod eisdem inferre nullatenus attemptabo, nec etiam aliquis successorum meorum. Et ut hæc libertas eligendi eis imperpetuum perseveret illibata, huic scripto sigillum meum est appositum.

Inspeximus etiam scriptum quod Walterus de Lacy, filius Hugonis de Lacy fecit eisdem canonicis in hæc verba: Sciant præsentem et futuri, quod ego Walterus de Lacy, filius Hugonis de Lacy, dedi et concessi et præsentem cartam meam confirmavi, in puram et perpetuam elemosinam, Deo et beatæ Mariæ et ecclesiæ sancti Johannis Bapt. Lanthoniæ primæ, et canonicis ibidem Deo servientibus, pro salute animæ meæ, et animæ dominæ Margeriæ uxoris meæ, et animabus antecessorum et successorum meorum, totam vallem cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, in qua dicta ecclesia sita est; scilicet ex parte de Kenentasset, et Askareswey; et per la Ruggeweye usque ad Antefin; et ex parte Haterel à terra Seisel filii Gilberti, par le Ruggeweye, usque ad divisas de Talgargh, liberam et quietam ab omni servicio, consuetudine, et demanda.

Et concedo, quod habeant omnimodam venationem et dominationem infra metas terræ suæ. Nolo etiam quod aliqui ad venandum, vel pasturandum, vel boscum scindendum, vel ad aliquid aliud faciendum infra metas suas prædictas, sine assensu et consensu ipsorum canonicorum habeant introitum: et si fortè aliquem vel aliquos infra metas suas prædictas, venando vel pasturando, vel boscum scindendo, sine ipsorum consensu intervenerint, liceat ipsis canonicis et hominibus suis, in ipsos manus apponere, et emendationem per judicium curiæ suæ propriæ ab eisdem accipere. Nolo etiam, quod aliquis senescallus, constabularius, ballivus, keys, sive forestarius, serviens, vel venator, vel aliquis ballivus alius per terram eorum venientes, ab ipsis nec ab hominibus suis pascantur, nec aliquid cibi vel potus vel alterius rei ab eisdem canonicis vel hominibus suis accipiant, nisi gratis dederint.

Concessi eisdem canonicis et hominibus eorum, quod habeant plenè communem pasturam in Wrynen et heybot et husbot, et omnia aisiamenta, quæ ipsi et sui habere poterunt ibidem, sine contradictione, demanda, et vexatione. Nolo etiam, quod aliquis ballivus meus vel hæredum meorum, pro aliquo forisfacto, infra terras eorum manus apponat. Volo etiam, quod dicti canonici et manupasti sui, ad porcos suos habeant personem in bosco meo de Mascoit liberè et quietè sine pannagio et telonio. Et volo quod dicti canonici et homines sui quieti sint a telonio et demanda per totam terram meam. Volo etiam quod homines ipsorum canonicorum quieti sint de aratura, falcatura, messura, et ab omnibus consuetudinibus et exactionibus, in omnibus locis et rebus. Concedo eisdem canonicis, quod habeant omnem immunitatem, potestatem, quietanciam, et libertatem omnem, quam habeo vel habui, vel hæredes mei habere poterant in terra de Ewias.

Volo et firmiter præcipio, quod canonici Lanthoniæ primæ, omnia tenementa sua in terra de Ewias, tam laica quàm ecclesiastica, quæcumque in præsentem habent vel imposterum, emptione, donatione, vel quocumque alio titulo habituri sunt, benè et in pacè, liberè et quietè teneant in omnibus locis et rebus ubicunque fuerint in terra de Ewias, quieta de omnibus placitis et querelis et auxiliis et sumagiis et cariagiis et claustris; et de pontium et castrorum ædificatione, et de conductu thesauri; et de omni operatione et lestagio et stallagio et de summonitionibus, et de assisis et superassisis, et de omnibus forisfactis quacumque occasione emergerint, et de assartis. Nullus verò de forestariis nostris quicquam se intromittat de boscis prioris et canonicorum Lanthoniæ primæ; set omnem potestatem et libertatem, quam ego et hæredes mei in boscis nostris habemus, vel habere poterimus, habeant prædicti prior et canonici in boscis suis, sint vero prædicti canonici et homines et res ipsorum quieti de telonio, et ex omnibus exactionibus et consuetudinibus, in nundinis, foris, et mercatis; et in omnibus locis et rebus per totam terram de Ewias.

Habeant prædicti prior et canonici omnem justitiam de assaultu et murthero, et sanguinis effusione, et pacis infractione, et thesauri inventione, et quicquid ad nostram pertinet potestatem. Mercie nullæ, quacumque occasione venerint, de ipsis canonicis, vel de tenementis vel hominibus eorum exigantur; nec exacte solvantur; set omnia quæ eorum sunt quietam sint et libera, et solummodo canonicis respondentia de omnibus. Concedo quod ipsi prior et canonici habeant de hominibus suis et de tota possessione sua, quam habent vel habituri sunt in terra de Ewias et de alienis in eadem forisfacientibus, vel ibi cum forisfacto, interceptis, omnia placita de furto, homicidio, raptu, et incendio; et omnia alia placita quæ placitari possunt in curia de Ewias, cum ynfongenetes ut utfongenetes; et amerciamenta emergentia de placitis, quæ coram eisdem canonicis vel ballivis eorum deducuntur, eisdem canonicis remaneant. Concedo etiam, quod habeant furches ad prædictam justitiam tenendam et faciendam in terra sua ubi maluerint.

Concedo quod prædicti prior et canonici omnes libertates prædictas et liberas consuetudines habeant adeo liberè et quietè, pacificè et integrè, sicut ego aut antecessores mei ipsas libertates unquam meliùs, pleniùs, et liberiùs habuimus. Concedo eciam, quod habeant omnes libertates, quas ego et successores mei per regem Angliæ vel alium habere poterimus, in terra de Ewias. Et ego et hæredes mei prædictam donationem et concessionem prædictis canonicis contra omnes homines et fœminas imperpetuum warrantizabimus. Et ut hæc mea donatio et concessio firma sit imperpetuum et inconvulsa, eam præsentis scripto, et sigilli mei impressione corroboravi. Hiis testibus, domino Simone de Clifford, domino Waltero de Baskervill, domino Ricardo de Hampton, domino Waltero Parvo, Waltero Condecot.

Nos autem donationes, concessiones, et confirmationes prædictas; necnon donationem, &c. quas Johannes filius Reginaldi per scriptum suum fecit eisdem canonicis, de pacifica pastura per totam terram ejusdem Johannis in Wallia, tam in forestis et liberis chaceis, quàm aliis locis, excepto parco suo tunc incluso, ad equicium eorundem canonicorum, sine ullo impedimento habenda, et de libera ambulatione habenda ad dictum equicium prosequendum et reducendum pro voluntate sua; necnon pisces de mara quærendas, ac alia negotia sua expedienda, quociens sibi et quando viderint oportunitatem; ac remissionem et quietam clamationem, quas prædictus Johannes per idem scriptum suum fecit eisdem canonicis de tributo pecuniæ numeratæ, vel pullanorum, vel alterius cujuscumque rei, si quod prædicto Johanni vel prædecessoribus suis per præfatos canonicos reddi consuevit, ratas habentes et gratas, eas pro nobis et hæredibus nostris, quantum in nobis est, dilectis nobis in Christo priori canonicis loci prædicti et successoribus suis concedimus et confirmamus, sicut scripta prædicta rationabiliter testantur.

Et præterea, licet per inquisitionem per dilectos et fideles nostros Johannem de Beek et Johannem le Botiller de Lanlutwynt, de mandato nostro factam, et in cancellaria nostra retornatam compertum sit, quod prædicti prior et canonici et eorum prædecessores aliquibus libertatum et quietantiarum prædictarum per aliquod tempus præteritum usi non sint; volentes tamen per finem quem dictus prior fecit nobiscum, sibi et canonicis prædictis gratiam in hac parte facere specialem; concedimus pro nobis et hæredibus nostris, quantum in nobis est, eisdem priori et canonicis, quod ipsi et successores sui, omnibus et singulis libertatibus et quietantiis in dictis scriptis contentis, futuris temporibus, quocienscumque et quandocumque sibi expediens fuerit, plenè gaudeant et utantur, sine occasione vel impedimento nostri vel hæredum nostrorum, &c. Dat. per manum nostram apud Langeleye vicesimo sexto die Januarii, anno regni nostri decimo octavo.

NUM. VII.

Licentia per Regem Edwardum Quartum, pro Unione Prioratus de Lanthony primâ, in Wallia, Prioratus de Lanthony juxta Gloucestriam.

[Pat. 21 Edw. IV. p. 2, m. 4.]

REX omnibus ad quos, &c. salutem. Sciatis quod cum nos considerantes, qualiter nonnulla prioratus, domus, ac loca religiosa infra regnum nostrum Angliæ et Walliæ existentes, per nobiles progenitores nostros et alios regni nostri proceres et magnates ad divina officia, ac hospitalitatis et elemosinarum, aliaque pietatis et devotionis onera facienda et supportanda, laudabiliter fundatæ et constructæ exstiterint; et præsertim prioratus Sancti Johannis Bapt. de Lanthony prima, in Wallia, Menevensis dioc. ordinis S. Augustini; nostræque foundationis, et patronatus ratione comitatus nostræ Marchiæ. Quodque eadem prioratus domus et loca religiosa; et præsertim antedictus prioratus S. Joh. Bapt. de Lanthony prima, in Wallia; tam per subitas et frequentes amotiones et expulsiones priorum et occupatorum locorum prædictorum, quàm per diversas personas seculares et alios firmarios possessionum eorundem, ita enormiter, tam in domibus quàm in rebus et aliis possessionibus devastabantur, dilapidabantur, et destruebantur, quod divini cultus, regularisque observantiæ inibi, plus solito cessabant; ac hospitalitates et elemosinæ, ac alia insuper caritatis et pietatis opera, ibidem ab olim stabilita, et fieri consueta, subtrahebantur.

Ac cum Johannes Adams, prior de Lanthony prædicta, ut plenè intelleximus, fructus, reventiones, proventus, et emolumenta ejusdem prioratus devastavit, et destruxit, et indies devastat et destruit; ac nullos canonicos, præter seipsum et quatuor alios minùs religiosè viventes, in dicto prioratu invenerit aut sustentaverit; immo divinum cultum, hospitalitatis et alia pietatis et caritatis opera, quæ ibidem fieri sustentari consueverunt, juxta primariam foundationem ejusdem, subtraxit, et adhuc subtrahit; per quod fundatorum vota sic multipliciter defraudebantur, ac in præsentis defraudantur, ad Dei omnipotentis offensam et displicentiam non modicam; ac contra formam foundationis prædictæ. Et quia pia fundatorum vota prioratus prædicti, sic frustrari nolumus; set recolentes sanum regimen religiosorum virorum canonicorum regularium prioris et conventus prioratus sive monasterii beatæ Mariæ de Lanthony, juxta Gloucestriam, ordinis S. Augustini, Wigorn. dioc., qualiter divinus cultus, regulares observantiæ, &c. in prioratu sive monasterio illo indies honorificè et obsequiosè conservantur et fiunt, juxta tamen facultates possessionum prioratus ejusdem; ac volentes ad honorem Dei et sanctæ ecclesiæ, pro divini cultus augmentatione, &c. ac dictorum fundatorum pia intentione, circa præmissa conservanda dicto prioratui commodè providere.

De gratia nostra speciali, &c. dedimus et concessimus, &c. dilectis nobis in Christo Henrico Deeno priori prioratus sive monasterii beatæ Mariæ de Lanthony juxta Gloucestriam prædictæ, et ejusdem loci conventui, et eorum successoribus imperpetuum, jus patronatus et patronatum, et ad vocationem prioratus sive ecclesiæ conventualis sive monasterii S. Johannis Bapt. de Lanthony prima, in Wallia sæpedict., necnon prioratum illum cum omnibus membris, cellis, ecclesiis, capellis, dominiis, maneriis, terris, et tementis, tam in Anglia et Wallia, quàm Hibernia, parcellis ejusdem prioratus, aut prioratui de Lanthony prima, in Wallia prædicta, sive alicui cellarum, ecclesiarum, &c. prædictarum, quoquo modo pertinentibus; necnon cum omnibus redditibus, &c. habenda et tenenda præfatis priori et conventui prioratus sive monasterii beatæ Mariæ de Lanthony juxta Gloucester, et successoribus suis, pro trecentis marcis nobis præ manibus præsolutis, in puram et perpetuam elemosinam imperpetuum.

Et ulterius per præsentem concedimus eisdem priori et conventui et eorum successoribus de Lanthony juxta Gloucester, quod ipse prior et conventus et eorum successores ecclesiam conventualem, sive monasterium, S. Johannis Bapt. de Lanthony prima, in Wallia prædicta; ac prioratum ejusdem cum suis juribus, et pertinentiis universis, ipsis priori et conventui de Lanthony juxta Gloucester, ac successoribus eorundem, et eorum ecclesiæ conventuali, sive monasterio de Lanthony juxta Gloucester prædict., et successoribus suis, consolidari, uniri, annecti, appropriari, transferre, et transferri procurare et ea sibi et successoribus suis in proprios usus tenere et possidere possint imperpetuum, cum omnibus membris, cellis, ecclesiis, &c. Ac ea omnia et singula, sic ut præmittitur, consolidata, &c. et translata habere et tenere possint sibi et successoribus suis prædictis in proprios usus imperpetuum, ad divina officia pro bono statu nostro et Eliz. carissimæ consortis nostræ, dum vixerimus; et pro animabus nostris, cum ab hac luce migraverimus, necnon pro animabus progenitorum et hæredum nostrorum, et pro animabus omnium fidelium defunctorum specialiter celebrandum et fiendum et orandum.

Ac quod prædicti prior prioratus seu monasterii de Lanthony juxta Gloucester et ejusdem loci conventus, et eorum successores imperpetuum exhibebunt et sustentabunt eorum sumptibus, et expensis, in dicto prioratu sive monasterio de Lanthony prima, in Wallia, unum priorem dativum, remotivum ad libitum et voluntatem prioris prioratus sive monasterii de Lanthony juxta Gloucester prædict. pro tempore existentis; ac quatuor canonicos ad missas et alia divina officia in dicto prioratu de Lanthony prima, in Wallia, imperpetuum celebraturos sacramenta et sacramentalia parochianis inibi ministraturos, si à rebellibus ibidem sive pacis nostræ perturbatoribus, ad hoc fiendum non perturbentur, sive impediuntur; ac pro animabus fundatorum dicti prioratus de Lanthony primâ, in Wallia; et pro animabus supra dictis oraturos, ad nutum dicti prioris de Lanthony juxta Gloucester prædict. pro tempore existentis, remotivos, &c. Teste rege apud Westm. x. die Maii.

Priory of Carlisle.

TANNER gives the best account of the origin of the Bishoprick and Austin Priory of Carlisle. "Several writers of St. Cuthbert's Life," he says, "tell us of that holy man's founding here, A. D. 686, a Convent of Monks, a School, and an Abbey of Nuns; but from Bede's Life of St. Cuthbert, cap. 27, it seems as if the Monastery here, to which Queen Ermenburga retired, was in being before St. Cuthbert's coming to Carlisle. But all these ecclesiastical buildings, with the city and adjacent country, being laid waste in the Danish wars, the city was rebuilt and fortified by King William Rufus; and Walter, a Norman priest, (being made by that King governor of the city) began a Monastery to the honour of the blessed Virgin Mary,^a which was finished and endowed by King Henry the First, who placed regular Canons therein;^b and when he had established the Bishop's See here, made this Church a Cathedral; but it is observable, that this was the only Episcopal Chapter in England of the Order of St. Austin."^c

King Henry the First, before the foundation of the bishoprick, gave to this Priory various churches, and amongst them those of Newcastle upon Tyne and Newbourne.^d He also gave them a fishery in Eden, and a mill upon the bridge there, as we find from King Henry the Second's charter of confirmation, in which all the smaller donations to this Priory are recited.^e

King Henry the Third gave to the Bishop and Convent the manor of Dalston, which he ordered to be disafforested, and held separate from the King's forest of Englewood;^f and by his charter, dated July 15th, in the fifteenth year of his reign, gave them tol, theam, and all the other general privileges so often recited in grants to the greater Monasteries, throughout all their lands and tenements.^g

By another Charter, bearing date Oct. 18th in the same year, the said King granted to them that their woods adjoining to their manors of Carleton and Briscaille should be free from wastes, regards, and assarts; and that they should be free from escapes of beasts in the forest, and from chiminage and forestage; and that they should have liberty to chase the deer or game out of the forest of Dalston into the King's forest, and take them there, and return without the hindrance of the Foresters.^h

King Edward the First, by a charter in the 22d year of his reign, gave to this church the tithes of certain assart lands within the forest of Englewood, together with all other tithes of lands and places within the said forest, being without the limits of any parish, in time coming to be assarted:ⁱ and in the 32d of his reign, in consequence of the devastations committed upon their domains, gave them the church of Adingham, with the chapel of Salkeld annexed,ⁱ and also the church of Sourby to be appropriated to their own use.^k

King Edward the Second, for the same reason, confirmed to them the Cell of Toberg glory, in the County of Downe in Ireland, which had been bestowed upon the Prior and Convent, with certain other gifts, by John de Courcey.^l

King Philip and Queen Mary, by their Charter bearing date 7th March, in the 4th and 5th years of their reign, granted to the Bishop the advowson and collation of all the four prebends of his Cathedral.

Nicolson and Burn add, that the same Queen, by the advice of Cardinal Pole, intended to give the advowsons that then remained in the Crown, which had belonged to the Religious Houses, to the several Bishops within their respective dioceses; and accordingly there is a Grant by Philip and Mary to the bishop of Carlisle of the several advowsons of Bampton, Crosby, and Overton in the county of Westmorland, and Burgh, Kirkoswald, and Dacre in Cumberland (together with divers others in Cumberland, which, by mistake are set forth to be in the diocese of Carlisle, but are in reality in the diocese of Chester). The Revenues of the Bishoprick of Carlisle in the 26th of Hen. VIII. were valued, in the whole, at 577*l.*, in the clear at 531*l.* 4*s.* 11*d.* The Revenues of the Priory were valued in the whole at 482*l.* 8*s.* 1*d.*, and at 418*l.* 3*s.* 4½*d.* clear.

Tanner's References to MANUSCRIPTS and RECORDS concerning the Bishoprick and Priory of Carlisle are given below, with two or three additions.^b

An Imperfect SEAL of the Priory of Carlisle, in the Duchy Office of Lancaster, represents the Virgin with the Divine Infant in her arms, standing on a bridge, and having on each side of her an Angel. Beneath the two arches of the bridge stand a mitred abbot or bishop, and a monk. The Legend of the Seal, when perfect, was probably, SIGILL . COMMVNE . ECCLESIE . BEATE . MARIE . CARLEOLI .

The ARMS of this Priory were Ar. a Cross Sa.

The Cathedral of Carlisle need hardly be described here. It was built at various periods, and displays specimens of different styles of architecture. The length of the choir is 137 feet; its height, 75; and its breadth, together with the aisles, 71; the breadth of the transept is 28 feet, and its length 124. The height of the square embattled tower in the centre between the nave and transept, from the area of the Church, is about 130 feet.

The Chapter-House and Cloisters stood on the south side of the Cathedral, but were pulled down in the civil wars: part of the Dormitory is yet remaining, and also the pantry or refectory, which is now used as the Chapter-House. The Priory Gate is also standing, and in tolerable repair. It was built by PRIOR SENUS, or SENHOUS, in 1507.

Priory of Dunmow Parva, in Essex.

THE Priory of Dunmow Parva was founded in 1104 by Juga sister of Ralph Baynard. The church was consecrated by Maurice bishop of London, at which time the foundress endowed it with half a hide of land. Saer de Quinci gave it 10*s.* yearly rent in Bradenham in Suffolk.^a Roger de Cantebriegg, in 1302, ten acres of arable, and half an acre of meadow in Great Saling.^b They had also the

A neat Impression of the COMMON SEAL is attached to the acknowledgment of Supremacy in the Chapter-House, Westminster. The Seal is Oval, and contains two female figures, seated under a rich canopy, in base; under a niche, is a monk praying, and on each side of him a shield, with the arms of the Priory, viz. a Cross between four Mullets. The Inscription round the Seal is, SIGILLVM . CŌE . ECCL'IE . SĈE . MARIE . DE . DVNMOWE .

Of the Priory it is said some foundations of the Old Building were a few years since visible on the South-West Side of the Church, and the Site of the Offices of the Priory is occupied by the present Manor House.

The Church dedicated to the Virgin Mary was a large and stately fabric, the roof being supported by pillars of the Tuscan Order, some of which remain.

What now forms the Parish Church, is only the east end of the choir, with the north aisle.

Historia Foundationis, necnon Fundatorum et Benefactorum ejusdem domus.

[Ex Chron. de Dunmowe, MS. in Bibl. Cotton. (sub effigie Cleopatrar, C. 3.) fol. 20 1. a.]

1104. JUGA Baynard domina de parva Dunmowe, fecit Mauricium episcopum Londoniensem dedicare ecclesiam de dicta villa, in honore beatæ Virginis Mariæ, unde cura animarum commissa fuit per episcopum prædictum cuidam presbitero, nomine Britrico: Cui ecclesiæ ipso die dedicationis, dicta domina dimidiam hidam terræ dedit liberam ab omni servitute, &c.

1106. Igitur Galfridus Baynard filius et hæres Jugæ Baynard, considerans devotionem, &c. posuit canonicos in ecclesia de Dunmow, assensu Anselmi archiepiscopi Cantuariensis.

1111. Willielmus Baynard, sub quo domina Juga tenebat villam de parva Dunmawe, per infortunium et feloniam amisit baroniam suam; et Henricus rex Angliæ dedit totam baroniam prædictam Roberto filio Ricardi filii Gilberti comitis de Clare, et hæredibus suis, cum honore Castri Baynard, et suis pertinentiis in civitate London., qui Robertus fuit tunc dapifer domini regis Henrici.

1112. Robertus filius Ricardi desponsavit Matildam de Sancto Licio quæ fuit domina de Bradeham, quæ domina dedit canonicis de Dunmawe duas partes decimarum ejusdem villæ.

1127. Obiit Britricus primus prior de Dunmowe, et successit Augustinus.

1140. Obiit Matildis de Sancto Licio uxor Roberti filii Ricardi.

1142. Walterus filius Roberti duxit uxorem Matildem de Bohun, et Robertus comes captus est, et pro sua liberatione Stephanus rex Angliæ liberatus est.

1146. Obiit Matildis de Bohun.

1148. Walterus filius duxit uxorem Matildem de Lucy, et genuit Robertum et alios.

1163. Obiit Augustinus prior ecclesiæ de Dunmowe Robertus successit.

1179. Obiit Robertus prior de Dunmawe, Radulphus successit.

1183. Hic inchoatur opus S. Mariæ de Tiltey xvii. kal. Aprilis à venerabili Simone abbate.

1198. Obiit Walterus filius Roberti, patronus ecclesiæ de Dunmowe, qui jacet intumulatus in medio chori ecclesiæ suæ, et successit Robertus filius Walteri, militiâ strenuus.

1208. Obiit Radulphus prior de Dunmowe, et succedit Durandus.

1216. Mota est discordia inter regem Johannem et barones suos in Anglia, occasione Matildis, quæ dicebatur pulchra filia domini Roberti filii Walteri, quia rex concupivit eam, et pater noluit consentire, factâ guerrâ per totam Angliam. Et recepti sunt barones in civitate Londoniarum invito rege, et dampna præmaxima fecerunt regi et suis per omnia. Et rex destruxit principaliter Castrum Baynard London, et alia castra et tenementa baronum recepit in manu sua. Et Robertus filius Walteri, Rogerus filius Roberti, et Richardus de Muntfichet mare transierunt ad regem Franciæ, et alii in Walliam et in Scotiam, et paraverunt et creaverunt mala regi Angliæ. Et quia dicta Matildis perhendinavit apud Dunmowe, nuncius regis venit ad eam sub titulo amoris, et quia noluit consentire, toxicavit omne sorbile ad opus ejus, et sic expiravit, et intumulatur inter duas columpnas in choro, ex parte meridionali, apud Dunmowe. Et rex Franciæ coepit vastare et currere in terras regis Angliæ, ex parte sua, et alii ex parte altera. Tunc capta est dies amoris inter regem Franciæ et regem Angliæ in transmarinis partibus, ita quod brachium maris erat inter duos exercitus. Tunc quidam miles regis Angliæ clamavit versùs partem regis Franciæ, si aliquis vellet pro amore amicæ suæ hasti ludere; et sine mora Robertus filius Walteri se paravit et ultra transivit, descenditque equum suum, posuit pedem suum in stupa, sine armigero equum ascendit, et in occursum socii sui se præparavit; et ad primum cursum Robertus filius Walteri percussit eum lanceâ suâ grossâ, ita quod miles et equus ad terram contemptibiliter corruerunt. Lanceâ verò fractâ, et arrepto equi fræno, remeavit ad regem Franciæ. Tunc dixit rex Angliæ, Per dentem divinum rex esset qui talem militem haberet in comitativa sua. Et amici ejus hæc audientes prostraverunt se coram rege et dixerunt, Domine, miles vester est et paratus ad vestra beneplacita, Robertus filius Walteri. Et crastina die ipso vocato reddidit ei baroniam suam, cum suis pertinentiis; et sic concordæ facti sunt ambo reges, ipso Roberto tunc mediantem; et fecit revocare omnes exules, et dedit eis pacem suam et licentiam reædificandi castra sua et forceletta. Et eo tempore non fuerunt nominari in Anglia nisi duo milites fortes et dimidius, scilicet Robertus filius Walteri, Robertus filius Rogeri; et Richardus de Montfichet fuit miles dimidius. Et post steterunt semper cum rege Johanne.

1217. Obiit Durandus prior de Dunmowe, et successit Willielmus.

1221. Obiit Willielmus prior de Dunmowe, et successit Thomas.

1234. Obiit nobilis vir Robertus filius Walteri, patronus ecclesiæ de Dunmowe, qui tumulatur ante majus altare; et succedit Walterus filius ejus et hæres.

1238. Obiit Thomas de Tanton, prior de Dunmowe, et successit Johannes Pateforde.

1245. Obiit Johannes, prior de Dunmowe, et succedit Hugo de Steveinheth.

Of the Bacon at Dunmow Priory.

[Ex collect. D. Richardi S. Georg. eq. aurat. armorum Regis, 1640.]

ROBERT FITZWALTER, living long beloved of King Henry the son of King John, as also of all the realme, betook himself in his latter dayes to prayer and deeds of charity, gave great and bountifull almes to the poor, kept great hospitality, and reedified the decayed prison at Dunmow, which one Juga, a most devout and religious woman, being in her kinde his ancestor, had builded; in which prison arose a custome, begun and instituted eyther by him or some other of his successors, which is verified by a common proverbe or saying, viz. "That he which repents him not of his marriage eyther sleeping or waking in a yeer and a day, may lawfully go to Dunmow and fetch a gammon of bacon." It is most assured, that such a custome there was, and that this bacon was delivered with such solemnity and triumphs as they of the priory and the townsmen could make. I have enquired of the manner of it, and can learne no more, but that it continued untill the dissolution of that house, as also the abbies. And that the party or pilgrim for bacon was to take his oath before prior and covent, and the whole town, humbly kneeling in the church-yard, upon two hard pointed stones, which stones some say are there yet to be seen in the prior's church-yard; his oath was ministred with such long process, and such solempne singing over him, that doubtless must make his pilgrimage (as I may terme it) painfull. After he was taken up upon men's shoulders, and carryed, first, about the priory church-yard, and after through the town with all the fryers and brethren, and all the townsfolke young and old following him with shouts and with acclamations with his bacon borne before him, and in such manner (as I have heard) was sent home with his bacon; of which I finde that some had a gammon, and others a flecke, or a flich; for proof whereof I have, from the records of the house, found the names of three severall persons, that at severall times had it.

Memorandum, quod quidam Stephanus Samuell de Ayston parva in com. Essex, &c. which being in Latine entred into the book belonging to the house, I have thus Englished.

"Memorandum, That one Steven Samuel of Little-Ayston, in the county of Essex, husbandman, came to the priory of Dunmow on our Lady day in Lent, in the seventh yeer of king Edward the Fourth, and required a gammon of bacon, and was sworn before Roger Bulcott, then prior, and the covent of this place; as also before a multitude of other neighbours, and there was delivered to him a gammon of bacon."

"Memorandum, That one Richard Wright of Badbourgh, neere the city of Norwich, in the county of Norfolk, yeoman, came and required of the bacon of Dunmow, namely the 27 day of Aprill, in the 23d yeer of the reign of King Henry the Sixth; and according to forme of the charter was sworne before John Cannon, prior of this place, and the covent, and many other neighbours, and there was delivered to him the said Richard, one flich of bacon."

"Memorandum, That in the yeer of our Lord 1510 Thomas le Fuller, of Cogshal, in the county of Essex, came to the priory of Dunmow, and on the eighth of September, being Sunday, in the second yeer of King Henry the Eight, he was, according to the forme of the charter sworn, before John Tils, then prior of the house, and the covent; as also before a multitude of neighbours, and there was delivered unto him the said Thomas a gammon of bacon."

Hereby it appeareth that it was according to a charter, or donation given by some conceited benefactor to the house; and it is not to be doubted but that, at such a time, the bordering townes and villages resorted, and were partakers of their pastimes, and laught to scorne the poor mans paynes.

The Form of the Oath taken by those at Dunmow, who are to have the Bacon.

You shall swear by custom of confession,
If ever you made nuptial transgression,
Be you either married man or wife,
If you have brawls or contentious strife;
Or otherwise at bed or at board
Offended each other in deed or word:
Or since the parish clerk said Amen,
You wished your selves unmarried agen;
Or in a twelve-moneth and a day
Repented not in thought any way;
But continued true in thought and desire,
As when you joyned hands in the quire:
If to these conditions without all feare,
Of your own accord you will freely sweare,
A whole gammon of bacon you shall receive,
And bear it hence with love and good leave:
For this is our custome at Dunmow well knowne,
Though the pleasure be ours the bacon's your own.

De Lardo apud Prioratum Dunmuensem obtinendo.

[Ibid.]

ROBERTUS FITZWALTERUS [vel, filius Walteri] jam grandævus, Henrico regi, Johannis regis filio, sed et universo populo dilectus, per posteriora vitæ suæ tempora orationibus et operibus charitatis se dicavit; amplas enim liberali manu pauperibus erogavit eleemosynas, hospitalitate præstabat, prioratum etiam Dunmuensem, à quadam Jugâ, piissimæ et religiosissimæ conversationis fœminâ, ejus quodammodo antecessore, erectum, tunc autem temporis collapsum, reædificavit. Ubi, quidam, aut ab ipso, aut à quodam successorum ejus inceptus et institutus inolevit mos, vulgari hoc proverbio confirmatus: quod videl. quem per annum et diem, sive dormientem, sive vigilantem, conjugii sui non pœnituerit, Dunmuam ei ire liceat, et pernam vindicare. Certo certius est, talem olim ibi extitisse consuetudinem, lardumque istud tantis solemnitatibus et exultationibus fuisse traditum, quantas prioratus viri et oppidani excogitare potuerunt. In modum inquisivi, nihil autem comperi, nisi quod usque in eandem domus illius cum abbatiis dissolutionis diem duraret; eumque qui lardi gratiâ peregrinabatur, juramento coram priore et conventu omnibusque oppidanis in cœmeterio super lapidum durorum, eorumque acutorum, pari (adhuc, ut quidam ferunt, ibi in prioratus cœmeterio conspiciendo:) flexis genibus humiliter præstando, oneratum fuisse. Juramentum [autem] formâ tam longâ, adeoque solemnî super eum cantandi ritu, ei fuit ministratum, ut aliter vix contingere potuerit, quin peregrinationis, (si ita nominanda) magnum tædium suscipientem subiret. Postea in quorundam humeros attollebatur, et primò circa prioratus cœmeterium, posteaque per oppidum, omnibus fratribus sodalibusque ac universis oppidanis, juvenibus senibusque, cum jubilationibus et acclamationibus eum sequentibus, lardo etiam ante eum gestato, ferebatur, ac eodem (ut audivi) modo domum suam cum lardo fuit remissus. Cujus, ut comperi, quidam pernam, alii verò quidam habuere succidiam. In cujus rei fidem, inter domus regesta, trium personarum nomina comperi lardo isto donatarum.

"Anno 23 Hen. 6. Memorandum, quod quidam Richardus Wright de Badbury juxta urbem Norwicen in agro Norfolciensi plebeius, Dunmuam accessit, & lardum petiit, 27 viz. die Aprilis, anno regni regis Henrici 6. 23. et secundùm chartæ [donationis] formam juratus fuit coram Johanne Cannon loci priore et conventu, aliisque vicinis quamplurimis, et eidem Ricardo tradebatur succidia.

"Anno 7 Ed. 4. Memorand. quod quidam Stephanus Samuel de Ayston parva in comitatu Essexiæ agricola, in die beatæ Virginis in Quadragesima, anno regis Edwardi quarti septimo, prioratum Dunmuensem accessit, et pernam requisivit. Juratus autem fuit coram Rogero Bulcott, tunc loci priore, et conventu, necnon coram aliorum vicinorum multitudine, cui perna tradita fuit.

"Anno 2 Hen 8. Memorand. quod anno Domini, 1510. Thomas, fullo de Cogshal in comitatu Essexiensi, prioratum Dunmuensem accessit, et 8 die Septembris, die dominico existente, anno regis Hen. 8. secundo, juxta formam charta præscriptam, juratus fuit coram Johanne Tils, tum domus priore, et conventu, necnon coram proximorum multitudine, cui quidem Thomæ perna tradita fuit.

Hinc liqueat, lardum hoc chartâ benefactoris alicujus, faceti ingenii viri, fuisse constitutum: nec dubitandum quin tunc temporis oppidani et villani contermini eò se contulerint, tam speciosi ludicri participes futuri, et miseri peregrinatoris ærumnas merito ludibrio excepturi.

PRIORATUS DE DUNMOWE.

In temporalibus et spiritualibus per annum clare 150*l.* 3*s.* 4*d.*

Priory of Christ Church, or the Holy Trinity within Aldgate, London.

ON the place, says Tanner, where one Syred had formerly begun to build a Church in honor of the Holy Cross and St. Mary Magdalene, at the South East corner of Leadenhall Street, Queen Maud, by the persuasions of Archbishop Anselm and Richard Beaumeis bishop of London, founded, A.D. 1108, a Monastery for Canons regular of the Order of St. Austin, then newly brought to England. Thus the MS. Register of the House, Stow's Manuscripts, &c.; but Matthew Paris, the Chronicle of St. Benet Hulm, a Chronicle cited in Leland's Collectanea,^a and the MS. Chronicle of Barth. Cotton, make Norman the first prior to have been the Founder, A. D. 1107. In one passage of Dugdale's Appendix Bishop Beaumeis himself is considered the founder upon the testimony of a Manuscript in Corpus Christi College, Oxford.

Queen Maud, who is most properly considered as the foundress, confirmed the Church to be free and acquitted from all subjection, except from the Church of St. Paul and the bishop of London; giving the canons the Gate called Aldgate, with the Soken thereunto belonging, which was of her own demesne, and two parts of the revenues or rents of the city of Exeter.^b

Stow says the multitude of bretheren praising God in this Church, in a short time so increased, that all the City was delighted in beholding them; insomuch that in 1125, certain burgesses of London gave to the Church and Canons the land and soken called Knighten Gild, now Portsokenward, which had been created by King Edgar. In consequence of this grant the priors of Christ Church or the Holy Trinity became aldermen of the City of London, of Portsokenward, and so continued till the Suppression in the time of Henry the Eighth, and sat, and rode among the aldermen of the city in livery like them, saving that their habit was in shape of a spiritual person, as I myself, saith Stow, have seen in my childhood. At which time the prior kept a bountiful house of meat and drink both for rich and poor, as well within the house as at the gate, to all comers according to their estates.^c

In 1132 this priory with its church was consumed by fire.

The possessions of this priory in the middle of the thirteenth century will be seen in the charter of King Henry the Third, dated in the 11th year of his reign. Stow says, in process of time this house became a very fair and large church, rich in lands and ornaments, and passed all the priories in London and Middlesex.^d

This house was surrendered by Nicholas Hancock the last prior, George Grevil, and seventeen more of the convent, to the king, February the 4th, 1531; who said they did it, because their house was much involved in debt, and the revenues and profits sunk, and in effect come to nothing.^e The canons of this place were sent to other houses of the same order, and the priory, with the church, lands, and plate thereto belonging, given by King Henry the Eighth to Sir Thomas Audley, who at last offered the church and steeple to whomsoever would pull it down at his own cost.^f Fuller says, that in his time this was spoken of as the first church and monastery which was granted to a layman and his heirs.^g

PRIORS of the HOLY TRINITY PRIORY, from Newcourt, Stevens, and original Records.

NORMAN was the first prior of this house, A. D. 1108. He occurs in 1125. Stevens says he died in 1147.

RALPH is believed to have been his successor. Stevens says he was created prior 16 kal. Feb. 1148.

STEPHEN became prior 16 kal. June 1170: and was deposed in 1197. He died in 1198.

PETER DE CORNWALL became prior 7 id. May 1197, and died in July 1221.

RICHARD was made prior 17 kal. Aug. 1223, and died, according to Stevens, in 1248. Other, and apparently more authentic accounts, say he died in 1252, in which year, on Oct. 5th, the royal assent was given to the election of JOHN DE TOTING, who had held the office of sacrist. He died, according to Stevens, in 1258.

GILBERT was created prior in 1260. Stevens says he died in 1264.

EUSTACHIUS received the temporalities, according to Stevens, 7 id. Jan. 1264: according to other accounts Jan. 12th, 1268. Stevens says he died in 1280.

WILLIAM AYGNELL, or AYNELL, received the temporalities Jan. 19th, 1285. Stevens says as early as 1280: and that he died in 1289.

STEPHEN DE WATTON received the royal assent to his election May 29th, and the temporalities June 4th, 1294. Stevens ante-dates him in 1289.

RALPH DE CANTUARIA received the temporalities

^d The prior of the Holy Trinity was an alderman of London, sitting for Portsoken ward. Stowe says, I read that Eustace the eighth prior, about the year 1264, because he would not deal with temporal matters, instituted Theobald Fitz Ivo alderman of Portsoken ward under him, and that William Rising prior of Christ's Church was sworn alderman of the said ward in the first of Ric. II. These priors have sitteu and ridden among the aldermen of London, in livery like unto them, saving that their habit was in shape of a spiritual person, as I myself have seen in my childhood. At that time the prior kept a most bountiful house of meat and drink, both for rich and poor, as well within the house, as at the gates, to all comers, according to their estates. Stevens, Contin. vol. ii. pp. 94, 95.

^e Maitland, Hist. Lond. vol. ii. p. 1109. Stevens says this house was surrendered in July 1532.

^g Church History, b. vi. p. 306.

^a Lel. Collectan. tom. iii. p. 73.

^b Stowe in his Annals, edit. 1592. pp. 191, 192, under the year 1115, says, "Edgar sometime king of England graunted unto thirteen knights, a portion of ground without the walls of the cittie of London, left void in the east part of the said cittie, together with a gild which he named Knighten Gild, that now is called Portsoken warde, and now the church of the Holy Trinity, being founded within Aldgate as is afore shewed, the successors of these knights, to wit Radulphus fitz Alzede, Winiard le Dovershe, &c. gave the foresayde lands called Knighten Gild, to the same church: but Othowerus, Accolinillus, Otto, and Geoffrey earl of Essex, constables of the Tower of London by succession, withhelde by force a portion of the same land, that is to say East Smithfield neere to the Tower, to make a Vineyard, and would not depart from it by any means till the second year of King Stephen, when the same was adjudged and restored to the church of the Holy Trinitie."

^c Compare Newcourt, Repert. Ecclesiast. vol. i. p. 557, 558. Stevens in his Continuation has translated the details of the foundation with numerous charters from the register. These latter will be hereafter given in the Appendix.

March 19th, 1302, upon Stephen's cession. Upon Ralph's death

RICHARD DE WYMBISH received the royal assent June 27th, and the temporalities July 12th, 1316. Stevens, by mistake, says 1314.

ROGER DE POLAY received the temporalities June 21st, 1325, upon Wymbish's cession. Stevens says upon his deposition

THOMAS HERON succeeded on Polay's cession. The temporalities were restored to him June 11th, 1331. Upon his death

NICHOLAS DE LONDON was elected. He had the temporalities given to him March 20th, 1339-40. He is elsewhere called NICHOLAS ALYNTON. Upon his death,

WILLIAM DE RISING received the royal assent to his election 29th July, 1377.^a

ROBERT EXCETRE was elected Aug. 14th, 1391. He died in 1408.

WILLIAM HARRINGTON had the royal assent to his election 22d Sept. 8th Hen. IVth. Stevens calls him HARADON, and says he died Sept. 1, 1420.

WILLIAM CLARK had the king's assent, 18th Oct. 8th Hen. Vth.

JOHN SEVENOK, or SEVENOT, S. T. B. on June 10th, 17th Hen. VIth. He was then the senior canon.

THOMAS POMERY 19th Feb. 24 Hen. VI.

THOMAS PERCY received the royal assent 2d Oct. 21 Edw. IV.

RICHARD CHARNOCK died prior in 1507.

THOMAS NEWTON on the 4th Aug. 20th Hen. VII. on Charnock's death.

JOHN BRADWELL 29th Oct. 4th Hen. VIIIth. A.D. 1513.

NICHOLAS HANCOCK had the royal assent 1st. Aug. 16th Hen. VIIIth.^b

The aforesaid Sir Thomas Audley, made chancellor by King Henry the Eighth in the 24th year of his reign, and created Lord Audley of Walden by letters patent dated 29th Nov. 30th Henry VIII., dwelt in this priory, and died there April 30th, 1554. After whose death, says Newcourt, this priory came to Thomas duke of Norfolk, by virtue of his marriage with Margaret the daughter and heir of the said Lord Audley, and from thence was called The Duke's Place; from which duke (who was beheaded June 2d, 15th Eliz.) it descended to Thomas Howard earl of Suffolk, eldest son to the said duke, by Margaret, his second wife: and he by indenture of bargain and sale, bearing date July 21st, 34th Eliz., with Katherine his wife sold the same to the mayor, commonalty, and citizens of London, to have and to hold to them and their successors in as large and ample a manner as the said earl and his wife, or the said Lord Audley, or the said King Henry the Eighth, or the said prior and convent or their predecessors, at any time before the said Dissolution, or any other time, had, used, or enjoyed the same, by virtue of any grant, privilege, prescription, law, custom, or any other ways or means whatsoever.^c

The mayor, commonalty, and citizens of London, by whom the church of St. James's, Duke's Place, was subsequently built there, according to Newcourt, at one time, pretended an exemption from the jurisdiction of the bishop of London: but their claim was not allowed.

Tanner refers to two CHARTULARIES of the Holy Trinity Priory, neither of which have fallen in the way of the present Editors.

1. "Chartularium hujus Prioratus, MS. penes. v. cl. rei heraldicæ et patriarum antiquitatum peritissimum Joannem Anstis arm. regem armorum principalem titulo Garter."^d

2. "Chartularium olim penes Doct. Bateman, postea penes Thomam Astle arm. et nunc in Museo cl. Gulielmi Hunter, M.D."

A Fragment of another Chartulary, formerly Lord Lansdowne's, is preserved in the British Museum, MS. Lansd. 448. containing the Foundation Charter, with other Deeds concerning the churches of Braughing, in Hertfordshire; St. Edm. the King, All Saints super murum, St. Botolph, Aldgate, and All Saints, Fenchurch, in London; and Byxle, in Kent.

In the King's Remembrancer's Office in the Exchequer there is a Book of Rentals of lands in several Counties of England belonging to this Priory taken in the 35th Edw. III.^e

Neither the Valor Ecclesiasticus 26 Hen. VIII. nor any Ministers' Accompts of that reign are preserved of this monastery, but at the Chapter House Westm. a Valuation and several other papers of that period respecting it exist, together with an account of the bells, timber, and other materials belonging to the House.

An Impression of the COMMON SEAL, representing the Blessed Saviour seated on a Rainbow, and having in his left hand a Book, resting on his knee, his right hand elevated, is extant in the Chapter House, Westminster, attached to a Deed without date, the Legend, SIGILLV̄ . ECL'IE . SĒE . TRINITATIS . LVNDONIE.

A few years ago considerable traces were to be seen of the Holy Trinity Priory. There is now scarcely any thing remaining.

Stowe says, "Sir Thomas Audley offered the great church of this Priory, with a ring of nine bells well tuned, (whereof four, the greatest, were since sold to the parish of Stebunhith, and the five lesser to the parish of St. Stephen, in Coleman-street), to the parishioners of St. Catherine's Christ Church, in exchange for their small parish church, minding to have pulled it down, and to have built there towards the street; but the parishioners having doubts in their heads of after claps refused the offer. Then was the Priory, Church, and Steple, proffered to whomsoever would take it down, and carry it from the ground; but no man would undertake the offer; whereupon Sir Thomas Audley was fain to be at more charges than could be made of the stones, timber, lead, iron, &c. for the workmen with great labour, beginning at the top, loosed stone from stone and threw them down, whereby the most part of them were broken, and few remained whole, and those were sold very cheap. The said Thomas Lord Audley built and dwelt on this Priory during his life, and died there in 1544."

^a Exclusive of the Charters here printed from Stevens, Num. XIII. to XXVII. of the present Appendix, he has given a Translation of many others in an Abstract from the Registry of this Priory written in 1425 by Thomas de Axebrigge, the son of John de Cornwall priest and canon of the House. This Register, in his time, was in the possession of John Anstis, Esq., Garter Principal King of Arms. The Charters so translated by Stevens are as follow :

The Charter of King Henry I. declaring the Church free from all subjection.^a

HENRY, king of England, to Richard bishop of London and Hugh de Roch, and to all his lieges French and English, throughout all England, greeting. Know ye, that I have granted to queen Maud, my wife, that she place canons regular in the church of the Holy Trinity, in London. Know ye also that this same church is free and discharged from subjection to the church of Waltham, by the exchange the said queen gave to the church of Waltham, with my consent, in the presence of T. bishop of Salisbury, and Th. St. John, and Jordan Say. It is my will, and I ordain, that the aforesaid church of the Holy Trinity, and all things belonging to the same, remain as free and unmolested as ever they were in the time of the queen herself, and in the time of William bishop of Durham. Given at Dunstable.

And thus this church was discharged from the subjection to the church of Waltham, as will most certainly appear by the following deed of that same chapter.

The Deed of the Dean and Chapter of Waltham discharging this Church from all subjection.

WALTER dean, and the whole chapter of Waltham, to Richard bishop of London, and all faithful, greeting. Know ye, that we have quitted claim to the church of the Holy Trinity, in London, which belonged to our church, for the exchange which queen Maud gave us, with the consent of our lord king Henry. Farewell.

The Charter of Queen Maud, giving Algate to this Church.

MAUD, by the grace of God, queen of England, to R. bishop of London, and all the faithful of the holy church, greeting. Be it known to you, that I, by the advice of archbishop Anselm, and with the consent and confirmation of my lord king Henry, have given and confirmed the church of Christ seated near the walls of London, free and discharged from all subjection, as well to the church of Waltham, as all other churches, except the church of St. Paul, London, and the bishops, with all things appertaining to the same, for the honour of God, to the canons regularly serving God in the same with Norman the prior, for ever, for the redemption of our souls, and of those of our parents. I have in like manner given them the gate of Algate, with the soc belonging to the same, which was my lordship, and two parts of the revenue of the city of Exeter. And it is my will, and I command, that the said canons hold their lands, and all things belonging to their church, well and peaceably, and honourably and freely, with all the liberties and customs, which my Lord king Henry, by his charter, confirmed to them, so that neither wrong nor injury be done to them. Witness William bishop of Winchester, Roger bishop of Salisbury, Robert bishop of Lincoln.

The aforesaid renowned king Henry did not only confirm the aforesaid donation of the most noble queen, but also graciously strengthened the same with mighty privileges, as will appear by the following charter.

The Charter of King Henry the First, for Immunities granted to this Church of the Holy Trinity.

HENRY, king of England, to the archbishops, bishops, abbats, earls, sheriffs, and all his lieges, French and English, greeting. Know ye, that I have granted and confirmed the canonry of canons regular in the church of Christ in London, there founded by my wife, queen Maud, that it be established for ever, and exempt from all subjection, except to the bishop of St. Paul; and it is my will, and I command, that the same canons do hold their lands, and all things belonging to their church, well, and peaceably and honourably, with sac and soc, and toll and them, and infangentheof, and all their customs, as well within the city, as without it, and so that no wrong or injury be done to them. Witness Roger bishop of Salisbury, and Robert bishop of Lincoln. At Westminster.

All the things above mentioned, the same noble king more fully confirms by his first charter, concerning several parishes; as most plainly appears in the same.

The Charter of King Henry the First, granting to the Church of the Holy Trinity the enclosing of a Way.

HENRY, king of England, to Richard bishop of London, and Albericus de Ver sheriff, and to all his barons and lieges of London, greeting. Know ye, that I have granted to the Holy Trinity, and to Norman prior, and the canons of the Holy Trinity, in London, that they may inclose with walls the way that was between their church and offices, and the wall of the city of London, both ways, as far as the aforesaid city wall, and that they hold the same peaceably. And the way that was wont to be there shall be now before their church on the other side. And this I grant them for the souls of my father and mother, and successors, and for my own safety, and the state of my kingdom. Witnesses, Ranulphus, chancellor, Geoffrey Clynton, and Ralph Basset, at Northampton.

Grant made by the Prior and Convent to John Panyvadir.

BE it known to all that now are and shall be, that John, the prior, and the convent of the Holy Trinity, in London, have granted and let, and by this present deed confirmed to John Panyvadir, certain land, with the houses built on the same, in the parish of the Holy Trinity, within Algate, between the land which Hugh le Mason holds of the said canons, and the land of the brothers of Mount Joye, viz. whatsoever they had, or could have in the said lands and houses built thereon, with all appurtenances, of all sorts, without any exceptions, to be had and held by the aforesaid John, and his heirs or assigns, freely, quietly, and peaceably for ever, paying thence yearly to the said canons and their successors four shillings sterling, at the four yearly terms; viz. 12d. at the feast of St. Micheal; 12d. at the feast of the Nativity of our Lord; 12d. at Easter; and 12d. at the feast of St. John Baptist, without fail. And it is to be known, that the said John, and his heirs and assigns shall not have it in their power to render the same land habitable, nor to spoil the houses built on the same, but shall always improve and maintain them. And if he shall design to sell the aforesaid land to any one, the said canons and their successors shall have the preference before all others of a bezant of 2s. if they will have the same. This land and houses with their appurtenances the said canons and their successors will for their service of 4s. warrant and defend to the aforesaid John, and his heirs and assigns, against all men and women, as long as they shall make full payment to the aforesaid canons and their successors, at the appointed times. For this grant, cession, warranting, defence, and the confirmation of this deed, the aforesaid John gave to the above mentioned canons forty shillings sterling, as a fine. In testimony hereof, the seals of the parties on both sides have been affixed to this signed deed, before these witnesses, Richard Hardel then mayor of London, Matthew Bokeral, Thomas the son of Thomas the sheriff, and many more.

Here follows in the original manuscript, a very long series of deeds made by this convent of the Holy Trinity, to a great number of persons, of all their lands and possessions in the above-mentioned parishes, as also in St. Catherine, or All Saints Colmanchurch; which names of persons and places, being now altogether unknown, will be of no manner of use, or satisfaction to any reader, nothing being to be gathered from the same, and the first of them above being sufficient to satisfy the curiosity of such as desire to see the form of such deeds

^a This charter is in the roll of the 8th year of the reign of King Richard.

The Charter of King William Rufus.

WILLIAM, king of England, to Maurice the bishop, and G. de Magn, and R. Delparc, and his lieges of London, greeting. Know ye, that I have granted to the men of Knightengild their gild, and the land that belongs to it, with all customs, as they had the same in the days of King Edward, and of my father. Witness H. de Boch, at Rethyng.

King Henry the First also confirmed the same to them as follows.

The Charter of King Henry I. to the Knights of the Knightengild.

HENRY, king of England, to Maurice the bishop, to the Sheriff of London, and to all his barons and lieges, French and English, in London, greeting. Know ye, that I have granted to the men of Knightengild their gild, and the land belonging to it, with all customs, as they best had the same, in the days of king Edward, and of my father, and as my brother granted to them by his brief and seal; and let no man dare to do them any wrong in their fee, on account of my forfeiture. Witness N. de Mounford, and R. Bigot, and H. de Boch, at Westminster.

The Charter of King Henry I. to the Church of the Holy Trinity.

HENRY, king of England, to Richard, bishop of London, and to the sheriff and mayor, and to all his barons and lieges, French and English, in London and Middlesex, greeting. Know ye, that I have granted and confirmed to the church and canons of the Holy Trinity, in London, the soc of the English Knightengild, and the land belonging to it, and the church of St. Botolph, as the men of that gild gave and granted it to them. And it is my will, and I strictly command, that they hold the same well and honourably, and freely, with sac and soc, and toll and theam, the infangencthef, and all its customs, as the men of the aforesaid gild best had it, in the days of king Edward, and as king William my father, and my brother granted to them by their deeds. Witness A. queen, and Geoffry, chancellor, and Geoffry de Clynton, and William de Clynton, at Woodstock.

The Bull of Pope Innocent the III^{d.} to the Prior and Monastery of the Holy Trinity.

INNOCENT, bishop, servant to the servants of God, to his beloved sons, the prior and convent of the monastery of the Holy Trinity, in London, greeting, and apostolical blessing. The sincere devout affection which you, my sons, bear us and the Roman church deserves, that we favourably, as far as with God we may, comply with your desires, especially those by which the benefit and advantage of your monastery is procured. Wherefore, my beloved sons in the Lord, granting your request, we receive your persons, and the church in which you perform the divine offices, with all the goods you at present reasonably possess, under St. Peter's and our protection; but more especially the church of St. Botolph, in the soc of the English Knightengild, without and near Algate, London, as also of St. Catherine, and the chapel of St. Michael, in the churchyard of your monastery, united and annexed, and canonically incorporated, which we by apostolical authority confirm, and strengthen by virtue of this present writing. Besides, out of our apostolical benignity, it is our will, and we ordain, that for the future, the parish church of St. Botolph, as also of St. Catherine, and the chapel of St. Michael aforesaid, be laudably served by two of the canons, to be removed at the will of the prior of the monastery, whensoever he shall find it expedient; who are to administer the sacraments, and ecclesiastical sacramentals to the parishioners of the aforesaid church and chapel; providently considering that the union, annexing and incorporation of the said church and chapel, by reason of their poverty would be rendered of no benefit to the said canons, if there should be portions for vicars assigned in the same. Let no man therefore presume to infringe this our constitution, or rashly to act contrary to it; but if any shall presume to attempt it, be it known to him, that he shall incur the indignation of Almighty God, and of his holy apostles Peter and Paul. Given at the Lateran, on the 15th of the calends of June, and the 4th year of our pontificate.

Here follow in the manuscript all the leases granted by the prior and canons of this church of the Holy Trinity to the several tenants, among whom the land of the aforesaid Knightengild was divided. The names of the persons therein mentioned, and the several parcels of land assigned them, being now equally unknown, it would be of very little use to insert here the said leases, which are therefore omitted to make room for charters, and other matters of more note. Though the particulars of the land, and the value of each particular are here omitted for the reason aforesaid, it will be some information to know that the total of the lands thus let in the parish of St. Botolph, without Algate, being part of the aforesaid Knightengild amounted to 8l. 6s. 3¼d.; and yet the tenth was as for 14l. 10s. 1d. as appears in the king's book.

The Charter of King Henry I. confirming the Foundation of the Canons of the Holy Trinity, in London.

HENRY, by the grace of God king of England, to the archbishops, bishops, abbats, earls, barons, sheriffs, and to all his ministers and lieges, greeting. Know ye, that I have granted, and by this present charter confirmed the canonry of the canons regular of the Holy Trinity, in London, which my wife queen Maud there founded; to be for ever established, and free from the subjection of all churches; and that the same canons may stop up the way which is between their church and the city wall. I have also granted to the same canons, for my own soul and the soul of queen Maud, my wife, 25 livres blancs yearly for ever, as a pure and perpetual alms, of the revenues of the same queen Maud, at Exeter, which the said queen Maud, with my consent, gave them during her life; and so that whosoever shall be sheriff in Devonshire, shall pay them to the aforesaid canons at Easter and the feast of St. Michael, in London, as duly as they were ever paid. I have, besides, given to the same canons the gate of Algate, with the soc belonging to the same. And I have granted to the same canons, that they have the soc of the English Knightengild, with the lands and all the liberties belonging to the same soc, within and without the city of London. It is also my will, and I strictly enjoyn, that the aforesaid canons, and their men, have and hold all their lands and possessions, and their fees and alms, as well ecclesiastical, as worldly things and possessions, with all liberties and free customs and claims, whether in woods or plains, in meadows and pastures, in waters and mills, in paths and ways, in lakes and ponds, in marshes and fisheries, in granges and underwoods, within the city and without it, within the burough and without, with sac and soc, toll and theam, and infangenethief. And that the same canons, and their men, be for ever exempt and quitted of all gelds and scots, and wits and assessments, and of all aids to the sheriffs, and their minstrels,^a and from all suits of shires, hundreds, laths, and hustings, and from pleas and trespasses. And that they, be quit and free from hidage, scutage, from exercisings and ridings, from burdens of expeditions, from keeping watches, from the works of castles, parks, bridges, warrens, walls, and all enclosures, and from all carriage by cart, by horse, and by ships, and building of royal palaces, and all sorts of work, and from all secular service and exaction, and from all occasions. I have also granted, that the aforesaid canons and their men be quit of all toll in all markets, and in all fairs, and in passing all ways, bridges, and the sea, and throughout all my kingdom. And the men who hold of the aforesaid canons, as well in the city of London, as without it, shall not plead unless in the court of the canons, where they are to plead. And I forbid under pain of forfeiture to me, that they be not impleaded on account of any tenement of theirs, unless before me, or my chief justice. And that no person contrary to this my charter, wrong them, or their men, for as much as all their lands and possessions, and those of their men are under my keeping, and special protection. Witness, Ranulphus the chancellor, G. de Clinton, Ralph Basset, at Northampton.

This charter is enrolled in the roll of memorandums of the exchequer, among the records of Trinity term, in the 7th year of the reign of Edward the son of Edward.

It is also enrolled in Guildhall, in London, in the great book of memorandums, with the letter C. folio 68.

The Charter of King Stephen, confirming the Lands and Immunities of the Holy Trinity.

STEPHEN, king of England, to the bishop of London, and the sheriffs, mayor, and magistrates, and all his barons, French and English, of London, greeting. I do command that what the canons of the Holy Trinity in London do hold of my alms, and the donation of the queen, wife to king Henry, be peaceable and quit of all gelds and scots, and aids and customs, and suits, as it ever was at the best in any time. And it is my will, and I strictly command that they well, and honourably and freely hold whatsoever, and from whomsoever they hold, with soc and sac, and toll and theam, and infangenethief, and all their customs, as king Henry granted and confirmed the same by his charter to the canons of the aforesaid church. And moreover, I forbid under my displeasure, that no person presume any way to injure or abuse their men, or other things belonging to the church of the Holy Trinity. And the men of that church shall not plead, but where they ought to plead, viz. in the court of the aforesaid church, because I will not consent that their right should in my time decline, or be lessened. Witness the bishop of Winchester, and William de Pont, at Westminster.

The Charter of King Richard the Second, confirming all former Grants.

RICHARD, by the grace of God, king of England and France, and lord of Ireland, to the archbishops, bishops, abbats, priors, dukes, earls, barons, justices, sheriffs, mayors, magistrates, and all bailiffs, and his lieges, greeting. We have seen the charter of our lord Henry, late king of England, our progenitor, in these words.

Here is in the manuscript the charter of king Henry the First, word for word, as it is above, presently after the title of charters of several parishes, and therefore it is needless to repeat the same, the reader may turn back to it.

We have also seen the charter of the lord Stephen, once king of England; our progenitor, in these words. Stephen, king of England, to the bishop of London, the justices, sheriffs, barons, officers, and all his lieges French and English, in Hertfordshire, greeting. Know ye, that I have given and granted to the church of the Holy Trinity in London, and to the canons there serving God, 100 shillings revenue in my manor of Bracking, as a perpetual alms for the repose of the souls of Baldwin my son, and Maud my daughter, who lye buried in that church. I have besides given and granted to the same church and canons, land to the value of six pounds in the same manor of Bracking in exchange for their mill, and of that part of their land, which they granted to Maud, my wife, by the Tower of London, where she built an hospital for the poor; I say I granted them those lands, to the value of six pounds, which I had retained in my lordship, after I had divided the other parts of my manor; that is, the part on which the church is founded, and to which the market also belongs. Wherefore it is my will, and I strictly command, that the aforesaid church and canons do hold and for ever possess the aforesaid land, well and peaceably, and freely and honourably, and quit of any secular exaction, as my sovereign alms, with sac and soc, and toll and theam, and infangenethief, and with all their other free customs, with which they hold their other possessions. Witness, Theobald archbishop of Canterbury, and Robert bishop of London, and Robert bishop of Hereford, and Robert bishop of Exeter, and Hilary bishop of Chichester, and William bishop of Norwich, and queen Maud, and earl Eustace my son, and William of Ydres, and Robert d'Eu, and William Mare, and Henry of Essex, and Richard Luey, and Waren de Luser, at London. We have also seen a certain charter of the same lord Stephen, our progenitor, in these words.

This charter is the same, word for word, as that before, under the title of charters of several parishes, and next to that above referred to of king Henry the First, where the reader may find the same.

We have also seen another charter of the same king Stephen, our progenitor, in these words. Stephen, king of England, to the sheriffs and barons of London, greeting. I command, that the prior and canons of the Holy Trinity in London, do hold their men and their land of the English knightengild, as well and peaceably, and justly, and quietly and honourably as their ancestors held it, as best and freest in the days of king William, my grandfather, and of the kings William and Henry, my uncles, and in mine, and in the days of Leovestan,^a and in the best manner they have held the same themselves since. And moreover, they shall be quit from the ward, and forfeiture for the same, as my proper alms, because in justice they are to be quit of the same, and as both they and their predecessors were ever till now quit of the same, and as the charter of king Henry testifies. Witness, queen Maud, and W. de Luser, at Bermundsey. We also have seen another charter of the same lord Stephen our progenitor, in these words. Stephen, king of England, to the bishop of London, the justices, sheriffs, barons, officers, and all his lieges French and English, in London, greeting. Know ye, that I have restored and granted to God, and the church of the Holy Trinity, in London, and to the canons regular there serving God, for the soul of king Henry, and for the safety of myself, and queen Maud my wife, and my son Eustace, and my other sons, for ever, their land of Smithfield, which earl Geoffry had seized to make his vineyard. Wherefore it is my will, and I strictly command, that they well and peaceably, and freely, and quietly and honourably have and hold their other lands, and as king Henry granted it to them, and confirmed it by his charter. Witness queen Maud, and Thomas Capell, and William of Ypres, and Richard Luey, at London. We have also seen another charter of the same lord Stephen, our progenitor, in these words. Stephen, king of England, to the bishop of London, the justices, sheriffs, barons, and all his officers and lieges, French and English, in Essex, greeting. Know ye, that I have granted to God, and to the prior and canons of the Holy Trinity, of London, for the souls of my father and mother, and for the welfare of my friends, and relations, and predecessors, two hydes of land, at Leyton, which Simon de Molend, and his wife Adelina, and afterwards Robert de Ver gave them in alms. Wherefore it is my will, and I strictly command, that they hold the same, well and peaceably, and freely, and quietly, and honourably, in wood, and plain, and meadows and pastures, and waters and ways, with soc and sac, and toll and theam, and infangenethief, and with all other things, and liberties and immunities belonging to the same, as the aforesaid Simon and his wife ever held them at best, and most freely, and as they gave and granted the same to them. Witness Robert Cave, and William Mars, and Fulk de Dilly, at Westminster. We have moreover seen another charter of the same lord Stephen, our progenitor, in these words. Stephen, king of England, to the justices, sheriffs, barons, and officers, and lieges, French and English, of Hertfordshire, greeting. I command, that all those who shall come to the market of the canons of the Holy Trinity of London, from Bracking, in their stay there, and return thence, have my firm peace. And I forbid any person unjustly to disturb them, or the things belonging to them herein, upon forfeiture of ten pounds. Witness William Mark, at Bermundsey. We have also seen a certain charter of the aforementioned lord Henry, our progenitor, in these words. Henry, king of England, and duke of Normandy and Aquitaine, and earl of Anjou, to the archbishops, bishops, abbats, earls, sheriffs, and his officers of London, and of all England, and to all his lieges, French and English, greeting, &c.

This is the same charter of king Henry the Second, word for word, which may be seen above, after the title of charters of several churches, next to the charters above referred to of king Henry the First, and king Stephen.

We have also seen certain letters patents of the same lord Henry, our progenitor, in these words. Henry, king of England, to the sheriffs and barons of London, greeting: I command that the prior and canons of the Holy Trinity of London do hold their men and lands of the English knightengild, as well and peaceably, and justly, and quietly, and honourably, as their predecessors ever most freely held the same in the days of my father and of my brother, and mine, and in the days of Levestan, and as they had them at best themselves since then till now. And moreover, that they shall be exempt from the ward and forfeiture of the same, as my proper alms, because they are to be exempt from the same, and as both they and their predecessors were always till now exempt from the same. Witness R. de Ver, at Westminster. We have also seen a certain charter of the lord Henry, the son of king John, formerly king of England, and our progenitor, in these words. Henry, by the grace of God, king of England, lord of Ireland, duke of Normandy and Aquitaine, and earl of Anjou, to the archbishops, bishops, abbats, priors, earls, barons, justices, sheriffs, mayors, officers, and all his bailiffs and lieges, greeting. Know ye, that we have granted, and by this charter confirmed, to our beloved in Christ, the prior and convent of the Holy Trinity of London, that they and their successors for ever, have free warren in all their lordship lands, which they now have in the counties of Hertford, Kent, and Middlesex, provided that those lands be not within the bounds of our forest, so that none enter those lands to drive in them, or to take in them what belongs to warren, without the leave or consent of the said prior and convent, or their successors, under the forfeiture of ten pounds to us. We have also granted to the same prior and convent, that they and their successors for ever have a market at their manor of Corney, on Thursday in every week; and that they have, in the same place, a fair every year, to last eight days, viz. on the eve, and on the day of St. Bartholomew the apostle, and the six following days; unless that market, and that fair, be to the detriment of the neighbouring markets and neighbouring fairs. Wherefore it is our will, and we strictly enjoyn, for ourselves, and for our heirs, that the said prior and convent, and their successors for ever, have free warren in all their lordly lands, which at present they have in the counties of Hertford, Kent, and Middlesex, provided nevertheless, that those lands be not within the bounds of our forest, so that none enter those lands to drive in them, or to take any thing that belongs to warren, without the leave and consent of the same prior and convent, or of their successors, under forfeiture of ten pounds to us; and that they and their successors for ever, have a market, at their aforesaid manor of Corneye, on Thursday in every week, and that they have, in the same place, a fair every year, to hold eight days, viz. on the eve, and on the feast of St. Bartholomew the apostle, and the six following days, with all liberties, and free customs, to such market, and fair appertaining, unless that market and that fair be to the detriment of the neighbouring markets; and the neighbouring fairs, as aforesaid. These being witnesses, master William of Kilkenny, Archibald Coventre, John de Greye, Henry Wendeham, William Chaboncy, William Grey, Imbert Pugey, Henry Peyterun, and others. Given by our hand at Havering, the fourth day of April, the thirty-seventh year of our reign. We have also seen another charter of the same lord Henry, the son of king John, our progenitor, in these words.

Here is again, in the manuscript repeated, the whole charter of king Henry the Third, which is to be seen immediately before this, and therefore needless to be here again inserted; the reader may turn back to it.

We have also seen the charter of the lord Edward, late king of England, our great-grandfather, in these words. Edward, by the grace of God, king of England, lord of Ireland, and duke of Aquitain, to all to whom these presents shall come, greeting. Know ye, that of our special grace, we have granted and given leave for ourselves and our heirs, as far as in us is, to our beloved in Christ, the prior and convent of the Holy Trinity of London, that they may add lands or revenues of ten pounds value yearly, according to the true value of the same, with their appurtenances, as well of their own fee as of others, excepting the lands and tenements, which they hold of us in capite, to be held by them and their successors for ever; notwithstanding the statute set forth against giving of lands and tenements to mortmain; provided nevertheless, that it appear by the inquisitions to be made in due form about the same, or to be returned into ours or our heirs' chancery, that the same can be done without damage and prejudice of us and our heirs, or of any other whatsoever. In testimony whereof we have caused these our letters patents to be passed. Witness myself, at Westminster, the third day of November, in the eleventh year of our reign. We have also seen the charter of the lord Edward, our grandfather, late king of England, in these words. Edward, by the grace of God, king of England, lord of Ireland, and duke of Aquitain, to all to whom these presents shall come, greeting. Though our beloved in Christ, the prior and convent of the church of the Holy Trinity of London, ought, by the charters of our progenitors, once kings of England, which we have seen, to be free and exempt from performing any secular service to our said progenitors, or to us or our heirs for ever; nevertheless, the aforesaid prior and convent, both at the request of some of our progenitors, as at present, have burdened their said house with the maintenance of certain persons, for the term of their lives, to the great damage of their house, and contrary to the purport of the aforesaid charters. We being unwilling to prejudice the same prior and convent, on account of such maintenances granted as aforesaid, and resolving to provide for the immunity of themselves, and their liberties in this particular, do will and grant, for ourselves and our heirs, that after the death of those who have corrodies or maintenances in the aforesaid house, at the command or request of our said progenitors, or of us, the aforesaid prior and convent, or their successors, be not obliged to, or burdened with any maintenance to be granted to any one, at the command or request of us or our heirs, on account of any right of ours, or of any other thing whatsoever; but that the same prior and convent, and their successors, be for ever exempt from granting any maintenances. In testimony whereof, we have caused these letters patents to be made. Witness myself at York, on the sixth day of June, in the ninth year of our reign. Now we holding for valid, and approving all the things aforesaid, donations, grants, and mandates, of our aforesaid progenitors, as also all and every thing and things contained in the aforesaid charters and letters, do, of our special grace, by these presents approve, ratify, and confirm the same, for ourselves and our heirs, as far as in us is, according to the tenor of the aforesaid charters and letters, to our beloved in Christ, the present prior and convent of the aforesaid church of the Holy Trinity of London, and their successors, as the charters and letters aforesaid reasonably testify. Besides, being willing to do farther favour to the same prior and convent, we have granted for ourselves and our heirs, and by this our charter confirm, that though they or their predecessors, on account of some emergency, have not hitherto made full use of any one or more liberties, immunities, and privileges contained in the said charters and letters, nevertheless the said prior and convent, and their successors shall, from this time forward for ever, fully enjoy and make use of the aforesaid liberties, immunities, and privileges, or any of them. And moreover, notwithstanding during the life of our grandfather aforesaid, Thomas Richeer, chaplain, did by will bequeath to the then prior and convent of the church of the Holy Trinity of London, to have and to hold for ever, for them and their successors, one messuage, one toft, and one key, with their appurtenances, in the parish of St. Mary-at-Hill, in London; and William Thorleston one messuage, and one shop, with their appurtenance, in the parish of St. Botolph, without Algate, London; the which messuages, toft, shop, and key, were held in burgage of our said grandfather; and that the aforesaid prior and convent entered upon the said messuages, toft, shop, and key, on pretence of the said legacies, without obtaining leave of our said grandfather, and the said messuages, toft, shop, and key, for that reason, and because the aforesaid Thomas and William were not free-men of the aforesaid city, having belonged to our grandfather, and now belonging to us, as being forfeited to us by virtue of the statute made against conveying of lands and tenements to mortmain, as we have been informed; we nevertheless, of our special grace, and for the devotion we bear and have to the said church of the Holy Trinity, have pardoned the aforesaid transgressions, and the forfeiture of the messuages, toft, shop, and key aforesaid fallen to us in manner aforesaid, and have granted for ourselves and our heirs, as far as in us is, to the aforesaid now prior and convent, that they have the said messuages, toft, shop, and key, with their appurtenances, pursuant to the form of the aforesaid legacies, and that they hold them for ever of our gift, to themselves and their successors, of us and our heirs, by the same services by which they were held of our said grandfather, before the forfeiture aforesaid, the statute aforesaid, or the said messuages, toft, shop, and key having been held of our aforesaid grandfather, notwithstanding; without let or impediment from us or our heirs, the justices, escheators, sheriffs, or other our bailiffs or officers whatsoever; and in regard that the aforesaid prior and convent, under pretence of the aforesaid letters of our said great-grandfather, have purchased lands and tenements to the value of 23s. 8d. in part of satisfaction for the aforesaid 10 pounds, lauds and revenues; we will not that now the aforesaid prior and convent, or their successors, do by virtue of the same letters, or by the tenor of these, any way acquire any thing besides the remaining 7l. 17s. 4d. in land and revenue, of the said 10 pounds in land and revenue. These being witnesses, the venerable fathers, S. archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England, our chancellor; Ch. bishop of Exeter, our treasurer; John, king of Castile and Leon, and duke of Lancaster; Edmund earl of Kent; Thomas of Woodstock, earl of Bucks, our most beloved uncles; Nicholas Arundel, Thomas Beauchamp, earls of Warwick; William Beauchamp, our chamberlain; Hugh Segrave, steward of our household; John Fordham, keeper of our privy seal, and others. Given by us at Westminster, the 30th day of May, in the third year of our reign.

Here follow several grants and donations made by private persons.

The Grant of the Abbess and Monastery of Berking, of 13s. 8d. per annum.

BE it known to all persons present and to come, that we Alicia of Merton, humble abbess of the religious house of St. Athelberga of Berking and the convent of the same place, by the unanimous will and consent of the whole chapter, have given and granted, and by this present deed confirmed to God and the church of the Holy Trinity of London, and to the canons there serving God, 13s. 8d. yearly quit-rent in London, viz. 8s. and 8d. from the land and houses built on it, with their appurtenances, which once belonged to Edmund the Cordwainer, in the parish of St. Michael towards Algate, which land, with the houses and appurtenances, lies between the tenement once belonging to Roger of Levesham, on the west, and the tenement once of Thomas le Breton on the east; and 5 shillings of the land, houses built on the same, and their appurtenances, which once belonged to Joseph the barber in Marklane, in the parish of All Saints of Stanyng-Church, towards the Tower of London; which land, with the houses and appurtenances, lies between the tenement of Alicia of Portsmouth on the south, and the tenement of Henry le Lung on the north; the said canons and their successors, or their assigns, to have and receive all the aforesaid quit-rent yearly of us and our successors freely, quietly, entirely, well and peaceably for ever, at the four principal terms of the year, viz. at the feast of St. Michael 3s. 5d. and at the nativity of our Lord 3s. 5d. and at Easter 3s. 5d. and at the nativity of St. John Baptist, without any delay. So that the one half of all the aforesaid revenue be to the use of the church of the said canons, and the other half for the use of sick in the infirmary of the said canons, they therefore paying to us and our successors yearly one clove at Easter, for all secular services and demands. And if the said revenue happen to be in arrear in the whole, or in part, the aforesaid terms not being observed, it shall be lawful for the said canons, and their attorneys whatsoever, against us or our successors, to seize and distrain the said lands, with the houses built on them, and their appurtenances, and to hold the seizure till full satisfaction be made to them for the aforesaid revenue. And we the aforesaid abbess and monastery, and our successors, will for ever, through the aforesaid service, warrant, quit, and defend, to the said canons and their successors, or their assigns, as is above expressed, all the aforesaid revenue yearly and quietly, to be received in the manner aforesaid, against all men and women, as well Christians as Jews. For this donation, grant, warrant, defence, quittance, and the confirmation of this present deed, the said canons gave us ten marks sterling in hand. And to the end that all these things aforesaid may be perpetually established, we have affixed our common seal to this present deed; these persons being witnesses, John Rokesle, then mayor of London, John Adrian and Walter le Engleis, sheriffs, John of Northampton and William of Hadestoke, aldermen of the same wards, Ralph de la More, and John Coke, clerk and alderman.

BE it known to all present and to come, that I John Rosamund, for the health of my soul, and of the souls of my predecessors and successors, have given and granted, and by this present deed confirmed to God, and to the church of the Holy Trinity of London, and to the brothers E. prior, and the canons of the said place, 40s. of yearly revenue in London, viz. 20s. which I had of the gift and grant of Thomas of Oxford, and his wife Alicia, of all their revenue in the parish of St. Dunstan, opposite to the church in the street that leads to the Tower; and one mark of yearly revenue, which I had of the gift and grant of Godfrey of Essex and his wife Lettice, of a certain messuage, with a shop and appurtenances, which Robert of Utele, held of the same Godfrey and Lettice, for two marks yearly, in the parish of St. Mary Abby Church, in Candlewickstreet; and half a mark of yearly and quit-rent, which I had of the gift and grant of Adam Gyseburn and his wife Marsilla, of all their land, with the houses which the same Adam and Marsilla had and held of Gilbert Felford, in the parish of St. Edmund, towards Garschurch, viz. whatsoever I had and could have in the said 40s. without any reserve, to be had and held by the said prior and canons and their successors, as a free and perpetual alms. And it is to be known that the aforesaid 40s. are to be yearly received at the four principal terms, without any let, paying thence yearly to Thomas of Oxford and his wife Alicia, and their heirs, for the said 20s. half a pound of cumin seed, or 3 grains of pepper, and to Godfrey of Essex and his wife Lettice, and their heirs, for the said revenue of one mark, half a pound of cumin seed, or 3 grains of pepper, for all secular services and demand. In testimony whereof, I have made good this present deed, with the impression of my seal, and for the greater security have delivered to the aforesaid prior and canons, as to my assigns, all the deeds of enfeoffment I had relating to the said 40s. Last Wills and Testaments relating to several Parishes.

THE last will of Ralph Blunt was proved and enrolled in the Husting of London, held on Monday before the feast of St. Valentin, in the 24th year of the reign of king Edward, and the year of our Lord 1295; wherein, among other things, the said Ralph bequeaths to the conventual church of the Holy Trinity, after the death of his wife Maud, six marks of yearly quit-rent, viz. four marks in the parish of St. Mary Wolchurchhaw; two marks in the parish of All Saints, Breadstreet, to say mass for ever for his soul and the soul of his wife Maud.

The last will of Thomas of Algate was read, proved, and enrolled in the Husting of London for land pleas, held the Monday next after the feast of the translation of St. Edward, king, in the 33rd year of the reign of king Edward the third, after the conquest, and of our Lord 1358; wherein the said Thomas orders his body to be buried in the churchyard of the Holy Trinity, within Algate, by his father and mother, and bequeaths to his brother Nicholas, then prior, and to that convent, his tenement in the parish of St. Catherine, within Algate, also a revenue of 6s. 8d. in the parish of St. Andrew, Cornhill, London, and his tenement in the parish of St. Botolph, without Algate, for the increase of the maintenance of the boys choristers in the said church, with ten shillings quit-rent of the same tenements. He also left ten pounds to Hugh, the son of John Skinner, to be paid him when out of his apprenticeship; but if he happened to die before he was out of his apprenticeship, then the said ten pounds to go to the prior and convent of the Holy Trinity, to pray for the souls of the said Hugh and his kindred, and for this Thomas and his kindred. All the rest of his estate, real and personal, he left to his aforesaid brother Nicholas, the prior, for him to dispose of as he should think fit, for the good of his soul, and of the souls of his father and mother, and of all his kindred.

The last will of Thomas Richer, chaplain, was proved, proclaimed, and inrolled, in the Husting at London for pleas of land, held on the Monday next after the feast of St. Gregory, pope, in the 36th year of the reign of king Edward the Third, after the conquest. Wherein he orders his body to be buried in the churchyard of the Holy Trinity, leaving 20s. for the expense of his funeral; besides, he bequeathed 20s. to the said church. Item, 3s. 4d. to every canon thereof. Item, to the convent, all his tenement on the key and vacant place adjacent, in the parish of St. Mary Attehil. Item, all his lands and tenements in the parish of the Holy Trinity the Great, in London. Item, a tenement, with a garden and appurtenances, in the parish of St. Botolph, without Algate, London. He also bequeathed to the friars, preachers in London, 6s. to the Carmelites 6s. to the friars minors 6s. to the friars of Autun 6s. and to the brothers of the cross, 6s., &c.

The last will of Simon Hatfield, proved, proclaimed, and inrolled in the Husting at London for common pleas, held the Monday next after the feast of the translation of St. Edward, king; wherein he bequeaths to the church of the Holy Trinity, all his tenement in the parish of St. Catherine, in the churchyard of the church of the Holy Trinity aforesaid, for the use of the sacrist, for the repairs and maintenance of the church aforesaid, for which, on every anniversary day of his death, the sub-prior of the said church then in being, or his deputy, should say mass at the high altar for his soul, and the souls of his kindred; and that the aforesaid sacrist pay to every canon of the convent on that day 6d. in silver out of the profits of the said tenement, and if the said sacrist should at any time fall in arrear, by non-payment of the said money, then all the said tenement to devolve to the prior and convent for the increase of their common stock, besides what they before used to receive, that canon then in the office of sacrist being wholly excepted; and if the said prior and convent should convert the said profits to any other uses than as aforesaid, then the said tenement with its appurtenances, to devolve to the chapel of Guildhall, London, and the chaplains there to pray for his and the souls of his kindred. He also bequeathed to the said prior and convent 20s. of quit-rent in the parish of St. Catherine aforesaid; also 12d. of quit-rent in the parish of St. Botolph, without Algate; also 11s. of quit-rent in the parish of St. Botolph, without Aldersgate.

The last will of John de Cantebregge, subscribed, read, proved, proclaimed, and enrolled in the Husting at London for pleas of land, held on Monday, at the festival of St. Thomas the Apostle, in the first year of the reign of king Richard, the second after the conquest. The will itself expresses that it was made in the year 1376, and the 50th year of the reign of king Edward, the third after the conquest; wherein the said John orders his body to be buried in the chapel of the blessed Virgin Mary of Criccherch, of the Holy Trinity, London, where his two wives, Elizabeth and Agnes and his son John, lay interred. Then he bequeaths to the prior and convent of the said church, all the tenements at Ebbegate, London, in the parish of St. Lawrence, near Candlewycstreet, with the reversion of certain tenements in the parish of St. Giles, without Cripplegate, London; also, all his tenements in the parish of St. Catherine, within Algate.

Here end the wills in the manuscript, and then follow several acquittances or discharges to tenants for arrears of rent, &c. which do not appear to be of any use at present, and are therefore omitted. The book concludes with leases, and those imperfect, which for the same reason are not thought fit to be taken notice of. After the charters of kings, is an explanation of the terms used in them.

ALEXANDER episcopus servus servorum Dei, venerabili fratri episcopo, et dilecto filio officiali Londonien. salutem et apostolicam benedictionem.

Sua nobis dilecti filii prior et conventus monasterii Sanctæ Trinitatis, Londonien. ordinis Sancti Augustini, petitione monstrarunt quod, cum in causa, quæ inter ipsos ex parte una, et venerabilem fratrem nostrum Cantuarien. archiepiscopum ex altera vertitur, super eo quod idem archiepiscopus ipsos eorum ecclesia de Bixle Roffen. diœc. pro suæ voluntatis libito spoliavit, fuisset hinc inde diutius litigatum;

Tandem eodem archiepiscopo ecclesiam ipsam de facto magistro Gulielmo de Papio, clerico conferente, felicitis recordationis Innocentius papa predecessor noster dilectis filiis electo et officiali Wintonien. suis dedit literis in mandatis ut eundem magistrum qui eandem ecclesiam occupatam detinet, peremptorie citari curarent, ut infra quatuor menses, post citationem suam, per se, vel per procuratorem idoneum apostolico se conspectui præsentaret, in eodem negotio, prout ordo juris exigit, processurus.

Idem vero electus, prout ex tenore literarum ipsarum patet, magistrum peremptorie citare curavit eundem, ut in hujusmodi termino apostolico se conspectui per se, vel per procuratorem idoneum præsentaret.

Cumque postmodum dictus prædecessor procuratori eorundem prioris et conventus, quem propter hoc in eodem termino ad sedem apostolicam destinarunt, dilectum filium magistrum Raynerium de Viterbio capellanum nostrum super hoc dederit auditorem, idem capellanus, pro dicto magistro nemine comparente, quanquam ipsum in audientia publica, prout moris est, pluries citari fecerit, et diutius post terminum expectarit,

Pronunciando decrevit eosdem priorum et conventum, et procuratorem suum, eorum nomine, fore in possessionem ecclesie præfatæ, causa custodiæ, inducendos, prout in literis ipsius capellani confectis exinde dicitur plenius contineri;

Quocirca discretioni vestræ per apostolica scripta mandamus quatinus præfatos priorem et conventum, vel ipsorum procuratorem, eorum nomine, in ejusdem ecclesie corporalem possessionem, auctoritate nostra, per vos, vel alios inducere procuretis.

Contradictores per censuram ecclesiasticam, appellatione postposita, compescendo.

Non obstante si aliquibus a sede apostolica sit indultum quod interdici, suspendi, vel excommunicari non possint per literas apostolicas, nisi plenam et expressam, vel de verbo ad verbum fecerint de indulto hujusmodi mentionem.

Litteræ diffinitivæ super questione de Ecclesia de Bixle, inter Archiepiscopum Cantuariensem, et Priorem et Conventum Sanctæ Trinitatis, London.

[Ibid. vol. i. p. 637. A.D. 1257. an. 41. H. 3. Ex Transcript. authent. Stev. ii. p. 326.]

STEPHANUS miseratione divina, episcopus Penestrinus, universis presentes litteras inspecturis, salutem in Domino.

Noveritis quod olim, in causa quæ inter priorem et conventum monasterii Sanctæ Trinitatis Londonien. ordinis Sancti Augustini, ex una parte, et archiepiscopum Cantuariensem, ac magistrum Gulielmum tunc simplicem clericum, nunc Papiensem episcopum ex altera, vertebatur, super eo quod dictus archiepiscopus dictos priorem et conventum ecclesie de Bixle Roffens. dioc. quam a tempore, cujus non extat memoria, ex concessionibus et collationibus quorundam archiepiscoporum prædecessorum ipsius, qui ei ecclesia Cantuar. pro tempore fuerunt, capituli Cantuarien. et loci diocesanis accedente consensu, in perpetuam elemosinam et in proprios usus, prout in prædecessorum ipsorum literis, confectis exinde, dicitur plenius contineri, obtinuerunt, contra justitiam spolians, eam dicto magistro de facto, cum de jure nequiret, contulerat.

Qui priorem et conventum præfatos, causa custodiæ in possessionem ecclesie supradictæ inducendos esse decrevit, propter ipsius magistri contumaciam manifestam.

Postmodum vero dominus Alexander papa quartus venerabili patri episcopo et discreto viro officiali London. suis dicitur dedisse literis in mandatis, ut præfatos priorem et conventum, vel ipsorum procuratorem, eorum nomine, in ipsius ecclesie corporalem possessionem, auctoritate litterarum hujusmodi, per se, vel alios, inducere procurarent; contradictores, &c. prout in ipsis literis dicitur plenius contineri.

Et, licet ipsi prior et conventus, per episcopum et officialem præfatos in dictæ ecclesie possessionem inducti corporalem, eam postmodum aliquandiu pacifice possiderent;

Tandem magistro Gulielmo eodem in episcopum Papiensem assumpto, vir venerabilis magister Jordanus, domini papæ subdiaconus et notarius, de ejusdem domini speciali licentia, et mandato, viva voce sibi facto, præfatam ecclesiam, per promotionem dicti electi vacantem, discreto viro Oddoni vicecomiti, ejusdem domini capellano, nomine et vice Ubaldini clerici, nepotis venerabilis viri domini O. Sanctæ Mariæ in Via Lata diaconi cardinalis, contulit; ipsum Oddonem, nomine ipsius, viz. per suum pilleum investiens de eadem, decursu temporis de consecrandis episcopis diffinito a canone non obstante, venerabili viro electo Winton. eidem viz. super dicta ecclesia executore concessio, qui procuratorem ejusdem in ipsius ecclesie possessionem induxit, seu mandavit induci.

Cumque postmodum inter ipsos priorem et conventum ex parte una, et præfatum Ubaldinum ex altera, orta materia quæstionis, ad sedem apostolicam per appellationem delata fuisset, demum nos, quem dominus papa, in causa hujusmodi, partibus concessit auditorem, de speciali mandato ipsius, nobis viva voce facto, fratre Radulpho canonico et procuratore monasterii prædicti, et Ferrarino canonico Ferrarien. procuratore dicti Ubaldini, in nostra præsentia constitutis, et de communi consensu et voluntate ipsorum sententialiter pronunciantes, eidem Ubaldino super ipsa ecclesia de Bixle perpetuum silentium imponimus.

Statuimus etiam, ordinamus, atque decernimus ut collationibus magistro Guillielmo, et Ubaldino præfatis, et quibuscunque aliis, apostolica vel ejuscumque auctoritate, de prædicta ecclesia de Bixle, cum juribus et pertinentiis suis factis, vel in posterum faciendis, quas ex nunc decernimus cassas, irritas, et inanes, et quicquid secutum est ex eis, vel ob ipsas nequaquam obstantibus, eo quod ecclesia ipsa tunc temporis non vacabat, utpote in usus proprios jam dicto monasterio concessa, dictus Ubald. dimittat de cætero præfatam ecclesiam de Bixle, cum suis juribus et pertinentiis prædictis, priori et conventui liberam et quietam, et quod tandiu prior et conventus prædicti ipsi Ubald. viginti et quinque marcas sterlingorum, in festo Sancti Michaelis Londoniis, exhibeant annuam pensionem, donec dictus prior in regno Angliæ, in locis, quibus viderit expedire, jam dicto Ubaldino de ecclesiastico beneficio, præbenda, personatu, vel dignitate cum cura, vel sine cura, ad cujuscunque collationem spectante, quod sexaginta marcas sterlingorum ad minus valeat annuatim, per litteras apostolicas quas idem Ubaldinus ad priorem impetrabit eundem per se, vel per alium, seu alios duxerit providendum.

Et dictus Ubaldinus vel ejus procurator suo nomine hujusmodi beneficii possessionem pacificam atque corporalem habuerit, et fructus pacifice perceperit de eodem; ac dicto Ubald. hujusmodi provisionem adeptus, idem prior et conventus ad solutionem pensionis ejusdem nullatenus teneantur, nec dictus Ubald. ipsam exigat ab eisdem, et de ipsius domini papæ speciali mandato supplentes, si quis in concessionibus, collationibus, et confirmationibus memoratis archiepiscoporum, capituli, et loci diocesanis prædictorum habitus est defectus; inhibemus quod eadem ecclesia de Bixle nulli, cujusquam auctoritate, de cætero conferatur, sed ipsa in perpetuum in proprios usus prioris et conventus ipsorum libere, cum juribus et pertinentiis suis, remaneat et quiete, alicujus seu aliquorum contradictione nequaquam obstante.

In cujus rei testimonium præsentibus litteras sigilli nostri munimine fecimus roborari. Lata et recitata fuerunt prædicta Viterbii, sub anno Domini 1257, pontificatus domini Alexan. papæ quarti anno tertio, 15 indict. die nona Septembris exeuntis. Præsentibus magistro Uberto de Coconato; magistro Roberto de Scotia, domini papæ capellanis; magistro Johanne Romanucii, domini papæ scriptore; magistro Adulpho, canonico Pruiven; magistro Georgio, canonico Strigonien.

Et aliis pluribus testibus de hiis rogatis et vocatis.

Ego Berardus de Insula, Romanæ apostol. ac sacrosanctæ sedis auctoritate notarius, prædictorum prolationi interfui ut supra legitur; et de mandato prædicti domini Penestr. episcopi, scripsi, et rogatus fideliter provocavi.

URBANUS episcopus servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis abbati et priori Gloverniæ, Wigornien. dioc. salutem et apostolicam benedictionem.

Dilecti filii prior et conventus ecclesie Sanctæ Trinitatis Londonien. ordinis Sancti Augustini nobis exponere curaverunt, quod claræ memoriæ H. rex Angliæ, et M. regina uxor ipsius, perpetuam custodiam et quicquid juris habebant in hospitali eorum Sanctæ Katharinæ, juxta Turrim Londonien. posito, quod ipsi de bonis propriis construxerant et dotarant, dictis priori et conventui, ac eorum ecclesie Sanctæ Trinitatis liberaliter contulerunt.

Et postmodum quidam reges Angliæ, qui post ipsos fuerunt, et etiam charissimus in Christo filius noster rex Angliæ illustris. collationem hujusmodi habuerunt ratam et firmam.

Aliqui etiam Londonien. episcopi, de consensu capituli Londonien. præfatum hospitale, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, dictis priori, et conventui, et ecclesie concesserunt.

Et tamen ipsi, quam quidam, archiepiscopi Cantuarien.

metropolitan. loci, collationem seu donationem hujusmodi confirmarunt, prout in litteris inde confectis dicitur plenius contineri.

Dictique prior et conventus hospitale præfatum, ejusque custodiam, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, a centum annis citra, usque ad hæc tempora, pacifice possederunt.

Instituentes et destituentes fratres ibidem, qui suscipiebant ab eis professionem, habitum, et vivendi modum, secundum regulam Sancti Augustini, et promittebant juramento, sub eorum obedientia vivere, et ipsis tam de spiritualibus, quam de temporalibus plenarie respondere.

Sed venerabilis frater noster Londonien. episcopus, contra collationem et confirmationem hujusmodi veniens, ipsos hospitali prædicto, ejusque juribus et pertinentiis suis spolians, non permittit fratres commorantes ibidem canonicam eis et debitam exhibere obedientiam, ad eorum venire capitulum, et sibi de temporalibus more solito respondere.

Quocirca discretioni vestræ per apostolica scripta mandamus quatinus, si est ita, dictum episcopum, quod eidem priori et conventui hospitale ipsum, cum omnibus suis pertinentiis, cum integritate restituat, dictosque fratres ejus libere respondere permittat de justitiis consuetis, monitione præmissa, auctoritate nostra, appellatione remota, compellatis.

Quod si non ambo hiis exequendis potueritis interesse, alter vestrum ea nichilominus exequatur.

URBANUS episcopus servus servorum Dei, charissimæ in Christo filiæ reginæ Angliæ illustri, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem.

Dilecti filii prior et conventus ecclesiæ Sanctæ Trinitatis Londonien. ordinis Sancti Augustini, nobis exponere curaverunt, quod claræ memoriæ H. rex Angliæ et M. regina uxor ipsius, perpetuam custodiam, et quicquid juris habebant in hospitali eorum Sanctæ Katerinæ, juxta Turrim Londonien. posito, quod ipsi de bonis propriis construxerant et dotarant duxerunt eis et dictæ ecclesiæ Sanctæ Trinitatis liberaliter conferenda.

Aliqui etiam episcopi Londonien. de consensu capituli Londonien. præfatum hospitale, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, dictis priori et conventui, ac ecclesiæ concesserunt; et tam ipsi, quam quidam archiepiscopi Cantuarienses metropolitani loci, collationem seu donationem hujusmodi confirmarunt, prout in litteris inde confectis dicitur plenius contineri.

Dictique prior et conventus hospitale prædictum, ejusque custodiam cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, a centum annis et citra, usque ad hæc tempora pacifice possederunt, instituentes et destituentes fratres ibidem, qui ab eis professionem, habitum, et vivendi modum, secundum regulam Sancti Augustini suscipiebant; vivendo sub ipsorum obedientia, et ipsis tam de spiritualibus quam temporalibus respondendo.

Sed nunc memorati prior et conventus hospitale prædicto, ejusque pertinentiis de mandato tuo, quod vix credimus, spoliati dicuntur, nec permittunt fratres, commorantes ibidem, canonicam eis et debitam exhibere obedientiam, ad eorum venire capitulum, et sibi respondere de temporalibus, ut solebant.

Propter quod iidem prior et conventus ad apostolicæ sedis providentiam recurrerunt.

Quia vero decet honorem tuum, ut hujusmodi salubris et pia concessio, per tot reges, totque pontifices roborata, conservetur illæsa, excellentiam tuam rogamus, monemus, et hortamur attente, quatinus hospitale ipsum, et omnes pertinentias ejus, quæ in tuis manibus detineri dicuntur, eidem priori et conventui, pro nostra et apostolicæ sedis reverentia, facias prompta benignitate restitui, ac ipsos pacifica prædictorum possessione gaudere; ita quod tibi, propter hoc, a Deo vitæ perennis præmium, et a nobis condigna proveniat actio gratiarum.

URBANUS episcopus servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis priori et conventui ecclesiæ Sanctæ Trinitatis Londonien. ordinis Sancti Augustini, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem.

Etsi superfluum videatur precibus postulari quod a jure communi conceditur, interdum tamen ipsa quoque justitia non inutiliter indulgetur, ut eo sit a contraria potentia tutior, quo fuerit de gratia speciali concessa.

Hinc est quod nos, devotionis vestræ precibus inclinati, vobis auctoritate præsentium, indulgemus ut liceat vobis, in causis ecclesiæ vestræ, verum testimonium ferre, dummodo unus, vel duo ex vobis ad agendum et respondendum fuerint instituti; quorum testimonium admitti non debet in causis, in quibus auctores extiterint, vel etiam responsales.

Nulli ergo omnino hominum liceat hanc paginam nostræ concessionis infringere, vel ei ausu temerario contraire.

Si quis autem hoc attemptare præsumperit, indignationem omnipotentis Dei, et beatorum Petri et Pauli, apostolorum ejus, se noverit incursurum.

URBANUS episcopus, servus servorum Dei, venerabili fratri archiepiscopo Cantuariensi, et dilectis filiis abbati monasterii de Waltham Londoniensi diocesi, ac archidiacono Londoniensi, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem.

nium solertia reddimur indefessa solliciti, ut, juxta debitum pastoralis officii, eorum occurramus dispendiis, et profectibus, divina cooperante clementia, salubriter intendamus.

Sane, dilectorum filiorum, prioris et conventus prioratus Sanctæ Trinitatis Londoniensis, ordinis Sancti Augustini, conquestione percepimus quod nonnulli archiepiscopi, episcopi, alique ecclesiarum prælati et clerici, ac ecclesiasticæ personæ, tam religiosæ, quam seculares, necnon duces, marchiones, comites, barones, nobiles, milites, et laici, communia civitatum, universitates oppidorum, castrorum, villarum, et aliorum locorum, et aliæ singulares personæ civitatum et diocesium, ac aliarum partium diversarum, occuparunt, et occupari fecerunt castra, villas, et alia loca, terras, domos, possessiones, jura et jurisdictiones, necnon fructus, census, redditus et proventus dicti prioratus, et nonnulla alia bona, mobilia et immobilia, spiritualia et temporalia, ad priorem et conventum ac prioratum prædictos spectantia, et ea detinent indebite occupata, seu ea detinentibus præstant auxilium, consilium, vel favorem.

Priory of Taunton, in Somersetshire.

ON the eastern part of the town of Taunton, says Tanner, was a Priory of Black Canons erected by William Giffard bishop of Winchester, in the time of Henry the First, to the honor of St. Peter and St. Paul. His successors the bishops of Winchester were patrons of this priory for a great while; but, according to Dr. Hutton, from the Wells Registers, in 1317 Sir Robert Fitzpain was patron.^a

An Inquisition of the 13th Edw. Staverdale Priory in Somersetshire was annexed to this House in the 24th Hen. VIII.^d

Hastings Priory, in Sussex.

THAT the Priory of Austin Canons, at Hastings, was founded as early as the reign of Richard the First is evident, as it is mentioned in Gervase of Canterbury. Leland says Sir Walter Bricet, Knt. was the founder.^a

The Church and House being overflowed and destroyed by an inundation of the sea, Sir John Pelham gave this convent lands at Warbilton, in the 14th of Henry the Fourth, whereon to build a new church and monastery:^b but Tanner says that it does not appear that this design ever fully took effect. Other well disposed persons contributing their aid, a new priory^c was erected at Hastings, at a short distance from the town, which, in the 26th Hen. VIIIth., was valued in the whole at 57*l.* 19*s.*; in the clear at 51*l.* 9*s.* 5*d.* per annum.

The Site was granted in the 29th Hen. VIII. to John Baker.^d

Dugdale, in the former edition of this Work, printed a charter as belonging to Hastings Priory, which really belonged to the King's Free Chapel or College, at Hastings, an account of which will be given in another place.

THOMAS occurs Prior of Hastings in 1266.^e

No REGISTER of Hastings Priory is at present known:^f nor are the Editors acquainted with any Impression from the SEAL of the Convent.

So complete and entire has been the decay of this Priory, that it may be almost literally said to have scarcely left one stone upon another to repeat the story of its existence. A very small fragment of an old wall in a farm-yard, adjoining to a cottage on the site where it stood, is the only discernible trace now left of it.^g

The present owners of the Site of the Priory are, Earl Cornwallis, who possesses three-fourths, and Edward Milward, Esq. who has the remaining part.

Westwerk of the Cathedral of St. Lawrence, Le Mans.

Priory of St. Mary Overey, in Southwark.

STOW tells us, from a tradition delivered to him by Linsted the last prior, and who surrendered the House to King Henry the Eighth, that there was long before the Conquest a House of Sisters here, founded by a maiden named Mary, and endowed by her with the profits of a ferry across the Thames; that afterwards it was converted by a noble lady of the name of Swithen into a college of priests, who, in place of the ferry, built the first bridge over the Thames of timber, and kept it in repair. That honest Stow had this account given him, says Manning, there is no doubt; but it is inconsistent to suppose that the priests would build a bridge, if they were able so to do, by which the profits of their ferry would be destroyed, and they would lose the means of maintaining it when built. Swithen has been, in all other instances, considered as the name of a man.

Tanner observes, that this account of the foundation of the religious house here is not confirmed by any other authority in print or manuscript that had occurred to him, and must depend on the story told to Stow; that, according to Matthew of Westminster, canons regular, then newly come into England, were placed here, and by Bishop Giffard according to the historian Major Wintoniensis, but he observes that this last account is inconsistent with what had been said two pages before, that Bishop Giffard was then in exile. Whether this bishop was the founder at any other time, Tanner observes, there is reason to doubt, no deed to that effect having yet appeared, no hint to that purport in his own charter of confirmation of the church of Stoke Poges to this priory, nor in the annals of Waverley Abbey, that kind of chronicle not being usually silent in regard to acts so much to the honour of their founder.

There seems however to be no doubt that in 1106 this foundation was renewed for canons regular by William Pont d'Arch and William Dauncey, two Norman knights, and that this bishop, when he obtained quiet possession of his see in 1107, assisted them, and built the nave of their church, on which account, perhaps, some have called him their founder. In the Appendix to the present account, Num. XI. there is a grant, or more properly a confirmation to this priory by King Stephen of a stone house in Dowgate, which had belonged to William de Pont d'Arch.^a

In 1213, 14th John, this priory was consumed in the fire which burnt down a great part of Southwark. The prior and convent, in consequence, built a place in which they celebrated divine service till their house was rebuilt. This they called the Hospital of St. Thomas.

The priory was rebuilt not many years after by the munificence of Peter de Rupibus, bishop of Winchester, so made in 1205, who also erected a spacious chapel, and dedicated it to St. Mary Magdalen, which afterwards became the parish church of that name, and was subsequently made the south aisle of the priory church, as it now is. In 1273, Walter, archbishop of York, granted thirty days' indulgence to all who should contribute to the fabric of the church.

This house was again burnt, or at least much damaged by fire in the time of King Richard the Second, and was rebuilt in that or the succeeding reign; when Gower the poet is stated to have been a large benefactor. Cardinal Beaufort is also conjectured to have contributed at this or a subsequent time to the restoration of the church, his arms being carved in stone upon a pillar in the south cross aisle.

Manning has given the following List of the Manning has enumerated the possessions of the monks of St. Mary Overey as near as he could according to the chronology of the grants: and first in TEMPORALITIES. In the time of Henry the First or Henry II. Alexander Fitzgerald gave them annually two weighs of cheese at Badleking in the manor of Kingston Lisle in Berkshire. Alice de Rumely, wife of Alexander, confirmed the donation. Alexander gave them also all his land of Waleton, willing to be buried there if he died in those parts. Amicia de Tregoz, daughter of Robert Fitzgerald and Alice his wife, sister of Alexander, and wife first of Philip de Leyburn and then of John de Tregoz, confirmed the donation of the lands of Waleton. Robert de Leyborn also confirmed the donations of his mother and his ancestors. Henry Fitzgerald, younger brother of Warin of Kingston Lisle, gave them a field of wheat, and confirmed the grant of his grandfather Alexander Fitzgerald of the weighs of cheese. They had several rents issuing out of houses in London. William de Warren gave them sixty acres called Wadeland at Foots Cray in Kent; which were confirmed by Beatrice his daughter. Mabel, wife of Nigel de Mowbray, gave a virgate in Benestede. King Stephen gave the tithes of his farm in Southwark: and confirmed the grant of a stone edifice which had been William de Pont arch's. Cecily, countess of Hereford, gave all her lands in Ketebrok, and 4*l.* a year in Preston, in the time of Henry the Second. Hamelin, earl of Warren, and Isabel his wife, gave them ten acres of land,

^a Compare Manning's Hist. of Surrey, vol. iii. pp. 559, 560.

William de Ros gave the hermitage of Plumsted in Kent, with three acres of land in the marshes, and certain wood, to provide a mass chaplain in the hermitage, saving the right of the mother church of Plumsted. In the time of Henry the First, William de Montfichet and Roesse his wife gave the tithe of his house of Cupefeld and ten acres in the manor. Gilbert, earl of Pembroke, who died in 1149, gave one carucate of land with ten acres of meadow, and his garden and mansion at Easinges. Hugh de Fraxineto and Alice Botelrel his wife gave an annual rent of twelve pence, and two hides of land in Micheham. In the time of Henry the Second, Walter, first earl of Clare, confirmed the carucate abovementioned, adding the meadow called Londmead, a barn, a heath, and his garden and mansion there. Henry de Scales gave his land at Stow in Cambridgeshire, with half a hide of other land. Theobald de Scales also gave land in Stow. Stephen de Scales gave ten acres of land in Shakington or Shakeston. The canons of St. Mary Overy had also various lands in Micham, in Craneford at Beddington, in Chelsham, Cherleton, and Kidebroke, and divers mesuages in Southwark: besides lands in North Tadworth, Betham Parva, common of pasture in Ewel, Bansted, and North and South Tadworth, lands in Oxted; tenements in Camerwell, Newenton, and Lambeth, all in Surrey; lands, tenements, and woods, in Stoke Pogies, Bucks; the appropriation of Westilbury; and rents in Addington, Oxted, Micham, Clapham, and Camberwell. John De Molins, who lived in the time of Edward the Third, was a great benefactor to them; in the 6th Edw. III. he assigned them under licence twenty-five acres in Stoke in exchange. In SPIRITUALITIES these canons possessed the advowsons of Micham and Plumbeton, the latter by the gift of Reginald de Warren; the church of Benestede in Surrey given by Tirrell de Manners, and afterwards appropriated the churches of the manor of Benestede, Wudemarsesthorpe, and Berghes, and the church of St. Margaret in Southwark, given by Nigel de Mowbray; those of Crechesfeld, Beschesward, and Leghe, of the gift of Hamelin earl of Warren, afterwards appropriated; St. Giles of Stoke Pogies of the gift of Hugh de Stokes; the advowson of the church of Ketebrok given in the time of Henry the Second by Cicely countess of Hereford; the church of Totinges in Surrey of the gift of Hamo de Gravenel; the church of Edinton with the chapel of All Saints given by Bartholomew de Caineto; the church of Newdigate given by Hamelin earl of Warren; the advowsons of St. Benet Sherehog, St. Mary Abchurch, St. Mildred Bread Street, St. Mildred Poultry, and Trinity the Less in London; and the church of Hokering in Norfolk, with the chapel of Berack, of the gift of Hubert de Rie.

In the 26th Hen. VIII. the gross income of this house was valued at 656*l.* 10*s.* 0*d.* per annum; the clear revenue 624*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.*

On the 18th July, 1545, 36th Hen. VIII. the Site was granted to Sir Anthony Brown, knt. who was afterwards created Viscount Montagu. Either he, or his son, built a house here, a part of which still remains, and retains the name of Montagu Close.

The names and weights of the bells of St. Mary Overey occurs at fol. 79 b, as taken in 1424. The COMMON SEAL of this priory is attached to a Deed in the Augmentation Office, dated in 1376; it is round and contains within an oval compartment the Virgin and Child: surrounding them on a scroll are the words AVE . MARIA . GRACIA . PLENA . DOMINVS . TECVM . BENEDICTA : on the outer sides of this compartment are four angels. The Legend is, SIGILLVM . ECCLESIE . SANCTE . MARIE . DE . SVTHEWERCHA. The Impression is on red wax.

Attached to the Harleian Deed 43 J. 43. is an imperfect Impression of the Seal of St. Mary, Southwark, "AD CAVSAS," for Leases.

The present church of St. Mary Overey is a fine specimen of what is called Gothic architecture; the whole building being in length 272 feet; the breadth, including the two aisles, 61 feet; the north transept 29, and the south 31 feet in length; built in the cross form, like a cathedral, having a central tower resting upon four columns. In spite of two fires in the thirteenth century, it still presents some remains of its earliest structure, though the greater part was rebuilt in the reigns of Richard the Second and Henry the Fourth. The key-stones of the building are ornamented with the arms of the priory, and other devices, amongst which are seen phœnixes rising from flames, evidently alluding to the restoration of the church after fire. The tower is thirty-five feet square, and a hundred and fifty in height. The roof of the nave is supported by twenty-six pillars, thirteen on each side. The Lady Chapel, at the east end, is forty-two feet in length; now used as the bishop's court: the visitations for the deanery of Southwark are also held in it. The front of the west end of the church has a range of small pillars forming niches.

Before the late repair of this fabric began in 1818, under the care of George Gwilt, Esq., a century had nearly passed away without any thing worthy of notice having been done for its preservation. It would appear from a date upon the nave, that in 1734 some considerable changes were effected upon the exterior of the structure; the embattled parapets shewn in Hollar's engraving of the church were then removed, and the external stonework cased over with brick. About the same time the northern front of the north transept was taken down, and a substitute of timber framing and geometrical tiles, as an enclosure to two of the bays which were left standing, put up in its stead. The south transept was respited till the next year, when the same operation was performed as upon the nave; the rose window was demolished; and the moulded tracery of the side windows, and the painted glass of knights in armour, of which a drawing is preserved among Nicholas Charles's Collections in the Lansdowne MSS. removed. The tower had been substantially repaired, and the pinnacles rebuilt in 1689. In 1818 the tower was again repaired, and the whole exterior encircled with cast-iron bars or ties, in three stages, so concealed as not to be distinguishable from the masonry. In 1822 and 1823 the choir was repaired, and a very considerable portion rebuilt; the chapel of St. Mary Magdalen on the south side of the choir taken down; the side windows of the aisles restored with new masonry; and the windows throughout inclosed with cast-iron lights instead of lead-work; in all of which works the architect judiciously adhered not only to the ancient general design, but to the minutest detail, wherever it could be made out: fragments of moulding worked up in the masonry of the old building having in some instances served as models. The exterior of the choir having gone to entire decay on account of the softness of the stone which had been used, was rebuilt from a new design. The repair of the tower of the church cost 5200*l.*, that of the choir nearly 12,000*l.* The transepts and the bishop's court are still to be repaired.

Bresethe, or Brisete Magna Priory, in Suffolk.

ABOUT A. D. 1110, says Tanner, Ralph Fitz Brien erected a Priory here, for Canons of the order of St. Austin, to the honour of St. Leonard. It was subordinate to the Monastery of Nobiliac, in the diocese of Lymoges, and duchy of Berry.^a

Having been suppressed among the other Alien Prio-

^a Prynne, Papal Usurp. vol. iii. pp. 682, 707.

ries, Bresethe or Brisett was granted by King Henry the Sixth to King's College, Cambridge; there is no return of it therefore in the Valor Ecclesiasticus of the 26th Hen. VIII., but a short account of it is given in a Book of Surveys, 37 Hen. VIII., in the Augmentation Office.^a

For the lands with which Bresethe was endowed the reader is referred to the charters copied by Dugdale.^b

Tanner has given a few references to the Records which concern this House,^c though no REGISTER of them is at present known.

No SEAL of this Religious House has yet been met with.

Brisett is situate near Bildeston, in the Hundred of Bormere.

The present owners are the Provost and Fellows of Kings College, Cambridge.

Abbey of Cirencester, in Gloucestershire.

THE following is the substance of the account which Rudder gives of the Abbey of Cirencester.* King Henry the First, he says, built the Abbey Church here, which he began in 1117, and completely finished in fourteen years,

* Hist. Glouc. pp. 357—359.

Leland states, that here was a rich College of Prebendaries before the Conquest; and his evidence is corroborated by the Domesday Survey, in which the Church of Cirencester is said, both in the Confessor's and the Conqueror's time, to have held two hides of land in Cirencester hundred in alms, with six acres of meadow, the whole worth 40s. It also held a vill in Wiche, with a portion of wood, worth 10s. King William is stated to have given the wood.

REINBALDUS the chancellor of King Edward the Confessor, was the dean of this Collegiate Church.

King Henry having placed regular canons in the Abbey Church, and obtained Pope Innocent's licence, and the consent of the archbishops, bishops, and temporal nobility of his kingdom, endowed it with all Reinbald's estates. King Richard the First increased its revenues in the 9th year of his reign, by annexing to it the jurisdiction of the Seven Hundreds: and King John, in the first year of his reign, confirmed its different charters.

Omitting, in the English account of this Monastery, any minor and trifling donations, it may be proper to observe, that it obtained a grant of a fair in the 17th of John; and another grant of fairs, in the town of Cirencester, 37th Hen. III., and of markets there, and in the Seven Hundreds, in the 42d Hen. III.

Some proceedings against the abbat, which appear to have been merely vexatious, occur upon the Quo Waranto Rolls of the 15th of Edward the First, as well as an Inquisition in the 1st Hen. IV.

The extent of the abbat's jurisdiction in the manor court of Hethrop was particularly specified and settled by a composition between Hugh, the abbat of Cirencester, and Wymark, prioress of Laycock, to whom that manor belonged. The deed itself will be printed in the Appendix to the latter monastery. Sir Robert Atkyns has printed a deed of concession, made in 1305, from the abbat to one John de Lalton.

The great charter of confirmation to this house, from King Edward the Third, with King John's confirmation, will be found in the Appendix.

This was a mitred abbey. The abbat was summoned to the great council in the 43d Hen. III., but had not a stated seat in parliament till William Best obtained that honour, with the use of the mitre, in 1416. Rudder adds, that the abbat had the privilege of coinage; but his only authority for the assertion is the discovery of a church counter, or jetton, in the vicinity of the abbey, charged with the arms of the abbey, and the words AVE . MARIA . GRACIA . PLEN., with the letters G . A . G . A . for Georgius abbas on the reverse; William George being abbat from 1445 to 1461.

The following is Willis's list of the

with a few corrections.

SERLO, the fourth dean of Salisbury, was the first abbat, A.D. 1117. He died in 1147.

ANDREW was his successor. He died in 1176.

ADAM, prior of Bradney, the third abbat, died in 1183.

ROBERT, canon of Cirencester, succeeded, but died the same year; when another

ROBERT was chosen. He died in 1187.

RICHARD, prior of St. Gregory's, Canterbury, succeeded. He died in 1213.

^a Leland says that "Blake, the last abbat, built two fulling mills at Cirencester, which cost seven hundred marks of money." "They be wonderful necessary," he adds, "because the town standeth by clothing."

ALEXANDER NECHAM was the next abbat. He died in 1217.

WALTER was confirmed 28th April, 1st Hen. III. Some records, according to Willis, call him RICHARD. He died in 1230.

HUGH DE BAMPTON, alias BATHON, who is elsewhere called HENRY, succeeded. He died in 1238, and was succeeded by

ROGER DE RODMERTON, who died in 1266.

HENRY DE MUNDEN had the royal assent Oct. 20th, 1266.

There is an impression of the COMMON SEAL attached to the acknowledgement of supremacy, 1534, in the Chapter-House, Westminster; but it is very imperfect, representing two figures, a male and female, seated, and in conversation. The Legend is, s. ECCLESIE . SANCTE . MARIE . CIRENCESTRIE.

Leland, who saw the abbey church of Cirencester before the Suppression, says the east part was a very old building. The west part, from the transept downward, was of later work. The whole fabric appears to have been demolished very soon after the surrender, and the materials so totally removed that even the precise place where the Church stood was forgotten. In Rudder's time, however, the precinct was ascertainable, as the spital and almery gates of the abbey, with the abbey barn, were remaining. Willis has copied the dimensions of the church, as recorded by William of Wyrcestre, in the reign of Henry the VIth. The length was 140 steppys, the breadth of the nave 41 steppys, with two aisles, or 24 yards. The Lady Chapel was 41 yards in length by 21 yards. The cloister 52 steps in length; the Chapter-house 14 yards by ten yards.

Hexham Priory, in Northumberland.

ST. WILFRID, says Tanner, having obtained a grant of the town of Hexham from St. Etheldreda,^a queen to Ecgfrid King of Northumberland, herein, about A.D. 674, founded a Church and Monastery to the honour of St. Andrew,^b of such fine building as never was before seen in these parts of Europe. Some few years after, upon the division of the diocese of the Northumbers, the see of a new bishop was placed there, where it continued till the year 821, when it was re-united to Lindesfarne.

Such is the outline of what relates to the Bishopric here, of which a more detailed history is given by Wallis in his

Antiquities of Northumberland;^c and other particulars from Richard of Hexham, with a List of the Bishops, will be found in the Appendix to the present account.^d

The first Abbey here was destroyed by the Danes; but after the Conquest, upon some difference between King Henry the First, and the bishop of Durham, this place, with the county about it, still called Hexhamshire, was given by that King to the Church of York; whereupon Archbishop Thomas the II^d. placed here a Prior and Convent of regular Canons of the Order of St. Austin, Wallis says, in 1113. The new foundation was endowed with the Cathedral and its privileges, and with all the tithes, both great and small, of the parish of Hexham. Archbishop Thurstan gave it the prebend of Salton, in the cathedral of York, consisting of the impropriation of the Church of Salton, and the advowson of the Vicarage. Wallis has given the substance, in English, of an Inquisition concerning the lands and revenues of this House, taken at Newcastle-upon-Tyne in 1297, the original of which will occur presently.^a It was taken in consequence of the Priory having been burnt by the Scots in 1296. This Inquisition led to Charters of Confirmation in the 27th and 35th of Edward the First. They had some other privileges and possessions, which may be seen in Tanner's references to Records in the Note below.^b

^b Cressy, Ch. Hist. vol. xv. c. 3. § 16. makes the foundation of this monastery to have been earlier, viz. by K. Oswald. But see Spelman's Councils, vol. i. p. 203. where Wilfrid claims the foundation.

The Conventual Church of St. Andrew at Hexham had anciently the privilege of Sanctuary for a mile round it, till the 25th Hen. VIII. 1534, when it was enacted that gross offenders against the laws taking sanctuary at the altar, or any consecrated place, should be out of the protection of Churches.^c

The Revenues of this House in the 26th Hen. VIII. amounted in the gross to 138*l.* 1*s.* 9*d.*; in the clear income to 122*l.* 11*s.* 1*d.* The Site was granted in the 30th Hen. VIII. to Sir Reginald Carnaby.

No SEAL of this Monastery has been yet met with by the Editors of this work.

The Abbey Church and Gateway are nearly all that remain of the monastic Buildings. The church is in the form of a Greek cross, and has a tower in the centre more than 100 feet high: the Gothic and Saxon styles of architecture are here completely intermixed; the choir is roofed with timber, but the side aisles are arched with stone, and a double gallery opening with Saxon arches runs round the whole structure. At the west end of the church formerly stood the Monastery, of which little remains, as before observed, but the Gateway, which bears strong marks of Saxon architecture. T. R. Beaumont, Esq. is the present owner.

There was an Hospital for the sick at Hexham, called the Spital, dependant on this Priory, situated about a mile west of the Town.

Priory of Studley, in Warwickshire.

THIS Priory was first founded by Peter de Studley, otherwise called Corbicon or Corbezon, at Wicton in Worcestershire, where it was endowed with the churches of Wicton in Worcestershire, Stodley or Studley and Coughton in Warwickshire, and Salperton in Gloucestershire, half the town of Wicton before specified, three houses in Worcester, two furnaces of salt at Wiche, and some tithes. At Wicton, however, the canons of which the convent was composed did not rest long; but were translated by their founder, who increased their endowment, to Studley in Warwickshire.^a

The first foundation is believed to have taken place in the reign of Stephen; the removal in that of Henry the Second.^b

Peter Corbicon the son of the Founder passed the patronage of this House to William de Cantilupe, in the time of Bishop Wittlesey, at which time its revenues were so wasted by ill guidance and government that there were no more than three canons left in it. Nevertheless, says Dugdale, by the pious care of him and his posterity it flourished again. Beside the grant of his possessions in Shotswell in Warwickshire which he had acquired from Eustace de Mortain and John Wandard, he gave the convent here the privilege of chusing their own prior at every vacancy, first only craving licence of him the said William and his heirs, and afterwards desiring his or their assent as patrons; the sub-prior and celerer during any vacancy to have the administration of the house: which concessions were ratified by William Wittlesey bishop of Worcester, at Studley, on the day of St. Sylvester the Pope A.D. 1364, 38th Edw. III.^c

William de Cantilupe, the second of the name, granted to the convent lands in Aston Cantilupe to the value of 10*l.* per annum for the support of a hospital for impotent people, which his father had erected at the gate of the monastery. He also gave them a yearly rent of xx*s.* in Snarkeston in Leicestershire, with pasturage, &c.; the church of Hemeston in Devonshire, certain assarts within his park at Shelfhull, the patronage of the church at Aston, and lands in Trentre; he also obtained the royal charter for them in the 26th Hen. III. for certain liberties in their woods within the royal forest of Fekenham.^d

From other benefactors they had numerous smaller donations which will be seen in the charter of the 1st Edw. III.^e

Lady Eva de Cantilupe the widow to the last William, gave them lands of c*s.* annual value within her manor of Lodeswell in Devonshire, with the homage and services of certain freeholders there, and a yearly rent of xx*s.*^f

Being thus enriched, says Dugdale, with such fair and ample possessions the canons here began to rebuild their church, which was dedicated by John de Monemuth bishop of Llandaff, then suffragan to the bishop of Worcester 3 non. Jun. 1308.^g

After the male line of Cantilupe became extinct, the patronage of this monastery went to William la Zouche of Haringworth, who had married one of the coheiresses of Cantilupe, and who in the 20th Edw. III. became also a benefactor, giving one mesuage, four acres of land, and li*s.* rent to this house in the vills of Studley and Mertone.^h Beside this, til^t the Dissolution, the convent appears to have had but one gift, in the 14th Edw. IV. in the free chapel of St. Mary Magdalen at Sponne near Coventry.ⁱ

In the 26th Hen. VIII. the gross amount of the revenues of this house was 181*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.*; the clear income 117*l.* 1*s.* 5½*d.* It was suppressed in the 27th Hen. VIII. as one of the smaller monasteries: John Yardley the then prior having an annuity of fifteen pounds assigned to him for his life.

In the 30th Hen. VIII. the Site was granted to Sir Edmund Knightley. It afterwards came to the Knotsford.^k

A very imperfect Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Priory is in the hands of William Hamper, Esq. attached to a Deed dated 25 Edw. I.; the Legend is entirely gone, and no more of the subject the Seal was intended to represent remains than the Virgin and divine Infant seated under a canopy between two shields, the arms on which are wholly defaced; in the lower part of the Seal, under a niche, is a Monk praying.

Priory of Laund, Landa, or Lodinton,

IN LEICESTERSHIRE.

MR. NICHOLS has been so elaborate upon this Monastery in his History of Leicestershire that we can do little more than follow him in outline.

Laund Priory was founded in the latter part of the reign of Henry the First about A.D. 1125 by Richard Basset and Maud his wife the daughter of Geoffrey Ridell. The particulars are given in a confirmation charter from King Henry the First:^a and its further endowment in another charter of the same king.^b By a charter of Geoffrey Ridell, printed in the Liber Niger Scaccarii, it appears that the canons of Laund held three ploughlands within his fee; they had also in frankalmoigne ten ploughlands in Lodington, one ploughland and three oxgangs in Dalby, one ploughland in Weston, eight ploughlands in Frisby held by foreign service, and another separate ploughland in Weston.^c King Henry the Second gave the Convent here another charter of confirmation.^d

Mr. Nichols has given transcripts of various other charters: particularly a confirmation from Hugh bishop of Lincoln, a charter of Peter de Nevil of Allextun, a confirmation from Grossteste bishop of Lincoln of the different churches belonging to this House, a grant of free warren from King Henry the Third in 1248, two charters of confirmation from King Edward the Second in 1313, one from King Edward the Third in 1330, and a Petition in old French against the encroachments of the Priory made in Parliament in 1370; besides numerous abridgements of smaller donations,^e all of which will be found comprised in the Valor of the 26th and in the Abstract of the Ministers' Accompts of the 32d Hen. VIIIth.^f

RICHARD DE MARTIVAUX received confirmation as Prior 5 id. Jul. 1237.

ROBERT DE MARTIVAL, 1248. He died in 1252.

REGINALD occurs in 1269. Whether he was the prior of Laund who was summoned in 1264 to the rebel assembly at London under Simon de Montfort does not appear.

RICHARD DE MARTIVAL, A.D. 1272.

JOHN DE KIRKBY elected A.D. 1300: Sir Richard Basset^a being at that time patron of the monastery.

JOHN DE BURGO, A.D. 1306.

HENRY DE BRAUNSETON received the royal assent as prior 12 Nov. 1339.

THOMAS DE LICHEFELDE, A.D. 1384.

WALTER DE BALDOCKE was the next prior. He was executed as a partizan of Richard II. in 1402.

THOMAS COLMAN, 1408.

THOMAS MYLES occurs in 1458.

THOMAS FRYSEBY, 1464.

JOHN LANCASTER became prior 1513, and continued to the Dissolution. He, with five others of his House subscribed to the king's supremacy Sept. 12th, 1534. He had subsequently a pension of 60*l.* a year.

In the 26th Hen. VIIIth. this House was valued in the gross revenue at 510*l.* 16*s.* 5¼*d.*; in the clear income at 399*l.* 3*s.* ¾*d.*

The Site was granted in the 31st Hen. VIIIth. to Thomas Lord Cromwell.

The Priory itself has been changed to a modern residence the property of John Finch Simpson, Esq.: the chief remain of the old buildings is the Chapel of the Priory, which Mr. Nichols has engraved in his Leicestershire, vol. iii. pl. xlv. p. 326.

At the time of the Dissolution there remained in the Priory of Laund a hundred and fourteen fodder of lead. Leland notices three MSS. in the library of this Monastery: "Plinius Secundus de re Medicâ; Chronicon Isidori; Cleopatra de genitura."^b Thurgarton Priory, in Nottinghamshire.

THIS House was founded by Ralph de Ayncourt, according to Thoroton, sometime in the reign of Henry the First; Tanner says about A. D. 1130. St. Peter was its tutelary saint.

The foundation charter, with numerous deeds of gift from other benefactors beside the founder, will be seen in the Appendix,^a with a large charter of confirmation from King Edward the Third.^b Its possessions as they remained in the hands of the Crown in the 32d Hen. VIIIth. are also enumerated.^c Thoroton has given an abridged translation of these, which it is not necessary to copy here.

Drax, Houn, or Heilham Priory,

In the deanry of the Ainsty and archdeaconry of the West Riding of Yorkshire.^a

THIS Priory was founded by William Paganel or Paynel in the time of Henry the First, at the exhortation and with the advice of Turstin or Thurstin archbishop of York, for black canons; and was dedicated to the patronage of St. Nicholas. The lands with which it was endowed lay in Ayremin, Babthorp, Bardelby, Barlay, Barnby, Beston, Bestcalby in Lincolnshire, Bingley, Brakenholm, Brayton, Camelsford, Carleton, Cliff, Drax, Draxburgh, South Duffield, Ecclesmore, Faghadre or Favedre in Rumbles-moor, Folkardby, Foston, Garthorpe in Leicestershire, Gosc, Grimesby in Lincolnshire, Gunnell, Hathelsey, Helewyk, Hemingbrough, Hibton, Howden, Hunsflete or Husflete, Hynham, Langerak, Lanhow, Lincoln, Lofthusum, Lumby, Micklethuaite, Morham, Morton, Neuhay, Newland, Osgodeby, Presthorpe, Middle Rasin in Lincolnshire, Riddlesden, Riplingham, Risceby, Roxby in Lincolnshire, Salteby in Leicestershire, Smalethorpe, Snyterton, Stanhill, Swyneflete, Swynchamstead in Lincolnshire, Waplington, Wetherby, Weston, Wressel, and York.

For the minor rents and possessions the reader may consult Burton, who has been extremely minute upon them.^b

The greater benefactors were William the founder, and

Fulk Paganel,^c Peter de Brus, Gregory son of William Haxilthorpe, and Robert de Neuhus, who gave a fishery in the river Derwent.^d

King Edward the Third granted to the monks here a charter of free warren for their lands in Cerleton, Camelsford, and Neuhay, where they were not within the boundaries of his forest.^e

In the 26th Hen. VIII. this House was valued in the gross at 12*l.* 18*s.* 3½*d.*; in its clear revenue at 10*l.* 14*s.* 9*d.*

The Site was granted in the 30th Hen. VIII. to Sir Marmaduke Constable.

Tanner's References to MSS. and RECORDS relating to this Monastery, with a few additions, will be found below.^o

The ARMS of Drax Priory, according to Cole,^p were Ar. on a fesse Gu. between three Sheldrakes V. a Cinquefoil Ar. Tanner gives the Drakes Sa.

The COMMON SEAL of this Priory was large and oval: it represented a bishop standing, having his right hand uplifted, and a crosier in his left: the Inscription was, SIGILLVM . SANCTI . NICOLAI . EPISCOPI. An Impression of it is in the Duchy Office of Lancaster.

Not a vestige of this Priory is now to be found; nor was there in Burton's time, without digging, and its site is only known by a farm house in the township, bearing the name of Drax Abbey, five miles from Snaith.^q It was situated on the south side of the Ouse, nearly opposite to the spot where that river is joined by the Derwent, not far from Selby.

Marton Priory, in Yorkshire.

MARTON in Galtres, as this Priory was called, in the deanry of Bulmer, and archdeaconry of Cleveland, was founded by Bertram de Bulmer, who lived in the reign of Stephen, and in the beginning of that of King Henry the Second. It was originally instituted for men and women. The nuns, however, were subsequently removed to Molesby; the canons only remaining till the general suppression.

The lands and rents of this Priory lay in Bulmer,

^a Videsis confirmationem plurimarum donationum, Pat. 4 Edw. II. p. 2, m. 2

Burnsal, Corneburghe, Crackhou and Crafa, Flaxton, Hobi, Lilling, Marton, Molesby, Quenby, Riseberghe, Sherif-Hoton, Skipton, Sutton near Tadcaster, Sutton in Galtres, Terrington, Thornton, Thorpe in Craven, Welleburn, and Woodhouse. They had also the churches of Marton, Sherif-Hoton, and Sutton in Galtres. Burton is minute upon the different donations.^a

The Charters which will be found in the Appendix are, one of King Henry the Second, confirming the first grant of land to the canons and nuns; a charter of Henry de Nevil, grandson of the founder, in confirmation; another charter of Henry de Nevil, giving to the canons the manor of Woddhuses; and a charter of confirmation from Peter de Malo lacu the third.^b Its possessions at the time of the Suppression are minutely enumerated in the abstract of the Ministers' Accompts.^c

GEORGE DAVY: On whose resignation

THOMAS YODSON was confirmed, June 7th, 1531.^y Tanner, from Willis, calls him GODSON. He, with fifteen brethren, surrendered this house to the king, Feb. 9th, 1536.^z

At the Dissolution, this Monastery, which was dedicated to St. Mary, was valued in its gross revenue at 183*l.* 2*s.* 4*d.* The clear income was 151*l.* 5*s.* 4*d.* The Site was granted in the 34th Hen. VIII., in exchange for some other estates, to the archbishop of York.

Tanner's references to MSS. and RECORDS concerning Marton are few. They are given below.^a There is a Valuation of this Priory, t. Hen. VIII., in the Chapter-House at Westminster.

The COMMON SEAL of this Priory was round, representing the blessed Virgin seated. A very imperfect Impression remains of it, attached to the Surrender, dated 9th Feb. 27th Hen. VIII., in the Augmentation Office. All that remains of the Legend is, SIGILL . CAPITVLI . SĒE . MARIE

This House was situated in the flat country, about fourteen miles north-east from York, a little south-east of the rising ground towards Brandsby and Gilling-castle, on the right side of the road leading from York. The site only, which had been moated, could be traced in Burton's time: there were even then no remains of the old buildings. A farm-house adjoining, which is still standing, had been erected out of the materials.

Bethkelert Priory, in Caernarvonshire.

THE Priory of Bethkelert, or de Valle S. Mariæ de Snaudonia, for black canons, was of early foundation, though it has by some been ascribed to Llewellyn the last reigning Prince of Wales.

The two first Instruments given in the Appendix to the present Account, relate to its restoration after having been destroyed by fire accidentally, in or about A.D. 1283. In the second of them, Anianus bishop of Bangor, enumerating its early benefactors, grants an Indulgence of forty days to all who should contribute to the rebuilding, and declares it to have been the oldest religious House in all Wales except Bardsey.^a

In 1291 the rents and profits of the Convent amounted to 7*l.* 4*s.* 2*d.*^b

In the 27th Hen. VIII. the revenues amounted to 70*l.* 3*s.* 8*d.*

PRIORS of BETHKELERT.

MADOC occurs in the 14th Edw. I.^c

LLEWELIN received the temporalities as Prior 20th May, 15th Edw. II.^d His successor was

JOHN DE LEYN: he received the temporalities 10th April, 11th Edw. III.^e

DAVID CONWAY was the last Prior.^f

The Site of Bethkelert was granted in the 27th Hen. VIIIth. in exchange to the Monastery of Chertsey, in Surrey; and, in the 29th Hen. VIIIth. together with Chertsey, to the Abbey of Bisham, in Berkshire. It now belongs to the earl of Radnor.

There are no Ministers' Accompts of this Priory in the Augmentation Office, the return made in the Ecclesiastical Taxation 26th Hen. VIII. is therefore given in lieu of it.^g

No part of the BUILDINGS of this Monastery now remain: nor has a SEAL either of the priory or of any of its priors been discovered.

UNIVERSIS Christi fidelibus, has literas visuris vel auditoris, Anianus, permissione divina, Bangorensis ecclesiæ minister humilis, salutem æternam in Domino. Noveritis nos vidisse cartas varias diversorum principum priori et conventui de Valle beatæ Mariæ de Snaudonia. Videlicet chartam Lewelini Magni, super totam terram Kyndewewic de Rennaut. Et chartam Lewelini filij Griffini super omnes terras filiorum Ithael de Penard. Et chartam Lewelini filij Griffini, super totam terram hominum de Trehan apud Kenynbeind et Lecheitaur. Et chartam domini Oweni, super totam villam que vocatur Tref Ybeyrd apud Kynind Meney. Et chartam domini Lewelini filij Griffini, super totam terram illam et locum de Beckellers. Et chartam domini David, super totam terram quam habuerit Ierberd Vab Yrefeynt, et Feraul apud Epenant. Et super dictis terris vidimus literas papales confirmatorias, bullatas, non cancelatas, non abollitas, nec in aliqua parte vitiatas. Ad hæc sciant universi, quod dicta domus beatæ Mariæ, senior domus religiosa est in tota Wallia (excepta insula sanctorum Bardigeya) et melioris hospitalitatis, et communioris indigentibus et transeuntibus Anglicis et Walensibus, de Anglia et Westwallia transeuntibus ad Nordwalliam, et de Ybernia et Norwallia euntibus in Angliam. Sed, in damnum non modicum et defectum communem omnium, dicta domus, incendio casuali penitus destructa, licet hospitalitatis tempore maximam pateretur ruinam, per tamen regem pium, catholicum, liberalem, Dei gratia, dominum Edwardum ad plenum fuisset restaurata. Et quia pium est afflictis et oppressis subvenire. Nos de misericordia Dei, et de intercessione ejusdem genetricis, et omnium sanctorum suffragijs confidentes, omnibus benefactoribus dictæ domus, undicumque subvenientibus, qui de bonis, a Deo collatis, pias elemosynas vel favores contulerunt, 40 dies de injuncta sibi pœnitentia misericorditer relaxamus; dum sint vere convicti et confessi. Priory of Bolton, in Yorkshire.

THIS Priory was also called Emmesey, Embesea, Emsleshey, or Emshaw, and was situated near Skipton, in the deanry of Craven and archdeaconry of the West Riding; and sometimes called Bolton in Craven.

The following is Burton's Account of its foundation: He says, "William de Meschines, and Cecilia de Romeli his wife, baroness of Skipton, founded here, A.D. 1120, a monastery for canons regular of the Order of St. Austin, to the honor of the Virgin Mary and St. Cuthbert: but by tradition this foundation took its rise from the story, as handed down to us by Dr. Johnston (a physician at Pontefract) from Dodsworth's MSS. vol. cxxv. fol. 144. in the following manner, viz. It is there said, that Alice de Rumeli had only one son, who going a coursing with his greyhounds, came to a narrow brook or water, which was so narrow, as might easily be stepped over, called the Strides, which he attempted to do; but by leading one of the dogs which did not advance, was drawn backwards into the water and drowned. The huntsman went to his mother and asked her, 'what was good for a bootless beane?' and she deeming some ill to her son, replied 'Endless sorrow;' so he told her it was her case, and then related the accident that had befallen her son. She then said she would make many a poor man's son her heir, and then founded the religious House at Emsay, and afterwards removed it to Bolton. And the Doctor says, that in Bolton-hall he has seen the picture of this lady, her son, and dog."^a

Dr. Whitaker in his History of Craven, 2d edit. p. 369, refers this story to one of the sons of Cecilia de Romeli the first foundress (both of whom died young) because the son of the second foundress is himself a party and witness to the charter of foundation.

The lands and rents of this House are very minutely enumerated by Burton, who states that EMMESAY, which Tanner says was founded in 1120, was endowed with Carleton chapel near Skipton and Emmesay, with the town of Emmesay; the village of Kildewic, with the mill and the soc or suit thereof, the hagh, and all the premises of Aspsiche; the church of Skipton; and all Cecilia de Romeli's land in the territory of Stratton.

In 1151 the Priory was translated to BOLTON: after which, estates, rents, tithes, privileges, &c. were granted to it in the following places, Aldwaldley, Appletrewyk, Arncliffe, Arneford, Bolton, Bradeley, Brandone, Broughton and its church, Brydlath, Burgley, Caldcoter, Calton, Carleton near Skipton, Castelay, Collyng, Conanly, Crakehou, Craven, Depedalestall, Draughton, Embesey, Estburne, Estby, Fernhill, Gargrave, Gildvestat, Glasburn, Halthavit, Halton, Harwood and its church, Haytefeld-East, Hellefeld, Holme, Holmeton, Kesewick, Kettlewell-Church, the advowson of Kighley, Kildwick-Church, Killingbeck, Lofthouse, Lothesdene, Malham, Marton, Midelton, Newbigging, Newson, Newton, Penigsthorpe, Preston or Long Preston with its church, Rie or Bie, Rawden, Scocethorp, Seacroft, Siglesden or Silsden, Siglesferne, Skybden, Skipton and its church, Staveley, Stede, Stiveton alias Steeton in Craven, Styrk, Storth, Thresfeld, Wenteworthe, Wethetone, Whinfield, Winerthlay or Wiverthly, Wychelesworth, Wygedone, Yedon or Jedon, and York.^b

The Surrender of this House by Moone and fourteen canons, dated 29th Jan. 1540, is still preserved in the Augmentation Office. Dr. Whitaker has printed it, and engraved the signatures of the priors and canons.^s

In the 26th Hen. VIII. Bolton was valued in the gross income at 30*l.* 9*s.* 3*d.* The clear revenue was 21*l.* 3*s.* 4*d.*

The Site and possessions of Bolton Priory having remained in the King's hands somewhat more than two years were granted April 3d, 1542, in consideration of the sum of 2490*l.* to Henry earl of Cumberland.

Dr. Whitaker, speaking of the Expences and Regulations of this Convent, says, Their establishment consisted first of the prior, who had lodgings, with a hall and chapel, stables, &c. distant from those of the house. There were, on an average, fifteen canons and two conversi; besides whom were the armigeri or gentlemen dependant on the house, who had clothing, board, and lodging; the liberi servientes within and without; and, lastly, the garciones, who were villeins in gross, or mere domestic slaves. Of the free servants intra curiam there were about thirty; among whom may be distinguished the master carpenter, the master and inferior cook, brewer, and baker, the master smith, the hokarius, the fagotarius, and the ductor saccorum. These received wages from 10*s.* to 3*s.* each per annum. The servants extra curiam, or those employed in husbandry upon the farms and granges, were from seventy to a hundred and eight, of whom John de Lambird is stiled magister berchariæ. The precise number of the garciones, as they received no wages, it is impossible to discover; but it may be guessed at, from the expence of their cloathing, and the general consumption of provisions in the house. They wore the coarsest cloth, but the quantity purchased on their account was generally more than for the free servants. The prior alone must have had more than twenty, as their calciatura amounted to more than twenty shillings per annum. The cellarer had another class, employed probably about the kitchen and hall; and even the conversi seem to have had each a garcio to themselves. Among those of the prior are enumerated the huntsman and page of the stable. But the garciones in general were furnished with bows and arrows, undoubtedly for the use of the chace; and certainly assisted in netting for game and fish, the implements of which amusements are distinctly mentioned. In other respects undoubtedly, they performed the lowest offices of drudgery about the house.

On the whole, says Dr. Whitaker, I cannot but persuade myself that the whole establishment at Bolton consisted of more than two hundred persons; an opinion which, with every reasonable allowance for hospitality to strangers, will be fortified by the following accurate statement of one year's provisions. Wheat flour used in conventual or gruel (coarse) bread, 319 quarters. Barley meal for the same, 112 quarters. Oatmeal for pottage, 80 quarters. Ditto for dogs, 39 quarters. Provender for the horses, 411 quarters. Oats malted for ale, 636 quarters. Barley, or mixtilis 80 quarters. They generally brewed twelve quarters at each pandoxation, as it was termed, and that once every week, and sometimes oftener. With respect to animal food, besides venison, fish, poultry, &c. they slaughtered in one year, 64 oxen, 35 cows, one steer, 140 sheep, and 69 pigs. For other domestic purposes they consumed 113 stones of butter. Their spiceries, though expensive, were used with no sparing hand; ex. gr. in one year, in almonds 200*lb.* 33*s.* Rys (rice) 72*lb.* 9*s.* Pepper 19*lb.* 21*s.* 7*d.* Saffron 4*lb.* 23*s.* Cummin 25*lb.* 2*s.* 8*d.* One quarter of maces. One rase of figs and reysins, &c. same feast in 1325.^a Dr. Whitaker printed the year from the feast of St. Martin 1298 to the feast of St. Martin 1299; following it with extracts from different years.^b

The COMMON SEAL of this Priory is engraved in Whitaker's History of Craven. It represents the Blessed Virgin with the Divine Infant in her lap: the Legend when perfect was probably, "Sigillum Sancte Marie de Bolton." The ARMS of this House were Gu. a cross fleury potent, counterpotent Ar. and Az.

The Shell of the Church of Bolton Priory is nearly entire: the nave being still used as a parochial chapel. The west front richly ornamented, has three lancet windows of considerable height. Dr. Whitaker says there was a tower over the transept. The roof of the nave in the interior is of flat oak-work. The cloister quadrangle, with the other buildings of the Convent, have been destroyed. The Gatehouse remains entire.

Dr. Whitaker has given the following as the dimensions of the church. Length, from west to east, outside, 261 ft. 7 inches. Inside length 233 ft. 11 in. Inside length of the Nave (the present church) 88ft. 6 in. Inside length of the transept, 121 ft. 5 in. Total width of the choir, 40ft. 4 in. Inside width of ditto 30 ft. 9 in. Width of the Nave within, 31 ft. 3 in. Diameter of the columns 4 ft. 8 in. North aisle of the nave 11 ft. 7 in.

Bolton Priory was one of the burial places of the Cliffords.^c

Dr. Whitaker has engraved a Ground Plan of this Priory, upon which the whole of the ancient buildings are laid down.

Kirkham Priory, in Yorkshire.

A PRIORY of Austin Canons was here founded by Walter Espec and Adeline his wife, to the honour of the Holy Trinity, A.D. 1121. The following is the Legend of the foundation.

Sir Walter Espec had only one son by his wife Adeline, also called Walter, who took great delight in riding swift horses; galloping one day toward Frithby near Kirkham, his horse fell near a stone cross, and the young man died instantly. The father, scarcely knowing whom to make his heir, and being desirous to devote his estate to the service of God, consulted William his uncle, then rector of Garton, who advised him to found a Monastery at Kirkham; and accordingly he endowed it with seven Churches, which were appropriated thereto: the profits of which, together with the rents and other possessions, in Yorkshire and Northumberland, amounted to eleven hundred marks.^a

The lands, rents, &c. of this House lay in Burton, Bergerthorp, Berwethorpe, the church of Berythorpe, Billesdale, Boelton in Northumberland, Bollum, the church of Cald-Overton, Carr upon Tweed in Northumberland, the church of Crambum, Derwent, Duggleby, Frithby, Fudeston, the church of Garton, turbarry in the forest of Galtres, free warren in Grannum, Harum, Helmesley-Blakemore and the church there, the church of Hildeston, in Hoelton in Northumberland, Hoton-Bardolf, Howsom in Kirkeby Crendale with its church, the manor, parochial church, &c. in Kirkeham, in Lengeby, Lynton, Melthorpe in Bucross, Myndrom, the church of Newton in Glendale, Pockley, the church of Ross, land in Sixtendale, Sledmere, Sproxton near Hamelac, Swinton, the manor of Titelington, lands in Turkilesby, and Werch, the town of Whitwell, lands in Westhue, Winestowe, or Wistow, free warren in Woodhouse, and certain houses in York.^b

The founder's two charters to this Monastery, with an agreement between Hugh Prior of Kirkham and William de Ros, respecting the liberty of chase upon the demesne lands of the latter at Hamelake, in 1261, will be found in the Appendix to the present account:^c together with an Instrument relating to the lease of lands in Berghetorp, probably from the same Prior, and an Abstract of the Ministers' Accompts.^d

The Site was granted in the 32d Hen. VIIIth. to Henry Knyvet and Ann his wife.

There is a Paper Survey of this House of the time of Henry the Eighth in the Augmentation Office.^a

The COMMON SEAL of Kirkham Priory was large and oval; its subject was a Female seated, her head-dress having long lappets, and holding in her left hand a book: the Inscription, SIGILLUM. SANCTE. TRINITATIS. DE. CHIRCAM.

A fair drawing of this Seal is in the hands of one of the editors of this work, by favour of the Rev. J. Raine of Durham.

Kirkham, which is extra-parochial, and six miles from Malton, has had no Church since the Dissolution of the Priory. The Inhabitants attend the Church of Westow. The principal REMAINS of Kirkham consist of a beautiful Gateway, which has been engraved for the present Work, a fine Norman doorway, and part of the Cloisters.

E Libello Alredi Rievallensis Abbatis, de Bello Standardico.

[Lelandi Collectanea, vol. ii. p. 312.]

ADFUIT et Walterus Espec vir senex, et plenus dierum, acer ingenio; in consiliis prudens, in pace modestus, in bello providus, amicitiam sociis, fidem semper regibus servans. Erat ei statura ingens, membra omnia tantæ magnitudinis, ut modum excederent; et tantæ proceritati congruerent; capilli nigri; barba prolixa; frons patens et libera; oculi grandes, et perspicaces; facies amplissima, tractitia tamen; vox tubæ similis, facundiam quæ ei facilis erat quadam soni majestate componens. Erat præterea nobilis carne, sed Christianâ pietate nobilior; nempe cum liberis careret, hæredibus, licet ei strenui nepotes non deessent; de optimis tamen quibusque possessionibus suis Christum fecit hæredem: nam in loco amœnissimo, Kircham nomine, monasterium regularium condidit clericorum, multis illud donariis ornans, et ditans possessionibus.

Launceston Priory, in Cornwall.

THERE was a College of Secular Canons, says Tanner, before the Conquest, in the Church of St. Stephen, about half a mile from the town of Launceston,^b which being given to the bishop and church of Exeter by King Henry the First, it was suppressed, before A. D. 1126, by William Warlewast bishop of Exeter, who in lieu of it founded in the West suburb, under the Castle hill, a Priory for Canons of the order of St. Austin, which was also dedicated to St. Stephen; to which he gave the best part of the College lands.^c This House was anciently called Lanstave-ton, which means "Fanum S. Stephani."

King Henry the Third's confirmation charter, which

^a Cartæ hæc indentata, absque sigillo et anno, et multum obesa.

^b See the extract from Leland in the App. Num. I. In the Domesday Survey we read "Canonici S. Stephani tenent Lanstave-ton. Ibi sunt iv. hidæ terræ, &c. De hoe manerio abstulit Comes Moriton unum mereatum, quod ibi erat T. R. E."

^c The Lansdowne Manuscript 939 fol. 21 b, contains two or three will be found in the Appendix,^a recites the Endowment of this House in minute detail.

The following List of the

PRIORS of LAUNCESTON

has been communicated to the Editors by the Rev. George Oliver of Exeter.

ROBERT FISSACRE was excommunicated by Bronescombe bishop of Exeter in Sept. 1258, "propter inobedientiam et multiplicem offensam," but was absolved by him at Bodmin at the end of a week.

RICHARD died Prior in 1308.

ROGER DE HORTON was confirmed his successor 3d May 1308.

ADAM DE KNOLLE resigned 26th June 1346.

THOMAS DE BOURDON succeeded July 13th 1346.

ROGER LEYE occurs 1373.

STEPHEN was Prior in Jan. 1400.

ROGER COMBRYGGE died Prior in June 1410.

JOHN HONYLAND was confirmed July 5th 1410. He died Sept. 28th 1430.

WILLIAM SHYRA was elected, but on account of some irregularity in the election was not confirmed until 21st Aug. 1431.

WILLIAM HOPKYN died 10th Aug. 1507.

JOHN CARLIAN was confirmed 20th Sept. 1507.

JOHN BAKER resigned in 1531.

JOHN SHEYR was confirmed 6th June 1531.

In the 26th Hen. VIIIth. the revenues of this House were rated in the total at 39*l.* 11*s.* 2*d.*; in the clear income at 35*l.* 0*s.* 11½*d.* The Prior and Eleven Canons subscribed to the Supremacy in 1534.^b

Tanner mentions REGISTERS of this House as formerly in the possession of two persons: or they may possibly be the same Register: viz.

1. "Registrum hujus Prioratus, penes magistrum Ric. Escot de hosp. Lincoln.

2. "Registrum Prioratus MS. in bibl. Bodl. Oxon. Tanner, 196."^c

The COMMON SEAL is engraved in Lysons's Cornwall from the Surrender in the Augmentation Office, bearing date 24th Feb. 30th Hen. VIII.

Lysons says of this Priory that not many years ago there were considerable REMAINS of the Conventual buildings, which have since been wholly destroyed. Leland describes it as in the west part of the suburb "under the hill, by a fair wood side, an arrow shot northward from the Castle." It is probable that the Saxon gateway of the White Hart Inn had been part of Bishop Warlewast's building, removed on occasion of the demolition of the Priory. When Leland visited Cornwall, Sir Gawen Carew had the custody of the Priory. The immediate Site is now the property of Mr. Hill.

Relatio Johannis Lelandi de eodem.

[Lel. Itin. vol. ii. fol. 71.]

THE priorye of Launston stondith in the west south-west part of the suburb of the toun, under the rote of the hille, by a fair wood side, and thorough this wood rennith a pirlle of water cumming out of an hill thereby, and servith at the offices of the place.

In the church I markid two notable tumbs, one of Prior Horton, and another of Prior Stephane; one also told me there that one Mabilia a countes was buried there in the chapitre house. One William Warwist, bishop of Excestre, erectid this priorie, and was aftyr buryed at Plymtoun priorie, that he also erectyd. Warwist for erection of Launston priorie suppressed a collegiat chirch of S. Stephan, having prebendaries, and gave the best part of the lands of it to Launston priorie, and toke the residue himself. There yet standith a church of S. Stephen about half a myle from Launston on a hille where the collegiate church was. Gawen Carow hath the custody of the priory.^d

Et præter hoc dimidiam acram terræ in Norton, quam Warinus tenet. Confirmamus etiam eisdem canonicis omnia subscripta, sicut eis rationabiliter data sunt, scilicet ex dono Richardi de Raddon unam virgatam terræ, quæ vocatur Trewenta, quietam et liberam ab omni servitio, præter quindecim denarios, quos reddere debet ad Tidlaton, de quadam consuetudine, quæ vocatur Motiled; et ex dono Roberti filii Alkitilli, concessu comitis Reginaldi domini sui, terram quæ vocatur Trenchicot, et ex dono comitis Reginaldi partem Hamelini presbiteri de capella de castello, cum omnibus libertatibus, et rebus parti illi pertinentibus; et quadraginta solidos per annum de firma de castello de Donheved, et ecclesiam Sancti Andreae de Stratton, cum pertinentiis suis;

Memoranda from a Copy of a Register of Launceston formerly in the possession of William Griffith. After giving the titles of Warlewast's foundation charter, and the confirmation of it by Robert bishop of Exeter, it gives the following substance of another Deed of Warlewast: "Noseat præsentis temporis ætas quod Radulfus eccl. S. Steph. de Launcestone decanus Decanatum mihi Willielmo Episcopo reddidit. Et ego Canonicis regularibus quos in eadem constitui totum dedi. Testes sunt Osbertus Abbas de Tavistoca, Gofridus Prior Plymptoniæ, Will. de Augo archid. Cornubiæ, Clarenbaldus capellanus Regis, Magister Odo, &c.

Et ex dono Osberti de Bikesleya viginti solidatas terræ in manerio de Treuris, scilicet villam quæ vocatur Tregof, et terram quæ fuit Luffe, et terram Warnii, juxta pontem; et unam acram in villa quæ vocatur Carsbroc, cum hominibus, et omnibus quæ ad præfatas terras pertinent, et partem nemoris apud orientem, sicut via dividit usque ad aquam. Et ex dono Bernardi clerici duas acras terræ, quas tres homines tenent, et reddunt Deo et ecclesiæ Sancti Stephani inde, quinque solidos annuatim, quæ sunt subtus viam Trebursi. Et ex dono Williemi de Henemerdon totam terram de Pech. Hæc quidem omnia cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, concessimus eis et confirmavimus dum essemus comes Moreton, sicut ea rationabiliter possident, et sicut cartæ donatorum suorum testantur, &c. Datum per manum H. Cantuariensis archiepiscopi cancellarii nostri, vigesimo octavo die Junii apud Aurivallem, anno regni nostri primo. Nos igitur has donationes, &c. confirmamus, &c. Insuper concedimus et confirmamus eisdem canonicis et eorum successoribus, pro nobis et hæredibus nostris, donationem quam Reginaldus regis filius, consul Cornubiæ, eis fecit in incrementum ecclesiæ suæ de Lanstave-ton, de ecclesia de Leskeret; et de ecclesia de Lankinhorn, in die translationis reliquiarum et canonicorum ipsius ecclesiæ de villa de Lanstave-ton ad vadum, sicut carta ipsius Reginaldi regis filii, quam inde habent, rationabiliter testatur. Hiis testibus H. de Burgo comite Kentii, justiciario Angliæ, Philippo, de Albimaco, Thoma Basset, Williemo Basset, &c.

Priory of St. Denys, near Southampton.

THIS House was built for black Canons to the honor of St. Dionyse, Denyse, or Dennis, about the year 1124, by King Henry the First, as may be gathered from the names of the subscribing witnesses to his charter of endowment: although Speed ascribes the foundation to King Richard the First.

* See the App. Num. I. William Corboile who subscribes it as archbishop of Canterbury, came to the See in 1122. William bishop of Winchester who signs it died in 1128.

King Stephen, King Henry the Second, King Richard the First, Gundreda de Warren, Humphry de Bohun constable of England, William Musard, Walter de Chalke, and Geoffrey bishop of Winchester, were among the principal benefactors to this Priory.^a

The state of its endowment in the 28th Hen. VIIIth. will be seen in the Abstract of the Ministers' Accompts of that year.^b

Tanner, from a MS. in the library of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, says "Here were a Prior and nine religious at the Dissolution." Their total revenues in the 26th Hen. VIIIth. amounted to 91*l.* 9*s.*: the net income of the House to 80*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.* per annum. The Site was granted in the 30th Hen. VIII. to Francis Dawtrey.^c

No REGISTER of this Priory is at present known.^m

Two Fragments of the COMMON SEAL of St. Denys Priory, are in the Augmentation Office. They represent St. Denys after his decapitation, bearing his head in his hand.

The REMAINS of this Priory, about two miles from Southampton, near Portswood, are at present but of small extent, they chiefly consist of some fragments of the west end of the Priory Church. A farm-house has been erected within the precinct. The site was recently the property of General Stibbert. It now belongs to . . . Mac Kinnon, Esq.

Priory of Leedes, in Kent.

THE endowment of this House is fully detailed by Dugdale in a Charter of Insepimus of the 41st of Edw. III, whence it appears that Robert de Crepido-corde, Crevequer, or Croucheart, founded this Priory for black canons, giving them a scite to build their church upon, with other convenient buildings; the former to be dedicated in honour of St. Mary and St. Nicholas. Tanner and Hasted date this foundation in 1119. The same Insepimus records the confirmations and donations of other branches of the family; of Daniel the son of Robert de Crevequer, of Robert the son of Daniel, of Robert the son of Hamo, of Hamo the son of Robert de Crevequer, and of Acelina de Wodenceberga.^a

Pope Innocent the Third in his second year, anno 1198, confirmed the subjection of this Priory to the jurisdiction of the See of Canterbury.^b

The archdeacon of Canterbury, it appears, claimed the privilege of installing the Prior of Leedes, at which time he stayed at the Priory for two nights and a day receiving victuals and drink.^c

In the reign of King Richard the Second, William de Verdun, Prior of this House, with others, having laid violent hands on a monk of St. Albans, was prosecuted for it by that fraternity, which occasioned a violent contest between the two societies, and it continued till competent satisfaction was made, and the delinquents absolved by a Bull of Pope Boniface IXth. in his 3d year, anno 1391.^d

In the 21st year of Richard the II. the Prior of Leedes lent the king twenty marks to supply his exigencies.^e

James Goldwelle, LL.D. bishop of Norwich in the reign of Henry the Seventh, finding this Convent deep in debt, and unable to support their usual hospitality, relieved them bounteously, insomuch that they acknowledged him in some measure as the founder of their House. And the bishop, being rather desirous for the health of his soul than the repayment of the money, founded a Chantry of one priest to pray daily for ever, for his and his parents' souls, at the altar of the Virgin Mary, in the south part of the nave of this Conventual Church; to which the Prior and

Convent acceded, and by their instrument dated in the Chapter House, June 12th, 1487, decreed that in consideration of the bishop's magnificent and generous act to their Convent, one of their canons should daily perform the service, in manner as above mentioned.^f

The Prior, Sub-prior, and ten Canons gave their signature to the king's supremacy, Dec. 22d, 1534;^g at which time the clear revenues of this House amounted to 362*l.* 7*s.* 7*d.* It was surrendered in the 31st Hen. VIIIth.

The ARMS of this Priory were Ar. a cross voided Gu.

Attached to the acknowledgement of King Henry the Eighth's supremacy 1534, in the Chapter House, Westminster, by the prior and convent, is an Impression of their COMMON SEAL, round, and somewhat large; having for its subject the Blessed Virgin and her divine Infant, on each side of her an angel, and under an arch below, three monks praying: Legend, SIGILLVM . COMMVNE . ECCLESIE . DE . LEDIS. The Impression is on Green Wax.

Leedes Priory is situated about three quarters of a mile westward from Leedes Castle, and by its remains appears to have been a spacious building. The Church, which was equal to some of our Cathedrals in size, was noted for a figure of the Virgin Mary in it. It had altars also to St. Katherine, St. Martial, and St. Anne.

Hasilberge Priory, in Somersetshire.

TANNER'S Account is all which we have to transcribe concerning this Monastery. He says, "About the year 1150,^a William Fitzwalter lord of the town of Hasilberge (where the famous hermit Saint Wulfric had his Cell, died, and was buried) began here an house for Religious canons, which he intended to have endowed well, but it seems not to have been ever finished." Collinson says this Monastery was destroyed in the contests of the barons.^b

Priory, afterwards the Abbey of Kenilworth,

IN WARWICKSHIRE.

THIS Priory was built and endowed to the honor of the blessed Virgin Mary by Geoffrey de Clinton, chamberlain and treasurer to King Henry the First, about A.D. 1122. By the charter of foundation it appears that he gave to the Canons whom he placed here all the lands and woods of Kenilworth except what he had reserved for the making of his Castle and Park, together with the manors of Salford, Itlicote, and Neunham in Warwickshire; the church of Wotton with a hide of land, two hides in Lilenton, and the church of Clinton, in Oxfordshire; and the church of Barton in Northamptonshire.^a By another charter he gave them the tenth of every thing that should be brought to his Castle, to the cellar, kitchen, larder, granary, or hall-garth, although they might have been tithed elsewhere before; together with the lambs'-skins throughout his manors, as well of the lambs killed for eating as of those which might die casually.^b In a third charter he gave them the manor of Hichenden in Buckinghamshire which he had had by grant from King Henry the First, and the church of Stone in Staffordshire, which he had procured of one Enisan.^c

Geoffrey de Clinton, son of the founder, confirmed his father's donations; adding to them the land of Newton (which he gave at the time of his father's burial), the manor of Packinton with the church and mill, the greatest part of Lemington with the church and mill, the mill of Guy's Cliff, the Cell of Bretford, with lands at Wridfen and Wotton; with the churches of Wormleighton, Herberbury, Radford, and Budbroke in Warwickshire, and the church of Stewkley in Buckinghamshire.^d

Henry de Clinton, son of the second Geoffrey, also granted a charter of confirmation to these canons, which will be found in the Appendix:^e the contents of which need not to be repeated here.

Dugdale in his History of Warwickshire has enumerated the principal grants to this Monastery from other persons. These were Brueria, now called Hathe near Wotton, given by Odo de Turri; the church of Stoneley by King Henry the First; divers lands in Molington by Julian de S. Remigio, as also the church of Yftley with a yard land in Cowley near Oxford; the church of Hethe in Oxfordshire by Lescelina daughter of Geoffrey the founder, and wife to Norman de Verdon; which Bertram her son confirmed, adding a meadow at Asho called Rugenhole, and another at Bretford; the churches of Brailes and Wallesburne by Roger Earl of Warwick; of Locksley by Robert Fitz Odo, with certain lands also there; of Whitnash by Ralph de Mara and Lesceline his wife; of Hampton in Arden and Smite, with the chapel of Brinklow, by Roger de Mowbray; of Langford in Derbyshire by Nicholas de Gresley and Margaret his wife; of Chesterton by William Croe; of Fenny-Compton and one hide of land there by Gilbert le Bigot; of Eatendon by Sewell the son of Fulcher; and of Cherlton-Camvile in the county of Somerset. Also of Broke in Rutlandshire, afterwards a Cell to Kenilworth, given by Hugh de Ferrers and confirmed by Walcheline his brother; of lands in Newton by Ernald de Bois; in Hardwic and Halford by William Gifford; in Baginton by Henry de Arden; in Ludewell by Manasses Arsic; in Tisho by Richard de Bereford, Cecily his wife, and Ralph de St. Edmund; of half a yard land in Ricardscote in Staffordshire, by Cecily the daughter of Roger le Wayte; of lands in Herberbury by Henry Malory and others; of fire-wood in Berkswell by Nigel de Mundeville; and of lands in Wolston by Roger de Treville and Sibill his wife. And to these were added the church of Milverton by Walter Espigurnell and Celestina his wife in 16 Hen. III.; with the greatest part of Locksley, Wescote, and Morton, and the advowson of the church of Locksley by Peter de Mora, about the 38th Hen. III. Afterwards in the 19th Edw. II. John Sok and Roger de Boyvill had licence from the King to grant the manor of Patteshull in Staffordshire to this monastery: in 20th Edw. III. Thomas de Hampton to give five mesuages and a hundred and twelve acres of land in Radford; and in the 25th of the same reign John the son of John de Peto for granting fourteen mesuages, two carucates, and five yard land in Loxley to it. Other small parcels, in several places, were at sundry times given to these canons by more common persons, which even Dugdale thought it unnecessary to enumerate minutely.^f

The Charters beside those already referred to which Dugdale has transcribed at length from the Kenilworth Register, are, the Confirmations of King Henry the First and Second,^g and the charters of Nicholas de Greslei and Margaret wife of Nicholas de Longford of the Church of Longford.^h

A Licence for a purchase in mortmain in 1511, and the Surrender have been added from Stevens.

The privileges of the Canons of Kenilworth appear to have been great; they had power to keep Court-leet, assise of bread and beer, and authority to try malefactors within divers of their lordships; with freedom from suit to the county and hundred courts; beside various free warrens: and in the 4th Edw. III. the Sub-Prior and Convent were allowed during every vacancy of the Priorate, to have the custody of the House, paying only to the King, his heirs and successors, for every whole year 117*l.* 2*s.* 8*d.*ⁱ

The Siege of Kenilworth Castle in the 50th of Hen. III. impoverished the resources of the Priory to a great degree; so much so that in the following year their different tenants were called upon by royal authority for contributions.^k

Kenilworth was at first a Priory, but became an ABBEY before the 3d Hen. VIII.^l

In the Valor of the 26th Hen. VIII. the gross revenue of Kenilworth was rated at 843*l.* 14*s.* 9½*d.* the clear income at 538*l.* 16*s.* This Monastery was surrendered by the Abbat and sixteen monks to the King 15th April, 29th Hen. VIII.^m and was given soon after to St. Andrew Flamock.

Dugdale made use of a REGISTER of Kenilworth, which in 1640 was in the possession of Sir Simon Clerk of Salford, bart. Tanner refers to this same Register as, in 1726, in the possession of Richard Graves, Esq. of Mickleton, whose son Morgan Graves, Esq. sold it to James West, Esq. in 1731. By him it was presented Jan. 28th 1737 to the Earl of Oxford, and is now the Harleian MS. 3650: an oblong quarto on vellum, neatly written on 174 pages. It was the only Manuscript saved out of the fire of Mr. West's library Jan. 6th 1737.

Dugdale in his History of Warwickshire p. 443. refers to another Register of Kenilworth "penes E. Greswold gen."ⁿ

There is an Impression on red wax of the COMMON SEAL of Kenilworth Abbey attached to the surrender thereof in the Augmentation Office. This Seal was very handsome, but not ancient; the subject of it was the Blessed Virgin, seated with the infant on her lap; she is crowned and bears a sceptre in her hand, underneath are the Royal Arms. Legend, s . cōe . MONASTERIJ . BE . MARIE . DE . KENELLWORTH.

A fragment of a much older Seal is preserved among the Charters given to the British Museum by Lord Frederick Campbell L. F. C. xi. 13.

Priory of Stone, in Staffordshire.

WOLPHERE, says Tanner, the first Christian King of Mercia, founded here a College of Secular Canons about A.D. 670, in honour of his two sons Wolfadus and Rufinus,^a whom he had before his conversion barbarously murdered with his own hands at or near this place.^b The Canons being dispersed during the Danish wars, about the time of the Conquest some few Nuns seem to have been in possession of this place,^c who by the means of Robert de Stafford

^a Tanner says, some ascribe this foundation to his Queen Ermenilda, and say that she placed Nuns here: and that after the Conquest, one Ensam who had a grant of these lands, expelled the nuns and brought in the regular canons from Kenilworth. Leland, Collect. vol. ii. p. 59.

^b Their murder by Ensam of Walton, Tanner continues, seems to be very legendary; for it appears by deeds in the Monasticon that he was a great benefactor, if not original founder of this Priory; although the Staffords, being superior lords, and also great benefactors, retained the honour of being ever esteemed patrons or founders. Sam. Lee in King's Vale Royal says, Whulphere's killing his sons is thought fabulous by Selden in his Notes on the eleventh Song of Polyolbion.

^c See Domesday Book, where tom. i. fol. 145 b. "Monasterium de Stanes" occurs.

were changed in the time of Henry the First into a Convent of Regular Canons from Kenilworth, to which House this Priory was a Cell till about the year 1260, when another lord Robert Stafford got it to be freed from any subjection to Kenilworth, save only the right of patronage and a yearly pension.^a

Dugdale beside the Legend of the Foundation, and the Copy of a metrical Table relating to the History of the House, which was suspended in the Priory in the time of Henry the Eighth, has preserved a charter of Enisanus de Waleton and Ernald his son to the canons of Kenilworth of the church of Stanes; a charter of Nicholas de Stafford relating to the same; the grant of Hortone and Grette by Robert de Stafford; a confirmation of King Henry II.; a charter of William Pantolf of the third part of the tithes of his demesne of Cublesdon; a charter of R. de Suggenhill and Petronille his wife, of lands in Derlauston; and another of A. de Beauchamp of lands in Little Sandon.^b

In the 26th Hen. VIIIth. the gross income of this House amounted to 129*l.* 2*s.* 11*d.* per annum; the clear income to 119*l.* 14*s.* 11½*d.*^c

There is a REGISTER of Stone Priory preserved in the Cottonian Library of Manuscripts, marked Vesp. E. xxiv. written on thirty-nine leaves of vellum, large octavo. In a blank leaf at the beginning, in Sir William Dugdale's hand is written "Registrum Cartarum Prioratus de Stone in com. Staffordiæ; ex dono Christopheri Baronis Hatton."^f

Another Transcript of Charters belonging to this Priory occurs in the same Collection, Cart. antiq. Cotton. xiii. 6.^g

There are scarcely any Vestiges of this Priory now remaining. Cole says a new parish church was built at Stone about 1756, in the construction of which, the materials of the Priory Church were principally used.

pro illius vita tuenda tenetur mortem sufferre. Beatos adolescentulos Wlfadum et Ruffinum natura generando germanos edidit, set eos gratia regenerationis in fide atque sanguinis effusione feliciori germine germaniores reddit. Dicuntur enim fuisse filii Wlferi regis Merciorum, et sanctæ reginæ Ermenildis; qui quarto anno post patris sui Pendæ paganissimi principis internitionem, paternum jure successivo suscepit sceptrum. Is namque baptizatus à Finano episcopo, votum vovit Domino se delubra dæmonum destructurum, et omnia ydola de regno suo deleturum, et Christianæ religionis cultum pro posse dilaturum. Hoc etiam iteravit promissum quando egregiam Ermenildam duxit in matrimonium. Hæc enim beatissima erat præclara genere et specie, set fide præclarior et sanctitate. Ex Exberto rege Cantuariæ genita ex atavis Francorum illustrissimis regibus descenderat, atque ex sanctissima regum orientalium Anglorum stirpe originem duxerat. Et quoniam præfatus Penda tum dolis tum Martij campi casibus alludentibus sibi, plures reges Angliæ tulit de medio, qui postremo ab Oswio fratre sancti Oswaldi cæsus cum cunctis pene principibus, satrapis atque satellitibus suis, ob illorum vindictam interiit justo Dei iudicio, formidavit cor Wlferi filii ejus ne ob inimicitiam patris pari periret exitio. Prospiciens proinde sibi et suo regno, desponsavit sanctam Ermenildam, cunctis regibus extinctis consanguinitate vel affinitate connexam, dstricto discretoque consilio, ut in tempore iracundiæ gratia ipsa fieret reconciliatio. Wlferus igitur regis nomen nactus et insigne, vota sua, quæ distinxerunt labia ejus, Domino reddere distulit; immo instigante quodam pravo atque perverso, nomine Weredod, qui erat ei à secretis, penè in apostasiam lapsus, à fide retrorsum abiit.

Erat iisdem Weredodus idolatra, vir Belial, satelles Sathanæ, minister, immo mali artifex, quod pater ejus Penda perpetraverat, quem sibi auricularium et consiliarium velud alterum Achitophel ac rectorem à se secundarium in toto regno suo, sicut Assuerus quondam Aman constituerat. Extitit corde versutus, ore vafer, opere versipellis, carne lubricus, mente tumidus. Hic in tantam elationem prorupit, ut peteret à rege dari sibi conjugem filiam ejus ætate adhuc parvulam, Wurburgam vocabulo, quam ei regina peperit. Æstimabat enim hujusmodi fœdere nuptiarum se in regno regi successurum, et in præsentem non modicam partem regni possessurum. Et quidem rex ipsius petitioni assensum præbuit, set regina maturiùs et consultiùs hoc omnino fieri prohibuit. Disposuit despondere illam uni viro virginem castam exhibere Christo; quod et fecit in tempore oportuno. Venerabilis enim Wurburga spretis regii germinis procis, totius mundialis gloriæ pompaticum fastum fastigiumque fastidita, velut viola viroris inviolati vernabat decore, et quasi lilium florens ortum Domini suo virgineo venustabat candore.

Prænominati adolescentes germani virginis Wurburgæ, insolentiam hominis pagani præsertim indignè tulerunt, et ejus præsumptosæ petitioni, ne videlicet auditu digna judicaretur, in faciem restiterunt. Ab illo ergo die versutus ille doli artifex insidiabatur pueris, factus illis quasi lancea in latere, ac velut sudas in oculis. Illi verò proficiebant ætate et gratia sancti dilecti Deo et hominibus; et quamvis nondum regenerati per baptismum in Christo, quendam tamen sacri lavacri candidatum præferentes, placebant bonis operibus et optimis moribus. Erant autem specie clari, set morum elegantia clariores, gestibus faceti, astuti ingenio, disertis eloquio. Supra senes intelligentes, ultra sapientes, erga omnes munifici et liberales. Hiis et aliis similibus adornando actibus in benedictionibus dulcedinis suæ prævenit eos Dominus.

Prior natu Wlfadus exutâ pueritiâ, jam adolescentiæ limen attigerat, et ut decet genus regium, aliquotiens aucupio, venatui tamen potissimum indulgebat. Set miro moderamine miserantis Dei dum feras venari concupiscit et consuescit ad mortem, à Domini venatoribus sagittatur, comprehenditur ad salutem. Quadam namque die, dum venatum pergeret, offendit cervum miræ magnitudinis, quem fugientem diuciùs solus solum insequatur, sociis dispersis, ac nuto divino fatigatis. Cervus opaca silvarum irrumpens, ad habitaculum viri Dei Ceddæ infra nemoris condensa supra cujusdam fontis marginem constructum pervenit, seque in eundem fontem latitando lascitudinem requie refrigerioque recreando projecit. Famulus Christi Cedda misericordiæ visceribus affluens erga creaturas Dei; frondibus et foliis arboreis cervum occultando et refrigerando contextit; quo-

Erat sanctissimus Cedda, teste Beda, ecclesiæ Lichefeldensis episcopus, virtutibus et signis præclarus. Qui profectò partem meliorem Mariæ sibi eligens, secretiùs et sacra-tiùs dulcedini contemplativæ inhians, solitariam vitam ibidem ad tempus ducebat, radicibus herbarum et fructibus arborum silvestrium se sustentabat. Venerabilis adolescens Wlfadus è vicino terens vestigia cervi, devenit ad cellam hujus hominis Dei. Quem intuens et salutans, sciscitabatur ab eo, quo devenisset cervus, quem tota die cum tanto sudore fuerat insecutus. Cui respondit sanctus. “Nunquid custos cervi tui sum ego? Non curo, non custodio feras silvarum seu pecora campi, vel volucres cœli, set agnovi et suscepi ductorem salutis tuæ ministerio cervi. Voluntas enim Domini præparantis cervos revelavit tibi condensa sacramentorum suorum, ut credas in nomine ipsius, et baptizeris in remissionem peccatorum tuorum. Perpulcro prænostico, immo indicio certi præsagii portendit et præostendit tibi cervus demersus in fontem salutaris baptismi lavacrum, quatinus ex sententia discere possis illud Daviticum, Quemadmodum desiderat cervus ad fontes aquarum, ita desiderat anima mea ad te, Deus; sitivit anima mea ad Deum fontem vivum; quando veniam et apparebo ante faciem Dei?” Perplura etiam peroravit sanctus, persuadens et docens qualiter in misterio irrationalium animalium misteria sua revelare dignata sit divina sapientia in salutem fidelium. Nempe Noe nuntiavit post suum naufragium, mundi reparatricem siccitatem, per columbam, et ore subjugalis asinæ prophetæ cohibuit insipientiam, et obsequio corvi prophetam eximium pavit Helyam. Jure verò Dominus prophetarum tendens Jerosolimam ascendere dignatus est asinam et pullum, in conversionis utriusque populi figuram. Narravit nichilominus ei quod de beato Eustachio legitur, qualiter in specie cervi ei apparere Dominus dignabatur; et multa subjunxit quæ in gestis beatorum Martini, Jeronimi, et aliorum sanctorum patrum patrata signa de brutis animalibus inveniuntur.

Venerabilis Wlfadus vas electionis respondisse fertur ad verba sancti sacerdotis. “Verè venerande pater à sanctitate tua prolata testimonia credibilia facta fuissent nimis; et mihi ad credendum quæ persuades conducibiliora, si cervus quem capere conabar, quem in fonte occultasti, et fune collo ipsius circumligato in silvam abire jussisti, tuis precibus aut præcepto appareret continuo in nostra præsentia.” Sanctus sacerdos protinus se in orationem prostravit. Et ecce cervus memoratus funem in collo gestans, è nemore prorumpens, eorum se conspectui exhibuit. Tunc sanctus surgens ab oratione ait adolescenti. “Intellige vel nunc, quia omnia possibilia sunt credenti; et si quis petierit Patrem quicumque in nomine Filii, fiet ei. Audi, ergo, fili et vide; inclina aurem tuam ad obediendum Christianæ fidei, ad percipiendam gratiam baptismi; qui enim crediderit et baptizatus fuerit, juxta Salvatoris promissum salvus erit.”

Confortatus et corroboratus in fide Wlfadus, provolvit se ante pedes viri Dei; postulavitque sibi tribui regenerationem salutaris lavacri. Videns beatus Cedda juvenem in fide radicatum et fundatum, exultavit in Domino, gratias agens Deo salutari nostro qui inchoavit in ejus pectore habitationis suæ locum; impositaque manu catezizavit eum. Benedicens denique fontem, in eodem baptizavit illum in nomine Sanctæ Trinitatis, eidem effectus patris et pater spiritualis. Et quoniam advesperascebat et inclinata erat jam dies, pater sanctus secum filiolum pernoctare fecit, et cibo corporalis et spiritualis alimoniam, prout potuit, illius utrumque hominem refecit. Perpulchrum simul spectaculum ibidem apparebat; sicut sanctus Cedda cum sancto Wlfado manebat, sic cervus cum jumento, agreste animal cum domito in omni mansuetudine stabat, accubabat, fœnum carpebat. Mane facta, sanctus sacerdos missam celebravit, et neophitum suum dominici corporis et sanguinis participatione communicans, eum ecclesiæ corpori tanquam proprium et perutile membrum associavit. Cervus nichilominus ad jussionem patris Ceddæ nota nemora repetiit, et animus tironis Christi magis ac magis in fide ac caritate Dei proficit.

Ingressus Wlfadus viam veritatis, de fratris sui salute sollicitus, suppliciter sanctum Ceddam deprecabatur, quatinus precibus suis impetrare satageret à Domino, ut fratri suo Rufino perveniendi ad Christianæ fidei religionem, affectum et effectum largiretur. Cui sanctus sævior ait. "Quid postulas à me exiguo præstari quod impetrare poteris à Domino in instanti? Fides enim tua fratrem tuum salvum faciet, et infra triduum ad agnitionem veritatis perducet; qui enim vos segregavit ex utero matris vestræ, ambos vocabit per gratiam suam ad se, justificabit in se, glorificabit ex se." Post hæc valefaciens Wlfadus viro Dei sanctum osculum illi libavit, benedictioneque ab eo petitâ et perceptâ, robustus in fide ad sua remeavit. Cumque appropinquaret castro patris sui à quo decesserat, quæ nunc vocatur Wlfere-Cestria, obvium habuit fratrem suum Rufinum magno mærore afflictum ex ipsius absentia. Suspiciabatur illum ab aliqua discerptum bestia, sive ab aliquo adversario peremptum fuisse, vel illi aliquid aliud adversi accidisse. Hac de causa perplures suorum adunavit; et illum per concava vallium, per condensa nemorum, per lustra ferarum quærere disposuit. Illo verò viso, tristitia vertebatur in gaudium, trepidatio in trepidium, sollicitudo in solacium. Sciscitabatur ab eo quo demoraretur? vel si rectè omnia circa se agerentur? Respondens Wlfadus, prospera cuncta erga se actitari asseruit; secretiusque illum alloquens, omnia quæ gesserat indicans illi, eadem facere attentius admonuit.

Rufinus verò divina præventus gratia gratias multiplices reddebat Deo, affirmans se diu desiderâsse atque deliberâsse pervenire ad fidem quæ est in Jesu Christo, ex quo verbum vitæ primùm audierat à sancto Germano Anglorum orientali episcopo. Is namque pontifex cum venerabili Erminda superiùs memorata, ad partes illas advenerat, et aliquanto tempore ibidem degens, verbum Dei multis evangelizabat. Magnificavit igitur anima Wlfadi dominum, et exultavit spiritus ejus in Deo cunctorum salutari, quia respexit, et lumen suæ visitationis illustravit mentem fratris sui. Ut igitur maturiùs manciparetur effectui, quod illorum divinitus inspirabatur affectu, prudenti usi consilio progrediuntur mane cum canibus quasi venatum, ut dum certam et tritam viam non tenentes pervenirent ad sancti Ceddæ cellam, celaretur cæteris ipsorum propositum. Nondum in silvam longiùs processerant, et ecce cervus, qui prius beato Wlfado apparuit, fune collum circumplexum habens, illis se repræsentavit, et usque ad mansionem viri Dei prævium præbuit. Rufinus è vestigio præcurrentem sequebatur. Set Wlfadus quid bruti animalis præsentia et præcursorio prætenderit intelligens, clamando et cornu clangendo illum revocare nitebatur, ne fortè fera ferens ferculum salutis, ab ipso sagittaretur. Puer tamen non intelligens neque intendens clamorem aut cornicinium fratris sui præcurrit citiùs illo, et venit prior ad habitaculum hominis Dei. Cervus verò, sicut priùs, projecit se in fontem famuli Christi, ut patenter daretur intelligi, quod indicio, quo poterat, puerum perduceret ad vitalis fluentia baptismi. Referunt plures sanctissimum Ceddæ fontem illum de terra suis precibus perduxisse, qui usque in hodiernum diem vocatur Fons Sancti Cedde, multisque variis incommodis laborantibus præbet salutiferæ haustum medelæ. Animadvertens homo Dei auditu et visu quæ fiebant, exivit è cella sub divo, infixis oculis ac manibus cælo, pro utriusque hominis salvatione devotas preces profudit Deo vivo. Cumque orationi instantissimè antistes astartet, Rufinus affuit, ipsumque beatum Ceddæ esse de quo multa et magna Germano narrante audierat, in ipso ictu oculi statim animo persuasum habuit. Et cum omni reverentia salutans eum, ait; "Tunc es Domine pater Cedda dilectus Deo et hominibus, amicus Annæ, quondam orientalium Anglorum regis christianissimi doctor et ductor ad salutem Wlfadi fratris mei?" Quo respondente, "Sum," procidit ad pedes ejus, obsecrans, obnixè ne tardaret se Christianæ fidei regulis initiare, impartiendo salutare lavacrum. Admirans et animo amplexans almus antistes devotionem tantam in pectore pueri, set sensu cani fervere, gavisus est gaudio magno valde; set et Wlfadus interim adveniens, dum agnoscit fraternum desiderium de ipsius certioratus conversione, impletum est gaudio os ejus; et lingua exultatione sanctus Cedda continuò catezizavit et baptizavit eum in ipso fonte, Wlfado ipsum ecclesiastico more tenente, atque de lavacro suscipiente, sic qui prima in generatione frater fuerat illius uterinus, in secunda effectus est ei patrinus. Celebravit sacerdos Altissimi postea missarum sollempnia, ipsosque agnos novellos effectos de grege, tonsos ascendentes de lavacro, sancitavit agni immaculati libatione sacrosancta; mente voceque præsaga prævidit, prædixit eos ascensuros ad montem Galaad, hoc est martyrii fastigia. Denique docebat eos observare mandata Dei, prædicans eis præcepta et legem vitæ, et disciplinæ, quia sciebat quod corrigerent adolescentiores vias suas in custodiendo sermones legis divinæ. Declaratio itaque sermonum Dei tantum intellectum dedit parvulis suis in Christo, ut neque mors, neque vita, neque instantia, neque futura, neque aliqua creatura posset eos separare à caritate Dei quæ est in Christi Jesu omnium Domino.

Discessuri electi Dei à præsentia præsulis sancti, et ad sua reversuri, humili quidem et devota precum instantia virum Domini rogabant, ut propiùs castrum patris sui Wlferecestriam dignaretur habitationem suam construere, quo liberiùs ad eum convenire divinis mysteriis celebrandis, horisque canendis frequentiùs interesse; ac verbum Dei valerent crebriùs audire. Placuit petitio puerorum in oculis pontificis; cellamque cum oratorio competenti loco ædificans viciniorem, exhibuit illic copiam sui se visitaturis. Ipsi cotidie ad virum Dei venientes divinis officiis assistebant, aliquando divinis morabantur, studioque venandi simulato Christianam religionem, quam susceperant, obumbrabant, ne in eis deprehenderentur. Verumptamen quia scriptum est, "Semper diligit qui est amicus," et è contrario "In tempore suo non absconditur inimicus." Werbodus, vir Belial, longè superiùs memoratus, sedebat in insidiis, quasi arcus dolosus, ut sagittaret immaculatos, ut interficeret innocentes pueros illos. Plerumque pedetentim proditor ille instar pavonis post illos gradiens vespere ac mane ad cellam sancti euntes, exploravit itinera et actus eorum. Omni autem nisu tempus et occasionem aucupabatur quo regis animum inflammaret in odium, immo perniciem eorum. Cumque indagine certiori explorando didicisset ipsos christianissimos effectos, divini cultus gratia oratorium illud frequentare, hominemque sic visitare; accedens ad regem idipsum illi studuit intimare, verbis dilatoriis ac malignis circumlocutionibus circumscribens, eum in iræ furorem non cessavit incitare. Erat enim idem rex Wlferus, sicut et Penda pater ejus, naturali conspersione iracundus, et tempore commotionis suæ fera ferocior ferâ furibundus. Nactus igitur tempus oportunitatis maliciæ ac nequitia suæ, inventor et inventor totius mali fertur ad regem in hunc modum prorupisse. "Diu domine mi rex est deliberandum quod semel est statuendum, quoniam ad puerilem levitatem spectat, immo in ignominiam regiæ maturitatis redundat convellere plantata, ædificata destruere, decreta dissipare, sancita immutare. Placuit proinde prudentiæ sullimitatis vestræ propensioris providenciæ, ponderare discreto libramine, utrum Christianorum nova secta debeat eligi, an cultura deorum à temporibus avitis approbata retineri. Sub illa enim pater tuus diu victoriosissimus vixit, feliciter diis propiciantibus regnavit, splendide de tyrannis et regibus triumphavit; si vero illam abjicere, atque de regno vestro delere vestræ placuerit majestati, cum consilio magnatum vestrorum illud concedet fieri. Nunc autem filii tui Christicolæ effecti, animo irreverenti et infrunito, vestrum dispositum despicientes, cotidiè Christianæ legis fanum frequentare non cessant quod infra condensa silvarum in regiæ majestatis vestræ contumeliam contumaciter ferri fecerant. Nisi ergo animadversione districta talis præsumptio punita fuerit, auctoritas vestra quam citius deperibit, et quilibet quamlibet sectam sibi eliget quæ oculis suis plus placuerit." Hæc et hiis similia rex audiens, irâ totus incanduit, seque graviter in illos vindicturum, si sic se res haberet, juravit. Malignitatis autem ministrum secum nocte illa demorari fecit, in crastino cum ipso solo volens explorando experiri rei veritatem, quam ei detulit. Iccirco illum accusatorem solum secum ducere consultiùs arbitratur. Et si quid gravius in filios irâ dicente perpetraret, ejus solius notitiâ perceptum in posterum cunctis celaretur. Summo sequentis diei diluculo, cum adhuc tenebræ essent super terram, rex, cum filio tenebrarum, accinctus gladio iter arripuit versùs locum. Sciens autem se fore impotem impetum iræ suæ refrenandi, præmisit ante faciem satellitem illum diaboli, qui annunciaret filiis suis adventum sui, si fortè, in oratorio illo fuissent reperti, ut sic saltem perterriti se absentarent ab eo beneficio fugæ atque latibuli. Missus in minister atque magister sceleris, clanculo ad oratorium accedens et per fenestrellam introspectans, illos solo tenus prostratos orationi devotissimè procumbere perpendit, et nec verbum aliquod aut sonitum saltem in visitando emittens, set latenter cum omni silencio recessit; et ad regem reversus ait. "Assunt filii tui contumaces et rebeldes mandatis vestris, in proposito suo pertinaces et obstinati, Christum colunt et adorant. Et non solum à facie vestra non formidant, set etiam convicia et in properia ingerentes mihi multiplicia, vos non regem aut patrem, set blasphemum et apostatam nominant." Hæc vir Belial omnia mentiens protulit, et regem supra modum motum in sanguinem filiorum suorum ire compulit. Ibat ergo rex cum pestifero illo, spirans minarum et cædis in filios suos jam discipulos Christi, et non verba jactando, set potiùs fulminando præ furore, appropinquabat septis oratorii. Beatissimi adolescentes audientes tonitruum vocis ejus, sollicitabantur pro patre suo spirituali, timentes ne nimio succensus furore mitteret manum in ipsum sanctissimum Ceddam Christum Domini. Nihil enim aliud patrem illaturum sibi nisi verborum injurias aut plagas virgarum poterant suspicari; cum tamen ipsi promptum paratumque cor haberent pro nomine Jesu contumelias et terrores et quælibet mortis genera pati. Beatus Cedda sciens quod, teste Salomone, sicut fremitus leonis, sic ira regis, ipsis pueris cogentibus, dans locum iræ, à facie regis Wlferi, sicut David à facie Saulis declinavit, et ad interiores ulterioresque partes procedens silvarum, se abscondit. Hoc quidem faciens mortem minimè formidavit, quam sibi lucrum deputavit, set meliorem fructum ex vita ejus adhuc conservata quam de instanti morte susceptâ multis fore proventurum intellexit.

Rex Wlferus (si tamen rex rectè in hoc loco debeat nominari, qui seipsum regere non potuit aut noluit) irrum-pens in capellam illam, invenit filios ante Salvatoris imaginem orationi attentius expositos, et ait ad illos. "Quid facitis degeneres et contumaces novas sectas colentes et culturam Christianæ legis in regnum meum absque mei permissione palam inducentes? Si sectæ huic confestim non abrenunciatis, abjuro jura me totius paternitatis ulterius erga vos tenere, quoniam ipsi vosmet privastis mei filiatione; vosque dampnabo perpetua carceris intrusione, aut exilii relegatione, seu membrorum mutilatione multabo vel morte." Ad hæc Wlfadus respondit. "Non est in conscientia nostra suscipiendo seu custodiendo cultum Christianæ fidei genus regum aliqua degeneri depravasse infamia, sive vobis in aliquo voluisse rebellare, præsertim cum et vos baptismum dudum suscepistis, et per totum regnum vestrum idolatriam penitèntiam delere, legemque Christi, prout putavimus propalare aut promulgare proposuistis. Noveritis, domine rex, reverende ac pater karissime, quod nullius carceris squalor, aut exilii terror, seu membrorum abscisio, sive supplicii cujuslibet vel mortis intentatio, vel illatio poterunt nos separare à catholica fide quam suscepimus in baptisate. Si verò immeriti ob fidem et dilectionem Christi affectu vestro paterno privamur, illius filii sumus et erimus effecti à quo omnis paternitas in cœlo et in terra nominatur."

Cumque in hunc modum sermones sanctus proferret, Wlferus fera ferocior omni, et efferatior, naturam exuens, instigante Sathana ejusque satellite stimulante, gladio extracto Wlfadi athletæ Christi caput amputavit, Christoque martyrem, licet invitus vel inscius, consecravit. Rufinus junior hæc videns fugam iniit, quem pater furibundus insequens, letiferum illi vulnus infixit; quo accepto, in terram corruens post modicum spacium temporis expiravit, fratri suo commartyr effectus, ad cœlestem gloriam demigravit. Sic sic quos in terra conterinos fecit natura, ipsis unitis in fide ac caritate cor unum et animam unam in Domino tribuit gratia; utrosque adunavit et univit in cœlestibus gratia. Passi sunt autem ix. kal. Augusti.

Tanto piaculo perpetrato, rex cum sæpiùs memorato mortis ministro concito gressu divertit se à loco paricidii conscio. Ne verò nepharium opus in notitiam deveniret reginæ vel populi, provisum est utriusque consilio totum habitaculum illud nocturno tempore ab illo filio necis debere destrui, corporaque occisorum in aliquo loco latebroso sepeliri. Set, teste Salomone, non est sapientia, non est prudentia, non est consilium, contra Dominum, quia quod factum est in tenebris, molimine cujuslibet obstare non prævalente, in lumine fuerit revelandum. Cum enim rex castrum cum illo pessimo, qui ei erat à secretis, introisset, et in sua se recepisset, ante fores domus reginæ in atrio in conspectu multorum simul astantium, invasit spiritus malignus machinatorem mortis martyrum germanorum fratrum, velut mancipium et vasculum proprium. Manus enim suas et brachia propriis dentibus dilaniabat; et quicquid per sui ipsius funestam instigationem in filios pater cruentus commiserat, vociferans in auribus omnium vocibus inconditis divulgabat. Spiritus verò Domini malus illum tamdiu non cessabat vexare, quoad usque compelleret eum spiritum fœtidum exhalare.

Fama facti detestandi, licèt perplures gravi cruciatu percusserit, ex quo sanctæ reginæ aures attigerat, tum pro reginæ conscientinæ atque famæ læsione, tum pro natorum suorum interfectione ipsius animum inestimabilis doloris gladius transverberabat. Quia verò quod factum est non potest non fieri, prudentissima regina maritum, ut ad pœnitentiæ remedia recurrere deberet, sedulo studuit exhortari. Ipsa verò ad locum martyrii eorum accessit, et corpora colligens illorum, in uno saxeo sarcophago simul honorificè sepelivit. Et congruè Domino disponente, à filia lucis in pace sepulta sunt corpora eorum, quorum animas introduxit Dominus in splendoribus sanctorum, ut vivant nomina eorum libro vitæ inscripta in secula seculorum. Processu verò temporis regina venerabilis venustiori opere de lapidibus ecclesiam ibidem fabricare fecit. In quo loco magnus Dominus martyrum suorum merita magnificans quando fides promeretur, miraculis multimodis mirificare consuescit. Exhinc multitudo debiliùm diversisque languoribus laborantium et aliorum quærentium Dominum, et beneficia beatorum martyrum deposcentium, consuevit locum illum frequentare, et ad ædificium lapides illic deportare. Unde et locus ille Stanes nuncupatur, quod nomen ex Anglico sermone in Latinum versum, Lapides interpretatur. Ab illo autem tempore sancta Ermenilda regina conjugis consorcio carere cupiens, non solùm à maritali thoro abstinere, set etiam à regali throno descendere proposuit, et cum beatissima virgine Werburga filia sua, sanctimonialis fieri, fixum in corde constituit, sicut et postea fecit.

Rex Wlferus ob necem natorum intolerabili animi angustia confossus, lecto languoris decubuit, ex cujus salute suos omnes desperatio depressit. Amici autem et proximi ejus ad eum appropinquaverunt et steterunt, doloremque cordis, quo tactus erat intrinsecus, lenire gestientes, ut venationi vel aucupio insisteret, musicæ melodis instrumentis intenderet, illi suaderunt Regina verò cum suis monuit eum ante omnia de divina misericordia nunquam diffidere, set potiùs sanctos episcopos Jermanum et Ceddam consulere, corde contrito et humiliato, pœnitentiæ formam ab eis suscipiendo, satisfacere ad arbitrium eorum; idolatriam de regno suo funditus ejicere, vitamque suam deinceps corrigere. Rex autem hujusmodi consiliis animum accommodavit, et sanctum Ceddam visitare, ac quicquid injungeret illi facere, firmiter apud se statuit. In crastinum cum suis vadens venatum, veniendi ad virum Dei tali occasione spem conceperat, sicut et filios jam martyres actitasse ante audierat. Beatus Cedda pontifex ad priorem mansionem secus fontem statim post interfectionem sanctorum adolescentium reversus fuerat, ibique solitariè degens secum habitabat.

Cum autem rex processisset paululum longiùs infra condensa silvarum, omnibus suis nutu divino per diversa dispersis, solus existens, perspexit eminèntem salientem cervum, multociens memoratum, habentem collum fune circumligatum. Qui viso lætus effectus illum sequebatur præambulum, tanquam suæ salutis nuncium ac bajulum, donec perveniret ad servi Dei sancti Ceddæ, videlicet habitaculum. Pertransiens cervus et transiliens, quasi peracta legatione sua, regem reliquit, seque ob refrigerium vel potus haustum fonti præsulis inmersit. Desilivit rex confestim de equo, et accedens ad fenestram oratorii, vidit virum Dei sacerdotibus indutum, missam celebrantem, altaribus astare. Stansque foras obstante rata conscientia, antequam absolutus à pontifice introduceretur non audebat intrare. Cum autem canonem inchoans sacerdos Domini extolleret manus suas in sancta, tanta lux cœlitus emissa emicuit per parietis foramina, ut sacrificium et circumposita ejus texerentur fulgore perfusa. Hæc intuentis obtutus obtenebrantur, quoniam in hujusmodi deifici luminis comparatione lux meridiana quodammodo nulla vel perexigua putabatur. Et quod mirabile satis fuit, splendor ille nullatenus minuebatur donec missæ sacrosanctæ celebratio consummaretur. Expletâ verò missâ lumen illud cœlicum disparuit, et sol materialis per fenestras et foramina ingrediens, secus altare radios porrexit. Adventus autem regis hæc videntis, divino lumine interiùs et exteriùs se illustrante, pontifici sancto innotuit, et quid expectaret et expeteret agnovit. Celebratâ missâ sacris vestibus cum festinatione se exuens, et estimans illas super reclinatorium ligneum secus altare ponere, super radium solarem nescius projecit, regemque foras oratorium existentem adiit. Solaris verò radius indumenta sacerdotalia super se posita ne in terram caderent sustentavit; manifesto miraculo satis indicans, quod filius ille lucis soli justitiæ fide atque dilectione firmiter adhæserit. Egressus sanctus invenit regem ante hostium ecclesiæ in terrâ prostratum, pro peccato suo valdè confusum, atque nimio animi languore afflictum. Sanctus antistes elevavit eum, infundens vulnere animæ illius cum vino asperæ increpationis, exemplo boni Samaritani, consolationis oleum, ne in desperationis laberetur vicium. "Multotiens," inquit, "rogavi clementissimum Conditorem omnium, ut transferre dignaretur peccatum tuum, quod in filios commisisti mortis mancipio te instigante, qui jam effectus est inquilinus inferorum. Dominus autem, ut ostenderet in te divicias bonitatis suæ, dedit tibi precibus meis, locum pœnitentiæ, si consiliis meis volueris acquiescere." Respondit rex cum magna humilitate se per omnia velle illius consiliis obtemperare, et quod impiè gessit ad ejus arbitrium emendare.

Injunxit sanctus Cedda regi Wlfero sub clavi pœnitentiæ; quatinus, sub omni celeritate in toto regno Merciorum faceret tota delubra demonum destrui radicitus; idolatriam evelli, ecclesias exstrui, monasteria fundari, clerum ordinari, Christianæ legis instituta juberet edicto publico firmiter observari; ammonuit, ut judicium et justitiam inter virum et virum faceret; orationibus crebris intenderet, operibus misericordiæ secundùm exortationem sanctæ scripturæ peccata redimeret, à pravis actibus omnimodis se contineret, ac conjugali thoro fidem custodiret. Cum hæc et hiis similia vir Domini dixisset, divertens parumper à rege, ad orationem se contulit, ipsi etiam regi, ut faciem Domini deprecaretur, indixit. Prostravit se rex pœnitens juxta verbum sancti sacerdotis in oratione. Levansque oculos vidit vestimenta sacerdotalia super radium solis dependere, non absque ingenti admiratione. Surgens ergo protinus accessit ut videret visionem hanc magnam, suasque cirotlicas et baltheum posuit super radium, quæ statim ceciderunt in terram. Intellexit vir altioris ingenii, sanctum Ceddam consortem concivemque decretum esse supernorum civium solisque justitiæ dilectum; cui adhuc in terra degenti tale sol solvit obsequium. Paulò post pontifici ab oratione regresso, rex rem recolendam retulit, et nec dum animadvertendam insigne suum indignum occultatione ad oculum ostendit. Qui statim accedens vestimenta illa resumpsit, et super altare deponens, veræ luci quæ illuminat omnem hominem venientem in hunc mundum, devotas gratias actionesque exhibuit. Rex ædificatus ac valde delectatus in Domino, sanctum sacerdotem secum adducens, ad sua et suos reversus est. In brevi studens opere complere, quæ Deo coram sancto viro pollicitus est.

Beato Cedda commonente, et cooperante sancta Ermenilda, rex infra temporis spacium totum regnum suum ab omni spurcitia idolatriæ purgavit, et quicquid sanæ fidei adversum agnoscere poterat eliminare curavit. Ecclesias congruis in locis exstruxit, aut extrui fecit; monasteria utriusque sexus plura et præclara ædificavit, amplisque possessionibus locupletavit. Inter quæ illud nobile cœnobium in Medeshamstede prædiis et possessionibus ditavit, ob facinus in filios commissum expiandum specialiter fundâsse perhibetur, quod hodie Petreshurch, id est, Civitas Sancti Petri nominatur. Ibi enim ecclesia, in honore principis apostolorum, dedicata multos cives sanctorum in se continet, et plures ad consorcium civium supernorum, beatissimo Petro conducente ac regni januam aperiente, transmittere solet. IN ILLO AUTEM LOCO, vocabulo STANES, ubi sanctorum martyrum Wlfadi et Rufini corpora in pace sepulta sunt, collegium canonicorum regularium divinis obsequiis mancipatur, ubi signis coruscantibus multa beneficia salutem postulantibus, ad laudem Domini nostri Jesu Christi, meritis sanctorum præstantur, cui est gloria et imperium in omnia secula seculorum. Amen.

Omnipotens Deus irritatus et iratus peccatis Anglorum Christianam legem prævaricantium, tradidit eos in manus gentium Christum ignorantium. Danorum dirissima et durissima barbaries multociens in multitudine gravi, et præcipuè sub ducibus Inguar et Hubbi, qui martirizaverunt sanctum Edmundum, totam inundavit Angliam, omni annis elaborans ut evacuaret à Christianismo, et ab indigenis insulam. Ecclesias namque cum ministris, monasteria cum monachis, mares cum mulieribus, senes cum junioribus, flamma, fame destruxerunt, libros in divinæ legis vitas sanctorum atque sanctarum cum miraculis descriptas incendio deleverunt. Duravit hæc pernicioosa clades vario rotatu fortunæ, quandoque vincens, aliquando victa, usque ad excellentissimi regis Edgari tempora, quibus nulla unquam feliciora experta est Anglia. Ipso namque principante atque pontificantibus sanctis Dunstano Cantuariensi archipræsule, et Ercheswaldo Wintoniensi episcopo, novam faciem pacis et fertilitatis omnium rerum Anglicana induit regio. Sancta etiam ecclesia in suo gradu firmiter stetit, santaque religio speciali profectu pullulavit, floruit, fructificavit.

Studebant plures religiosa devotione patriæ suæ sanctos exaltare, pia sollicitudine vitas illorum investigare, summique pontificis autoritate ipsos canonizare, illaque de causa nonnulli satagebant apostolicam sedem visitare. Hujus rei gratia procurator tunc temporis ecclesiæ beatorum martyrum Wlfadi et Rufini, Romam adiit, attulitque secum contra voluntatem omnium ferè fratrum ibidem Deo servientium, caput beati Wlfadi, cujus sanctitate facilius impetrare posset quod petere proposuit. Domini autem papæ præsentiam se præsentans, postulabat attentius ut ipse vicarius Christi dignaretur sanctos suos, immo paternos canonizare, ac eorum nomina juberet inscribi martirilogio sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ. Ne quis verò de martirum diffideret seu ambigeret sanctitate, licèt miracula de illis scripta paganorum fuissent deleta rabie, ultro se optulit cum eodem capite rogum ignis pertransire velle, atque ob hanc causam asseruit se secum illud illuc apportâsse. Sanctus papa, discretionis spiritu pollens, respondit, Illud fieri vetat dominicum dictum, "Non temptabis Dominum Deum tuum." Non enim examinationem ignis vel aquæ sive cujuslibet generis monomachiam fieri sacri sanxerunt canones, set illam adinvenierunt superstitiosi homines. Compatiens tamen itinere laborioso, ipsorum justis postulationibus annuit, et ecclesiæ sedis apostolicæ martirilogio sanctorum illorum nomina inseri, diemque martyrii eorum in terra et ecclesia propria solempnizari statuit. Tanto negotio ad votum expleto, in magna mentis lætitia domi revertentes apud civitatem Biterinum pernoctaverunt, ibique in ecclesia sancti Laurenti martyris illa sola nocte sanctum caput custodiendum commendaverunt. Mane facto, iter maturare attemptantes, sacrum illud resumere ac repatriare voluerunt, set nullo conamine à loco illud amovere valuerunt. Operuit ergo confusio faciem, magnaque mœstitia mentem illorum amisso tanto thesauro repetentium natale solum. Liqueat ergo non esse bene placitum Deo et sancto Wlfado martiri ob probationem sanctitatis de regno ad regnum per varia loca, quasi ad spectaculum caput ipsius deferri, et etiam, quod pejus est, gratia lucri vel honoris seu favoris adipiscendi. Caput ergo sancti martyris in illa urbe remansit, crebrisque miraculis coruscantibus illum cum martiribus in cœlo manere cunctis innotuit.

The Copie of the Table that was hanging in the Priorie of Stone, at the time of the Suppression of the same, in the xxix. yeare of the Raigne of our Sovereign Lord King Henry the VIII.

ALL manner of men, that lust for to here
How this Monasterie was founded here,
Read out this Table, that here it is written,
And all this matter so may ye witten.
Saint Armemild that good woman,
Saint Wolfald's mother this place first began,
Who soe lust to witt what wise, and why,
Read over this other Table that here is written by.
And all the whole matter there shall ye finde
In the life of Saint Wolfade and nothing left behinde;
But who that canons began here first to dwell,
In this present Table here shall you here tell.

In the time of the Conquest was the lord of Stafford
Baron Robert, which here was chief lord;
And in his life/time befel such a rase,
That two nunns and one preest lived in this place,
The which were slayne by one Enysan;^a
That came over with William Conquer. than.

^a Enisanus de Walletona juxta Stafford, ut patet in Registro prioratus de Stone.

This Enysan slue the nuns and priest alsoe,
 Because his sister should have this church thoe,
 But for that offence he did to Saint Wolfade,
 His sister soon died, and himself great vengeance had ;
 And when Enisan this cruel deede had doon
 Then blessed baron Robert bethaught himself soone,
 To Killingworth anon that he would goe,
 And tell Geffrey of Clinton there of this woe,
 Which was in the castle of Killingworth then dwelling,
 And was chamberlain to first Henry the king,
 And founder of that castle, and abby alsoe,
 Which counseled this blessed baron Robert tho,
 To restore and helpe Saint Wolfad's house again,
 And make canons there in steed of the nuns that Enysan had slayne.

So through baron Robert, and counsel of Geffry yn fere, Canons were first thus founded here.
 And for love and devotion that baron Robert had,
 He sate here cannons to serve in worship of Saint Wolfad ;
 And he sent a cannon after to Roome alsoe,
 To canonicize this matter of Saint Wolfade tho ;
 And let make this shrine that now is here,
 In worship of Saint Wolfade, and his broder in fere.
 And from Stafford, in pilgrimage with great devotion,
 To visit the shrine, to Stone, hither he came,
 And loved Saint Wolfade so entirely,
 That this church he made all new to edify.
 And when that he had builded this place,
 Then he dyed as God's will was,
 In the entry of the cloyster he was buried sekerly,
 And Avice de Clare his wife lyeth him by.

After this blessed Robert, came Nicholas his sonne,
 Which to this place had greate devotion ;
 And to this place did many benefits sekerlie,
 As by his charters appeareth apertlie.
 After this blessed founder died, and whent to blisse,
 And before the chapter house door buried is,
 And Maude Moolte his wife lyeth him by,
 One whose soules our Lord God have mercie.

After this Nicholas, then Robert his sonn
 Was founder there, by heritane and succession,
 And maintained this place worthily with all his might,
 As a blessed founder, and God's true knight ;
 And when that he died, as God's will was,
 He bequethed his body into this place,
 By Nicholas his fader, in the cloister to lye
 Before the chapter house doore, and Avice his wife him by.

After this blessed baron Robert was laid on beyre,
 Then was Harvey his sonne, lord and founder here,
 Which to this place did benefits many one,
 And augmented the lifelode and possession anon.
 And when it pleased God, he died, and went to blisse,
 And in the chapter house there buried he is.
 Thidder he bequethed his body sekerly,
 And Millyasant his wife lyeth him by.

After this Harvey, cam Harvey his sonn,
 And was founder there by herritage and succession ;
 Which many blessed deeds here did and made,
 For great love he had to Saint Wolfade :
 And when time came that he should dye,
 He bequethed his body here to lye,
 In the sextri he was buried tho,
 And Parnel his wife by him also.

After he was buried in this mannere,
 Then was Robert his son founder here,
 Which for great love he had to Saint Wolfade,
 This church and the cannons from Killingworth free he made,
 And granted to the prior of Killingworth full power
 To give licens of election of priors here.
 Thus he discharged this place and made it free,
 And bequethed his body buried here to be.
 Before Saint John Baptist auter sekerlie,
 And his two wives Jone and Jone lye him bye,
 And eyther side one I wis,
 And himselfe in the midst buried is.

After this Nicholas, Edmond his son also,
 And of this place was founder thoe,
 And loved Saint Wolfade so intirely,
 That he sojourned in this place sikerlie,

And many blessed benefits he did here,
 As it openly by his charters doth appear ;
 But after, through the counsel of a frier minor,
 Which was that lorde confessor,
 When he should be dead he bequethed his body
 To Stafford in the fryer minors for to lye,
 But Margaret his blessed wife ywys
 Before the alter of Tyssho buried is.

After this Robert came his son Nicholas,
 And after his father here founder was ;
 To Saint Wolfade he did great honour,
 And was to this place full gracious governour.
 He bequethed, at deathe, his body,
 Before the high awter heere for to lye.

After this Edmond came Raufe his son than,
 Earl of Stafford that worthy man,
 And the worthiest that ever was,
 And was here founder then of this place ;
 To this place great love he had,
 And worshipped much the martyr Saint Wolfade :
 He appropred the church, and made lye co to this place,
 And many a blessed dead he did through Gods grace ;
 And at Tunbridge he is buried sekerlie,
 And dame Margaret his wife lyeth him by,
 And his brother sir Edward Stafford ywys,
 In this church, in S. Peeters ile, buried he is ;
 And sir Thomas of Stafford, his son also,
 In the same ile is buried, a little his fader fro.

After this earl Raufe, that blessed man,
 Came earl Hugh his sonne, and was founder than ;
 He loved this place full well also,
 And over pilgrimage to Hierusalem can goo.
 In his coming homeward, at Rodes sekerly
 There it happened him to die ;
 He bequeathed his bones to be buried here
 At Stone, before the high auter here,
 John Hinklay, that was squire with him thoe,
 Brought hither his hart and bones alsoe ;
 In a fayre tombe before the high auter he doth lye,
 And dame Philippe his wife lyeth him by,
 That daughter to the earl of Warwicke was,
 And by her husband lieth in the same place.

After this earl Hugh came Thomas his son also,
 And was founder of this place tho.
 He dyed at Westminster, and bequeathed his body
 In the north side of this quier by his fader to lye.

After this Thomas cam his brother William,
 And so was founder of this place than ;
 Which, ynneage at Plaishe, died ywys,
 And by his grandfather Raufe buried he is.

After this William, came earl Edmond his brother ywis,
 That was full of beauty and blessedness,
 A full gracious founder he was to this place,
 And mentained it worthely, through God's grace :
 He died at the battel of Shrewsburie,
 On Saint Mary Maudelens even sekerly,
 The year of our Lord one thousand four hundred and three,
 And is buried at Stafford as you may see,
 In the fryer Austins, in the quier,
 In a tomb before the high auter.
 And dame Anne his wife I wys,
 In Launthonie Abby buried shee is.
 And his brother sir Hugh, the lord Bouchier,
 Is buried in the south side of this quier,
 Besides his father earle Hugh, as you may see,
 In a fayre new tombe here buried is hee.

Priory of Brooke, in Rutlandshire.

THIS small Priory of three or four canons only was founded by Hugh de Ferrers in the time of King Richard the First; and was a Cell subordinate to the Priory of Kenilworth in Warwickshire. King Henry the Second's confirmation of the lands at Brooke to Kenilworth, will be seen in the Appendix of Instruments.

Wright makes but a short mention of this House in its proper place, in his History of Rutlandshire; but in the Additions, p. 5. he says,

“Of the priory of canons here at Brook, I have this further to add, out of certain old deeds and grants now in my possession. Their estate lay at Brook, Braunston, Knauston, Okeham, and Langham, all towns near adjoining. As to what they held in Braunston, I find that Reginald, son of Roger de Branteston, gave to God and the sacristy of the church of the blessed Mary of Broc, the yearly rent of 12*d.* which the canons there did use to pay yearly to the said Reginald, as capital lord of Braunston, for one bovat of land holden of him; which said rent he did appoint for the maintaining of the fourth and fifth lamp at our Lady's vespers and mattins; and in like manner for the maintenance of the fourth and fifth candle at the high mass, and at our Lady's morning mass. A little before the Suppression, Robert Orwell prior, and the convent of this house, did by their lease, dated 12 May, 23 Hen. VIII., demise to Robert Reve, John his son, and Joan his wife, dwelling in Knoston in the county of Leicester, a mese place and four yard lands, with all houses, messuages, pastures, commons and liberties, late in the tenure of the said Robert Reve, lying in the town and fields of Knousington and Braunston, for their several lives, at the yearly rent of 4*3s.* 4*d.*, and besides usual covenants and lessees, obliged themselves to set and plant one hundred ashes upon the land and ground so demised, within the space of five years next ensuing from the date of the lease. This lease was confirmed by Anthony Coope, Esq. to whom the lands belonging to this priory were granted after the suppression. The rest of the lands belonging to this house, with the reversion upon this lease, were sold and conveyed 20 Jan. 36 Hen. VIII. by Anthony Coope of Hardwicke in the county of Oxford, Esq. to John Burton of Braunston; yet some of the lands being held in capite, were not alienated 17 Oct. 13 Eliz.

“Walkelinus de Ferrariis, who was lord of Okeham, Langham, and Brook, in the time of King Henry the Second, and seems to be the first founder of this house, gave to God and the church of St. Mary of Brook, and the canons there in pure and perpetual alms, the homage and service of Jordanus de Saxonis, and whatsoever right he had in him and his tenement; and also the tithes of the profits arising from the fair of Okeham, held at the feast of the decollation of St. John Baptist, and of the mills of the said town of Okeham, and of Langham. Witnesses to which deed, were Simon the priest of Okeham, Gilbert his brother, Hugh de Ferrariis, William de Frenes, Geffry de Carento, master John the physician, &c. This deed was afterwards confirmed by Henry de Ferrariis, son of Walkeline, and after that by Isabel de Mortuomari, sister and heir of the said Henry de Ferrariis. Long after this, viz. at the great court of Edward, duke of York, who was also earl of Rutland, held at Okeham, on the Wednesday next after the feast of St. Michael, in the 6th year of Henry IV., the then prior of Brook, exhibited his claim to the tithe of the mills of Okeham and Langham, valued at 24*s.* per annum, which his predecessors had formerly enjoyed, except for six years last past; but whether he ever enjoyed them afterwards, does not appear. The before-mentioned Isabel de Mortuomari granted to the prior and canons of Broke, a tenement in Langham, which Gilbert Carecarius held of her, and directed her precept under her seal to William Hampton, her then bayliffe at Okeham, to deliver to the said prior, full seisin of the same.”

The Priors of this House were presented by the prior and convent of Kenilworth.

RALPH occurs about A.D. 1180.^a

RICHARD DE LUDINGTON was prior in the 19th Hen. III. and is said to have been invested in his office by the delivery of the book of the priory into his hands.^b

JOHN DE WOTTON, 1249.^c

ROBERT DE LEDEBIR was prior in 1285, upon whose resignation

NICHOLAS BREDON was presented on the 16th kal. Nov. that year.^d

WILLIAM UNWINE in 1486.^e

ROGER ORWEL or HURWELL was the last prior. He had a pension of 10*l.* assigned to him at the Dissolution.^f

Wright and Stevens have both given the following Letter from William Walle, the last abbat of Kenilworth but one, to Lord Cromwell, dated 17th June 1536, concerning the conduct of Prior Orwel in the surrender of this Cell, the original of which is still preserved in the Cottonian MS. Cleop. E. iv.

“Right honorable and my singular good master, my convenable duety with condigne recommendatjons humbly unto your mastership remembryd. May it please you to be further advertisyd of such matter as at this day I and my pore house are much perplexed and unquietid in, concerning our mannor and cell of Broke in the county of Rotteland, which by the unjust and untrue demeanor and behaviour of such my chanon as I sent thider for to have the governance

At Kenellworth the xvij day of Junii. Your humble orator, WILLIAM Abbat there.

The clear value of this House in the 26th of Henry the VIIIth. is stated to have been 40*l.* Speed who puts it at 43*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* probably gives the gross income.

After the Dissolution the Site of Broke was granted 9th Sept. 28th Hen. VIIIth. to Anthony Cope, Esq. upon a reserved rent of 4*l.* 3*s.* 11*d.*: by whom the premises were sold in the 2d Edw. VIth to Andrew Noel, of Dalby in Leicestershire, Esq. in whose descendants it is still vested.

The Noels erected a Mansion-house upon the spot on which the Priory stood. There are, at the present day, but few traces of the ancient buildings.

No SEAL of this Priory has been hitherto discovered.^g

(Indorsed)

To the Right Honorable Mr. Crumwell Chief Secretary unto the King's Majesty.

Priory of Lanercost, in Cumberland.

THIS Priory was founded in 1169 by Robert de Vallibus lord of Gillesland, for Augustine Canons, and from its dedication to St. Mary Magdalene was also sometimes called "Domus de Valle S. Mariæ Magdalenæ." The founder's charter, King Richard the First's confirmation charter of all its possessions, and a pedigree of the descendants of the founder, are the articles in the Appendix relating to it, selected by Dugdale. Its possessions as they stood at the Dissolution are added to these from a Paper Survey in the Augmentation Office.

Burn and Nicolson refer to charters of confirmation to this House from Henry the Third and Edward the First: the latter of which monarchs made three visits to this Priory, one with Queen Eleanor in 1280;^a again in 1299 or 1300;^b and a third time in 1306 with Queen Margaret.^c King Edward the First also gave the canons here the churches of Mitford and Carlatton.^d This was probably in consequence of the injuries which the canons suffered from the Scots, who burnt their House in 1296.

Robert Bruce King of Scots was at Lanercost with his army in 1311, when he imprisoned several of the monks, but set them at liberty before his departure. He remained at Lanercost three days.^e The House was also pillaged by David King of Scots in 1346.^f

On the 22d of March, 1281, Ralph Irton, newly elected bishop of Carlisle, visited this House, and obliged the canons to receive a new set of statutes.^g

PRIORS of LANERCOST.

JOHN^h resigned the priorate in 1283, when SIMON DE DRIFFELD succeeded.ⁱ
HENRY DE BURGH died in 1315, when ROBERT DE MEBURNE succeeded.^k
WILLIAM DE SOUTHWYKE died in 1337.
JOHN DE BOWETHBY was his successor.^l Upon his death

JOHN DE BOTHECASTRE was chosen in 1338.^m He resigned in 1354, when

THOMAS DE HEXTILDESHAM was elected: who died the next year.ⁿ

RICHARD DE RYDAL was the next prior.

JOHN ROBYSON was prior in 1535.

These are all the names of the Priors of Lanercost which have occurred to the Editors of the Monasticon.

Tanner says that at the Suppression the Convent of Lanercost consisted of a Prior and seven Canons. Its revenues were valued in the gross at 79*l.* 19*s.* per annum. In the net income at 77*l.* 11*s.* 11*d.*

The Site was granted Nov. 22d 34th Hen. VIII. to Thomas Dacre, Esq. afterwards Sir Thomas Dacre, Knt. an illegitimate son of Thomas Lord Dacre of the North, and his heirs male.^o Upon the death of James Dacre, Esq. of Lanercost, in 1716, without issue male, the priory estate consisting of Lanercost, &c. reverted to the Crown, from which it is at present held under lease by the Earl of Carlisle.^p

The CHRONICLE of LANERCOST has been already referred to in the Notes.

Tanner refers to a CHARTULARY of Lanercost, formerly belonging to William Lord Howard of Naworth, and since to the Earl of Carlisle.^q

The CHAPTER SEAL of this Priory is elegantly engraved in Surtees's History of the County of Durham, vol. ii. plate XII.

There are considerable RUINS of this Priory, particularly of the conventual church, an engraving of which has been already given in the present Work. The nave has been fitted up as the parish church. Mr. Lysons has engraved several portions of it in detail.

The Priory House continued to be the seat of the Dacres till the death of Mr. Dacre abovementioned. It is now a farm-house.

Dunstaple Priory, in Bedfordshire.

HERE, says Tanner, King Henry the First, toward the latter end of his reign,^a built and endowed a Priory of Black Canons to the honour of St. Peter. Henry the First it appears had a palace at Dunstaple,^b which King John in 1204 gave to the prior and convent.^c

The minute particulars of the early history of this foundation are given by Dugdale in the Appendix from a MS. in the Herald's College, with the foundation Charter of King Henry the First, and a grant of land in Cateby from Morinus de Pinu.^d To these have been added some large Excerpts from the Annals of Dunstaple printed by Hearne; in which the dates of the erection of various parts of the Priory buildings, of purchases and grants of lands in the thirteenth century, and of their law proceedings will be found in chronological arrangement, interspersed with the particulars of two or three royal visits. Henry the Sixth, according to Holinshed, was at Dunstaple Priory in 1457.

The Priors of Dunstaple enjoyed very extensive liberties and privileges. They had power of life and death, and sat with the King's Justices itinerant, who on their circuit, always came to Dunstaple for the purpose of trying such offences as had been committed within the jurisdiction of the town. They had more than one gaol, for, as appears in the Annals of the Priory, their principal gaol was rebuilt in 1295; and they had a gallows at a place without the town called Edescote.

During the Insurrections in the reign of Richard II. in 1371, the Townsmen exacted of the prior a charter of liberties, but it was cancelled afterwards, as having been extorted by force.

PRIORS of DUNSTAPLE.^e

THOMAS. He resigned in 1202: and died in 1203.

RICHARD canon of Merton succeeded in 1202.

RICHARD DE MORINS died 5 id. April, 1242.

GALFR. DE BARTON became Prior in the 6th year of the pontificate of Grosseteste bishop of Lincoln. Upon his cession

SIMON DE ETON was elected, in 1262. He died on the morrow of St. Simon and St. Jude 1274, when subprior, was elected. He was confirmed April 26th, 1275. He resigned in 1280, and retired to Rokeshoe, a possession of the Convent, where he died in 1288.

WILLIAM DE WEDEROV was admitted 8 kal. Feb. 1280. On whose cession

JOHN DE CHEDINGTON was elected. He was confirmed 8 id. Dec. 1302.

HENRY was the next prior, on whose death

JOHN DE LONDON succeeded in 1341. Upon his cession

ROGER DE GRAVENHURST was confirmed 15 kal. May, 1348.

THOMAS MARESCALL adm. 7 id. Oct. 1351. He died Oct. 12, 1413.

JOHN ASTON became prior 5th Nov. 1 Hen. Vth.; on whose death almost immediately

JOHN ROYSTON succeeded. He was confirmed 18 Dec. 1413.

THOMAS GYLES received the temporalities 11th April, 12 Edw. IV. 1473.

JOHN WASTELL, 1 Oct. 8th Hen. VII.

GERVASE MARKHAM was the last prior. He took an active part in the proceedings relative to the divorce between King Henry the VIIIth. and his Queen Catherine of Aragon. The commissioners sat at Dunstaple Priory, and the sentence of divorce was pronounced by archbishop Cranmer on the 23d May, 1533, in the Chapel of our Lady there. Prior Markham, after the Dissolution of his Convent, had a pension of 60*l.* per annum. He died in the month of September, 1561, and was buried at Dunstaple, as appears by the parish register.

The Revenues of this Priory at the Dissolution amounted in the gross income to 402*l.* 14*s.* 7½*d.*; in the net receipts to 344*l.* 13*s.* 3*d.* per annum.

The Site was granted 12 Jan. 1554, 1 Phil. and Mar. to Dr. Leonard Chamberlayne. It is now the property and residence of Col. Madison.

There is a CHARTULARY of Dunstaple Priory, a folio volume on vellum among the Harleian MSS. Num. 1885, an abstract of which, with various extracts from its contents, have been published by Hearne in the Chronicon sive Annales Prioratus de Dunstaple, 8°, Oxon. 1733. Præf. pp. lxxviii.—xciii. 676—713.^a

An Impression of the COMMON SEAL, but somewhat imperfect, is attached to the acknowledgement of Supremacy, 1534, in the Chapter House, Westminster; it represents St. Peter with his keys seated. Legend, SIGILL . ECCL'IE . S'CI . PETRI . DE . DVNESTAPLE.

The only REMAINS of the conventual buildings (excepting what is now the Parish Church) are some rooms with vaulted and groined stone roofs; one of them converted into a parlour.

The Messrs. Lysons, in their Magna Britannia, have engraved a Plan of the Remains of the Priory Church; with a section of part of the Nave. See also Britton's Architectural Antiquities.

per totam Angliam in forma supradicta toto tempore dicti regis: numquam coram justiciariis itinerantibus vel aliis domini regis ministris, extra villam Dunningstable, et libertatem responderunt; sed justiciarii et ministri domini regis, ad Dunstable divertebant, et per sacramentum duodecem juratorum de burgensibus, sine associatione alicujus extranei, omnia placita terminabant. Statuit autem et habuit idem rex in dicto burgo mercatum bis singulis septimanis, et nundinas ad festum S. Petri ad Vincula, per tres dies durantes: et liberas furcas habuerunt ad fures suspendendos extra villam de Dunstable in loco qui Edescote appellatur. Tandem dictus rex, in limite dicti burgi, in honorem S. Petri, ecclesiam fabricavit, monasterium construxit; et sicut longè in animo conceperat, priorem et canonicos ibidem posuit regulares. Dedit autem eis et eorum successoribus in liberam, puram, et perpetuam elemosinam, ecclesiam antedictam; dictum burgum cum burgensibus, foris, nundinis, libertatibus et approvamentis quibuscunque, et omnibus rebus et proventibus quos percipere consueverat, quando in manu sua tenuit idem burgum. Dedit etiam eis et concessit quantamcunque conferre possit potestas regia libertatem tenendi in perpetuum, et habendum, sicut ipse de Deo dictum burgum tenuit et habebat.

Retinuit autem prædictus rex in manu sua mansum suum capitale, quia infra septa canonicorum adhuc receptaculum competens non habebat. Habent etiam dicti prior et canonici super hoc confirmationem regis Henrici secundi et regis Richardi, cum additione et donatione plurimarum libertatum. Item confirmationem regis Johannis; et ex dono ejusdem domos suas et locum de Kingsburey supradicto: Item ex dono ejusdem Johannis feriam in festo S. Fremundi per tres dies similiter duraturam. Item habent confirmationem Henrici regis tertii super chartam regis Richardi; et aliam confirmationem super chartam regis Hen. primi, dictæ ecclesie fundatoris: et per hujusmodi confirmationes et collationes habuerunt dicti canonici omnia placita, et misericordiam hominum suorum. Et justiciarii, ministri domini regis infra libertatem de Dunstable, omnia terminabant, priore semper eum eis tanquam socio consentiente. Item habuit prior clericum suum cum clericis justiciariorum et rotulum cujuslibet veredicti. Et temporibus regum omnium prædictorum, dictus prior et canonici et burgenses usque in præsens, dictis libertatibus pacificè sunt gavis. Nunc autem in dicto burgo de Dunstable, plurimi tenentes in capite de priore, et plurimi sunt tenentes, qui pro tenementis quæ tenent, servitia tenementis suis debita, faciunt canonicis memoratis: et sunt omnes liberi, sicut fuerunt tempore prædicti regis, sub quo fuit conditus dictus burgus: et ecclesia de Dunstable, toto tempore pro c^s. census burgi pro c^s. proventus mercati pro c^s. taxabantur: et dicta taxatio adhuc durat. Tres autem partes burgi sitæ sunt super feodum de Houghton de bosco suo apud Buckwood. Quarta verò pars villæ, ex parte australi, de feodo de Kenesworth reputatur.

NUM. IV.

Excerpta ex Annalibus de Dunstaple.

A.D. 1203. Restituit nobis rex totum dominicum de Hoctuna cum fructibus, circa festum Pentecostes. Eodem anno, dedit et confirmavit nobis rex nundinas trium dierum in Maio.

A.D. 1204. Dedit et confirmavit nobis rex domos suas et gardinum in Dunstaple. Eodem anno, auctoritate Willielmi Lincolnensis episcopi assignata est vicaria in ecclesia de Pullokeslulle.

A.D. 1205. Galfridus de Cauceis^a dedit et confirmavit nobis ecclesiam de Bradburne, mense Septembri; et mortuus est in Maio sequenti. Eodem anno Anor Morbane dedit et confirmavit medietatem ecclesie de Magna Briehulla. Eodem anno ordinavimus super priorem apud Rokeshac; et disposuimus de elemosinario et sacrista quid recipere et quid facere debeant annuatim.

A.D. 1206. Mense Februarii, spoliati sumus terra nostra de Hoctuna.

A.D. 1207. Dedicata sunt in ecclesia nostra altare S. Mariæ et altare Sancti Frehenundi, et altare S. Nicholai, et altare S. Jacobi.

A.D. 1208. Incepimus domum elemosinariam in Martio; et ante festum S. Lucæ fuit consummata.

A.D. 1209. Composuimus cum Willielmo de Cantilupo de terra Sceortegrave.

A.D. 1210. Obtinuimus contra Henricum Brunum in curia regis, super medietate ecclesie de Pullokeslulle.

A.D. 1212. Eodem anno, mense Julii, datum est nobis breve regis de terra de Octona recuperanda. Et in die Magdalenæ sequenti, missi sumus in possessionem publice per ballivum regis; et habuimus de fœno septem bigatas.

^a Godfridus de Lucy. HEARNE.

Deinde in crastino Sancti Jacobi, per armigeros Hugonis de Gorney spoliati sumus eadem. Cumque super hoc conquereremur, rex et Galfridus filius Petri justiciarius, et eorum ballivi negaverunt nos auctoritate regis possessionem habuisse: sicque iterum querela rediit ad audientiam archiepiscopi et legati; deinde per delegationem sedis apostolicæ, dati sunt iudices ejusdem causæ idem archiepiscopus et Hugo Lincolniensis episcopus: sed guerra superveniente destiterunt.

A.D. 1213. In festo Sancti Lucæ dedicata est ecclesia de Dunstaple ab Hugone secundo Lincolniense episcopo, presentibus comitibus et baronibus, abbatibus et prioribus, et nobilibus multis, et plebe cujus non erat numerus. Ubi pœnitentibus vere confessis, infra quindecim dies illuc venientibus, facta est remissio trium dierum; et exinde in perpetuum, ad anniversarium diem dedicationis, vel infra octo dies sequentes venientibus, facta est ibidem remissio viginti dierum per eundem episcopum: a quo reliquiæ multorum sanctorum, per priorem a multis amicis acquisitæ, repositæ sunt in majori altari.

A.D. 1220. Mense Octobri per Hugonem secundum Lincolniæ episcopum, ordinatæ et taxatæ sunt vicariæ in ecclesiis quas canonici de Dunstaple habent in usus proprios. sc. in ecclesiis de Stodham, de Toternho, de Chaugrave, de Segenho, et de Husseburne. Eodem anno prior de Dunstaple tractus in causam contra Ricardum de Stepingle, per breve domini regis de ultima præsentatione, recessit quietus a iudicio, et alter in misericordia remansit. Similiter tractus in causam per Alis Martel, per breve de dote, de terra de Bokeleshore quietus a lite remansit.

A.D. 1221. Ricardus prior movit controversiam contra quosdam burgenses de Dunstapla: et tandem contra omnes super decimis negotiationis ubicunque exercitæ; et super decimis fœni et molendinorum; et super quibusdam oblationibus de quibus compositio facta est coram Johanne archidiacono Bedefordiæ, et coram populo Dunstapliæ, in ecclesia recitata est, et ab omnibus approbata; et per iudices à Papa delegatos confirmata. Videlicet, quod omnes dabunt decimas de negotiatione ubicunque habita; et ter in anno fiet sententia contra detentores de fœno et molendinis petita, sine dilatione: sed de oblationibus observabitur antiqua et bona consuetudo. Et insuper, dabit populus denarios Dei fabricæ ecclesiæ in perpetuum. Et insuper burgenses, (quotquot prior voluit) misericordiam suam in manibus suis invadiaverunt.

Eodem anno, composuimus cum abbate et monachis de Woburne, super vicaria ecclesiæ de Cestresham, ita quod ex toto renunciavimus juri nostro: et abbas et monachi nobis perpetuo conferrent redditum trium marcarum annuatim quod factum est per ordinationem de Bedeford et de Hunte-don archidiaconorum.

Eodem anno, mense Junii, corruit tectum presbyterii de Dunnestaple, quod ante autumnum sequentem fuerat reparatum. Et mense Decembri, corruerunt duæ turres in fronte ecclesiæ de Dunnestaple; quarum altera cecidit super aulam prioris, et confregit magnam partem ipsius: altera vero cecidit super ecclesiam, et locum in quo cecidit conquassavit.

A.D. 1223. Percepimus primum croppum de Balidena et Tiscinctuna: et obtinuimus in curia regis præsentationem ecclesiæ de Herlingeduna contra Ricardum Piroth. Et prior de Newham obtinuit contra nos præsentationem ecclesiæ de Aspele.

A.D. 1224. Formatum est cirograffum inter priorem de Dunstaple et Ricardum Pirot super ecclesiam de Herlingedune.

A.D. 1225. Irrotulata est in rotulo regis, conventio facta inter nos et magistrum Rogerum de Neuport de terra de Segenhou in v. septimanas post Pascha. Priory of Merton, in Surrey.

THERE is some little discrepancy in the accounts of the foundation of this Priory. Stowe says the foundation was laid in 1092; but Tanner observes that it does not appear to have been completed before 1117, when Robert the first prior and some canons regular of the order of St. Austin began to settle here under the patronage of Gilbert Norman, sheriff of Surrey, who erected a handsome church, dedicated as the Priory was to the Virgin Mary. Lysons states the facts of the foundation differently in his Environs of London: and he gives them from a manuscript in the Heralds' College which appears to have been written by a contemporary of the founder. He states that King Henry the First gave the manor of Merton to Gilbert Norman, who built a convent of wood in this place in 1115; that having so done, and obtained the royal patronage, he procured one Robert Bayle a canon of Huntingdon to superintend the new establishment. From the dissatisfaction of the superintendent the founder was induced to remove his Priory to another spot, where at last Robert Bayle and fifteen brethren were settled in it. A contribution of a hundred pounds in silver, and six marks of gold, presented to the king for the encouragement of an expedition to the Holy Land, gained for the convent, according to this account, a charter of confirmation in 1121. In the year 1130, it is said, Merton Abbey was first built of stone; the founder himself laying the first stone with great solemnity, the prior the second, and the brethren, then thirty-six in number, each one. The founder died the same year on the calends of August. The canons entered the new convent in 1136, being inducted by the bishops of St. Asaph and Rochester, who were deputed for that purpose by archbishop Corboyle. Mr. Bray, in his Additions to Manning's Account of this Priory, says that the manuscript in the Heralds' College is certainly erroneous in one particular at least, as the king gave the manor of Merton to the Abbey at once, as is proved by the charter printed by Dugdale. Matthew Paris moreover makes Gilbert Norman to have died in 1125.

Manning has made a chronological arrangement of the different benefactions to this monastery in temporalities and spiritualities. The chief of the former were the manor of Merton, given by King Henry the First; the manor of East Moulsey, by or by the procurement of Gilbert Norman; lands at Peckham, by Ralph de Caisnes and Alice his wife; the manor of Ewell with its members of Kingswood and Selswood, in 1156, by King Henry the Second; a hundred acres in Ewell by King Rich. I.; the manor of Taplow, in Buckinghamshire, by William de Turville and his wife Isabel; the manors of Berewell, Kingston-Canonbury, and Hertingdon in Kingston; the manors of Fecham, Biggin, and Tamworth; the manor of Wexham, in Bucks; the manor of Hersham in Walton upon Thames; lands in Salthouse and Kelling, in Norfolk; and the manor of Aldershot in Hampshire. In 1255 Peter Chacepor a native of Poitiers bequeathed to the convent six hundred marks to enable them to purchase lands in England. They had also lands in Waybridge forest in the county of Huntingdon; a hundred acres of land at Mepertshal in Bedfordshire; and the manor of South Talworth in Long Ditton in Surrey. In 1359, Thomas Cooke, parson of Taplow, gave them considerable lands in Ewell and Chipsted; and in 1364 the archbishop of Canterbury demised to them the demesne lands of the manor of Wimbledon in Surrey. They had also lands at Patric's Burn and Harrietsham in Kent; the manor of Dunsford in Wandsworth; the manor of South Tadworth in Bansted, and of Moor-hall in Hertfordshire; with, A.D. 1423, the manor of Combe Nevil in Kingston.

The Spiritualities of this Priory, which were still more numerous, consisted in the Advowsons of churches, the whole of which will be found enumerated in the abstract of the Ministers' Accompts of this Priory in the 32d of Henry VIIIth.

PRIORS of MERTON

is taken partly from Manning's History of Surrey, and partly from bishop Kennett's Collections among the Lansdowne Manuscripts.

ROBERT, a second prior of the name, died in 1167.

WILLIAM died 6 kal. March 1177.

STEPHEN succeeded.

ROBERT III. died in 1186.

RICHARD, prior from 1190 to 1198. He was succeeded by THOMAS became prior in 1218. He died in 1222. On Sept. 12th in which

RALPH DE GILLING received the royal assent to his election.

HENRY or HUGH DE BASYNG. He died Dec. 22, 1238.

An Impression of the COMMON SEAL of Merton Priory is to be found among the Cottonian MSS. in the British Museum. The subject is the Blessed Virgin and Divine Child; on each side of them is the profile of a head. Legend, SIGILL . ECCLESIE MARIE . DE . MERITONA.

Little more than some outer walls are now remaining of the priory of Merton.

Abbey of Osney, near Oxford.

ROBERT de Oilei, or D'Oylly, the second (nephew to the first of that name), at the desire of his wife Edith (who had been concubine to King Henry the First), built,

A. D. 1129, upon one of the islets made by the river, not far from the Castle of Oxford, a Priory of Canons Augustines, to the honour of the Virgin Mary. To prevail with her husband, says bishop Kennett, she told him a story of the chattering of birds and the interpretation of a friar.^a The House not long after its foundation became an Abbey.

Robert de Oilei's first charter of endowment settled on the monks the isle of Osenev with the tithe of his mills, the churches of Kidlington, Weston, Hook-Norton, Claindon, Senestan, and Chesterton, and certain lands in Oxford, half a hide and a virgate of land in Hook-Norton, a mansure near the castle of Oxford, and the vill of Eton.^b This was afterwards followed by a more extensive charter, which beside other large donations conveyed to the canons of Osenev the endowment of the collegiate chapel of St. George within the castle of Oxford, which had been founded in 1074 by his uncle Roger de Oilei and Roger de Ivery. This latter charter was granted in 1149.^c Robert de Oilei, the founder of Osenev, is stated to have died before or about A.D. 1157.^d

Beside the charters of the founder, Dugdale has given a confirmation from Henry de Oilei the second;^e a grant of the manor of Waneting from Robert bastard son of Henry the First;^f one from Henry de Oilei of lands in Hoke-Norton;^g a charter of Philip earl of Flanders confirming a fishery at Bentune;^h and a charter of general confirmation from King Edward the Second.ⁱ

Other benefactors of note were, Sir Robert de Gait, who in 1140 gave to the canons here the church of Hampton Gay, in Oxfordshire;^k Bernard de St. Walery, who, about 1172, gave a pool with a watercourse running to the mill belonging to the canons, with the moiety of seventeen acres and a half of land in the isle of Osenev;^l Ralph de Weston, who, about 1177, gave five acres in Weston;^m Richard de Camvill, who, in 1215, gave a messuage with its buildings in Erdinton, with liberty to the monks to collect the tithes of his demesnes in Erdinton in Burcester;ⁿ Richard earl of Cornwall, who, in 1232, confirmed the vill of Mixbury which Thomas de St. Walery had given them;^o William de Areines, who, in 1233, gave certain lands in Mixbury;^p Thomas Brent, who gave the tithe of his demesne lands in Heyford Warin in 1293;^q Sir Richard d'Amorie, who released to them the manor of Weston in 1326;^r and William del Peecks clerk, who, in 1350, gave the advowson of Bucknell.^s

Henry the Third granted a charter of confirmation to this House in 1266. The churches of Chesterton, Weston, and Hampton Gay, in Oxfordshire, had been appropriated in 1263.^t

In the 24th of Edward the Third William de Shares-hull had license from the king to exchange with these canons certain lands in Tewe Parva, Sandford, and Oxford, for others at Barton, Endon, and Roulesham.^u In the 26th Edw. III. these canons were allowed to exchange their advowsons of Buckenhull and Swereford with Hamo bishop of Rochester for the advowson of the church of Mexbury.^x

Thomas Manne of Oxford, in 1512, accused of the heresy of Wicliffe, was condemned to perpetual imprisonment in Osenev Abbey.^y

JOHN BURTON, 1531.

ROBERT KYNG, 1539. He was afterwards the first bishop of Oxford.

Upon the erection of the new Bishopricks by King Henry the Eighth in 1542, the Abbey of Osenev was changed into a Cathedral Church of Christ and the blessed Virgin, wherein were settled a dean, prebendaries, &c. who were to be the chapter of the bishop of Oxfordshire, whose palace was to be at Gloucester Hall: but this establishment continued not above three or four years, when, in 1546, the Conventual Church of St. Frideswide, then called King Henry the Eighth's College, was made the cathedral and called Christ Church.^a

In the 26th Hen. VIII. the revenues of Osenev in gross income amounted to 755*l.* 18*s.* 6½*d.* per annum. The net revenue amounted to 654*l.* 10*s.* 2¼*d.*

^a Mr. Skelton has given the following particulars of the ancient state of the Abbey from the Manuscripts of Anthony a Wood.

"Within the great gate, which was on the north side of the Abbey, was a spacious court or quadrangle, for the most part of free stone, and situated at the west end of the church, from the gate, on the left hand; and so all under the said end of the church was a spacious cloister, decked and beautified with a boarded roof, having the arms of benefactors thereon; as also several rebusses and allusions referring to those persons, especially the abbats, who contributed toward the building, the chief of whom was John Leech, who built three parts of the cloister that led from the Refectory, which was on the south side of the quadrangle, to be joined to the cloister at the west end of the church; and so thereby made it come half or more round the court. Going through the cloister, the passenger was conducted to the Refectory, or Common Hall, which was of a large curious structure; it was rebuilt about the year 1247, partly with the money granted for that purpose, and partly by abbat Leech. It was the common place of resort, and where all met, at the sound of the bell, to take their diet. Their meat was served from the Kitchen adjoining the Refectory on the west side, both ample and convenient for the purpose, where, for their accommodation, they had a cistern supplied by a pipe that came from the lavatory or conduit that stood in the middle of the court. Behind the Refectory, on the south side, was the Nosocomium or Infirmary; or, as the ancient word is, Firmory; which was a place allotted purposely for sick monks when they were removed from their chambers, and where they had all things convenient for their condition. Adjoining to it was a little Chapel or Oratory, where there were prayers said to them by one of the officers of the church every day. This Chapel, with the Infirmary itself, was built the same year before mentioned, by abbat Leech, who erected the most part of it, except the two western spaces. The next place observable was the Dormitory, commonly, for brevity, called the Dortor. It was a long room divided into several partitions; in every one of which was a bed. In this Dortor all the canons and monks, except those that were aged, infirm, or employed with offices belonging to the Abbey, slept. Every one had his bed to himself, and that also open at the feet towards the common passage, that the prefeet, as he went by, might see that each was in his place. After every one of them was reposed, there was a candle set up to burn for the most part of the night; or at least to serve till the time of performing their nocturns, or prayers appointed for certain hours in the night season. The candle being lighted, the keys of the Dortor were carried to the prefeet or vicar by the servitor; and by him again, at the appointed time in the morning opened. Then each monk received his sunnons to rise; had half an hour or thereabouts allowed them, both in making up themselves and their beds. At the west end of the church was situated the Campanile or Tower, which enduring the brunt, stood firm and whole till about 1644. It contained a large and melodious ring of bells, thought to be the best in England. At the first foundation there were but three bells, beside the Saint and Litany bells; but by abbat Leech they were increased to the number of seven. The bells were christened, and called by the names of Hautcelare, Doucement, Austyn, Marie, Gabriel, and John. All which, for the most part, towards the Suppression being before broken and recast, had gotten new names; which, by tradition, we have thus; Mary and Jesus, Meribus and Lucas, New Bell and Thomas, Conger and Godeston; which Thomas, now commonly called Great Tom of Christ Church, had this Inscription not long since remaining upon it, 'In Thomæ laude resonò Bim Bom sine fraude;' and was accounted six feet in diameter, which is eighteen feet in compass. This church is said to have been used in the days of Queen Elizabeth." Wood's Notes when these particulars were taken are dated Nov. 26th, 1661.

The Harleian MS. 6972. fol. 39. recites from the Register of Rotherham archbishop of York an Indulgence of forty days to all who should visit the Lady Chapel at Osenev Abbey either in pilgrimage or devotion, or who should bestow any of their goods upon it; dated Nov. 23, 1480.

George in the castelle of Oxforde, and founded a college of prebendaries there. This Robert dyid withoute issue, and wher he was buryed it is not very certainly knowen. This Robert had one John de Eiverio, that was exceeding familiar with him; and had beene in the warres as sworn brother unto him, and had promised to be partaker of Robert's fortunes, wherapon he enriched him with possessions, and as sum think gave hym S. Waleries.

Robert Oilley had a brother caullid Nigellus, of whom be no very famouse things written. Nigellus had a sunne caullid Robert, that provid a very noble man. This Robert the second had a wife caullid Edithe Forne, a woman of fame and highly esteemed with King Henry the First, by whose procuracion Robert weddid her.

This Robert began the priorie of blake chanons at Oseney by Oxford emong the Isles that Isis ryver ther makyth.

Sum write that this was the occasion of making of it. Edith usid to walke out of Oxford castelle with her gentlewoman to solace, and that oftentimes wher yn a certen place in a tree, as often as she cam, a certen Pyes usid to gither to it, and ther to chattré, and as it were to speke on to her. Edithe much mervelyng at this mattier, and was sumtyme sore ferid as by a wonder, whereapon she sent for one Radulphe a chanon of S. Frediswides, a man of a vertuous life and her confessor, askyng hym counsell; to whom he answerid, aftir that he had sene the faschion of the Pyes chattering only at her cummyng; that she shulde bilde sum chirche or monasterie in that place. Then she entreated her husband to build a priorie, and so he did, making Radulph the first prior of it.

The cummyng of Edith to Oseney and Radulph waiting on her, and the tree with the chattering Pyes be paintid in the waulle of th'arch over Edith tumbe in Oseney priorie. Ther lyeth an image of Edith of stone in th'abbite of a vowes, holding a hart in her right hand on the north side of the high altare.

Robert Oilley the second founder of Oseney priorie was buried in th'abbey of Eignesham, a three mile from Oxford.

Robert Oilley the second had faire issue by Edithe his wife, emong the which Henry was his heire. This Henry lyeth buryed yn Osney chirch in the very middle of the presbyteri under a flat marble stone, wherapon is a flourid crosse porturid. This Henry had Henry the secund, and from Henry the secund wer other discents, but in processe the landes of the Oilleys wer disparkeleyd.^a Charta Regis Edwardi Tertii, pro Abbate de Osneye, de exonerando, quamvis Nomen in Rotulo ad Parliamentum summonitorum sit insertum.

[Rym. Fœd. et Convent. tom. v. p. 456. A.D. 1345. An. 19 Edw. III. Claus. 9 Edw. III. p. 1, m. 6.]

REX thesaurario et baronibus suis de scaccario, salutem. Cum nos nuper, pro eo quod, per inspectionem cartarum progenitorum nostrorum, quondam regum Angliæ, nobis constabat quod abbatia de Osney est de fundatione Roberti de Olleio, et non de fundatione aliquorum progenitorum nostrorum,

Et quod abbas ejusdem loci tenet omnia terras, et tenementa sua, abbatia prædictæ annexa, in liberam, puram, et perpetuam eleemosinam,

Et pro eo quod, per certificationem vestram, de mandato nostro factam, et in cancellaria nostra retornatam, non inveniebatur quod idem abbas tenet aliqua terras seu tenementa per baroniam, seu alias, de nobis in capite,

Concesserimus pro nobis et hæredibus nostris, præfato abbati quod ipse et successores sui abbates loci prædicti, de veniendo ad parlamenta, seu concilia nostra, vel hæredum nostrorum, imperpetuum exonerentur, et quod ad eadem nullatenus summoneantur, prout in litteris nostris patentibus, inde confectis, plenius continetur,

Ac jam, ex parte ipsius abbatis, nobis sit ostensum quod, Licet brevia aliqua eidem abbati,

Ad veniendum ad parlamentum nostrum, apud Westmonasterium, anno regni nostri Angliæ duodecimo, convocatum, in quo parlamento archiepiscopi, episcopi, et cæteri prælati, magnates, et communitas dicti regni nostri Angliæ, nobis medietatem lanarum suarum, usque ad summam viginti millium saccorum lanæ, concesserunt,

Aut ad concilium nostrum apud Northamptoniam postmodum dicto anno duodecimo tentum, ubi ordinatum fuit qualiter id, quod tunc de viginti millibus saccorum lanæ defuit levaretur,

Præsentata non fuerunt, nec idem abbas eisdem, parlamento et concilio personaliter, vel per procuratorem interfuerit, set, credens ipsum ad dicta parlamentum et concilium summonitum non fuisse,

Quandam decimam annalem, una cum aliis religiosis, et viris ecclesiasticis Cantuariensis diœcesis, qui ad parlamentum et concilium prædicta summoniti non fuerunt, in convocatione cleri ejusdem diœcesis, apud ecclesiam Sanctæ Brigidæ Londoniis, in crastino Sancti Jeronimi postmodum, dicto anno duodecimo, celebrata, nobis, ultra decimam triennalem, nobis prius per eundem clerum concessam, tunc currentem, concessit et solvit, et terminos solutionis secundi anni dictæ decimæ triennalis anticipavit, ita quod a præstatione lanarum prædictarum exonerarentur.

Quo prætextu, per breve nostrum, demandatum fuerit singulis episcopis, in quorum diœcesi dictus abbas temporalia et spiritualia habet, quod collectoribus, ad dictas lanas, pro ipsis episcopis, in dictis diœcesibus suis, colligendum deputatis, darent in mandatis quod ipsi collectores dictam summam decimam annalem, per dictum clerum sic concessam, terminis consuetis, necnon decimam dicti secundi anni triennalis, in terminis anticipatis, a præfato abbate, sicut de cæteris dicti cleri, levare, et exactioni, per ipsos collectores eidem abbati, pro dictis lanis, prætextu concessionis et ordinationis prædictorum, factæ, omnino supersederent,

Vos tamen, Pro eo quod nomen ipsius abbatis inter nomina prælatorum, qui ad parlamentum et concilium prædicta summoniti fuerunt, in quodam rotulo, ad scaccarium prædictum, de cancellaria nostra misso, est insertum.

Ipsam abbatem ad hujusmodi lanas, virtute concessionis et ordinationis prædictorum, inter alios prælatos, qui eisdem parlamento et concilio, juxta summonitiones eis factas, interfuerunt, et lanas suas ibidem concesserunt, solvendum graviter distringi, et multipliciter inquietari, facitis minus juste.

Super quo nobis supplicavit sibi per nos de remedio provideri. Nos, tam ad contenta in litteris nostris prædictis, per quæ apparet dictum abbatem ad hujusmodi parlamenta et concilia summoneri non debere, quam ad hoc quod præfatis episcopis, de supersederi faciendo levationi lanarum prædictarum, de prædicto abbate, ex causis prædictis, per diversa brevia nostra, sicut per inspectionem rotulorum cancellariæ nostræ nobis constat, demandatum fuit in forma prædicta, considerationem habentes,

Ac volentes, intuitu præmissorum, eidem abbati in hac parte fieri quod est justum,

Vobis mandamus quod, si, per inspectionem rotulorum scaccarii prædicti, vobis constiterit dictum abbatem decimam,

Ipsam de decima annali, quam dicti religiosi, et alii viri ecclesiastici dictæ Cantuariensis diœcesis, qui ad parlamentum et concilium prædicta summoniti non fuerunt, nobis, ultra dictam decimam triennalem, in convocatione prædicta, ut a solutione et præstatione dictarum lanarum quietarentur et exonerarentur, ut præmittitur, concesserunt, contingentem, Solvisse, et terminos solutionis secundi anni dictæ decimæ triennalis anticipasse, sicut prædictum est, tunc demandæ (quam eidem abbati, pro dictis lanis, juxta concessionem et ordinationem prædictas, inde factas, solvendis, fieri facitis) supersederi, et ipsum inde ad dictum scaccarium exonerari, et quietum esse faciatis; eo non obstante quod nomen dicti abbatis inter nomina aliorum prælatorum, qui ad dicta parlamentum et concilium summoniti fuerunt, in rotulo prædicto est insertum, sicut prædictum est.

Priory of Ronton, or Routhon, in Staffordshire.

THE time of the foundation of this Priory, called also De Sartis, Des Essars, and de Exsartis, is not precisely known. It was subordinate to the Abbey of Haghmon in Shropshire. Dugdale considers it to have been built and endowed by Robert fitz Noel in the time of Henry the Second, but Tanner thinks it was endowed in the time of Henry the First.

The first three Charters given by Dugdale in the Appendix to the present account, are all which he inserted in their regular place in his second volume of the Monasticon relating to this House; in a subsequent page of that volume he gave two other Charters, with some other charters and memorials relating to it in his third volume. All these are here brought together.

have been communicated to the Editors by William Hamper, Esq. of Birmingham, from Lowdale's Staffordshire Collection:

RADULPHUS.

ALFRED or ALURED, 1240.

GILBERT, 1252.

THOMAS, 1292.

JOHN HARCOURT, 1366.

THOMAS SUTTON, 1480.

ROGER, 1495.

THOMAS ALTON, 26th Hen. VIIIth, 1534.

In the 26th Hen. VIIIth (about which time here were seven religious) the revenues of Ronton amounted in the gross to 102*l.* 11*s.* 1*d.* In clear income to 90*l.* 2*s.* 10½*d.* per annum. The Site was granted in the 30th Hen. VIII. to John Wiseman. It was afterwards in the possession of the family of Cope, Baronets.

A REGISTER of this Priory is still preserved, a folio volume of sixty-one leaves of vellum, among the Cottonian Manuscripts at the Museum.^a

Tanner's references to other Manuscripts and Records relating to Ronton will be seen in the note below.^b

There is a Paper Survey of this Priory, temp. Hen. VIII. in the Augmentation Office.

Ronton is a small parish situated between four and five miles west of Stafford. The principal REMAINS of the Abbey which are yet standing consist of the high tower of the Church, part of its Walls, and a small part of the Cloisters. The Church is but small, and thatched. A tenement is erected on part of the site of the ancient Abbey.

An Impression of the COMMON SEAL, has been kindly communicated by William Hamper, Esq. representing the Blessed Virgin seated with the divine Infant in her lap. Legend, s. SCE . MARIE . DE . RONTONE . AD . CAUSAS. The date of the Instrument to which it was attached is 1505.
